altercation which occured Monday afternoon in Iowa Park have been told. Newspaper, television and radio reports have been far from frue, so we asked the Iowa Park police for an accurate report. The following is as true as eye witnesses and the boys implicated can recall:

When an IPHS boy, his younger brother and a girl friend stopped at the stop sign at the southeast corner of the school ground, there were four boys from out of town at the corner. Three of the strangers made wisecracks and one opened the rear doors of the Iowa Park car and walked through it, picking up an empty bottle on the way.

He attempted to break the bottle on the car, but succeeded only in denting the car. Then he broke the bottle on the sidewalk.

A second boy picked up an unbroken bottle. Then the Iowa Park boy jumped out of his car and opened his pocket knife. The two strangers attacked the Iowa Park boy, who proceeded to cut the first in his right side. The boy with the unbroken bottle dropped it and started to run. As he went by, the Iowa Park boy cut him in the side and back. The third and fourth boys got in their car and escaped.

The two injured boys walked to the Park Hotel. Tanner's Funeral Home picked up the boys and took them to Park Clinic. After first aid had been administered, Tanner's took them to Wichita General hospital.

In the meantime, the Iowa Park boys, his younger brother and his girl friend went to the police station to report the incident. According to Iowa Park police, one injured boy has been released from the hospital, and the other is recovering. According to statements from the young Iowa Park people. The whole case has been referred to the Wichita county probation department. No charges have been

THOUGHTS ON EASTER

By H. W. McClish

Minister, Iowa Park Church of Christ

The word "easter" is the anglicized form of the name of a Teutonic goddess, who was called Eostre, Ostara or Ostern, being the goddess of spring and the dawn. The Venerable Bede (673-735) declares that the festival of Easter derives its name from this goddess that was worshipped of old in Britain. The first celebration of Easter, according to Williston Walker in A History of the Christian Church, was in A.D. 154 or 155 in the city of Rome. This perhaps comes as a surprise to many who believe that Easter in its entirety is but a continuation of the Jewish Passover. Perhaps it is also a surprise to the great majority of the religious world which believes that its origin is in Christianity alone.

The date of the Easter celebration has been among the major religious controversies since the close of the second century. Some wanted to base its observance on the lunar calendar, while others believed it should be based on the solar calendar. The disagreement became so heated that Constantine called the Council of Nicaea in 325 to settle on one date for the celebration. The Catholic Church was divided over this controversy, among other things, and to this day the Eastern Orthodox and Roman Catholic churches observe Easter at different times. At present both Protestant and Roman Catholic bodies observe the same date which was fixed by Pope Gregory XIII in 1582. This date is determined by the first full moon that falls on or next after the vernal equinox.

In Acts 12:4 in the King James Version the word "Easter" makes its only Biblical appearance. This same word was translated "Passover" in every other passage where it appeared in this version, but seemingly for variety, the translators substituted "Easter" here. The passage obviously refers to the Jewish Passover. Even in the Douay-Rheims (Catholic) Version this is recognized and "Easter" is not mentioned. Neither is it to be found in any other version of the Bible.

Just as the word "Easter" is not found in the New Testament, neither is its practice. It not only fails to mention Easter, but it is also silent on such related subjects as Lent, Palm Sunday, Good Friday, etc. To find such observances one must search elsewhere. Lyman Coleman (Presbyterian) says, "These festivals became an incongrous mixture of Judaism, paganism, and Christianity. These festivals had their orign in a corrupt age of the church, and are a manifest token of degeneracy." (Ancient Christianity Exemplified, p. 542). Encyclopedia Britannica states, "There is no indication of the observance of the Easter festival in the New Testament, or in the writings of the apostolic fathers. The sanctity of special times was an idea absent from the minds of the first Christians" (Vol. VIII, p. 828; 14th ed.). This authority summarizes by saying, "The Lord nor his apostles enjoined the keeping of this or any other festival."

Not only are festivals not enjoined in the New Testament; the New Testament condemns their observance. Paul said in Galatians 4:10-11, "Ye observe days, and months, seasons, and years. I am afraid of you, lest by any means I have bestowed labor upon you in vain." Such is condemned again by Paul in Colossians 2:16-18. Festivals of this sort have been borrowed by the papists from Judaism, mixed with paganism, and called Christianity. It is almost beyond belief that Protestant bodies thus bow to Rome.

The fundamental facts of the gospel are summarized in I Corinthians 15:3-4: ". . . Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures." The Lord did not just leave us the record of his death, burial, and resurrection to remind us of him, however. He instituted a supper to be kept in remembrance of his death (I Corinthians 11:23-29). The New Testament church observed the Lord's Supper on the first day of the week as will be seen from Acts 20:7. It is more than coincidental that the Lord's Supper was observed on the same day of the week that Christ rose from the dead. The Christian then, when he assembles on the first day of the week, not only remembers Christ's death, but also his resurrection. There is therefore no need for the festival called Easter, for every Lord's Day should commemorate all and more than "Easter" does only once a year.

program chairman for Lions club meeting Tuesday noon. First she presented George Huckaby jr. in a short musical program. He played some piano numbers showing the difference in style, chording and bridges in yesterday's music and today's music. Then for the spring theme he played and sang "Trees." The Easter theme was showed in "I Was the Tree" which he also played and sang.

Mrs. Joe Lauck, executive secretary of the district Heart Association, was introduced by Mrs. George, who has served as local 1960 Heart Fund chairman.

Mrs. Lauck thanked club members for having a part in the fund drive by contributing their fine money. The guest speaker told of the importance of research in the fight against heart disease, and of the educational program for patients and their families in learning to take care of heart cases.

Mrs. Lauck said a large number of children are born with heart trouble, which often can be repaired surgically.

James Elms reported on the literary events contest at Henrietta last weekend. Bill Carter reported the track and field victories achieved by Hawks this season and displayed three huge trophies won recently at Amarillo.

Sam Hill introduced Jim Robinson of Wichita Falls as a guest. Pres. George R. Huckaby presented a membership certificate to Gene Parish, a new member.

Constructed with hollow brick, the new building will house five classes, the Christ Ambassadors auditorium, and a workroom for the Ladies Missionary Council.

The public is invited to attend all services of the church. Sunday school starts at 9:45; morning worship at 11:00; evangelistic services

Public Will See Controversial Space Film Which TV Networks Policy Banned

Despite the fact that it was denied time on the three major networks as a matter of Company policy because the film was not produced by their own news department staffs, millions of American television viewers are going to be able to see one of the most controver-sial space films of our time — "The Race for Space."

"The Race for Space," gives the true facts, impartially and objectively about the race between the U.S.A. and Russia in missile development. Produced by David L. Wolper in cooperation with the U.S. Department of Defense, the U.S. Army, Navy, Air Force, National Aeropouties and Space Administraonautics and Space Administra-tion and the Ministry of Culture of the U.S.S.R., it contains American and Soviet rocket and space films never before seen outside our Intelligence Service, including first views of the dog-carrying Sputnik II.

The film will reach home screens shortly through a tri-umph of enterprise involving tremendous effort and expense by the film's sponsor Shulton, Inc., makers of cosmetics. They have succeeded in putting together what has been described as a "fourth network"—an as-sociation of nearly 100 independent stations and network affiliates coast-to-coast who will air this film on prime night

By virtue of this unique hook-up and the tremendous interest and promotional effort which these broadcasting stations will exert, it is expected that the show will be viewed by a greater audience than originally contemplated through a network telecast.

Judging by the initial response from civic, educational and civil defense groups who have seen this film it will have the backing of public spirited groups all over the country. General Holgar N. Toftoy, featured in the film and Chairman of the World Space Committee, says that every American should see this film. It has been made a regular part of the Curriculum at West Point. Response from the Press has been so tremendous that a newspaper article about it has been read into the Congressional Record. The film won the 1959 an Francisco International Award, and was nominated by the Academy of Motion Pic-tures Arts and Sciences for an Academy Award, the first TV film to be so honored.

The film shows the development of the giant V-2 under Hitler's direction, the capture of Wernher von Braun and other Corpus saintiets and other German scientists, and the dramatic firings of Sputnik I and Sputnik II, including scenes showing Laika, the Army missile program.

Space dog, being prepared for his flight. The finale is the dramatic buildup and launching of our first successful earth satellite, Explorer I, a sequence which ends with the actual films of the tense and agonizing countdown in the blockhouse at Cape Canaveral.

There are also probing interviews with Mrs. Robert Goddard, widow of the great rocket pioneer, and General H. N. Toftoy, winner of the Distin-guished Service Medal for his successful direction of the

THE GLORIOUS RESURRECTION

Each spring when the trees begin to bud and the brown earth turns to green, Christian folk are reminded of that glorious Easter morning when friends of the Savior visited his tomb and found it empty.

It is our faith and hope that all the world will some day come to full realization that God is in his Heaven and all's well with the world!

Let us strive together to build such a world as will be pleasing to our Heavenly Father and his beloved Son, who broke the bonds of death for all of us.

BY THE WISEST—

Dear Ann Landers and Abby Gail:

I have read your column a long time and have always enjoyed it, because you usually give some good advice. Alton Hanes your next Tax Assessor and Collector of Wichita County is running good in Wichita County, and pretty good in Oklahoma and DOGGONE good in Clay County. Is there any way that I can get these Votes in Oklahoma and Clay County transferred to Wichita County? After all HUNDREDS of people that had paid their Poll Tax two years ago to our present Tax Collector's Office were drug into court and made to publicly testify for whom they voted, violating their right of a SECRET BALLOT. This was all caused by the Political Machine in our Tax Collector's office entering into other races and trying to rule other County offices. HELP ALTON HANES DEFEAT (BOTH) CANDIDATES THAT THIS MACHINE IS RUN-NING. They are both running in order to combine their strength in Run Off campaign with Alton Hanes. The Good Earth is a comfort and strength in all our living. From it come the beautiful spring plants with their gorgeous blossoms, which form seeds to continue Nature's resurrection plans. Also from Mother Earth we extract the finest of building materials for construction of homes, streets, business buildings — in fact everything worthwhile in a physical sense comes from God's green earth. And we can appreciate it the most at Easter time.
