Iowa Park Church of Christ God's people in bondage is our theme (Exodus 1:7-22). The land of Egypt became to Israel a house of bondage, though it had been a happy shelter. Joseph, the benefactor of God's people, died. The children of Israel grew and increased there arose a new king who knew not Joseph. The great care of man should be to serve God " in Spirit and in truth"; God never forgets but the mind of man soon vanishes. If we work for men only, our works, at furthest, will die with us: if for God they will follow us, "And I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me. Write. Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, said the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours: and their works do follow them" (Rev. 14:13). It makes a difference how men live; it also makes a difference how men die! For the reward of Heaven, man must die in the Lord Israel were God's chosen people but they had to work and had to endure suffering at the hands of ones who opposed God's way of life. Man can oppose God's plan for man and be unconscious of it, Saul of Tarsus did! The sufferings That the resurrection of Jesus of life are but for a few days but the saints but "He that sitteth in happening again in the 1950s. There are others who think this has been a mere coincidence; that there is not necessarily any connec tion; that it just happened that way. They scoff at arguments that depressions are "farm led and farm

This is the sixth year of a farm price and income decline that began in 1952. Three years ago a farmer from Missouri, only recently elected to Congress, stood up on the floor firm) nor is it unsettled, but it is of the House and made a speech.

The other day that farmer, Rep. George Christopher, reminded his colleagues of that speech. "I said at that time," he recalled, "that you could start a depression on the American farm but you could not keep it there; that it would break out and go to town; then it would go on to the cities.

'The only charge brought against the farmer is that perhaps he is doing his job 2 or 3 per cent too well. They say we are producing a surplus.

"Every big-city Congressman that comes to the floor of this House night before he goes to bed and thank God and the American farmer that we do produce a surplus.

"It guarantees that even though his folks in the city may get out of a job and have to live in breadlines and soup kitchens again, which God forbid, there will be bread in the breadlines and the soup in the soup prowl after. "This country produces $50 billion worth of raw materials each year. Of that amount about $20 billion comprises ores, coal, oil and gas, fish and forestry products, and $30 billion of it is in agricultural products.

"So, among other things, the American farmer produces $3 out of every $5 worth of faw materials produced in the United Statessome job for 12 per cent of the population, I'd say."

The Johnson Sisters of Canvon will be with the Asembly of God the bachelor of science degree at this weekend to help with the work here. They are good musicians and
