Bird Sleuths Renew Quest For Strange Alaskan Bird

Bird detectives are getting set for another try at solving the mystery that has baffled them for the past 163 years. The bird that has been leading luckless scientists such a long chase is the Bristle-thighed Curlew, the only North American bird whose nesting place and fledgling young have never yet been found or described.

The latest expedition to go sleuthing for the haunts of the elusive bird in Alaska is sponsored by the National Geographic society in conjunction with Cornell university and the Arctic Institute of North America.

This member of the curlew family is a long-range commuter. Its habitat most of the year is the South Sea Islands in latitudes as far south as southern Peru and northern Chile. Yet toward the end of each spring it wings thousands of miles northward to the remote fastnesses of rugged Alaska to nest and raise its brood. Only when the young are full grown—usually sometime in August—does the family depart from its sub-Arctic hide-out to return to semi-tropical isles above and below the equator.

The Bristle-thighed Curlew is so called because of the lengthened shafts of some of its flank feathers which project from its sides like bristles or stiff hairs. The adult bird is between 16 and 18 inches long, with variegated brown plumage. It has a very short whistling call, and it feeds mostly on mollusks, crustaceans and other shore-flats life.

Grass An Effective Tool For Reducing Wind Erosion

One of the greatest uses for grass is in erosion control. R. G. Hill, extension soil conservationist at Michigan State college, points out that when land is abandoned, nature generally soon covers it with a protective green covering.

Grass, including legumes, is an effective tool for reducing wind and water erosion. Crops such as rye or rye grass and sweet clover may be used as a cover crop in cultivated fields. They will aid in reducing erosion, may be plowed under as a green manure crop, or possibly as an early spring pasture. Cover crop as an erosion control measure in orchards are effectively used by a majority of growers.

Grass mixtures are also being used effectively in establishing sod waterways. Such waterways, undisturbed by cultivation, slow down the speed of water and give added protection to the waterway with roots and top growth. This method of "walking" water off the land will save many fields from severe gullying. After water is controlled on a watershed, old gullies may be worked up, leveled, fertilized and reseeded.

Land too steep for cultivated crops without severe soil losses may bring a return to the operator by properly growing and harvesting a good legume. Strip cropping rotations, whether for wind or water erosion control, usually include a year or more of a high quality grass or legume.

When Buying Dresses

How well a wash dress washes and irons depends on how it is made as well as on the fabric, clothing specialists remind women who are buying or making summer dresses. To stand up under frequent laundering a dress must be sturdily made, yet its seams and other finishes should be flat and lightweight for easy ironing. Look for simple lines, the specialists advise, and for strong, but not heavy finishes, for flat fastenings and simple sturdy trim. Dresses of simple design usually wear and launder best. The fancier the trim and the more intricate the cut, the more time the dress will take on the ironing board.

Selecting Strawberries for Freezing Some varieties of strawberries do not make a good frozen product. When you go to the market, look for a bright red berry with firm flesh, with red color throughout the inside of the berry, with no white centers or white tips, with small seeds, with rich strawberry flavor and some tartness, and of medium to large size. It is necessary to be very choosy, because the berry which is under-ripe, over-ripe, or poorly-flavored does not improve in the freezing process but instead becomes poorer in quality.

Peter Minuit and Manhattan Three hundred and twenty-two years ago the island of Manhattan became Dutch property as a result of the famous deal between Peter Minuit, representative of the West India company of Amsterdam, and the chief of the Canarsie Indians. On that island the heart of New York is now built. Peter paid the Indian chief 24 dollars for the land, that is, he paid for it with a box of trinkets "valued at 24." The valuation was made by the Dutch themselves. That 24 deal has gone into American history as the first formal trade of any kind on the island.

Century Plant Name "century plant" was given to a group of desert plants because it was mistakenly believed that they bloom only once in 100 years. According to the World Book encyclopedia, some varieties of the century plant flower every year, and others at longer periods, but none blooms so rarely as once in 100 years.

Shower Given for Mrs. Lee Perry, nee Miss Doris Probst

On Saturday evening, July 10, the parlor of the First Baptist church was scene of a beautiful post-nuptial shower given in honor of Mrs. Lee Perry, the former Miss Doris Probst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Chism Probst of Iowa Park. The room was beautifully decorated in colorful summer flowers carrying out the bride's chosen colors of yellow and white. A large bouquet of gladioli centered the table where gifts were displayed, while zinnias, daisies and snapdragons were used in artistic arrangements throughout the parlor. The refreshment table was covered with a cream lace cloth and was centered with flowers arranged in a white lace wire basket flanked by two white miniature swans holding streamers of ribbon in their beaks. Miss Betty Jo Hatten poured the punch from a lovely crystal bowl and she was assisted with the serving by Misses Helen Mitchell and Annette Short, while others of the hostess group assisted the bride in opening her gifts and placing them for display. The honoree and her mother were presented with lovely corsages of yellow and white carnations, respectively. The bride was very attractive in a dress of white pique. The program of appropriate music was given by Misses Lucy Lee Dale, Bobbie Ruth Brubaker, Hazel Ruth Roby, Betty Jo Hatten and Miss Johnnie Mitchell, guest of the honoree, from Lubbock. Mrs. Perry presented each of her hostesses with a lovely handkerchief. Many guests called between eight and nine-thirty o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lancaster and DeWayne returned Monday after spending the weekend in Lindsay, Okla. During the past two weeks the Lancasters have visited points in New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Tedford announce the arrival of a son, Bob Allen, Saturday, July 10, at the Bethania hospital in Wichita Falls.

Soil Conservation

Terrace lines have been run the past week on the farms of Gale Lowrance and Mrs. Lee Jackson in the east Iowa Park conservation group. The terrace lines were run by personnel of the Soil Conservation Service, assigned to the Wilbarger-Wichita SCD. Applications for soil conservation and irrigation assistance have been received on farms of James Cates 36 acres; E. W. Roderick 109 acres; G. A. Hoge 170 acres; Jas. L. Barbour 58 acres; A. E. Bailey 358 acres. Vetch seed is being harvested on farms of Henry Vaughn, John Storey, E. O. Mullins, M. T. Riley and Norb Zimmerman this week. Because of dry weather during early spring months in vetch growing areas of Texas and floods in Oregon, there will probably be a shortage of vetch seed this fall. There were 2 1/2 miles of terrace lines run on Arthur Peyton's farm of the Barwise conservation group this week. The terraces will be constructed with a whirlwind terracer belonging to Clyde Bryant. A sod flume 140 feet long and 40 feet wide was constructed on the farm of V. I. Sells. He sodded the flume to bermuda grass. Water from a terrace outlet channel will flow through this flume into the creek. Irrigation topographical maps have been made on farms of Dan Roberts, C. C. Burrows, Guy Morgan and Stote Hospital the past two weeks.

Kamay was the scene of quite a bit of excitement Sunday afternoon. Bud Shook and Miss Doris Davis were married at the Assembly of God church here. Their departure was not quiet — a sign of "Just Married" was on the car, along with the traditional cans and other noise makers. Good luck, kids!

Betty Ann Cagle is spending the week with her cousin in Terral, Okla. She has another trip planned for when she arrives home. She is to visit in Decatur.

A Word to the People of Iowa Park:

In my race for District Judge, I have tried to see all the people of Iowa Park precinct but that has been impossible due to the short time I have had to make this campaign. I want all of whom I have not seen to take this as an appeal and a personal request for your vote on July 24th. Iowa Park is truly the heart of Wichita County. It is one of the oldest settlements in the County and certainly one of the finest. It has a record for law and order that is equaled by none. It is a community of fine churches and good schools and has a record for good government that is unsurpassed. Its good people have loyally stood by me in every race I have made in Wichita County. I am for that most deeply appreciative. After four long years on foreign soil in the late World War, and away from Wichita County, I have become more fond of this county, and any spot of good U.S.A. is dearer to every soldier than ever before. Now that the War is over for the time being, and soldiers are trying to get settled back in ways of peace, I have had my legal career broken into by two World Wars, and I would like to serve you as your District Judge for the next four years. There ought not to be an issue of a Second Term in this race. My opponent has already had one appointive term and one full four year term, the latter being on "silver platter" as all able bodied lawyers were away in military service, when called for the office then slated for abolishment. My premise is to make you a GOOD DISTRICT JUDGE. Your continued loyalty and support on July 24 will be greatly appreciated by

Uncle Sam Says

Millions of Americans are re-dedicating themselves to the support of our Government by word and action. Nearly 10 million of them are doing their share through the purchase of U. S. Savings Bonds on the easy, automatic payroll savings plan. They realize that a dollar saved is a dollar fighting against inflation. And some day, these dollars saved, will be returned to them with interest, $4 for every $3 invested. These bonds are truly security bonds as they help to stop spiraling prices. You too can become an investor through the steady accumulation of Savings Bonds. If self-employed, an automatic bond buying plan is available to you through the Bond-a-Month plan at your bank.

Uncle Sam Says

There are few Americans who cannot get a thrill out of watching crops or flowering plants grow. And by the same token there are few who cannot feel the satisfaction of planting their money where it will grow. Invest in U. S. Savings Bonds and your money will grow, producing $4 for every $3 put into these bonds. Your country needs your money and you will need money to do the things you dream of today. If you are a wage earner see to it that your name is included with those already enrolled for the payroll savings plan.

YOUR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE —

RUTH HILL YEARGAN

The cowboy has been quoted as saying "There ain't no such thing as a horse that can't be rode and a man who can't be thrown."

Now if there is one thing more than another that the writer knows less than nothing about, it is a horse. We keep our distance from his head and his heels and hope for the best. But to continue:

In the recent Texas Chamber of Commerce Managers Convention in Wichita Falls a speaker remarked that there was no such thing as a chamber of commerce that ever received all the dues pledged for the year. Before he had hardly completed his sentence, a manager arose and proudly stated that his members had paid their dues 100 per cent. A quick poll was taken then and there and resulted in three organizations that had received all dues pledged for the past year.

Which proves that there are chambers of commerce with responsible and responsive members who feel a definite desire to build up their town by paying the nominal dues to the organization that represents their town beyond the limits of their own particular community.

In looking over annual reports of some of the chambers of other towns, we saw listed after the accomplishments for the year some of the failures. Two items were these:

"We failed by $1000 to get the 1947 budget subscribed."

"We failed by $2000 to collect the pledges which were made."

And the report was completed with these words: "There is no mystery about how or why cities grow. It takes intelligent planning, adequate funds and a lot of hard work."

Dues to any organization constitutes an obligation for which many people are cheerfully accountable.

The response to the payment of dues to the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce has been satisfactory to date.

It will be with genuine pride that we announce the payment of all outstanding dues by the end of the fiscal year, December, 1948.

The new Finance Committee is O. R. Kelly, chairman, C. E. Birk and Clayton R. Baldwin.

Mrs. Ada Curry and son Bill and her daughter and granddaughter Mrs. Dorothy Thompson and Lynda Jo, went to Vinita, Friday to spend the weekend with Mrs. Curry's mother Mrs. Anna Richardson.

Mrs. L. S. Denny is in the Maxfield Clinic in Dallas for treatment. Mrs. Emma Gauntt, her daughter, took Mrs. Denny to Dallas on Thursday, July 8. It is not known for sure just how long she will remain at the clinic.

Five patients attended the Wichita County Health Clinic at the First Christian church Tuesday at noon.

Busy Men Get More To Do, Horn Finds

J. C. Horn, who has been with the John B. Barbour Trucking company since 1924, is one of Our Town's busiest men.

He is director of the Board of Stewards of the Methodist church and president of the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce. Both of these jobs are enough to keep him pretty well occupied. Then, after you add chairman of the membership committee of the Lions, and the fact that he's a volunteer fireman, you'll find he's a man with a pretty full schedule.

Mr. Horn was away from the Barbour Trucking company from 1931 to 1939, but has remained there since and is now general supervisor of the transportation department.

Mr. and Mrs. Horn have been residents of Iowa Park for the past ten years. Their daughter Patsy will be a sophomore in high school this fall.
