Hawks Scamper At Henrietta

Fighting, clawing Hawks tore off their third 9-A conference win last Friday night at the expense of the hapless Henrietta Bearoats. Final score found Iowa Park with 34 points while the host team had only 7.

Covington's men scored in the first canto when Harvey Klinkerman passed to Donald Daugherity for 20 yards. Delos Whisenhund tacked on the bonus point to put the Green and White ahead. The teams battled the remainder of the first half between the 35 yard lines

Lions club and Chamber of Com-Following the rest period, Whis enhunt broke the game wide open when he ran 64 yards on the first scrimmage play. The Hawks scored twice more when Klinkerman passed 20 yards to Whisenhunt

A warm invitation is extended to everyone in the area to attend the meeting. Those who would like to attend the luncheon are asked to call the Chamber make reservations.

at the pond. How come, Mr. Elms? At the house a witch escorted them by jack-o-lantern light thru weird dens and strange places. In the hall of death they found a poor witch manging by the neck and another unfortunate laid out in his coffin. In another den, fortunes were told by a lean and hungry Lady Macbeth. A silent witch kept watch with her broomstick ready to take off.

Ghostly tales and hallowe'en games were enjoyed. Suddenly the lights were turned on and identities were revealed. The witches turned out to be our homeroom mother, Lady Macbeth was Maudie, and the ghost was Tim. .

David won the prize for keeping his identity secret the longest. Hot chocolate and donuts were served and the guests were hurried away toward home so our football boys could be home and in bed at the proper time.

Labor Dispute Settled The ideas with which true Mind makes our true consciousness can be used to overcome all forms of strife. What causes strife is conflicting minds. What heals it is the acceptance of God as the only Mind of man and using the ideas of good will and justice that true Mind includes in the only, true consciousness of all men. Here is an example. An executive, who was a Christian Scientist, had been delegated to represent the management of a large corporation to negotiate with labor union representatives on eleven grievances presented by the union. The latter were taking, what seemed to the management, van adamant stand that was unreasonable. If the demands were not fully met, much trouble was threatened. There was no inclination to compromise on any of the points in dispute.

The evening before the conference the executive spent much time in study and prayer to improve his consciousness, to free it of the evil suggestions that his was an impossible task and that the men he was to confer with were unreasonable. 'He turned his thought to God and knew He the one true Mind, the true of sciousness of one and all. He futed the false suggestion of evil that there were many minds with differing viewpoints. Instead, he realized the scientific fact that because real Mind is One, its children think thoughts of unity, understanding, good will-not thoughts of division, dissension, and strife. When the labor representatives and the executive met there was a fine spirit of co-operation, and within two hours the eleven grievances were all settled in a manner satisfactory to both sides. Note the highly descriptive consciousness. Have you, made words he chose to define all evil— your decision on this vital point murderer and liar. Evil's procedure is first to say it can make something, then to murder or destroy what it says it has made. Is The Master stated the first not this what it does with the whole race of mortals? But bethese cause its basic nature is a lie, no matter what evil argues for, be it power to create, to sin, to be sick, to die, its every statement is a lie. 'Its effects are all as false as their false cause. Further, evil never abides in Truth, but it claims Truth's omnipresence, claims to be where Truth is. Jesus said the devil was the father of the Pharisees because they had accepted as their consciousness thoughts fathered by the one devil or evil mind, thoughts of hate, pride, hypocrisy, self-will. Our mortal consciousness is fathered by this same evil mind whenever we accept thoughts which deny the presence of good, Love, 'God. Evil claims for itself everything that belongs to God, including man's consciousness. I is a big liar, not a modest one. It claims supreme power; but claiming power and having power are two different things. Remember that. Evil claims universality, but there cannot be two infinites. God fills infinity; there is no room there for God's opposite. Evil has no base from which to work. It is outside of God's infinitude and can never get in.

Jesus Proved Evil a Liar

Because Jesus had gained such a full measure of man's true, Godgiven consciousness, filled with the spiritual ideas of Life and manhood, he instantly rejected the tares of material concepts such as sin and disease, that were pre-sented to his thought, and nullified them. He proved the power of true consciousness to demonstrate the falsity of evil and the reality of health and holiness. When material evidence presented to his consciousness ten mortals afflicted with leprosy, he did not say, "These men are in a sad plight __m for them, but there is nothing I can do" What did ne d ? He heated them to thwith How? With Mindfor them. constituted spiritual consciousness he realized that what physical sight saw as ten hopeless lepers was an outlined falsity of the one liar, mortal mind. He understood that this picture of mortal mind was as false as the lying mind from which it derived. ### The Discoverer of Christian Science In 1821, on a farm near Bow

New Hampshire, a child named Mary was born to devoutly reli-gious parents, who believed that erving God is the most important thing in life. The Bible was read in this home in the family circle every morning and every evening grace was said before and after every meal. In this atmosphere, alive with devotion to God and His Word, Mrs. Eddy's childhood was lived. By the time she was twelve, her Bible was much worn and she could repeat many of the Psalms and whole chapters of the New Testament. To her the Bible was the Book of Life. Love for God and His Word filled her

As a child Mrs. Eddy displayed on voccasion, unusual courage against overwhelming odds. Fearlessly she faced in the schoolyard an escaped lunatic, threatening her schoolmates, and quieted him. Another quality that early appeared in her thought was eagerness to help those in need. At school she sometimes gave her mittens and coat to others who lacked them (Twelve Years with Mary Baker Eddy, by Irving C. Tomlinson, p. 13)

The discovery of Christian Science came gradually and as the result of many human trials and afflictions which her deep faith in God enabled her to overcome She completed the textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," in 1875, when she was fifty-Its ideas in their radica challenge to materialism and their pronouncement that the spiritual and eternal idea of creation and man is alone real caused her to be hated and maligned. The Godgiven courage of her childhood was still hers, and she possessed a great ve for her fellow ner She de-sired to bring to all the healing message of Christ Jesus and its practical application as revealed in Christian Science. Mrs. Eddy never thought of herself as originating the ideas in Science and Health. "I have write ten," she once said, "as moved by the Spirit" (Twelve Years with Mary Baker Eddy, by Irving C. Tominson, p. 95). To her Spirit was the one true Mind, of man. The humility which was so essen tial to her wise leadership of the movement, raised up to reinstate primitive Christianity, is indicated in a statement once made to he household: "I have not sough eadership Before the great prob lems that have been given to me. I have felt myself nothing. There as been a voice saying to me Mary, take yourself out of the way and let God act through you'" (ibid 'p. 124). That she listened to that voice and let the Mind that is God fill her consciousness with 's ideas of wisdom is shown by says is our selfhood or conscious ness. 'Sometimes mortals are slow to recognize their worst enemy, perhaps because they have become o intimate with it. The story is told of Jane, a little girl who was rapidly growing up. A friend of the family had been way from the town where Jane lived for some time, and when she returned she met Jane on, the street. She was impressed by the child's rapid growth and said to her: "My dear, how you have grown since I last saw you. Why, you are almost a young lady. Said Jane, "Yes, that is what al most everyone says, but you see I am with me so much that I do not notice it." Mortals are mentally so much with their false sense of selfhood that they do not see it in its correct light or evaluate it properly as an enemy that must be pu down and overcome through the accepting of a higher concept of man as the child of God.

The 'one evil, mortal mind claims to assert itself in and through a material state of consciousness-called a mortal person It persistently argues to us that this is ourself. In the degree we believe the lie we are in trouble. We lose sight of the consciousness or selfhood, God gives us. Mortal mind would darken our thought with a false material sense of origin, with its false qualities of selfwill, self-love, self-justification, pride, egotism, animality, We become swayed by fear, animosity impulse, human emotions and in general seem pretty much to be the puppet of the mortal, evil mind. The consciousness of material selfhood is the stage where the puppeteer, mortal mind, stages its variety acts of sin, disease, and death. Said the Master, "A man's foes shall be they of his own house hold" (Matt. 10:36). It is in the household of our human consciousness we find our foes. The chief one is the false sense of self. ( What can we do about it? Dis cover and accept our true consciousness, which includes the spiritual concept of our selfhood as God's child, and so begin to silence the lying suggestion of evil that we have another self or consciousness of its making. Part of us cannot be the child of God and part the offspring of God's opposite, the one evil; yet this is what mortals in general are trying to believe.

Daily Improvement Through

Prayer Every day we can improve our iman consciousness by prayerfully affirming, in our own indi-vidual way, the true idea of God and man, the Christ-idea of Life. A very important signpost on the way is our Way-shower's meaning-ful statement, "If any man will ful statement, "If any man will come after me (improve his con-sciousness so as to think as I thin' 'tet him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me" (Matt. 16:24). How willing are you and I daily to deny, grapple with, overcome what the devil falsely says is our self by knowing and expressing more and more of our genuine selfhood and consciousgenuine selfhood and conscious-ness, God's model of excellence? One might prayerfully and daily declare, for instance, that he is not what mortal mind and matter says he is—a temporary embodiment of flesh and bones, with a mortal sense of life and consciousness. What he is is that God the all-

The peace of the world is coming nearer as men become more will-ing to accept their true conscious-ness, the consciousness of which the good, loving, and just Lind, that is God is the recurs and that is God, is the source and substance. False Belief Must Give Way

Human consciousness includes many mistaken beliefs which the evil mo.tal r ind, would have men accept as laws. For instance, it argues that if a mortal's father had a bald head his son is likely to have one too, or if the mother died with a particular disease the child may sometime have that too. It says that if a child in school has measles an epidemic is probable. It says that with changes in the temperature of the material atmosphere it is time for many mortals to cough and sniffle:

It is not the baldness of the father that makes the son bald. The head and hair of the son do not take notice of the father's head and decide to pattern after it. It is mortal thinking, accepted as a law by the son, whereby he believes that because one mortal had scant hair, his crop must be a poor one. The mistaken belief in his human consciousness governs his body. Of course he may refuse to accept that belief and claim his right, under God's law, to have a wholly normal head of hair. Loss of hair, or anything else, that is normal to harmonious being is never the result of the law of God. The belief of heredity is mastered as the individual discerns the spiritual fact, inherent in his Godiven consciousness, that he has one real Parent, God. From Him all individualities derive their only true life and its harmonious continuance. The human concept of material origins and hereditary affliction is unknown to divine Mind. Never have its children ever been afflicted, for all remain eternally 'superior to the would-be afflictive forces of the lying material beliefs. The individual needs to know that he is subordinate to no false laws of heredity because he is forever subordinate only to the constructive forces, or laws, of the causative Mind in whom he forever lives. He is not made by God to be a believer in, and sufferer from, erroneous mortal mind beliefs. He is made by God conscious of the nature of God and the laws by which God governs man.

Jesus brought to human consciousness the message of the Christ, the true idea of God and man. Jesus was the messenger. The Christ was his God-given message. By it men awaken to see that they can individually use their God-given consciousness to reject every negative suggestion of the devil-mind and accept the ideas of God as their divinely natural and only true consciousness. Thus they progressively discover the simple but great fact that God is the only real Mind of man, is his true consciourness "Man and his Maker, writes Mrs Eddy in Science and Health (p. 276), "are correlated in divine Science, and real conscious-ness is cognizant only of the things of God.
