Attic Insulating a Cinch For the Home Handyman

Insulating the attic is a job the do-it-yourself enthusiast can tackle without placing second-best to the professional.

So says the October issue of American Home magazine.

The first order of business is calculating the area to be insulated, says the magazine. Single most important measurement is the distance between studs. Any building material dealer can translate attic measurements into the amount of material needed. He'll provide batts or blankets of the appropriate width. Many dealers rent gun-type stapling machines.

Stapling is generally preferable to tacking. It is faster and more efficient.

Before installing insulation remember this—the vapor barrier, the impermeable side of the blanket, should always face the warm interior part of the house.

Begin by laying insulation between the studs, joists or rafters to be insulated. At the end of each insulated space, insure a tight closure by cutting off an inch of insulation, thus making the vapor-barrier at this point serve as a flap that can be stapled down. Staple every six inches, keeping the vapor barrier flush with the room-side of the stud.

Tight fit is a key to effective insulation. When a new piece of insulation is to be applied, be sure it is snug against the insulation already in place.

Stapling mineral wool blankets is generally faster and more efficient than nailing.

In a pitched roof, provide a ventilated area above the insulation by attaching the insulation to the collar joists. The area above these joists should then be ventilated by louvers.

Party, Contests to Be Pre-Christmas Feature In Iowa Park Area

Merchants committee of the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce has announced plans for an old-fashioned Christmas Party with everyone invited.

With local merchants as hosts, the Christmas party will get under way early Friday night, Dec. 16 at the Fair Auditorium. Naturally there will be no charge for admittance.

To create interest in the party, and to give merchants a chance to meet more of their friends, a series of contests will be inaugurated by the several businesses beginning on Nov. 26 and running until the evening of the Christmas party.

No definite plan has been announced for the contests and each merchant or business will set up its own contest and rules.

Then on Dec. 16, after the folk have enjoyed an old-fashioned song fest and Santa Claus has come to distribute treats to the children, he will find also on the community Christmas tree the gifts furnished by the merchants for winners in the several contests.

Everyone is urged to drop in on all their favorite stores and get the lowdown on each individual contest.

Coy Reneau Killed in Car Wreck; Was on Leave from Navy

Funeral services were held for Coy E. Reneau, 21, Monday afternoon in the Baptist church here with Rev. L. H. Hood, pastor of Pleasant Valley Baptist church, in charge.

Coy was killed early Saturday night in a car accident on the highway between Decatur and Bridgeport. Also killed in the collision was Mrs. Peggy Dean Taylor Johnson, 18, of Decatur. Seriously injured were Bobby Johnson of Wichita and their 18-month old daughter Paula Kay Johnson.

The car was involved in a wreck with a vegetable truck as the victims were on their way to visit relatives near Bridgeport. Coy Reneau was killed instantly and Mrs. Johnson died on the way to the hospital.

Both young men attended school here. Coy was a member of the 1952 graduating class and played on the Hawk football team. After graduation he entered the navy three years ago. He was a petty officer, third class, and was home on 30 day leave before reporting to San Diego, Calif., for sea duty. Most of his service has been at Hutchinson, Kans., naval base.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Reneau of Valley Farms.

Burial was in Highland cemetery here under direction of Tanner Funeral Home. Palbearers were former high school friends and classmates: Eddie Watson, Ben Huckaby, Joe Robertson, Earl McKee, Clayburn Lindley, Tommy Medlinger. Honorary palbearers were other members and the room mothers of the class of 1952.

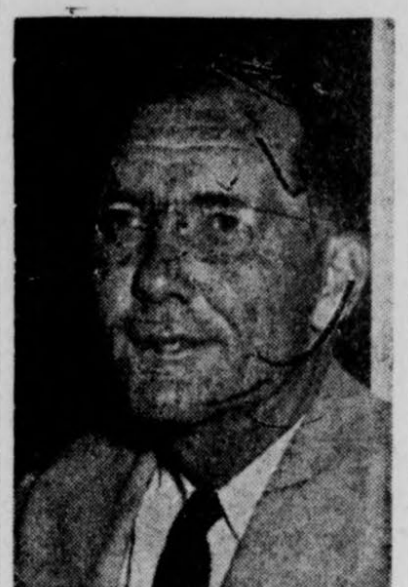

Bobby is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Johnson, formerly of Valley Farms now living at Bridgeport.

Besides the parents, Coy is survived by two sisters: Mrs. Albert Potts of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Harry Lee Mitchell of Iowa Park; and the Mitchell children: Dennis, Linda and Mike.
Rites for Mrs. Johnson were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 in the Decatur Fundamental Baptist church, with burial in the Decatur cemetery.

Mrs. Harris Attends Fiftieth Anniversary Of Uncle and Aunt

Mrs. Bill Morris visited relatives in Howe and Sherman last weekend. On Sunday afternoon she attended the golden wedding anniversary of her uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Tas Gee of Howe. She was a member of the house party and assisted in serving the cake. Orchids for the celebration were sent from Hilo, Hawaii, by a friend of the family. Mrs. Harris was also a guest at the Gee wedding 50 years ago.

Mrs. Lula Morgan of Dallas visited relatives in Iowa Park last week.

Iowa Park C of C Annual Banquet Will Feature Downing

Ted St. Clair, president, and Mrs. Lella Grace Livingston, manager, of Iowa Park C of C, are quite excited that Delbert Downing, manager of Midland C of C, has agreed to be guest speaker Dec. 9 at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet in Iowa Park.

Tickets for the banquet are being sold by Morris V. Jacks and his committee. The banquet is set for 7:00 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Good food, fellowship, reports, dinner music, and all the other usual items of a C of C banquet will serve as a perfect setting for the main talk by Mr. Downing.

When asked why his addresses have such inspirational force Delbert sings and smiles and replies, "I just like to stretch their minds a little."

The tall West Texan, whose delivery is considered comparable to Paul Harvey's, neglects to name the personal attributes apparent to his audience: An easy 'at home' smile; a warm, vibrant voice; a piqued humor carrying an O'Henry twist; and the relaxed attitude of an old cowpoke who slumps in the saddle to spin a yarn.

Statewide groups of varied interests seek him for repeat engagements. School teachers conventions and church laymen's meetings and professional and trade associations. Plus high school graduating classes and civic clubs — and chambers of commerce.

Oddly enough, Downing regards his oratory as secondary. "If I have a talent, it consists of being able to reduce an over-all situation or problem to fundamentals—sort of a common denominator," he muses.

Crowell Jr. Hi Wins District Title, 32-12

Crowell Junior high carved out a District 9-A championship Monday night here by downing the Little Hawks 32-12.

Defensive work of Jackie Brooks, 76-pound left half for Iowa Park, was a highlight of the game. He made many jarring tackles of big Crowell ball carriers.

Tony Waters tallied both Iowa Park counters, one on a 63 yard pass from Jimmy Banks, and the other on a 26 yard run around end.

Ballet Theatre-Berlin, one of western Europe's most sensational successes, has been obtained to show in Memorial auditorium, Wichita Falls, Dec. 2. Gisela Deege and Gert Reinhold rank high in the company of 14 dancers who will be presented under sponsorship of Midwestern university officials.

Farmers Union

Those who missed the turkey supper at the Community House last week missed a real feed. Apparently the 200 or more who did attend enjoyed every bite of it.

The ladies really outdid themselves in preparing the many dishes, salads, pies and cakes. To each we owe a big vote of thanks.

Also we wish to express appreciation to Miss Cure and George Huckaby Jr. for the vocal and piano numbers. Decorations were clever and drew many nice compliments.

The one feature that did not get praise was the rotten job the man on the coffee urn did in keeping it flowing.

Texas Farmers Union will hold its annual state convention at the Kemp hotel, Dec. 3 and 4. Every farmer in this area is cordially invited to attend these sessions and hear qualified speakers outline the farm problems from the national viewpoint and suggestions for easing the critical situation.

In the following letter from Lee Lovell, president of Wichita Valley Farmers Union, are the dates and schedules and names of speakers. Make an appointment with yourself to attend.

"To All Members WVFU,

"Dear friends:

"For several years our county has been the host to the State Convention of Texas Farmers Union. We have that honor again this year. We have one of the best locals in Texas and we would like to make the best possible showing at the convention by having each member attend at least a part of the sessions. The active participation of Wichita Valley members in the convention will draw favorable attention from members, locals and officers from all over Texas, and we urge everyone of you to attend.

"We are going to have one of the best programs we have ever had in any convention; we have many outstanding speakers. Heading the list will be an address at 2:30 p.m. on Friday, December 2, by probably one of the strongest leaders in American agriculture. He is Pres. Glenn Talbot of the North Dakota Farmers Union and chairman of the board of directors of the National Farmers Union. His address will be one that you will long re-

At the banquet on Friday night, we will be addressed by our national secretary, Tony T. Dechant. Other speakers during the convention will be John A. Baker, who is in charge of the Farmers Union Washington office, and Elmo Osborne, general manager of the Texas Electric Co-operatives.

"I know that every member of the Wichita Valley local will want to do everything possible to have the largest delegation of any local at this convention, so plan now to be there and bring your neighbor with you, whether or not he is a member, for I am sure he will be one before he leaves the convention.

Duds, War Souvenirs Can Be Deadly

The word "dud" is a horrible misnomer. Webster defines it: "A shell which fails to explode."

But 4th Army explosive ordnance disposal men have a different definition: "A killer which may explode at any time."

Six teams of ordnance disposal experts operate for 4th Army in Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico. Their files would send chills up and down the spines of the world's most talented chiller-diller authors.

They are called upon to investigate sudden and tragic explosions which maim, dismember and kill several persons each year.

On July 21 the 47th Ordnance detachment of Ft. Hood was called by the superintendent of a brick company at Elgin. Two men of the detachment went to Elgin, where they learned an eight-year-old had had both his feet blown off in an explosion. The boy, Lupe Villarreal, had been playing with three others in the residential compound of the brickyard. They were playing with a dud, which suddenly exploded when Lupe hit it with a hammer.

Lupe's legs were so badly mangled that further amputation was necessary. His three playmates were hurt but not seriously. From fragments the doctor kept after treating the boys, the Ft. Hood men discovered the dud had been a fully loaded 37 mm high-explosive projectile, with a fuse designed to detonate on contact.

Ordnance men searched the brickyard compound and found 38 more deadly duds. They included 76 mm projectiles, a 4 1/2 inch mortar shell and three high-explosive anti-tank rockets.

The local paper published a story to the effect that the ordnance men would return within a few days to dispose of any other explosives discovered in the community.

On their return the Elgin chief of police had ready a list of calls he had received about duds and souvenirs. That day 236 explosive items were collected:

They included grenades, mortar shells, rockets, practice anti-tank mines, and even two 7 inch navy projectiles. The ordnance men found them in homes, garages, barns, under porches, in fields, in offices and in stores. Some were so dangerous the experts exploded them on the spot, or moved them only far enough to eliminate danger to life or property before setting them off.

Next month the Ft. Hood men returned to Elgin and nearby McJade, this time collecting and disposing of 81 more items, labeled by the officer in charge as "deadly as poison."

Little Lupe Villarreal will go through life without feet, but his tragic accident alerted a community to danger in its backyard—and something was done about it.

Explosive ordnance men in the 4th Army area are sure death for unsuspecting people lurks in hundreds of places in the Southwest in the form of duds and souvenirs. They can do nothing unless those who know where the lethal items are located report them to police, sheriffs, civil defense or the army.

'Walking in the Rain' Calls for Caution

"Playing peek-a-boo with motorists is a deadly game!" say officials of Texas Safety association. They urge walkers not to obscure their vision with parcels or umbrellas as they cross streets.

Walking becomes especially dangerous at this time of year when rain and ice make visibility poor and footing precarious. Such weather conditions also make it difficult for motorists to see pedestrians and to control their vehicles.

Another factor that increases the pedestrian's danger is the greater number of hours of darkness. Pedestrian deaths increase during fall and winter months, and the increase usually comes in fatal accidents which occur after sunset and before sunrise.

Walkers should do everything they can to make themselves visible to motorists at night. They should wear light colored clothing when possible, and carry a lighted flashlight. Also recommended are reflectorized garments which make a pedestrian visible in the path of a car's headlights from a distance of several hundred feet.

"Above all, be alert!" say the safety experts. "You risk your life every time you take a chance in traffic."

A VACCINE FOR TB?

A brief statement by JAMES E. PERKINS, M.D.

Managing Director, National Tuberculosis Association

At the present time there is not a satisfactory vaccine against TB. After years of study, a vaccine, called BCG, was developed that does increase resistance . . . but gives neither strong nor predictable protection.

Tuberculosis poses peculiar problems to researchers seeking an immunizing agent. Vaccines have been most successful against diseases where a single attack of the disease itself brings about immunity against future attacks. This, unfortunately, is not true of TB. One attack is no guarantee against future attacks of tuberculosis. In fact, TB is notoriously a "relapsing" disease.

However, in the uncharted future of science and medicine, it is certainly possible that a vaccine could be developed that would confer strong and lasting immunity. Or the secret of preventing tuberculosis may lie elsewhere . . . in enhancing nutrition for example, or perhaps a superior drug can be used to prevent as well as treat TB.

The important thing is that all likely avenues are being carefully investigated. This past year questions pertaining to immunity and other problems connected with tuberculosis were being studied in more than 40 clinics and laboratories . . . under medical research grants made possible by your purchase of Christmas Seals.

Your past support has helped save hundreds of thousands of lives. Your continued support will help hasten the day when medical research will find the answers to perplexing problems which must be solved to bring about the conquest of tuberculosis.

You can help speed that day . . . by buying Christmas Seals.

2-Day Course Offered Leaders Of Camp Fire

There will be a two-day training course in Camp Fire and Blue Bird work offered in Iowa Park at the Presbyterian recreation hall on Dec. 1 and 2.

The course will run from 9:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m. each day with Mrs. Fulton, Miss Jordahn and Miss Miller, office staff of the North Texas Council of Camp Fire, in charge.

Program planning, or the how and what of Camp Fire and Blue Birds will be taught in the morning session of the first day.

Afternoon study will be done in special groups. For 2nd and 3rd grade Blue Birds, the Doll House, representing the family, will be shown along with other crafts. For 4th grade work, the use of puppets, continuing the family idea, will be demonstrated.

Theme for the second day will be "Your Camp Fire Organization." The morning will be devoted to instruction in games, folk dancing, community projects and publicity.

Final session in the afternoon will consist of outdoor activities such as nature study and camp life. A brief ceremonial will conclude the course.

Interested mothers are urged to attend any or all of these sessions. Leaders, assistant leaders and adult sponsors are needed if all of the Camp Fire and Blue Bird groups in Iowa Park are to function. There are more girls interested in joining or continuing in this organization than there are workers to carry on the program.

Bring a paper sack lunch each day.

Soil Conservation

An important gathering of bankers, agricultural leaders and agricultural representatives met on the Bars and Whiteside farm near Iowa Park on Nov. 22. This meeting was in the form of a clinic, and was arranged by John B. Henry, county supervisor, Farmers Home Administration, and Elvy Sargent, conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service.

This session was an outgrowth of the interest of farmers in soil building through soil and water conservation. Bars and Whiteside are SCD co-operators with a number of practices planned but not yet completed.

FHA is authorized to make loans for soil and water improvement practices. A part of the cost of facilities, improvements and practices may be earned by the farmer through participation in the ACP program under the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Loans may be made for building terraces, developing and sodding waterways and digging ponds in connection with handling water run-off. In some areas sub-soiling is necessary in order to enable better water penetration of the soil, and loans are being made for this purpose.

Loans may also be used for brush removal, establishment and improvement of permanent pastures, well drilling, land leveling, and for purchase of pumps and irrigation equipment.

Repayment period on loans to individuals can be up to 20 years, and can be secured by liens on chattels or real estate, depending on the amount and length of the loan.

Information can be obtained from the county agent, representatives of SCS and FHA.

Junior News

Two members of the Jr class were chosen All-District football players, and three others received honorable mention. Harvey Klunker and Norman Marquart are All-District, while Donald Daugherty, Douglas James and Randall Pierce received honorable mention.

Randall P. and his freshman ex-girl friend haven't been seeing each other lately. Potts was fooling around with a Sr girl and the Frosh must have found out about it. Potts was lonesome after the Lockett game. His little girl didn't walk him off the field. That black eye looked suspicious, Potts. He is going to have a hard time passing geometry now.

This has been test week and most of us have been studying hard. Our class has to make good grades to overcome the Srs' low marks.

D. O. James and a Jr girl Carol had a big time last Saturday evening. Some Sr. boys followed them home and found out that Carol can get from the car into the house in about three seconds. Carol and her good friend Coleta are now competing to go with the big guard. Douglas says it is better to go with one awhile, then with the other. Keep it up, Douglas.

Gerald C. Tod Moore and Jerry Whitaker have been giving Mr. Sibley a hard time in FFA. See you next week! Keep cool. —Norman.

Marquart Scores 26 Points for Hawks in Lockett Victory

Iowa Park closed out a brilliant season of football last Friday on the home field by scoring a 60-7 rout over Lockett.

David Sewell started the scoring with an 8 yard plunge. Shortly Harvey Klinkerman fumbled into Lockett's end zone and James Low fell on the ball for the touchdown.

Lockett's only tally came in the first stanza when Don Holland burst through for a 65 yard run to pay dirt, and added the conversion kick.

In the second Sewell set up another score by running 47 yards to the 5. A pass to Norman Marquart was the clincher.

Iowa Park scored again in the second quarter when Delos Wisenhunt plunged over from the 1.

After the rest period the Hawks added 14 more points with Marquart, Sewell, Don Daugherty and Wisenhunt sharing the honors.

Not to be left out, J. C. Bridges added a brilliant 72 yard run in the 4th period. Marquart caught the PAT pass, and added another touchdown so Sewell could make another conversion.

Hawks' final effort was a 70 yard pass to Marquart with Sewell again kicking the bonus point.

Nobody remembers when an Iowa Park player scored as many as 26 points in one game before Marquart's brilliant play in this game!

Outstanding defensive play was turned in by all the Hawks, and their offensive blocking was a joy to coaches Covington and Reese.

Asphalt Shingles Can Give Color

To Low-Slope Roof

A key task of the roofing contractor is selecting the appropriate material and application method for the type of roof to be covered.

In recent years, one of the most important considerations has been the roof pitch. Many of the low-pitch or low-slope roofs that are so popular nowadays require special shingle application.

What is pitch? Look at the roof from a side view and think of a shingled slope as the hypotenuse of a right triangle. The pitch is the height of the roof in inches per horizontal foot.

Roofing experts say that any type of asphalt shingle can be used on a roof with a pitch of 4 or more inches. Below 4 inches, but not less than 2 inches, square-but asphalt strip shingles may be used, but with special application.

An important advantage in using asphalt shingles is that color is made available to the low-slope roof. The shingles come in a wide variety of colors, light to dark. This is the shingle application procedure for a roof pitch between 2 and 4 inches:

1. Under the shingles lay two layers of "15-pound" felt.
2. Cement two layers of felt together from the eaves to a point 24 inches inside the inside wall line of the building.
3. All shingle tabs should be cemented down with a spot of quick-setting asphalt cement.

BANKRUPTCY EXPLAINED

There are always a certain number of families in the U.S. with serious financial troubles. At this time the number is relatively few. To those few and to their creditors, this column should be of particular interest.

Principal causes which throw families into financial difficulties are: Inflation and high taxes, inability to resist impulse buying, combined with easy credit, illness or other emergencies, or just plain bad judgment and mismanagement.

Some people in financial difficulty, when threatened with legal proceedings to collect outstanding debts, seek the relief offered them by federal bankruptcy laws.

Purpose of bankruptcy laws is to permit an honest but unfortunate or weak debtor to surrender or account for all his property for the benefit of his creditors and in exchange be discharged of his debts.

Any adult who is insolvent may become a voluntary bankrupt by having his attorney prepare for him a bankruptcy petition, together with schedules of his assets and liabilities, and then file the same in the proper U.S. district court.

After the debtor is adjudicated a bankrupt he is required to appear for examination as to his assets in the bankruptcy court, and if he fully accounts for his assets and has not violated any of the bankruptcy laws he will thereafter receive a discharge of his debts.

If he is granted a discharge of his debts, he has started a new financial life as of the date he filed bankruptcy. The assets which he thereafter acquires cannot be reached to satisfy the old debts, nor will creditors be permitted to sue him on the old debts.

Dishonest debtors sometimes endeavor to gain advantages not allowed by the bankruptcy laws. In these instances, upon objections to discharge by creditors, they not only will be denied a discharge of their debts, but the courts will be prompt to deal harshly with offenders if they have violated the criminal laws.

The head of a family is entitled to claim as exempt any property which is exempt under Texas homestead laws, which in the ordinary case will be his home, household furniture, wearing apparel, the family automobile and tools of his trade or profession. However, if any of this property is covered by a mortgage or conditional sales contract he must pay any balance due thereon, or the owner of such mortgage or contract may repossess.

Bankruptcy has a lasting effect upon a person's future credit and in the usual case causes creditors to lose their entire debt.

Many bankruptcies could be avoided if the overloaded debtor would make a timely effort to sit down with his creditors and work out plans for reduced payments over extended periods.
