Report on Senior Trip

On Tuesday afternoon, May 7, at 2:00 p.m. our class left Iowa Park—destination Colorado. At 6:00 miles from Amarillo to eat the food our parents had prepared. It was so windy we had to hold the food on our plates.

That night we got to Raton at 11:30 Mountain time. Everyone who didn't sleep too close to Janice had a nice rest.

Wednesday morning we rode to Canyon City, where we ate lunch. From there we went to the Royal Gorge. The rain didn't stop us all from walking to the other end and back.

We spent Wednesday night in the kids went to the show, where Mrs. Marquet spent approximately 30 minutes explaining to the cab driver which theater she wanted him to pick them up at. It was so rainy that most of us stayed in our room. The girls drank huge 7-up's, ate pretzels, wrote letters, and had their fortunes told. After these little parties, some of the girls returned to their rooms to find their clothes thrown all over the room. The boys played cards practically all night.

Thursday morning we rode to the Garden of the Gods. Then we went to Manitou Springs.

The girls had been yelling "Emery, Emery, he's our man. If he can't get us there nobody can." Then the boys thought of a real cute one, "Emery, Emery, he's our man. If he can't get us there, we'll walk." They had barely said that when the bus stopped.

Mr. Elms said for us to walk right on around the bend to the Cave of the Winds. Well, that little bend was two miles around the side of a mountain. We enjoyed our trip through the cave, but you can be sure we all remembered never again to say that we would walk.

All the girls had to buy pins to roll their hair that night because the Old Maid's Kitchen in the cave was a place where if a girl leaves a bobble pin in the enormous stack of pins, she will be married within a year.

That afternoon we went to Denver, where we stayed in the Auditorium hotel. We wouldn't complain about the hotel, but after Anita and Jan had taken showers, a man came upstairs and asked them to please stop running the water because it was leaking into the coffee shop downstairs.

That night some went to the show and some just walked around to see the big city. A few of us returned to the hotel early to find the cocktail lounge in the hotel afire. We ran upstairs to pack our luggage—there we saw neon lights flashing through the window at the end of the hall.

Naturally we all thought it was a fire, and we all ran downstairs crying. After we finally settled down, we slept quite well.

The next morning we were on our own, to shop and see the town. Not long after the girls got back to the hotel from the shopping spree we took some pills we found in Denver, and we grew pony-tails almost immediately.

In the afternoon we rode to Estes Park, where we ate in the same cafe with the senior class from Swing, N.M.

That night we went bowling and really had a swell time. At the motel that night we learned that Edna Holloway can sleep almost anywhere.

On the way to Estes Park, Gerald and Donald took up money to call Abe Lincoln and dedicate a song to the Iowa Park students from the seniors. Now we all know that was a slick way to make 75c apiece and dedicate a song to their girls at the same time.

Saturday morning we rode into Rocky Mountain National Park and played in the snow. On the way back to Denver we rode through Big Thompson Canyon, which is really magnificent. That afternoon we went to the Riviera Motel. (I understand Mr. Elms and Mr. Sibley missed their lunches the day before, finding a place that nice for us to stay in.) Quite a few seniors went swimming in their pool—quite a change from the snow that morning!

We ate dinner that night in a very, very nice restaurant, The Chef. From there we went to the Elitch Gardens, where we all enjoyed dancing to Paul Neighbor's band. It was like things we have seen only in the movies, and I think it put stars in all the girls' eyes.

Knowing that we would have to get up at 4:30, very few of us "Dead Heads" went to bed that night. It did little good to go to bed because the phones rang all night. Gerald had a 30 minute conversation with a Denver disc jockey before he realized the DJ had gone into another room to put a record on.

We left Denver early Sunday and traveled continually all day. Only impressive stop was by the side of the road for a devotional period led by La Wanda Jo Darnell.

We reached Iowa Park at 10:00 p.m. Sunday. It was a wonderful trip which everyone will always remember.

In closing I would only like to say—MAN WE HAD A BALL! —Carol Thomas

Reflections from the Bible

By Ray Marcum, Minister
Iowa Park Church of Christ

We continue with our study of the beginning of the Lord's church. After the resurrection of Jesus he said unto His disciples, "Tarry ye in the city of Jerusalem until ye be clothed with power from on high." This they did. In the second chapter of Acts we have a vivid description of the coming of the Holy Spirit and the establishment of the church.

The Apostles were inspired to teach things which have become the hope of all ages. The chapter ends with this record, "And the Lord added to the church day by day those that were being saved."

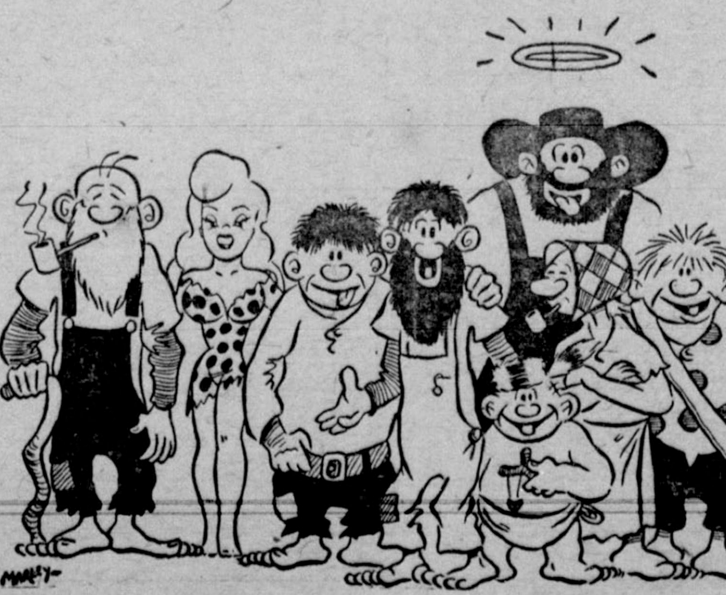

The number increased quickly from three thousand to eight. Thus the Kingdom, the Church which Jesus promised, came into being. And He gave His assurance that the gates of Hell shall not prevail against it.

Immediately there arose vigorous opposition. Peter and John were thrown into prison, James and Stephen lost their lives, members were driven from Jerusalem, "But they that were scattered abroad went everywhere preaching the word."

In spite of persecution the early church enjoyed growth. Is it difficult for us to see why? They were faithful ones, they were careful to follow instructions of the inspired Apostles, who were guided by the Holy Spirit. The Church today can enjoy growth by following implicitly the Word of God.

"Pocahontas," the Rescue of Captain John Smith
 William R. Leigh, N. A.

NATIONAL WARNING System, including some 23,000 miles of wire, is shown with its intricate connections to 200 civil defense warning points across the nation. The new network may be used to sound a single national attack alarm from the Federal Civil Defense Administration's National Warning Center at Colorado Springs, or if necessary, from similar warning centers at Stewart Air Force Base, N. Y., or Hamilton Air Force Base, Calif. From the warning points, State and local civil defense hook ups would pass the word along to the people to evacuate or take shelter.

TELEPHONE TALK

by Norman S. Stuckey, Manager

WHY NOT PERSONALIZE IT?

"Telephone service is telephone service," a friend of mine said the other day. "What's so different about it now than before?"

I was glad he asked me. It gave me a chance to bring him up to date about complete, convenient telephone planning. "Look at it this way," I said. "A Model-T will still get you from here to there. But you wouldn't want one for your family car. You have the latest model. And before you bought it, you looked over all the models, styles, special features—even colors—and picked out the one that suited you best. "And it's the same way with phone service these days. You can select a telephone arrangement that exactly fits your own needs."

Here's what I meant: Enough telephones so you don't have to run to answer (or walk halfway through the house to make a call). Telephones in color in bedrooms and kitchen to harmonize or contrast with your room decorations. Phone book listings for everyone in the house. And maybe a second main line for teen-agers. And extra bells or signal lamps if necessary, so nobody misses important incoming calls. We're always happy to help plan a personalized home telephone arrangement. Lots of Iowa Park people already are taking advantage of the many low-cost "extra" services we offer. For more details, why not call the telephone business office today? The number is 3-8311.

MONEY SAVING IDEA

The idea of making Long Distance calls station-to-station instead of person-to-person seems to be catching on more all the time. Makes sense, too. "Station" rates are about 1/3 lower. You can actually make three out-of-town calls for the price of two. Here's an example. Three station-to-station calls from here to Dallas cost only $1.95 (3 minutes, after 6 p.m. weekdays or all day Sunday). Two person-to-person calls would cost $2.20. Businessmen have known the economy of station-to-station calling for a long time. Many like to make all their calls that way. Whether you make a lot of Long Distance calls, or just a few, I think you'll find worthwhile savings in regular use of station-to-station service. And you'll save time, too, if you'll always call by number.

READY WHEN YOU NEED IT

There's a special value in telephone service that always comes to mind when vacation time rolls around. No matter how far away your vacation takes you, it's always easy to phone home and make sure everything's okay. Or to stop at a road-side booth and call ahead for hotel or motel reservations. No matter where you go, the telephone is always nearby—ready when you need it.

New Strawberry Towers for Spring

Spring appetites are never heartier than when the menu includes Strawberry Shortcake desserts. Here's a new way of serving this old favorite that will cut expense and add enjoyment—Strawberry Towers. All you need are a few bright fresh berries, whipped cream or ice cream filling, and a package of individual shortcake dainties from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department. Strawberry Towers require almost no work so plan to serve them often during the fresh berry season. All you do is to place the shortcake dainties on individual serving plates and remove the center with a biscuit cutter or a knife. Fill with ice cream or whipped cream and place sliced strawberries in the filling. Put the center of the shortcake dainty on top and garnish with one large berry. Plan on one Strawberry Tower to a customer for the first round, but better be prepared for reorders too.

Glare Protection Important To Highway Safety, Expert States

Unless you spend the summer months living in a cave, you need at least one pair of good quality sun glasses. Sunshine, which can be one of your best friends, can also be an enemy, particularly on the highway where glare-induced accidents are a constant threat to even the most careful driver. Driving against glare can cause visual fatigue, result in headaches, drowsiness, reduce your ability to see at night and even endanger your life on the highway, according to Fred W. Jobe, director of ophthalmic research for the Bausch & Lomb Optical Co. He points out that the increase in light-colored cars, and the greater use of highly reflective chrome and window areas, have all added to the glare hazard for the driver, as has the increase in light-colored, more reflective road surfaces and the trend to open sports cars. Moreover, prolonged exposure to glare during the daylight hours can sharply reduce a driver's ability to see at night. This, naturally, is a hazard in night-time driving, as is anything which reduces your visual acuity. The best method of combating daytime glare is to wear good quality sun glasses which provide comfortable vision in the brightest sun by filtering out a large part of the excessive visible light and the potentially harmful infrared and ultraviolet radiations, Jobe states. Pointing up the importance of wearing good quality sun glasses, he emphasizes that cheap sun glasses almost invariably have imperfections which tire the eye in critical seeing, and which may cause headaches, eyestrain and discomfort. What types of sun glasses are best for the driver? Jobe recommends Ray-Ban lenses with gradient density, a metallic deposit on the top, and/or bottom of the lens for extra protection from direct overhead or reflected glare, or neutral gray G-15 lenses which filter out 85% of the potentially harmful sun's rays and transmit the remaining 15% with no change in color.

He recommended occasions such as the dinner and program to encourage and get better acquainted with teachers and to make them feel they are a part of the community.

Eighty-five persons attended the dinner and program.

Soil Conservation

Harvest time for many farmers living in this area should begin within a few weeks, and plowing the land will follow immediately.

Rainfall records show that May and June are the two highest rainfall months for this vicinity. We may expect much of the land to be plowed during this period, and considerable erosion will be taking place where adequate cover is not provided on the land.

Technicians of the Wilbarger-Wichita Soil Conservation District emphasize the importance of stubble mulch tillage to provide adequate cover during this critical period. No single conservation practice will completely eliminate runoff, stubble mulch tillage more nearly accomplishes erosion control, and moisture conservation by leaving the greater amount of the crop-residue on or near the soil surface. The residue helps to break up the falling raindrops, thus rendering them less erosive on the soil.

Sweep type equipment is most desirable for a good job of stubble mulching, as it will move along under the soil, destroying growing vegetation, while leaving a greater part of the stubble standing.

However, where sweep type machinery is not available, chisel type equipment will do a good job where stubble is heavy. Rolling coulters will be necessary on most plowings to prevent dragging of residues.

Mrs. Texas' Choco-Spice Loaf Cake

Good neighbor that she is, charming Jeanne Hale of Kilgore, chosen Mrs. Texas at the recent Mrs. America state finals in Dallas, shares with us her recipe for Choco-Spice Loaf Cake.

At the national contest in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, Mrs. Hale upholds the reputation of Texas cookery against skillful homemakers from 47 other states and the District of Columbia in a Baker's Chocolate Dessert Contest. Her dessert was a favorite of the family long before it was known as:

- | | |
|------------------------------------|--|
| 1/2 cup butter or other shortening | 1 cup buttermilk |
| 1-1/3 cups sugar | 4 squares (4 ounces) unsweetened chocolate, melted |
| 4 egg yolks | 1 cup chopped pecans |
| 2 cups sifted cake flour | 1 teaspoon vanilla |
| 1/2 teaspoon cloves | 4 egg whites, stiffly beaten |
| 1/2 teaspoon allspice | Seven-Minute Frosting |
| 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon | |
| 1 teaspoon soda | |

Cream shortening. Gradually add sugar and beat until mixture is light and fluffy. Add unbeaten egg yolks, one at a time, beating vigorously after each. Sift flour, spices and soda together three times. Add alternately with buttermilk to creamed mixture, beating well after each addition. Stir in melted chocolate, nuts and vanilla and mix well. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a 9x5x3-inch loaf pan, lined with waxed paper. Bake in slow oven (325° F.) about 50 minutes, or until cake springs back when lightly pressed. Cool. Spread with Seven-Minute Frosting and sprinkle with more chopped nuts, if desired.

To make Seven-Minute Frosting, combine 2 egg whites, 1-1/2 cups sugar, a dash of salt, 1/3 cup water, and 2 teaspoons light corn syrup in top of double boiler. Beat about 1 minute, or until thoroughly mixed. Then place over boiling water and beat constantly with egg beater or at highest speed of electric mixer 7 minutes, or until frosting will stand in stiff peaks. Remove from boiling water and beat in 1 teaspoon vanilla. Makes 4-1/2 cups frosting. Note: Batter may be baked also in two round 9-inch layer pans in moderate oven (350° F.) for about 35 minutes.
