NEARING COMPLETION - Despite plans to have the walking track bridge completed on the north side of Lake Gordon in time for Saturday's big KidFish project, there still will be some work to be done. However, a temporary ramp on the east end will be put into place, in order to allow participants complete access to waters along the north side.

City's water tower to aid in disasters

Iowa Park's newest water tower will soon be playing an important facility if a major catastrophe event should eventually strike in Wichita County.

No, not its content, but rather its height and being located in the central part of the county.

The tower, which is located on the north side of US 287, is to be the base of a UHF radio antenna and repeater system.

The proposal to locate the antenna atop the tower was approved Monday night by the city council, in response to a request made by Tommy Keese, Wichita County Emergency Director.

Keese explained that grant funds have been made available for the installation, which will be used by fire chiefs and police chiefs in the event of a disaster when normal radio channels are tied up by field personnel.

Also approved was a request from Allen Bernstein, who sought permission to use the W.F. George Ballfield as an evening practice area for his fall baseball teams.

The president of Iowa Park Little League explained local participation had increased from one club last year to enough for five teams this season, and practice area was important, including the need for lights due to the lack of daylight after school days.

The council pointed out that it would make an exception to allow the teams to do evening practices, but it presented a problem in that the additional cost of electricity was not considered during the earlier budget work sessions.

Firms to represent the city's administration of the 1999 Texas Capital Fund Real Estate program, which is to allow Kathy's Kakes to purchase the Dudley's Deli business and Gene James Heating and Air Conditioning to purchase the major portion of the old Tompson Tool property, were approved.

No further action, however, will be taken on the two projects until the city receives final contracts from the state, it was pointed out.

The program is designed to assist municipalities in their efforts to maintain and increase employment. The purchases, which are financed for a 20-year period, are designed so that the city will not lose any money should a problem arise during the period of financing, Mike Price, city administrator, explained.

The lowest of two bids received for the janitorial services on city-owned facilities was submitted by Tim and Sherry Clouse.

The contract covers three years with two one-year extensions. Their successful bid, which provides for the cleaning of city hall, police station, library and Recreational Activities Center, was $460 per week. The other bid was $726.

Aldermen approved a resolution which prohibits public fishing at Lake Gordon, from 8 a.m. this Friday until 1 p.m. Saturday, so that the annual

KidFish set here Saturday

There will be considerably more activity and vehicles at Lake Gordon Saturday.

It's the fourth annual KidFish event, and youngsters and their parents from all over the area are expected to attend.

Because of the anticipated turnout, the fishing area is being expanded this year to the entire north end of the lake.

This was made possible by the city's development of a walking track, which includes a bridge connecting the east and west sides.

Participation is open to all youngsters up to 16 years of age. And equipment with bait will be available for those who might have none.

Applications for youth wishing to participate in the event are available at Iowa Park City Hall.

A special tank containing fish will also be available for the very young children who might not be allowed to fish the lake's waters.

The event is to end at 12-noon, when the Wichita County Young Farmers will hold a fish fry open to the public.

No charge will be made for the meal, but donations will be accepted. The meal will consist of catfish, beans, cole slaw and hush puppies.

Public fishing at the lake will not be allowed from 8 a.m. Friday until 1 p.m. Saturday.

Trustees discuss construction plans

Preliminary designs for Bradford and Kidwell Elementary cafeterias were approved by the Iowa Park school board during a called meeting Tuesday night.

All other facility construction and renovation plans had been approved at the Sept. 14 called meeting of the board.

Architects will now begin work on drawings that go out to bidders, and construction will possibly begin in November.

Architect Bob Weaver met with Allen Shewmake, director of food services, last week to go over plans for the elementary school cafeterias.

$300,000 has been allotted for each cafeteria. Along with accepting bids on new kitchen equipment, there will be optional bids considered for flooring, ceiling tile, new serving lines and dishwashers.

Several cafeteria employees were present and voiced their disappointment with the new plans. From earlier drawings, they had the impression that more was going to be done.

Weaver explained that in the preliminary plans, "you have to take each element and guess as close as you can. You've got to work with the big picture." He said the final figure can vary either way. Cost of the first plans shown turned out to be $500,000, which is $200,000 over budget.

Pam Tyler, cashier at Bradford, told of the bad smell coming from traps and drains at that cafeteria, and felt the plumbing needed to be replaced.

The school trustees felt they would have to address priorities, as well as continue working toward eliminating any remaining problems.

During the open forum portion of the meeting, a group representing the Rockin' Hawkettes, led by the president, Blaine Kidwell, spoke to board members about the dress code at the middle school.

Kidwell said that the Rockin' Hawkettes are a group of girls that support Iowa Park Youth who are participating in athletics in the Top of Texas Football League.

His concern was that the sixth grade girls were not allowed to wear their uniforms on Friday at the middle school because of the dress code.

Kidwell introduced two members of the Hawkettes who were modeling uniforms. He pointed that the organization had its own dress code and wouldn't let the girls wear uniforms that weren't in good taste.

He said that cheerleaders at high school, junior high, Bradford and Kidwell are allowed to wear their uniforms, and his group wants to show their support for Iowa Park athletics by wearing their uniforms at school.

Superintendent Mike Caplinger said that in light of recent events nationwide, the local schools had been making a concerted effort to tighten up on everything and enforcing rules more strictly than ever before.

Board President Keith Fisher asked Mr. Kidwell to give the board a chance to look at the problem and possibly have the issue resolved by the next board meeting.

It was also noted that there would be a waiver to the rules on Oct. 15, homecoming Friday, and the girls could wear uniforms to school on that day.

Also, because of activities during the week of homecoming, the regular school board meeting, scheduled for Oct. 14, will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 12.

Following a closed session, trustees accepted a letter of resignation from Kimberly Mogg, effective Sept. 17.

Solution for pre-game prayer

Pre-game prayer may be back, thanks to some ideas from a group of private citizens known as "Friends of the Iowa Park Schools."

Apparently members of the group, who wish to remain anonymous, borrowed the idea of broadcasting a student-led prayer over the radio from a West Texas school.

Since radio airways are "free," and not controlled by the school, nothing would prevent those attending the football game from listening to a prayer before the game on the radio.

Dan Baker, Iowa Park's football announcer for the radio broadcast at each Hawk football game, said all the details are not finalized at this time, but it looks as though it will work.

The station that airs the broadcast, Y-104 FM, has agreed to air a prayer during the moment of silence prior to each game. Baker said the station will provide the time for a fee of $10 per game.

All the money has been raised to pay for the spots.

NEWS BRIEFS

Extended holiday for all students

Iowa Park students will have an extended weekend from classes after today, according to the school calendar.

There are no classes scheduled Friday, which is termed "fall break," and Monday is a staff development day for all teachers.

Classes will resume Tuesday, with the next interruption scheduled for Monday, Oct. 25, which is another staff development day.

Homecoming parade entries sought

There's still time to sign-up an entry for the annual Homecoming Parade, according to Carole Venhaus, coordinator.

Theme of this year's parade is "Whole New World Facing 2000."

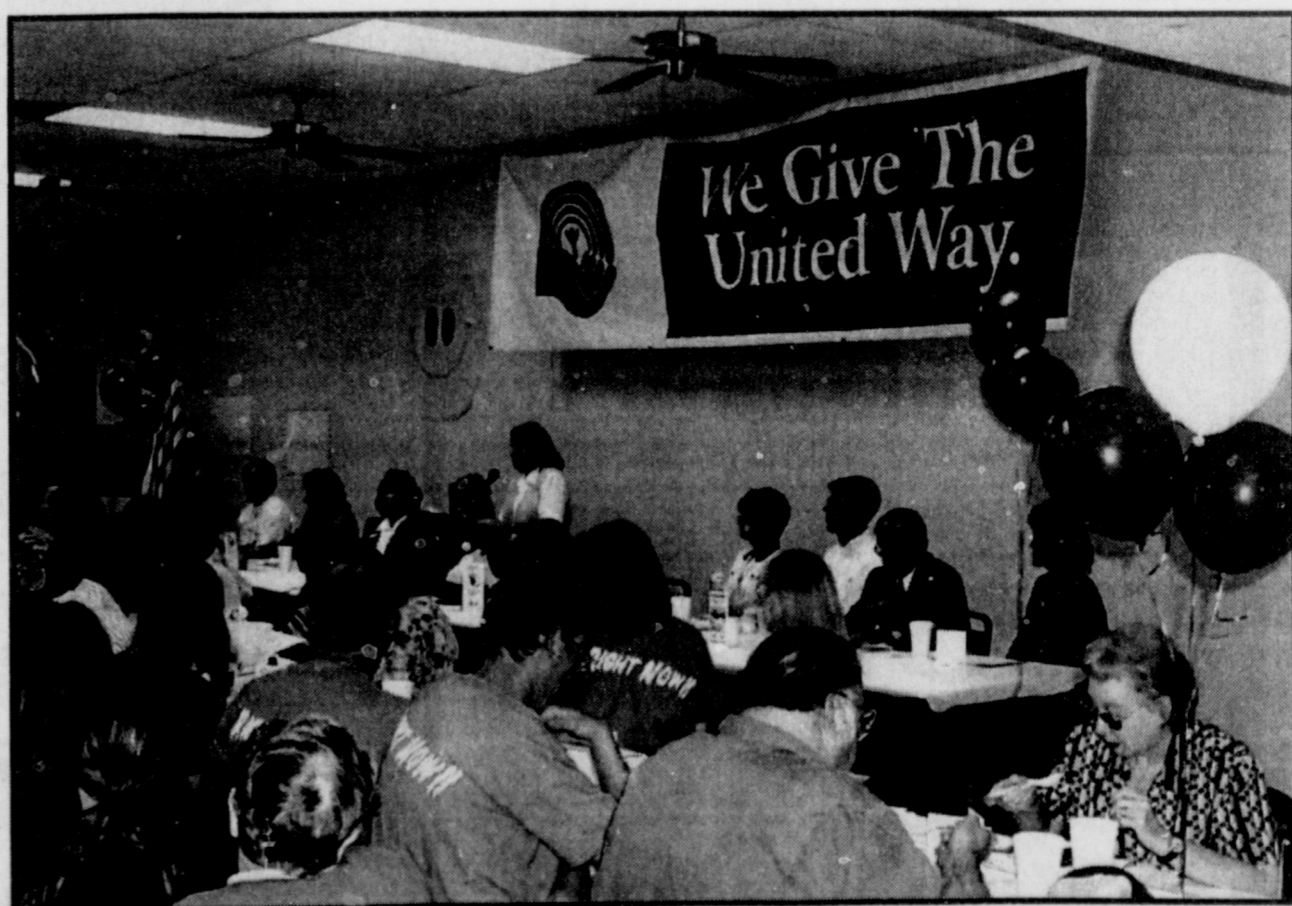

The parade will be held beginning at 4 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 15.

Representatives of organizations planning to participate may contact Mrs. Venhaus at 592-2144, or 592-4715.

Five blood donors are recognized

The American Red Cross recently recognized five Iowa Parkans for donating a gallon or more blood. They included: Robert Wilcox, 12 gallons; Mark Wicks, seven gallons; Kenneth Lance, three gallons; Gretchen Fuhrman, two gallons, and James Walls, one gallon.

GETTING PROJECT STARTED - A near capacity crowd attended the local United Way Campaign kickoff luncheon Thursday at the Iowa Park Recreational Activities Center. Chairman Donna McKinzie addressed the audience and made introductions.

Meet the president

Iowa Park Arts & Crafts Association Debbie Richards

The Iowa Park Arts and Craft Association was organized in 1979.

They currently have 20 members with four being charter members.

The club meets the third Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m.

Guests are welcome to visit the club and according to president, Debbie Richards, they are always looking for new members.

Each month a club member demonstrates the making of a craft item, giving the other members an opportunity to learn how to make a wide variety of crafts.

The club contributes to the community in several different ways.

They have decorated the doors of the nursing home, contributed to Project Graduation, furnished various holiday center pieces for the tables at Friendly Door, and decorated the mantel at Tom Burnett Memorial Library.

Last year they held a craft show at the Whoop - T - Do with everyone eligible to enter. The "Peoples Choice" craft was given a cash prize.

The most recent project the club is sponsoring is a scholarship to be awarded to a high school art student.

Members raise funds for the club by donating art and craft items that are sold at the Whoop - T - Do, and this past spring, at the Park Fest.

This year's club president is Debbie Richards. She has been a club member four years. In the past she has been in charge of decorating the library mantel.

She is a graduate of Iowa Park High School and works as a cake artist at Winn Dixie.

Debbie enjoys sharing her craft items with friends and family. She says she does not sell her crafts because it is a hobby and she doesn't want it to become work.

For more information about the club contact Debbie Richards at 592-4449.

Whitsitt, Hilliard vows exchanged July 31

Mr. and Mrs. Ryan Neal Hilliard
(Laura Elizabeth Whitsitt)

Laura Elizabeth Whitsitt and Ryan Neal Hilliard were wed July 31 in a candlelight ceremony at Oak Street Baptist Church in Graham.

Monty Hilliard, uncle of the groom and pastor of the Quaker Ave. Baptist Church in Lubbock, performed the ceremony for the children of Owen and Jean Whitsitt of Graham and Garry Hilliard of Iowa Park and Gina McClure of Mabank.

The couple exchanged vows before an altar flanked with large arrangements of gardenias, roses and pink lillies. More than 200 burning candles illuminated the altar area.

Kendall Wells of Graham provided prelude selection on the piano. Abbie Mullin, accompanied by guitarist Nathan Wilkerson, both of Graham, sang "What Simple is True" and "Shine on Us" during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a white princess seam dress with lace belle sleeves. A long, Spanish-style lace veil completed her bridal attire.

She carried a bouquet of gardenias, pink lillies and white roses.

Amy Keeter and Jana Frost, both of Graham were maid of honor and matron of honor, respectively. Bridesmaid were Sara Chestnut of Graham and Shandi Floyd of Alamogordo, N.M.

Each wore identical floor-length navy satin dresses, and carried three gardenias.

K.K. Watkins of Odessa was flower girl and wore a satin maroon dress. Kyle Starling of Colorado Springs, Colo., was ring bearer. He was attired in a tuxedo complimented with a navy blue vest.

Ronnie Myers of Graham was best man to the groom. Hatsu Floyd of Alamogordo, N.M., Brian Abbot of Edwards AFB, Cal., and Doug Frost of Graham were groomsmen.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Jenny Evans of Nacogdoches and Sunny Cearley of Graham presided at the bride's table, which held a three-tiered white cake featuring gardenias.

The bride is a graduate of Stephen F. Austin State Univ. in Nacogdoches. The groom, a graduate of Iowa Park High School, is in the U.S. Air Force.

The couple have made their home in Ft. Walton Beach, Fla.

As I See It... By Bob Hamilton

Businesses are coming up with more and more innovative ways to advertise.

Some are appreciated, some are interesting, some easily dismissed, and some get my reaction, though I don't think it's exactly what they want.

My particular case in point concerns my monthly bill I received this week from Classic Cable.

Yeah, the statement was inside the envelope, as expected. But there was something else included that wasn't expected.

It was an advertisement from a life insurance company, apparently unrelated to the cable company.

I responded immediately, but I'm not sure it was exactly what the company wanted.

There was a postage-paid card included for the receiver's response. And it went into the mail the very next morning.

I didn't write anything on the card. Just left it blank.

Yeah, they'll have to pay a few cents to get it back when it arrives at the company's post office. That's my objective.

Without fail, whenever I get a postage-paid card or envelope from a company that comes without my request, I mail it.

I'd hope that everyone does the same. Maybe we can get some of this unrequested solicitation business to stop cluttering what we consider our private mail.

It's a little thing, but it gives me some satisfaction. They don't want my type of response any more than I did their unsolicited solicitation.

Shame on you, writer

To Whom It May Concern:

I applaud you for your courage and all knowing wisdom.

You recently sent a letter to Kimberly Mogg regarding the PTA incident. How brave you are sending a rude and cruel letter without any signature.

I happen to know Kimberly Mogg very well and admit she made a very BIG mistake, but that has nothing to do with her ability to be a mother and how she raises her children. You can tell she is an excellent mother just by being around her children. Also, by showing her face at the pep rally and football game does not show foolishness, it shows that she has admitted what she has done and is facing it with a lot of courage, which is more than I can say for you, cowardly sending an unsigned letter with vulgar language and being so judgmental. First of all, if you have children, what would they say if they saw some of the things their Mommy wrote on paper, and second of all, NO ONE should be judged by anyone unless they have walked a mile in their shoes. Kimberly will be judged when she meets her almighty Lord, then and only then does she have to answer to anyone!!!

As for ducking her tail and running back to Oklahoma, she is not running or hiding and will face the consequences of her actions. Unlike you, hiding behind a piece of paper, what a coward!! All I can say is that I will pray for you while I am praying for my sister and hope that you get the help that you need also!!!

Who won the game

Today's gladiators. Our football team. They suffer through two-a-days, hot and grueling. They endure long after-school practices. They live for the thrill of victory and the agony of defeat. When two teams meet on their battlefield, there is another entity there with them. They wear neutral colors and are intended to be there to promote fair play and to keep our gladiators from harm. They are called the referees. It is a shame, however, that the neutral colors of black and white sometimes turn so gray. I do not assume to see all and to know all but when a game is called so one sided, we must look at who and how things are handled. The sad part about my plight is that both sides suffer from bad officiating. The team who is chosen "bad boys" are not given a chance to see if they could have won fair and square, and the team chosen "good guys" don't really know if they won fair and square. Who were the real winners of Saturday nights Old High and Iowa Park game? The officials. Who were the real losers? EVERY young man who stepped out on that field of battle. Hawk Mega Mom

KidFish project can be held on Saturday.

Another resolution approved was the writing off of bad debts owed the city, an annual bookkeeping effort. The total amount was $3,422.72, which included almost $320 for deceased or incarcerated residents.

The first of two ordinances approved during the meeting included the city's new drought contingency plan, which was mandated by the state legislature.

The other ordinance approved established a $4 "technology fee" to be charged on each guilty sentence handed down through municipal court. The money collected will be used for purchase, maintenance and operation of programs associated with the court.

A discussion was held on future trash collection service by I.E.S.I., which recently purchased Bell Processing.

Parent disappointed

When I was in High School (admittedly 29 years ago), the greatest pressure I had was if my skirt was too short (or admittedly I even wondered if it was short enough). The kids of today are under pressure from so many sides, even from us parents, and I have tried to put myself in their shoes and cannot even begin to understand the things they are going through. One of the best avenues of support I found was my teacher. I had one in particular that I could go to with my fears and concerns and she helped guide me through that difficult time of transition from childhood to adulthood. In most cases that is still true. In many cases it isn't. I have a great deal of respect for teachers of this time of rebellion and violence. The issues they face are nowhere near the complexity of my time. I have told many a school official that my first instinct would be to spank the child that called me a "B". I also had to be honest enough to say I'm not sure my hand would have went further down than their face. I know that it has to be difficult with the rules they have to live under because of this ever changing world. But, there are some basic rules that I don't understand why some teachers feel no longer need to be in place. One such rule is help a troubled student even if it's against himself. Just because a student isn't one who puts forth more of an effort than to just get by, doesn't mean he isn't worth your time.

I have a big problem. I've gone through the system and it doesn't work. My son is only motivated by sports. Last year the teachers didn't believe me and when he asked for extra credit work at the last minute to keep in sports the first six weeks his English teacher said "I will not give extra effort to help a student who is just plain lazy". He failed. He was ineligible for sports. I begged the teacher for help. She actually laughed at me and said she didn't care if he played sports or not. I told her there was a bigger picture than just this moment. If he doesn't have the motivation of sports, he'll shut down completely. She said that wasn't her problem. He never made above a 50 in any other class for two six-week periods. He then had four out of the six teachers make the effort to talk to him. Tell him he needed to look beyond the negative of one person and look to the future he could accomplish. He was encouraged and pulled himself up and made it to High School.

This year has been a tremendous turnaround in his attitude and outlook. He has made a large effort to do the work and only struggled in English, which is his weakest subject. For the first three weeks, he made 84 to 93 grades. Then he hit a stump and needed help. Then he was plagued with an injury when he broke his wrist in three places during football. He also became ill when he had an allergic reaction to the pain medication he was given. He fell behind. Instead of asking for help, he tried to go it alone. He only got further behind. Then the teacher told him the work would only be graded on a basis of 50% and down from there. He asked why. She said her policy of late work was it was only worth 50% and anything wrong would be taken from that point. In stepped MOM.

I went to the teacher. I got every assignment he was lacking. I personally checked the worksheets and vocabulary. I was given a deadline of one day to turn in over 10 book assignments. These assignments were sentences he had to write placing the correct punctuation. Since I only had one day and with a broken wrist that still gave him difficulty, it created problems in sitting down to write this much material. I decided to type the sentences and make them into worksheets. He did the punctuation.

The next morning I turned in ALL the worksheets (lesson 5 and 7); the vocabulary (vocab 3); and all of the book assignments but two as they were paragraphs he had to write. The first thing I was told by the teacher was that the grades would be based on 50%. I didn't let that rattle me. I told her a 50 was better than a zero. She stood straight, pursed her lips into a thin line, stuck her nose in the air. She looked down at the papers and said, "Well your effort was nice but I will also be taking an additional 10 points off because you typed the sentences and his grading will be based on 40%." I asked her for clarification in terms of what a grade would mean and it was explained that there were 10 sentences. Normal grading would mean each were worth 10 points for a 100. But now, the most he could get on the paper was a 40 and each sentence missed would be another "10 points each" deducted. If he missed four sentences, he would get a ZERO.

I explained the situation of his motivation in staying in sports. She also said, "I don't care and I'm tired of having to make concession for the football players not being in my class anyway. I'm not going out of my way to tell a student he has missing assignments that jeopardize his eligibility." I thought that regardless of sports being involved that one of the jobs of the teacher was to let a student know they were in trouble and if they needed help to please come to them. Am I wrong?

The final stage of this whole incident was the results of the meeting with the principal, the teacher, and me. Last Friday I called the teacher. She told me she had all the assignment and she would have a grade on Monday. The current average was 69.9. On Monday, I was told he didn't make it and failed with a 67. My first question was how did his grade drop. She replied that it was an approximation given earlier. The second question, what happened to his papers. She replied that he was missing two assignments. I asked what happened between Friday and Monday and got no reply. I told the principal that the one assignment she says is missing was handed to her personally by ME. The other I had no knowledge of. Her reply was "That's my story and I'm sticking to it and the 67 Grade." The principal's position is that he doesn't know who to believe and will take no further action.

The simplest thing to do would be to change classes. My son is not willing to give up the support system and peer group he already has in place just to avoid this teachers attitude and my position is why should he be expected to. She says I lied about the paper. Well in for a penny in for a pound, why would I lie about one and not the other. I have conceded that I do not know if the other assignment was done or not let alone turned in.

No matter, the outcome is still the same. My son failed. He is being placed on the ineligible list for which he takes at least 75% responsibility. I refuse to let him take 100% because I KNOW the assignment given as zero was turned in.

No matter, the outcome is still that this teacher needs a major attitude adjustment. She needs to not make statements about doing special things for football players because she is not the only teacher to have students missing because of injury or game attendance. If she has a problem with athletics then she needs to seek another profession. Maybe it's just an ENGLISH thing.

For the teachers like her, think about changing professions because with society going in the direction it's headed for, it's not going to get better. For the FAR GREATER number who care about the student as a person and not just as a student, my heartfelt thanks and support in all that you do.

For those administrators who feel that as a parent I have no right to criticize, grow up. Start treating the students as people. Quit calling them liars just because there are two different stories. I am sick and tired of the policy "Adults are always right and the students are liars". The mentality of closed circuit TV, body searches, locked doors, name calling (by adults), and assumptions based on appearance and background (MONEY TALKS), should be thrown out the door and EVERYONE placed on equal footing. When a student (even mine), OR teacher, belittles another until the wronged person blows, then the tormentor should receive punishment also. Even if that person is an ADULT.

No parent should be afraid of their child making the statement "I've let down my teammates and school so I should just go blow my head off since even she feels I'm no good". FOR THAT, I BLAME THE ENGLISH TEACHER. For the history teacher who calmed him down and boosted his self esteem, I am forever in your debt and send my prayers to heaven to give you EXTRA POINTS. TXU ELECTRIC PUBLIC PARTICIPATION SESSION FOR PROPOSED TRANSMISSION LINE

In order for TXU Electric to continue to provide reliable electric service to our customers in the area, a new 69 kV transmission line must be constructed northwest of Wichita Falls between Pleasant Valley and Iowa Park. This line will be constructed between the Pleasant Valley Switching Station and an existing transmission line north of Iowa Park.

TXU Electric is committed to routing the proposed transmission line in a manner consistent with the values of the local community and the need to provide additional service to the area. In order to accomplish this, TXU Electric wants to solicit input for use in determining the preferred route for the proposed transmission line and share information about line routing alternatives. Individuals attending this "come and go" session will have an opportunity to ask questions and make comments to representatives and technical experts from TXU Electric regarding the routing of the proposed transmission line. Power Engineers, Inc., a consulting firm retained by TXU Electric, has identified alternate transmission line routes for consideration which are shown as dashed lines on the map below. Upon completion of this study, one of these options, either the one using Reilly Road or the one using Bacon-Switch Road, will be selected for further investigation as the preferred route.

Thieves hit coin boxes

Police are investigating the theft of coins from the car wash in the 600 block of West Highway sometime Wednesday evening of last week.

Locks were found to have been cut off and thrown on the pavement, and the money taken from the coin boxes, according to the police blotter.

The loss is estimated greater than $220, including damaged materials and some $40 worth of coins.

Similar thefts have been reported in other area towns.

Almost $900 worth of items were stolen from a vehicle some time Friday night while it was parked in the 1200 block of Emma.

According to the police report, 63 compact discs valued at $819, a disc case valued at $25, and a radar detector valued at $50, were stolen.

A boy's bicycle was reportedly stolen Saturday night from a residence in the 700 block of West Louisa.

When officers responded Wednesday night to a reported domestic disturbance in the 300 block of East Diamond, they arrested Jason Lancaster, 24, on a charge of public intoxication. He was later released after promising to appear in municipal court.

Two men were arrested during a traffic stop Sunday evening in the 1000 block of East Ruby, according to the police blotter.

James Randall Follette, 18, was charged with driving under the influence, and Joseph Wayne Butler, 17, was charged with public intoxication and consumption of alcohol by a minor.

Both were later released after signing promises to appear in municipal court.

GARDENING HINTS

By MARK TERNING, COUNTY AGENT - HORTICULTURE

Q. I live here in Wichita County and have two Butterfly Vines, botanical name: (Stigmaphyllon ciliatum). I would like to know if this vine is cold hardy here?

A. Butterfly Vine is cold tolerant in South Texas, the Rio Grande Valley area, and other Zone 9 locations. This vine will not survive a normal winter season in North Texas, unless it is given the protection of a greenhouse or other structure.

The vine is attractive in late summer when yellow flowers are produced in clusters. The actual fruit produced by the vine resembles small chartreuse butterflies. This is obviously where the vine's name originated.

You would probably be best off to use the vine in a large container with some type of support so that it could be moved inside before freezing weather arrives. Your other alternative is to simply enjoy this plant as an annual.

Q. We had a terrible problem the past week with this sticky stuff on our cars which are parked overnight beneath large Pecan trees. I live in Iowa Park and would like to know if there is any solution to this mess?

A. The source of the sticky mess is really an insect. Aphids, which are a sucking type insect commonly found on Pecans, suck fluid out of pecan foliage and excrete this sticky material called honeydew.

Until just recently, we have not had a tremendous aphid infestation on most area Pecan trees. Aphid control is difficult at best.

Applying a control produce like Malathion can offer some temporary control, but complete elimination is tough. Continual insecticide applications tend to kill beneficial insects causing the aphid population to explode.

Aphids also exhibit resistance to many control produces and some controls may even cause increased aphid problems. Sevin insecticide often tends to cause aphid flare ups.

This is the primary reason why I recommend Pecan trees for planting only in large, open areas over turf. Pecan trees over drives, walks, patios, etc. are a continual maintenance problem. If it is any consolation, they are a wonderful shade tree and the State Tree of Texas and we are set up for a great pecan harvest this year.

Can we keep our love alive?

Passion can't be captured on film. And passion is much more than just a bedroom experience. Real passion begins in the heart. It's that deep desire that wants more than anything else for your marriage to succeed. Not just for yourself, but for your spouse, too. Yet, all too quickly passion's flame can so easily become just a faint flicker. Don't let your love grow cold. Remember the intense desire you felt on your wedding day and the infinite possibilities that exist for your future.

AG AGENT'S REPORT

By JOE RAFF,
WICHITA COUNTY AGRICULTURE AGENT

Meeting

With this fall weather, it's time to have our annual pesticide collection day. Like last year, the collection site will be at Texoma Ag Products, just south of Burkburnett on Hwy. 44.

We will be open to accept products from 8 a.m. until noon on Tuesday, Oct. 19.

We will be accepting triple rinsed empty pesticide containers, used oil, oil filters, and used batteries. In addition we will be accepting the actual pesticides. This is new from years prior, and is a great opportunity for growers and homeowners alike to properly dispose of unwanted and/or unknown pesticides.

I have had numerous calls the last couple of years about unknown or unwanted pesticides, this will be a great opportunity to get rid of these pesticides safely.

And yes there is a no questions asked policy. I know some of you may have some old pesticides that you can no longer use, or you may have bought a new farm with some of these containers that you can no longer use. This is your chance to get rid of them.

There is no cost associated with this pick-up, and again we will only be able to accept these products from 8 a.m. until noon.

I also want to thank Ralph Harvey for letting us use his facilities for this program. Without his help we would not have the opportunity to get rid of the unwanted or unknown pesticides. On behalf of the growers and homeowners, thank you.

THE CATHOLIC CHURCH, WHO ARE WE?

We, your Catholic neighbors, would like you to get to know us---to understand a little about our beliefs and about the values that guide our lives. In preparation for the celebration of the Great Jubilee Year, the 2000th Anniversary of Our Lord's birth, we extend to you this invitation:

" OPEN WIDE THE DOORS TO CHRIST. OPEN WIDE THE DOORS OF YOUR HOME.

OPEN WIDE THE DOORS OF YOUR HEARTS.

WELCOME BACK: Perhaps you are among those baptized Catholics who no longer practice their religion. To you, we issue a special invitation. Much has happened in the Catholic Church in recent years. There is a new surge of involvement and commitment and understanding going on within our Catholic community. To make our family complete, we need and want you back with us. We think you may be pleasantly surprised.

JUBILEE 2000™

AN INVITATION: The Catholic Church recognizes that there are many good people outside its membership, that other religions can and do bring their members close to God and to their fellow human beings. But we as Catholics have indeed found something every special and we would like to share our Church, our Faith, our way of life with you.

WHAT TO DO TO GET TO KNOW US BETTER

1. Pray for God's guidance in your search for a community of Faith.
2. Ask a Catholic friend to include you in some Church service or activity.
3. Make an appointment with the pastor and share your interest with him.
4. Be aware that you are welcome to visit a Catholic Church or attend Mass at any time.

Hawks edged out by Coyotes, 14-9

Turnovers and penalties are two areas of a football game that coaches are always concerned about heading into any game, especially a big game.

And it was those two areas that turned out to be the deciding factor in Iowa Park's big game against Wichita Falls High School Saturday night at Memorial Stadium.

A crowd of over 11,000 watched two of the area's top teams battle it out for four quarters, with the game not being decided until the final seconds.

And it was the penalties and turnovers that cost the Hawks in this one.

Wichita Falls, now 4-0 for the season, escaped with a 14-9 win over Iowa Park, which fell to 3-2 and suffered its second loss in as many weeks. The Hawks have fallen from fifth to 20th in the Class 3A Poll following the two losses.

Iowa Park scored the game's first points on its initial drive, going 75 yards in six plays to take a 7-0 lead with 7:11 left in the opening quarter.

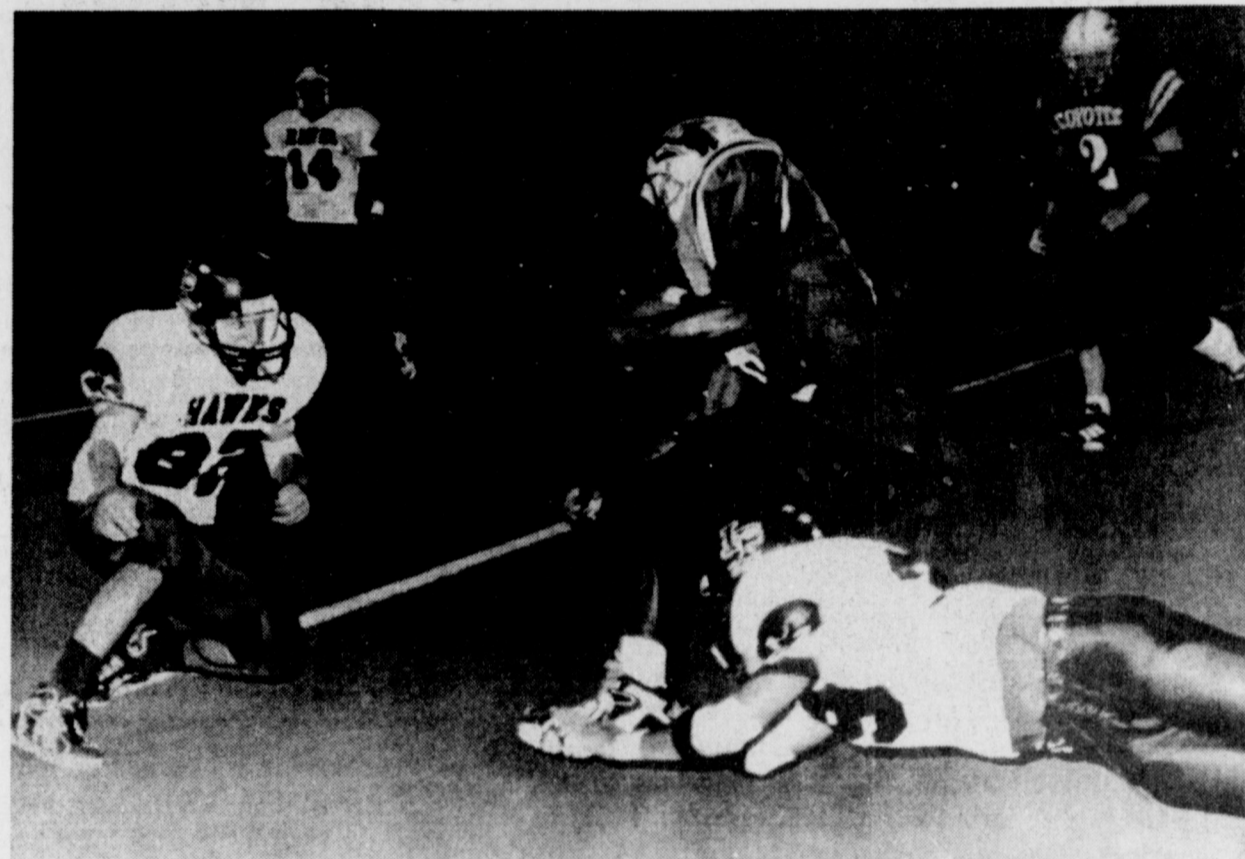

The Hawk defense held the Coyotes on their first possession, forcing a punt giving Iowa Park the ball at the Hawk 25. On the first play from scrimmage, Jimmy Wilson broke lose on a reverse for 39 yards. Two plays later the same play netted another 13 yards. Tyler Pulley then threw to Chase Wright for another 13 yards, moving the ball to the 16 of the Coyotes. Wright then scampered 13 yards, setting the Hawks up at the Coyote three, where Jessy Robertson would score from on the next play. Rick Hartman's point after made it 7-0.

On Old High's next possession, Wright intercepted Greg Henderson's pass in the Hawk end zone to put an end to the Coyote drive.

On Iowa Park's next possession, Pulley's pass was intercepted by Old High's Thomas Robertson with 9:03 left in the half, giving the Coyotes the ball at the Iowa Park 47. Six plays later Henderson scored on a three-yard keeper to tie the game at 7-7 with 6:37 left in the second quarter. Henderson, who finished the game with 116 yards rushing on 18 carries, did most of the damage on the drive, accounting for 33 yards on three carries including a big 26-yard run on the first play of the drive.

Iowa Park couldn't do anything on its first drive of the second half after being pinned inside their own 10 on the kickoff. A quick kick on third down covering 60 yards got the Hawks out of the shadow of their own goal post, moving the ball to the Coyote 33.

Old High took over from that point and drove the length of the field to take a 14-7 lead with 5:03 left in the third quarter when Joseph Aboussie scored from five yards out. Aboussie and Henderson were the work horses on the drive, with Aboussie carrying three times for 26 yards and Henderson carrying twice for 31 yards.

The Hawks were forced to play without one of their top running backs in the second half, when Wright was forced to leave the game with a slightly seperated shoulder late in the second quarter.

Iowa Park couldn't seem to get on track in the third period as the Hawks were unable to make a first down in the quarter.

Michael Abby recovered a Coyote fumble at the Iowa Park 44 to help keep the game close, with 1:56 left in the period.

Then it was Chris Simmons who recovered a Coyote fumble on their first drive of the fourth quarter to stop another scoring opportunity.

Pulley made it a hat trick when he intercepted Henderson's pass at the Iowa Park 30 on the Coyotes' next possession with 7:06 left in the game.

Iowa Park took over at its own 30 and moved all the way to the Old High 37, thanks to a big 28-yard reception from Simmons to Justin Phillips on a halfback pass.

On second- and-12 from the 37, Pulley pitched to Nathan Creekmore on a reverse that caught the Coyotes off guard. Creekmore made a good move at the 10 and was in for the score that would have tied the game, only to see the play called back for an illegal block. To make matters worse, an unsportsman-like penalty was added to the play, so instead of the score being tied, Iowa Park was facing a second and 32 from the 43. Two plays later Pulley's pass was intercepted, ending the drive with 2:10 left on the clock.

The Hawks would have one more chance at knotting the score following a Coyote punt with 1:19 left on the clock.

Pulley threw to Mason Adams, who moved the ball all the way to the Coyote 13 with 41 seconds left. Facing a second and 13 from the 16, a fumble by Wilson turned the ball back over to the Coyotes.

Four plays later, rather than punt from their own end zone, Issac Powdrell stepped out of the end zone for a safety to make the final score 14-9.

Fourth quarter doom for Frosh

The Iowa Park freshman Hawks held the lead against Wichita Falls High School for three quarters, only to see the Coyotes come from behind in the final period to pull off a 21-8 victory Thursday night.

After a Hawk drive stalled on the Coyote one following an interception, Old High went 99 yards in six plays for the game's first score. The point after attempt hit the upright and was no good, leaving the score 6-0.

Midway through the second quarter, Iowa Park answered with a touchdown of it's own. On a fourth and goal from the one, David Clubb hit pay dirt to tie the score at 6-6. On the two-point conversion run, quarterback Jeremy Fulfer crashed in behind Heath Gholson and B.J. Adams to give the Hawks the lead at 8-6.

The score held up through the third period before the Coyotes mounted their comeback.

An Iowa Park fumble set the Coyotes up in good field position at the Iowa Park 23 and six plays later, Old High scored to make it 14-8.

The Hawks took the ensuing kickoff and marched to the Old High 30 before stalling.

The Coyotes then took the ball and scored the game's final points as time expired to make the final 21-8.

Iowa Park will next take on the Eagles today at 5 p.m. in Holliday in the Hawks' final tune up game before district play.

According to coaches, the team is continuing to improve and show progress in all phases of the game.

Other players mentioned as having good games included Tommy Jeter, Cody Penn, and Ryan Shiery.

TOP OF TEXAS FOOTBALL

MIDGET CENTRAL

The Midget Central Hawks pounded Crowell 42-6 Saturday to remain unbeaten for the season.

Mikey Glasgow scored a pair of first quarter touchdowns, the first coming off a turnover when Tabor Morris caused a fumble that was recovered by Corey Sikes. Following Glasgow's first touchdown, Sikes added the two-point conversion run giving Iowa Park a 14-0 lead after one quarter.

The second quarter was more of the same. Chris Trevino threw a 23-yard touchdown to Sam Raines, then Trevino ran in for the conversion. Trevino then threw to Tyler Duggins, this time from 12 yards out, for another touchdown. The conversion pass from Trevino to Jordan Cole made the score 30-0 at the half.

In the second half, Iowa Park got a 15-yard touchdown run by Troy Williams and a two-yard run by Cody Hicks making the final 42-6. Crowell's only points came on a kickoff return.

PEE WEE WEST

The Pee Wee West Hawks are now 1-2 heading into District play starting Saturday.

The Hawks lost the season opener to Nocona 16-0, then defeated Bowie 40-18 the following week. Iowa Park fell 14-6 to Petrolia this week. Kirk Morton scored Iowa Park's only touchdown. Leading tacklers included C.D. Wagner, Brady Whitaker, Morton, Stephen Swanner, Slade Davis and Brian Rector.

Other members of the team include Randall Wathen, Blake Reams, Hagen Duncan, Matthew Gibson, Reid Hayley, Chase Rosinbaum, Jared Sanders, Acy Kimbro, Konor Swedberg, Colton Gann, Tyler Hayley, Matt Baker and James Dickerson. Coaches include Bruce Whitaker, Tim Thompson, Craig Whisnand, Russ Hayley and Clint Witherspoon.

JV loses 1st game

The JV Hawks suffered their first loss of the season after starting the year 3-0.

Iowa Park fell 48-20 to Wichita Falls High School Thursday night in a game that more closely resembled a track meet.

Old High jumped on top 7-0, but a 60-yard by Bryan Swenson moments later cut the lead to 7-6. The point after attempt failed, leaving the Coyotes on top by one.

The Coyotes then scored 28-unanswered points to take a 35-6 lead at the half.

Each team scored twice in the second half, with Iowa Park getting touchdowns from Brady Williford and Andy Simpson. Jamie Eaton added a two-point conversion run for the Hawks, who won the second half 14-13 but couldn't overcome the big first half deficit.

Iowa Park will get a chance to get back into the win column tonight at Holliday when the Hawks travel to take on the Eagles at 7 p.m. in Holliday.
