Which Farm Is This?

The mystery farm used last week was scarcely a mystery, but it was too pretty a place for the Herald to bypass. The place is located one mile north, 2 1/2 east of Iowa Park and is known as the R. L. Underwood Quarter Horse Breeding farm.

Mr. Underwood lives in Wichita Falls but spends a great amount of time on the place. His family has been interested in quarter horses for many years. In July of 1951 he bought the farm from W. A. Scott and has put a great amount of work and money into making it one of the most attractive layouts in north Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bowman make the farm their headquarters, where Mr. Bowman is foreman. He has worked with Mr. Underwood for the past seven years. They have one son, married, living in Houston and employed with the Second National bank there.

Soil conservation practices are being used by Mr. Bowman, especially reseeded of fields with grass to hold the topsoil and to furnish forage for the 40 head of horses maintained at the ranch.

Mr. Underwood and Mr. and Mrs. Bowman this week expressed warm invitations to all people in this area to visit the ranch and discuss problems of stock and soil management with the view to arriving at mutually helpful solutions.

Stock of the Underwood ranch bear the Lazy Tee Pee brand. Many fine specimens of working quarter horses are being produced.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowman take a great interest in affairs of Iowa Park and this area, and enjoy the local newspaper. Mrs. Bowman is a member of the Park Area Home Demonstration club. Mr. Bowman has membership in the American Quarter Horse association, was one of its founders and served as its third president.

Our readers are invited to call or write about the mystery farm pictured above. The operator of the place will receive a mounted picture free if he will call at the Herald office.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read Revelation 2:8-11

Once while visiting a home for the aged, a woman grasped my hands and seeing me deep in my eyes said: "Young man, be faithful to your calling. Never forget your Saviour." This made an unforgettable impression upon me. I saw before me a woman with some of the radiance of the eternal world upon her. She had served Jesus Christ through the years. Many temptations she had met. Often the way had been difficult, but she had been faithful.

Now she was a gray-haired saint. Soon the eternal gates would open for her. Looking back upon the years of her life, she was grateful and satisfied. So when a young minister stood before her, the best she could have said was, "Be faithful; never forget your Saviour."

Her words have helped me to see that the Saviour can have confidence in his followers. We may well ask: "Does my light reflect faithfulness to Christ? Does He have confidence in me because I am seeking to be faithful to him, even unto death?"

Prayer

O God, almighty Father, in Jesus Christ thou hast revealed thy eternal faithfulness unto mankind, even unto me. Help me, Father, through faith in thy beloved Son, to serve thee in unchanging fidelity.

Hawks Lose Opener

James Williams' double in the sixth inning, which drove in a run, cheated Electra's star pitcher out of a no-hit shutout Tuesday when the Hawks and Tigers opened district baseball play at Electra, Tuesday.

Robert Nolen pitched good ball for Iowa Park but was handicapped by a few errors by his teammates. Final score was 9-1, Electra.

Seniors Take Trip to Carlsbad, Juarez; Itinerary Is Listed

Last fall 100,000 customers of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair had the opportunity also to be customers of the Iowa Park Senior Stand. Many hundreds took advantage of their opportunity. They ate chicken dinners, drank pops and coffee, ate pie and hamburgers.

About 4:00 Thursday morning, May 8, the Senior Stand started paying off in earnest—that is, the Carlsbad trip which is the pot of gold at the rainbow's end for Iowa Park kids from their earliest sign of approaching knowledge of the world and its activities, was on!

After a large breakfast served by senior mothers not making the jaunt, the senior class, their two teacher sponsors, their five room mothers, and Supt. and Mrs. W. R. Bradford, complete with Cotton as bus driver, roared out of Iowa Park.

The Carlsbad trip is a four day endurance contest, with the finish line in front of the Bradford home. If everything goes according to schedule, the seniors and their long suffering adult mentors will rumble into town between 4:30 and 5:00 next Monday morning.

The schedule follows:

Arrive Lubbock between 10:45 and 11:00 a.m. Lunch at the City park at noon. All former residents of Iowa Park living in that vicinity are invited to eat with them.

A 30 minute visit on the Texas Tech campus. Trip resumed, with a rest period stop in Brownfield and another in Hobbs, N.M.

Arrive Carlsbad around 5:00 p.m. Spend the night at Rio Vista Courts. Swimming and boating before supper in the Pecos river, the swimming and boating that is. After supper the student tour the town on their own until 12:00 midnight. This has been done before and citizens of Carlsbad know how to take care of themselves.

Friday morning. Enter Carlsbad cavern at 9:30. This is a four hour trip. The party will take lunch in a dining room 700 feet underground with temperature at 56 degrees. At 1:30 the Hawks will leave the cavern and stop at White City to buy a paper about their trip through the cavern, and their names will be listed in it.

Supper will be served on Mount El Capitan, highest mountain in Texas. After a stay of 1 1/2 hours the bus will head for El Paso, some 100 miles away.

Arrive in El Paso at 9:00 p.m. and register at Hotel Cortez. Again the students will be on the town until 12:30 Saturday afternoon.

After lunch the bus will take them to Franklin Mountain, Fort Bliss and around in El Paso, arriving at the International Bridge at 2:30. The group will walk across the bridge and enter Juarez, Mexico. Toll charge is 2 cents each.

Here they take taxis to the public market place and shop their way back to the bridge. Here the fun seems to be haggling merchants down from $20 to $9 for a $5 item.

Another walk across the bridge reloads the bus about 5:30 and the international travelers return to their hotel to dress for dinner at Tiovil Night Club back on the Mexican side of the border.

The Iowa Parkans will leave Hotel Cortez at 8:00 p.m. for the dinner in Old Mexico and return at 11:00 p.m. An old fiddlers contest near the hotel will amuse the gang until almost bedtime.

The return journey starts from El Paso, Sunday morning at 8:00, heading west for Las Cruces on the Arizona and California highway. After a short visit, the bus starts north about 10:00, with another rest stop at Chicago!

Just before noon the children young and old will play in the white sand at White Sands. Another stop will be made at Alamogordo. Word has been received from the Chamber of Commerce the swimming pool will be open, so a dip will be enjoyed while lunch is being prepared.

Leave Alamogordo at 2:30 and stop again at Ruidoso, a mountain resort town. Here snowballing will be enjoyed. After Ruidoso comes Roswell, which should be reached about 5:30.

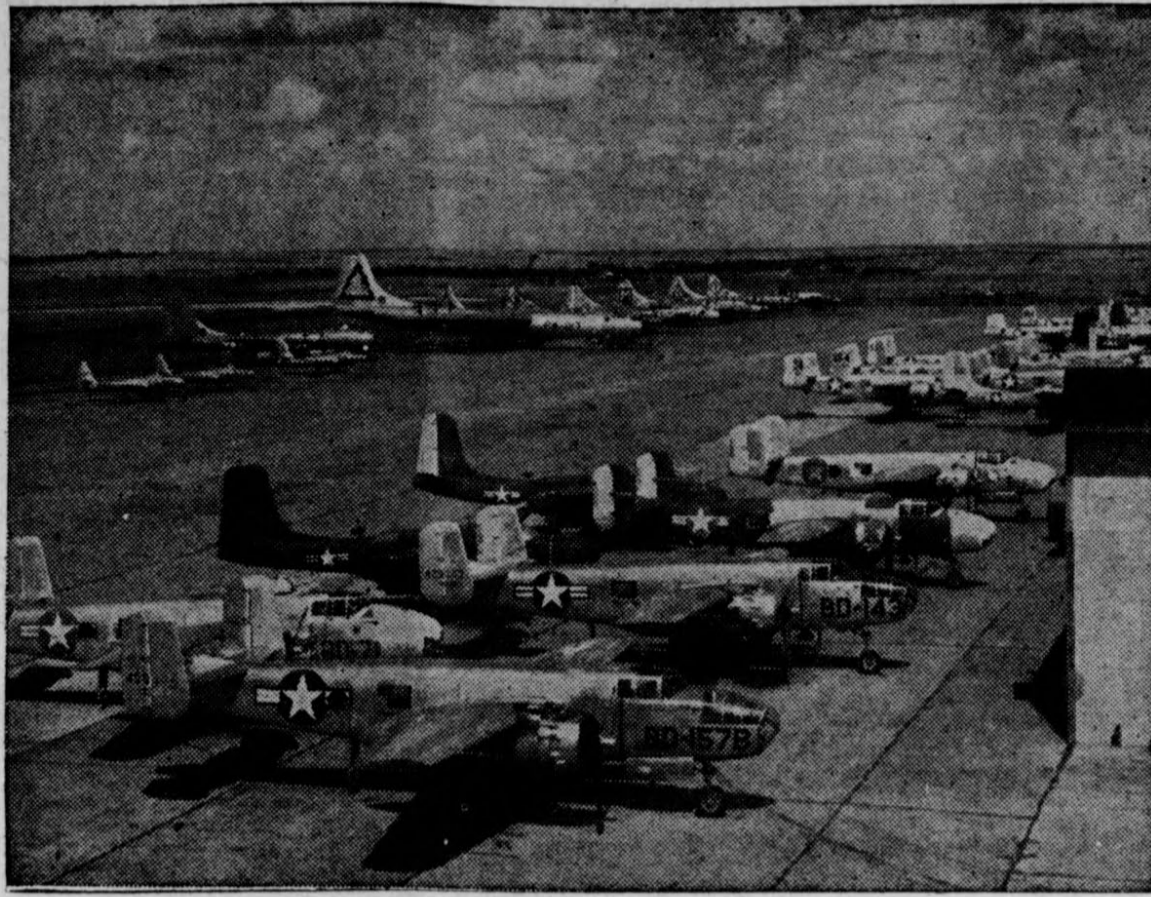

At Roswell a telegram will be sent to the Rexall Drug Store telling when the bus will arrive in Iowa Park.

Supper will be eaten at Clovis at 9:00 p.m. Sunday. The bus will make two stops, Plainview and Matador, before arriving home.

Students planning to make the trip are Paul Burns, Jackie Hendricks, Ben Huckaby, Jimmy Jones, Mac Lucy, Robert Nolen, Charles Quick, Coy Reneau, Joe Robertson, Charles Rulledge, Freddie Simmons, Delbert Todd, Eddie Watson.

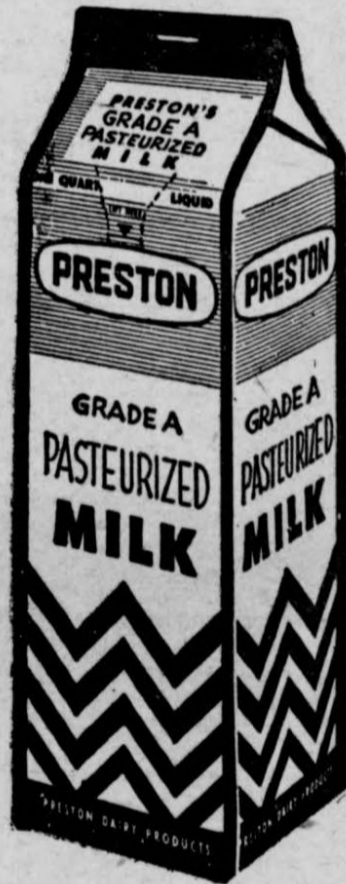

And Helen Birkman, Doris Coleman, Mary Fortner, Lou Ann Gay, Jimmie Joy George, Rose Mary Grundy, Mary Hackman, Janice Kight, Noralene Moer.

Adults are Mmes. Guy Morgan, Dorothy Thompson, Herman Kight, O. E. Nolen, Roy Fortner, George R. Huckaby, S. E. Watson, and Mr. and Mrs. Bradford.

Your Congress

A battle over legislation to cover government seizure of private facilities during emergencies is shaping up in Congress. On one side are those favoring presidential control; on the other, those preferring court jurisdiction.

While Truman's seizure of the steel industry and the court actions following seizure have aroused Congress, there is no certainty a law on the subject will be enacted this year. If Congress does pass a seizure act, indications are that it will do so only after a protracted fight between the two factions mentioned.

The faction favoring presidential control center around Sen. Morse (R-Ore.), member of the Senate labor committee. The group preferring federal court jurisdiction is headed by Rep. Smith (D-Va.), author of legislation prescribing the court approach.

Under the original provisions of the Morse bill, when a labor dispute threatened an emergency, the president would issue a proclamation asking the parties to continue or resume normal operations.

He then would name a fact-finding board, to report within 30 days. If a work stoppage continued after his proclamation, the president would report full details to Congress, including the fact-finding report if it be ready.

He also would make recommendations to Congress.

If he recommended seizure, he would have authority to seize unless Congress within five days decided against seizure, or enacted legislation to end the dispute or the emergency—if Congress found an emergency existed. The president would call a special session of Congress if necessary.

During any seizure, the federal agency operating the facility could negotiate changes in wages, hours named by the president or recommended by the board named by the president or recommendations contained in a special congressional resolution.

The president, during seizure, could appoint another board to fix the just compensation to be paid to owners of the seized facility.

That bill most likely would be opposed by those in Congress who want to strip the Wage Stabilization Board of its dispute-handling authority and who object to the government's making wage and working condition changes during seizure. They contend the steel crisis was aggravated by WSB participation.

Under Smith's bill, the federal courts could enjoy a work stoppage for 80 days—as can be done under the Taft-Hartley Act. During the injunction period, the president would name a fact-finding board. It would make a public report, without recommendations or judgments.

If the dispute had not been settled after the 80 days, the Attorney General would petition a federal court to name receivers for both management and union. The receivers would have power to keep the plants operating until the dispute was settled or the emergency—as declared either by Congress or the president—had ended.

Working conditions could not be changed during either the injunction or receivership periods. Nor could any government official recommend terms of settlement. The government's efforts would be confined to mediation.

Morse's bill would amend the Taft-Hartley Act and give laboring people a better opportunity to get fair treatment under jurisdiction of House and Senate labor committees.

Smith designed his bill to amend the selective provisions of the Selective Service Act, so that it would be referred to the armed services rather than labor committees.

Park Area Club

The Park Area Home Demonstration club met in the home of Mrs. Joe Patton on Wednesday, May 7, with Mrs. A. E. Bailey, president, in charge.

A sing song "Song of Peace" was led by Mrs. G. E. McMullen, program chairman. Mrs. Virgil Woodfin sang a solo, "In the Garden." Mrs. C. C. Burrows gave the devotional on "Garden of Prayer." She stressed that men are always taught to pray, and a garden of flowers is something that God has given us for an inspiration.

Mrs. Virgil Woodfin called the roll to which members each answered with "a hint for keeping well."

Mrs. C. H. Bowman gave a report on the District 3 meeting at Haskell, Monday, May 5. Three other Iowa Park ladies accompanied Mrs. Bowman to this meeting, Mrs. Mae Gunn and Mrs. A. E. Bailey of the Park Area club and Mrs. W. G. Partney of the Valley Farms club.

Mrs. Bailey gave a demonstration of a one dish dinner, which was served later with the refreshment plate. This one dish dinner was Spaghetti de Luxe.

The hostess, Mrs. Patton, was given a surprise handkerchief shower by members of the club. The Pattons are moving to Edna. Secret pals were also revealed at this week's meeting. Others present included Mmes. Leo Kuczek, A. H. Estes, Ralph Stone, J. L. Barbour, Clarence Hill and Walter Bedford.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Maggart and family have moved to Farwell where they operate the City Cafe. The Maggarts are the former owners of the Park In Drive Inn here.

Family Life Expert Speaks Here on May Fellowship Program

Mrs. R. O. Pearson of Abilene was the featured speaker for the May Fellowship Day meeting of the Iowa Park Council of Church Women last Friday afternoon. The meeting was held at the Presbyterian church and was preceded by a tea in the social hall which afforded an opportunity for the women to become better acquainted with the speaker.

Mrs. Pearson is trustee of the United Christian Missionary Society, state chairman of adult education and vice-president of the international and state conventions of the Disciples of Christ. She was the first president of the Abilene Council of Church Women and was the featured speaker at the state convention held in Fort Worth in 1950. She is serving as state adviser on women's activities for the North Foundation of Infantile Paralysis.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Chester Gleason, an intimate friend and chairman of the Christian Social Relations committee of the local council.

Mrs. Pearson used "Spiritual Security for Today's Families," the theme of the program, as basis for an inspiring address. She chose to place particular stress on the family, which she described as the most universal thing in the world and the outstanding consideration of all great people. She stated that every great nation that has declined and fallen, lost its families first.

Mrs. Pearson said family life must be rooted in spiritual values and stressed the important role Christian women have in creating a Christian atmosphere in the home. She showed how the Christian mother can be a spiritual bulwark through faith, patience, prayer life and knowledge of the Bible.

In conclusion the speaker asserted that women could help to promote Christian families by teaching young people facts about courtship and marriage, through broadening the association of young people, through Christian recreation, and by placing major emphasis on the significance of the marriage ceremony.

Mrs. Homer Blalock acted as program chairman for the meeting.

Mrs. James A. Sewell provided organ prelude and accompaniment for congregational songs and for a vocal selection "How Beautiful Upon the Mountains," by Mrs. Gleason.

Mrs. Rollins Woodall and Mrs. Miles Thompson served as ushers. Arrangements for the tea were under the direction of Mmes. Gayle Park, Fred Widmoyer, King Abernathy and C. E. Birk. Mrs. S. T. Buzzard was responsible for attractive floral decorations in the church sanctuary and social hall.

Featured at the meeting was a display of family life literature.

Disciples Doings

A large group from the Iowa Park Christian church attended the spring preaching convention of the 12th District, Tuesday in Jacksboro at the Memorial Christian church. Going were O. R. Owens, Mrs. Earl Lehman, Mrs. Chester Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Rollins Woodall, Mrs. Hallie Chastain, Jim Searl, T. M. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Roberts, Mrs. Grady Hencerson, John Rollins Woodall, Rev. and Mrs. Chester Gleason.

As president of the district, Mr. Gleason brought the opening sermon on "Why Are Ye Fearful?" Ministers from Graham, Wichita Falls, Knox City and Jacksboro preached on the general theme of "How Would You Answer These Questions?" Leslie King of Vernon spoke to the convention regarding "The Christian and Politics" from the layman's viewpoint.

The women of the church met Monday afternoon at 2:30 in a monthly missionary study "Spotlighting Latin America." Chapter V "Puerto Rico Faces a New Half Century," was the topic.

Mrs. Rollins Woodall conducted the worship service. During the business session new officers were selected for the church year, as follows:

President, Mrs. Rollin Roberts, Vice-president, Mrs. Hallie Chastain, Secretary, Mrs. Chester Miller.

Food, Fun, Fights Feature Craterville

The seniors, faculty sponsors, five senior mothers and a few dads were guests of the junior class, faculty sponsors and junior mothers last Friday and Saturday at Craterville Park, north of Cache, Okla.

This is an annual event and is enjoyed by both classes. Classes of Iowa Park High School have made the trip 28 times in years past.

There was a lot of high spirited fun on the buses and in cars going to Oklahoma and coming back. The luggage just seemed to fall off the pick-up several times by accident. We all wonder why one handbag picked up by Mr. Jeter didn't have an owner.

When the women and girls lined up at a filling station in Lawton, they accused Ben Huckaby of trying to crash the queue.

Everyone was starved by noon Friday, but took time to have various celebrities march around the dining table. Mountain climbing, swimming, horseback riding, the donkey wagon were all enjoyed in the afternoon.

Barbara Butts and Jimmy Jones really had a fast ride in the wagon. The trouble was we couldn't tell who was pulling the wagon, Jimmy or ?

While the Junior girls were doing KP, their lovely little senior guests were fixing the beds so their hostesses would sleep more comfortably! Everyone had a grand hour or two of sleep, and all were up by 5:00 Saturday morning clamoring for breakfast.

The seniors thank the juniors again for the wonderful time they had. Their gratitude goes especially to the junior mothers, sponsors, W. D. Jeter, J. D. Morrison, Buck Voyles and Chauncey Weller.

Mac Lucy, Mary Fortner, Robert Nolen and two of the room mothers did not make the trip.

SCHOOL NEWS

The Iowa Park band has had a highly successful year under direction of C. L. Vaughn as evidenced by the many honors and great improvement shown through the year. This week Mr. Vaughn announced names of students receiving jackets and letters. Many have received jackets from other activities during the school year and could receive only a letter.

Jackets have been awarded to Barbara Butts, Jimmie Joy George, June James, Martha Barnhart, Helen Roberts, Lou Ann Gay, Artie Sue Mitchell, Bruce Hughes, Jimmy Jones, Dennis Goff, Sue Gelsert, Betty Schwabe, Donald Pearce and Ira Joe Payne.

Letters for participation in the band went to Shirley Barron, Sheri Brooks, Joline Cooksey, Ruth Mary Dale, Mary Fortner, Rita Grusenford, Loyd Lewis, Don Owens, Harold Phillips, Betty Pybus, Maxine Ramsey, Caroline Sewell, Mickey Sewell, Beverly Talley and Jewel Thornton.

The Iowa Park Hawks brought home a baseball victory from Olney, Tuesday of this week, in District 11A play. The Iowa Park team made 8 scores while the Cubs were bringing in 4, to give Pitcher Robert Nolen the win. Nolen has won 3 and lost this season.

Mac Lucy led the Hawks against Olney with 3 hits for 3 times at bat. Lee Roy hit safely twice. The Hawks got 10 hits off Slater, who struck out 12 men. Nolen struck out 6 and allowed 8 hits.

Four base wallops were made by Lucy of the Hawks, Slater and Shawner of the Cubs.

Coach Ray Corbett took his team to Burkburnett, Wednesday of this week for the final game of the 1952 season. By winning, the Hawks can win second place in District 11A. Electra has already clinched top honors.

JUNIOR NEWS

Just think! This is just about the last time for the Jr News of 51-52. That sure sounds wonderful for most of us.

Most everyone is sitting around trying to recover from the Craterville trip this week. We all had such a good time, and no one got seriously hurt.

Wennie was about the only one who got thrown in the creek. We girls threw Mr. Jeter in, but he didn't get very wet, so it really didn't count. After supper Friday all the boys went to the creek and played in the water. They weren't fighting Jrs against srs, just throwing water on anyone who wasn't wet.

Friday night everyone climbed mountains. When it was bedtime, naturally we were ready. The boys had firecrackers, though, so we didn't get to sleep until about 3:00.

At 5:25 we were up and at them again. We rode bumper cars for a while and found out Clyde and Jerry Mc are just speed demons. They practically bumped us out of our cars.

After lunch we packed and began the return trip. We stopped on the way and got more food. It sounded like Donald and Curtis were giving Peggy a fit at the back of the bus. We were sitting farther up, trying to keep Jerry and Wennie awake, I believe they could have cheerfully shot Howard and me.

Martha and Eddie were there. They just sorta helped each other around. Don't think they missed out on anything, and they said they had a good time.

The trip wouldn't have been complete without visitors. Friday night some of our soph buddies arrived and they left Saturday at noon. Most of the girls made them feel right at home.

Clyde has a new summer job. He's pretty smart too—i's at the ice house, so he'll really stay cool all summer.

Volleyball jackets arrived last week. They are good looking! The boys are jealous and will hardly speak to us.

There's supposed to be a jr hay-

Barbara Entrekin, Jerry Rogers to Wed

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Entrekin of Wichita Valley Farms are announcing the engagement of their daughter Barbara to Jerry Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Rogers of Iowa Park.

The couple has selected Saturday, June 14, for the date of their wedding. The Iowa Park Church of Christ will be the scene of the ceremony, with Cleo Jones, minister, directing the exchange of vows.

Attendants will be Miss Mary Entrekin, cousin of the bride, maid of honor, and James Roy Wilkerson, best man.

Electric Cooking is Fast, Clean, Thrifty, and Carefree

Within a few days you'll receive your electric service bill on a newly designed postcard, printed in blue and red. All figures appearing on this sample bill shown above are for illustration purposes only.

Your electric service bill is now being prepared on the most modern billing equipment available. It's easier to read and neater in appearance. We are changing to this new bill form and mechanical billing to handle your account more accurately and efficiently.

This change in the form of your electric service bill is only one of the many improvements we are continually making to keep our service to you modern, dependable and economical.
