Historical Marker To Be Erected in City Park

Official Texas historical marker for Iowa Park will be erected soon in City Park, according to Dr. Kenneth Neighbors of Wichita Falls chairman of the county Historical Survey committee.

Erection of the marker will be directed by the local historical committee: Fred Parkey, T. J. Pace, Buck Vovles, T. E. Gilbreath, Taylor George, Herman Mahler.

The cast aluminum marker with Swedish steel effect measures 27 by 42 inches and is sponsored by the City of Iowa Park. The inscription reads:

"TOWN OF IOWA PARK

"One of many small towns that sprang up ahead of the railroads as they crossed Texas in the 1800's.

"Located on the Fort Worth & Denver City line, this town was first named Daggett's Switch in 1835 for a prominent rancher and railroad official. F.W.&D.C. contractor Gen. G. M. Dodge (already famous as builder of the Union Pacific) spearheaded the founding of Iowa Park by actively promoting a town on land he owned here. Many people from the Midwest—especially Iowa—were recruited to settle the infant town. Land promoters D. C. and A. J. Kolp, from Iowa, drew up a city plat, which featured many parks, in 1838.

"After this first period of rapid growth, Iowa Park settled down to more than 20 years of prosperity based on a thriving farm economy. Lightning struck, however, in 1918 when oil was discovered on a farm south of here. Speculators flooded the city and land prices sky-rocketed. The Iowa Park Producing and Refining Company was chartered in 1921 and operated until 1932. The boom itself gradually exhausted the resources here and was over by 1925.

"In 1924 the Wichita Valley Agriculture Experiment Station was built and is still functioning. A steady farm economy prevails again today."

Herald's New Year Baby Living in Faraway Florida

Beginning of a New Year and a new decade doesn't mean much to Tia Michelle Watson, daughter of A.Q.F.2 and Mrs. Danny R. Watson. It's war and the delayed peace of the world that affect her life. Tia was born Aug. 20 in Fort Worth. Her Dad was stationed in Jacksonville, Fla., with Naval Attack Sq. 12. Now she lives in Florida with her parents.

Little Miss Watson doesn't have much stability of environment, but she certainly is well supplied with loving grandparents—14 in all—and some go back to great-great status.

Of most immediate concern are her Iowa Park grandparents: Mr. and Mrs. Billy James and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Watson.

All the aunts and uncles and cousins are looking forward to the day when Tia Michelle can come home and take her natural place in Texas!

Read Books

Boys and girls taking part in Story Hour, remember to be at the Library on Jan. 7. Maybe you would like to be thinking of something to say about a special gift Santa brought, and tell other children about it.

This is a good time to relax and read a book. "The Beautiful Ones Are Not Yet Born" by Ayi Kwei Armah is a novel which can change the perspective of our vision of the basic values of life. It is about Africa, about a new African state, written by a man who was born there, came to USA, to Gorton and to Harvard. He went back to take part in his country's rebirth and had to leave, knowing he can only help from outside, if at all.

"Short Term" by Jay Richard Kennedy is about the world of finance today, during the greatest of all modern bull markets. It forms intriguing background for a dynamic love story involving the conflict of human wills and values.

Western fans will want to read "6000 Miles of Fence" by Cordia Sloan Duke and Joe B. Frantz. This book of reminiscences of old XIX women puts on record the everyday life of individuals who made the ranch run. Their discussion of ranching hardships and dangers dissipates Hollywood and TV glamour. They relate in honest cowboy language what actually happened inside the XIX's 6000 miles of fence.

Our western readers will also like "Tex Rains: Culver Trooper" by Colonel Robert Rossow. We hope everyone has a happy New Year!

A large group of friends will meet at noon New Year's Day in the home of Mrs. John B. Barbour for dinner. It will feature black-eyed peas and hog meat along with various covered dishes provided by some of the guests. The group will include Mesdames Frank Patton and Jack Russell of Brigadoon apartments, Wichita Falls; Emma Gaunt, Tirzah Portis; Misses Jane Gaunt, Ethyle Kidwell, Hazel Crites.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrel Sullivan had as holiday guests their son Roger of Abilene, her sister and family Mr. and Mrs. Joe Laird, Angela and Darin of Duncan, Ok., Miss Carol King of Littlefield; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rogers of Iowa Park, parents of Mrs. Sullivan. Mrs. Laird is sister of Mrs. Sullivan. Roger returned to Abilene, Sunday to be at work Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Newman and children Newt, Randy and Staci and nephew Steve Newman went to Lockhart for a Christmas visit with his parents Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Saunders. They report an enjoyable holiday.

Mrs. Ruth Gard and son Jim and daughters Dianne and Doris went to Dallas, Sunday and ate breakfast at the airport. They saw Jim off for Washington, D.C., and Camp Lejeune, where he is stationed with the marines. Jim had a 10-day leave at home.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hensley spent the holidays with daughter and family Mr. and Mrs. John Rabun, Julie and Johnny in Parkersburg, W.Va. The children were hosts of a pre-Christmas dinner in Lafayette hotel at Marietta, Ohio. The Texans saw lots of snow and many, many hippies.
