RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

The Supreme Commander of the Universe having, in his divine wisdom, summoned a good soldier to lay down his earthly burdens; and our dear brother, Bryan P. McFarlane, M. D., having, like the good soldier he was, obeyed the final summons, we, the members of Parramore Post No. 57, American Legion of Texas, desire to take this method of extending our deepest sympathies to his young widow and to his parents.

His comrades in arms knew him as a faithful defender of his country and as a loyal member of the American Legion. In his passing, we feel that we have lost a faithful and tried friend, one who was ever mindful of the duties and obligations of the great society to which he belonged, and one whose place will be hard to fill. Yet we, like his bereaved relatives, are consoled in the knowledge that he faced his Maker with clean hands and a pure heart, without reproach and unafraid.

It is ordered that a copy of this resolution of respect be spread upon the minutes of Parramore Post, a copy be sent to the parents and widow, and a copy be given the Abilene Reporter for publication.

Never Saw Equal Of Sargon, He Says
 "I believe I had about the worst case of stomach trouble in Texas, but after taking two bottles of Sargon and one bottle of Sargon Soft Mass Pills, I am in the very pink of condition."

W. H. NEWBY
 "Right after every meal I would have sour stomach. I suffered day night. I was at dinner one day and a sharp pain hit me right under my liver and extended through to the pit of my stomach and almost knocked me out. I was dizzy for hours afterwards and the pain just stayed in my side.
 "My kidneys were acting so freely I had to be up four or five times every night. Loss of sleep made me weak and nervous and my whole system was badly run-down. My liver was out of order. I was badly constipated, and was continually taking laxatives.
 "Since taking the wonderful Sargon treatment my only trouble is to keep from eating too much, and I never have a sign of indigestion. All the pain is gone from my side, my nerves are in fine shape, and I sleep fine. I'm no longer constipated. Sargon Soft Mass Pills certainly are wonderful for they do their work thoroughly without gripping like other laxatives.
 "I had read a lot about Sargon, but I never had the slightest idea I would get such remarkable results from it in so short a time."
 The above statement was made by W. H. Newby, well-known resident of Dallas. He owns the Live and Let Live Barber Shop at 39061 A. Holmes St.
 Sargon may be obtained in Baird at City Pharmacy and in Cross Plains at City Drug Store.

Did You Ever Stop to Think
 By Edson R. Waite, Shawnee Okla.
 W. B. Foshay, President of the W. B. Foshay Company, operators of business throughout the United States, Canada, Mexico and Central America, says: "That the question of what constitutes success seems to be the thing that is uppermost in most people's minds, and when they ask an official of a successful company about his formula for success they are generally disappointed in that it is simple instead of some complicated formula. There are three outstanding requirements in a man if he is going to be successful: First, he must be loyal to his employer, his employer's customers and himself, at all times and above all things. Second, he must believe that whatever is to be done is possible. The motto of our organization is "It Can Be Done." Third, he must work and love his work. If a man gets pleasure out of his work, if it appears to him in the same light as the golf game, the tennis game, or the card game does if well played, then he will, if he is loyal and optimistic, be sure to be a success.
 Some people think that an optimist is a man who tries to do the impossible, but my opinion of an optimist is a man who is able to foresee the trend of future events sufficiently to so pursue his course in business that he may accomplish what is best for his business and make a success of it. No man without vision ever accomplished anything and vision is to a certain extent optimism.
 The employee who when asked to do something, cheerfully says with a smile on his face, "I will do it" is the one who makes his organization happy by not only saying he will do it, but going out and doing it because that is the type of man who does what he says he will do and believes always that "It Can Be Done." It isn't a hard program, this road to success, for a man who really wants it, but most men don't want to pay the price—that of sincere loyalty, common sense optimism and real honest work. If you practice these three attributes honestly, sincerely and happily day in and day out, there is no question as to the results that will be accomplished.
 Twelve years of applying these principles to the business of our company has proved to every one of our employees from the office boy to the president what can be done if one wants to do it and that it can be done happily and that all of those doing it can enjoy it. There must be no selfishness in such a program, the mutual interests of all concerned must be considered, and that really comes under loyalty; it is the first and greatest attribute of a successful employee, business man or government official.

Amazing Fertility
 White ants are the most productive of all insects, having been known to lay eggs at the rate of 50,000 a day for a month.

Alaska May Be Dubbed Original Ellis Island
 It is now evident that America was originally peopled by immigrants from Asia, and it is probable that Alaska was the first scene of human history on the continent. Edward M. Weyer described at New Haven the relics yielded by prehistoric villages discovered during his explorations in Alaska. "The American continents are younger with regard to human occupation than the Eastern hemisphere," according to Weyer. "The very first immigrants to them, the forerunners of the American Indians, doubtless came from Asia. Thus Alaska, which lies much closer to Asia than any other part of America, probably was the gateway through which passed these early Asiatic immigrants."
 "The northwestern corner of North America, therefore, can be regarded as the first scene of human history in America. No aborigines of Arctic America, so far as is known, ever used a written language. Consequently the mute relics of material culture are the only source of historical information here. Nevertheless the buried prehistoric villages of Alaska yield secrets to the archeologist."—Pathfinder Magazine

Famous Carnac Stones
Puzzle to Scientists
 The Stones of Carnac in Brittany are one of the wonders of the age. Nobody knows when they were erected, or why. Nowhere through out Europe can there be seen such perplexing evidence of an early race combining the most primitive simplicity with indications of a profound knowledge. Vast alignments of huge stones attract the eye headed or terminated by circles or dolmens (table stones commonly called cromlechs) extending at intervals as far as seven miles to Lochmariaquer and bulging out in all directions to Erdeven, St. Barbe, Kermario, Kerlesan and the Quiberon. Intersected among these are tumuli, menhirs, tomen (holed stones) and engraved stones.
 To the casual visitor they are remnants of stone worship, burying places or records of conquered foes and victories past. Their strange markings are exactly similar to the thumb marks of the human hand, but done on a large scale and with wonderful accuracy. The height of the Egyptian columns and obelisks is almost exactly the same. What relation has Carnac with Egypt?

Cocoa Cause of Dispute
 A Florentino who had resided in the West Indies introduced chocolate into Italy, whence it was gradually spread through Europe though not without opposition.
 Its introduction into Prussia was prohibited by Frederick the Great. A famous Paris physician, Rouchon on the other hand, proclaimed cocoa as one of the most noble of discoveries, far more worthy to be the food of the gods than nectar and ambrosia, and Linnaeus, noted Swedish botanist, who gave cocoa its scientific christening, coined a name "Theobroma" from two Greek words meaning "food for the gods," which remains its scientific name today.

Had Few Nerves in Teeth
 Study of the teeth of the saber tooth cats and of the giant wolves that lived and died in prehistoric times, has shown why those animals and their descendants know no such thing as toothache.
 Examination of teeth found in asphalt pits in California revealed that, in every case, the teeth of an adult of the species had only a scanty supply of nerves. As the animal grew up, the root canal, which is the main route for the nerves into the pulp chamber of the tooth, became comparatively shut off.—Popular Mechanics Magazine

Early Umbrellas Clumsy
 The first fashionable sunshades imported into England were luxurious affairs, composed on the outside of bird feathers. During Queen Anne's reign a more practical oiled silk came into use and umbrellas began to be used as much on rainy days as they were under the summer sun. These early English specimens were clumsy affairs made of heavy waxcloth with cane ribs. When wet, the material stuck together and opening or closing them was a job for a superman. It was not until 1852 that Samuel Fox invented the modern type.—Detroit News

Five-Eyed Insects
 All insects, with few exceptions, have five eyes. Two of these are the compound eyes which are situated on each side of the head. The three remaining eyes are of the ordinary kind and are found on top of the head. These are usually clustered closely together in the form of a triangle. The compound eyes are for normal vision; the three simple eyes being more light sensitive, are able to distinguish between light and darkness. This is very important especially for the night flying insects.

Rad'o Tends the Baby
 An eastern mother whose husband is a radio expert, makes her radio tend her baby. When she puts him in his crib upstairs she places the loud speaker near him. By turning the loud speaker into a microphone, by use of an adapter, when the baby wakes up and cries mother gets the signal by radio wherever her household duties may take her. This is done by reversing the radio set. No person was ever frightened all night by a baby's crying.

A. M. SMITH
 Mr. A. M.  The new law provides that the insurance commissioner for Texas shall cause the Associations that shall comply under the new law to be examined annually and that the insurance department, the cost of which shall be borne by the association. The new law also provides that the Secretary shall at all times be under a five thousand dollar surety bond and additionally bonded for all moneys in the Mortuary Fund.

 The local Mutual Life Insurance Association operated by A. M. Smith and C. R. Smith has always favored this legislation inasmuch as it strengthens mutual insurance. This legislation does not affect this local company, for it was already operating upon a plan whereby a reserve is maintained to meet all obligations, and is easily available.

A LETTER OF SYMPATHY

Abilene, Texas, June 12, 1929
Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McFarlane, Baird, Texas.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. McFarlane: After all the sunshine can be taken from the day.

Words, at a time like this, no matter how kindly spoken, seem harsh and cold—but I must tell you that my heart goes out to you in your hour of sadness which is being enacted in our home and hearts also; for we too, mourn his loss.

Our family cannot afford to get ill again now, that our Dr. Mc has been taken from us.

Just in the prime and full bloom of manhood, like a flower, he was cut down to bloom no more here. He was loved and respected by all who knew him—His presence will be missed by the old as well as the young, and even the little children mourn his loss. His loving voice is stilled. There is a vacancy that can never be filled, a wound in our hearts that can never be healed, but it was God's will, Heaven's gain and our loss.

He spent his life for suffering humiliate. The knowledge that one was so loyal and true, those encouraging words, with that bright, happy way, turned many cloud away; just beautified things and put aside fear. He was such a wonderful character. His goodness was felt where ever he went; his kindness a solace for all ills. He seemed to not let any obstacle or task dishearten him, but went on endowed with the courage and strength to overcome them.

His toils, his sorrows and all are ended, and we would not if we could, call him back to this cruel, wicked world to suffer his agonies over. For God knew best, he saw fit to take our loved one from our midst. He can never return to us, but may we so live that we some day shall meet him face to face in the Great Beyond, for we know not the day or the hour of his coming. 'Tis sweet to feel that he did not go unprepared, what a sweet thought that he is now dwelling in peace and love, where there will be no more heartaches, no more sad good byes.

To his sad eyed, little mother, let me say that "God stands by even in our darkest hours and whether we are one of the professed chosen or whether we are one of the humblest of His children, ignorant and sinning, still He stands by."

"Weep no more, fellow citizens, weep no more For Bryan P., your sorrow is not dead, Sunk though he be beneath the cold, cold clay So sinks the sun beneath the ocean bed And yet never repairs his drooping head, So Bryan P. sunk low, but mounted high"

Through the dear might of God that blessed and saved. In the blest kingdoms meek of joy and love There entertain his all the saints above In solemn troops, and sweet societies That sing, and singing in their glory move, Wipe the tear drops forever from his eyes."

A HARD ONE TO LOSE

Last Sunday's melee at the T. P. Park was a ripreporter from who laid-the-chunk; it was a beastly shame that Wadsworth, pitching for Baird, should lose such a well pitched game, but, oh! well, you just know how it is, somebody has to lose; but nine out of ten times, Wadsworth, or any other twirler will come with the bacon, when he, or they, pitch as good a game as he did against the Ranger Bulldogs last Sunday.

The Coyote management made some shifts in the lineup; starting off as follows: Finley in r. f.; Clements at 2nd base; Chappell on first; Meadows catching; F. Norman in left field; R. Ray in center, H. Ray at short; Cotulla on third and Wadsworth pitching, with about twelve or fifteen in reserve on the bench.

The game was called as per schedule, 15 minutes late; looks like it is impossible to start a game at the advertised time; first inning for the visitors: Littlefield first up, fell a victim to Wadsworth's breakers; Densmore grounded out H. ay to Chappell, and Hammett smote the air and went back to the bench; for the Coyotes, Finley flew out to right field, Clements walked, Chappell struck out and Meadows grounded out second to first. In the second inning, the Coyotes pulled a thriller, and had the fans marveling at the wady Lady Luck was smiling on the Home Guard; McCollum first up for the Ranger team, singled by second base, Watson hit one to short, H. Ray booted the ball, Clements playing second for Baird, happened to be at just the right spot, grabbed the old apple, touched second and threw to first in time to complete the double killing, sending McCollum and Watson back to their dugout with disgust written all over their faces and leaving the fans wondering how it happened; Gydis ending the inning by grounding out second to first; for the Coyotes, they went out in order, Norman rolled to the pitcher and was out at first, R. Ray did likewise; and H. Ray flew out to left field.

Third inning: Ranger; Renshaw and Russell both struck out and Supena grounded out Clements to Chappel; for the Coyotes Cotulla went out pitcher to first; Wadsworth struck out; Finley got a life at first when Russell let the ground get through him; Clements hit to second, who fumbled; both runners being safe (according to the Umpire) but Chappel struck out to retire the side. Bigf Doings in the fourth for the visitors: Littlefield singled between 3rd and short; Densmore hit a slow one to short, both runners being safe; Hammett promptly sacrificed by bunting, and was out Wadsworth to Chappel, both runners advancing; McCollum came through with the pinch-hit, a double to center scoring Littlefield and Densmore; R. Ray returned this ball to Clements at second, who threw to H. Ray at catch McCollum, H. Ray dropped the ball and McCollum went to third; Watson grounded to short and H. Ray threw McCollum out at home, Watson being safe at first; Gydis forced Watson at second H. Ray to Clements; The Coyotes went out in order in their half; Meadows safe at first when the short stop let it go thru; Norman hit into a double play second to first and R. Ray grounded out third to first.

Fifth inning: Renshaw popped out to H. Ray; Russell singled to right center; Supena popped out to short and Littlefield struck out; for the Coyotes H. Ray grounded to the pitcher and was safe at first when the first baseman dropped the throw; Cotulla sacrificed, pitcher to first and was out, H. Ray going to 2nd; Wadsworth popped out to short and Finley rolled out second to first.

Sixth inning: Densmore beat out a slow one to third; Hammett singled to right sending Densmore to 2nd, McCollum sacrificed pitcher to first, both runners advancing a peg; then Wadsworth took another hitch in his belt and struck out Watson and Gydis; for the Coyotes in their half of the sixth, they collected all the runs and hits that they got for the entire game; Clements a high fly back of second Densmore lost the ball in the wind and sun, and then fumbled it when he tried to pick it up, Clements was perched on second when this was over; then Chappel shot a single by third scoring Clements, with the only hit and only score for the Coyotes; Meadows popped out to short and Norman flew out to right field.

Seventh. Renshaw struck out, Russell flew out to R. Ray in center and Supena grounded out Cotulla to Chappel; Coyotes H. Ray went out to first baseman unassisted; Cotulla smote the air, Wadsworth was safe at first when the second baseman fumbled his grounder, but Finley rolled out to first.

Eighth. Ranger went out in order again, Littlefield lined out to Cotulla; Densmore grounded out Cotulla to Chappel and Hammett grounded out H. Ray to Chappel; the Coyotes also went out in order, Clements fanned, Chappel went out third to first and Meadows popped out to short.

Ninth inning. McCollum went out Clements to Chappel, Watson sent a long fly to center field, R. Ray made a nice running catch of the ball to rob him of a double; Gydis singled to right field, Renshaw singled to right, Gydis going to second; Peacock (who replaced Russell at first for the visitors in the last half of the seventh) fouled out to Meadows; who fell thru the back-stop but held onto the ball, to retire the side.

For the Coyotes Norman struck out, R. Ray got a life at first, Peacock didn't have his foot on the bag; with H. Ray at bat, R. Ray stole second; H. Ray walked, but Cotulla hit into a double play second to first, retiring H. Ray and Cotulla and ending the old ball game with a final score of 2 to 1 in favor of Ranger.

Wadsworth pitched a nice game, allowing only nine hits, striking out eight, and was fortunate in being opposed by Supena, who pitched a wonderful game, he had the Coyotes eating out of his hand all afternoon, only Chappel's single was all that they could garner off of his delivery.

The Coyotes played a better game in the field than previously, only one error being charged against them, while the visitors made some half a dozen.

Next Sunday the Moran Oilers will endeavor to plaster the Coyotes with something akin to kalsomine, better be out there and see the fun.
