And for lusbands and wives, there is absolutely nothing that is as great a construcive influence on the life of your children than your love for one another. Some parents think they should not show affection of any kind in front of the children. This is nonsense. Mutual affection between husband and wife is to the familv what a heating system is to a house; it provides a warm and comfortable atmosphere for the whole home.

No better advice was ever given to married people than what the old mountain preacher said: "Don't both of you get mad at the same time." The grammar is a little mixed but the advice is straight down the road. The point is that when God really moves into a family relationship then there is a true affection between parents and between parents and children, which can meet all the disagreements and disturbances which do come up!

As Malachi says, "He (God) shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to the fathers."

Pensive Notes

Ah, the Popularity Quotient of old J. Penwright will really tumble after this one. The Town of Friendly Religion, pardon—Living, will certainly love me no longer. But I must speak out because something has happened which has affected my own life this past week. Somehow, if this is something which has happened personally to a person it must at personally to a person it must at the court of the harm I believe it was doing to the real cause of the Church. And since my religious friend's church is participating I am somewhat distillusioned. When are the churches going to stop putting on big shows and start living their Christianity in their everyday lives? It would seem to me this is where it really counts.

I have been able to see the Church, or so I thought, in a Christian churches to get togeththat what I had rejected for so who live among us and take up long was a local corruption of what the Church really is.

But then we come along with this "revival" which has devoured opportunity for revival among those who are already committed. But to imagine that a "revival" or "gospel meeting" or whatever else you want to call it is the means for reaching those on the outside of the Church is pure non-

Mighty Belgian horses will be one equine attraction at the 1962 State Fair of Texas, October 6 through 21. The huge draft horses — each weighing in at over 2,000 pounds — will appear nightly in the spectacular Torchlight Parade of Nations. They will also be on view daily at the Dr Pepper Belgian Horse Fair, part of the State Fair's new Circusland exhibit. Standing over 6 feet tall at the shoulder, the Belgians are descended from horses bred to carry the weight of medieval knights
