When you drink don't drive

Sunday, Dec. 11, has been proclaimed "Safety Sunday in Texas" and many ministers in Iowa Park will make mention of the campaign to save lives through an educational program. The following statements will be prominent in their talks:

1. Nearly one out of every three fatal traffic crashes in the United States in 1959 involved a drinking driver.

2. One out of every five drivers involved in a fatal traffic crash in the United States in 1959 had been drinking. 3. About 10,000 of the 32,000 fatal traffic crashes in the United States in 1959 involved a drinking driver. 4. One out of every four adult pedestrians killed in a traffic tragedy in the United States in 1959 had been drinking. 5. About 1500 of the 5700 adult pedestrians killed in U.S. traffic tragedies in 1959 had been drinking.

The National Safety Council reports that "the throttle and the bottle both were part of the prelude to the fatal movement of impact" in many of the traffic collisions which took 374 lives during the year-end holiday. 10. During the 1959 year-end holiday period, the National Safety Council says, "The Yule tippler was involved in more than half the Christmas traffic death.

11. So-called "social drinkers" are a greater traffic menace than commonly believed, because their critical judgment is impaired with a fairly low alcohol concentration, and they outnumber the obviously intoxicated drivers.

12. Drinking to any extent reduces the ability of any driver.

13. Small amounts of alcohol reduce judgment, self-control and driving ability.

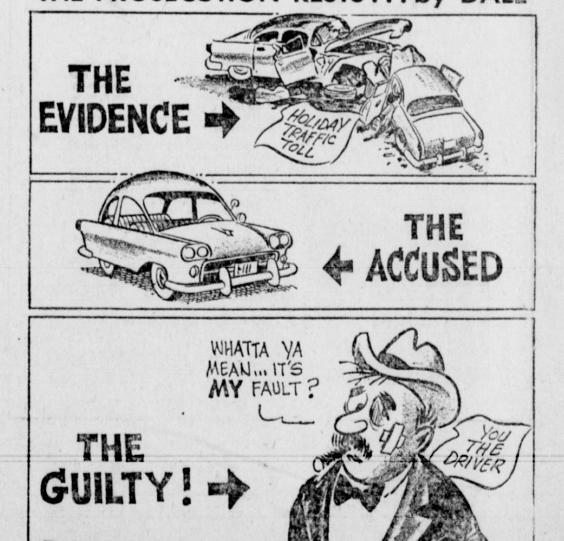

14. It takes about three hours to eliminate one ounce of pure alcohol (about two cocktails).

Another Message to American Industry Leaders about

The Opportunity Frontier of Texas

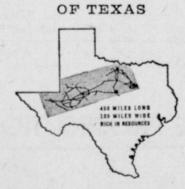

450 MILES LONG

120 MILES WIDE

IT'S 1965 FOR THIS MAN IN

The Opportunity Frontier

Our planning engineers are "men who live in the future." They maintain a constant watch over growth patterns in THE OPPORTUNITY FRONTIER OF TEXAS - population, retail sales, personal income, vehicle registration, construction, so they can plan effectively and anticipate power needs five and more

For example, the 240,000 kilowatt steam electric generating unit at our newest plant site near Graham, Texas, was planned in 1955 for operation in December, 1960. It is the eighteenth power generating unit built during the past twelve years at strategically located plants throughout our strong power system These new units have increased by ten times the company's net generating capability.

Our well-planned power system assures metropolitan-type service throughout the area served by the company. When your firm relocates in this area -or when you open a new plant, warehouse or branch office in THE OPPORTUNITY FRONTIER-you will have a sure source of low-cost power.

Our Area Development Department will gladly sup-ply plant site information to fit your specific needs.

TEXAS ELECTRIC

WE'RE INVITING THEM TO GROW WITH THIS PROGRESSIVE AREA

American business and industry are constantly looking to the future . . . selecting the location of plants, warehouses and branch offices to keep manufacturing, distribution and marketing operations efficient amid changing patterns of population and resources.

The dynamic growth and rich resources of The Opportunity Frontier of Texas, much of which is served by Texas Electric Service Company, offer many advantages for growth and expansion.

Business and industry executives—the men who decide on plant, warehouse and office sites-will see the message reproduced at left in Business Week, Fortune and The Wall Street Journal.

We are making this investment in area progress to promote the growth of the area we serve - to attract new customers, added tax revenues, and greater job opportunities which will benefit everyone.

top - firm - but not too tight.

box, then pack box

same way in second

container. NOTE: As precaution, before closing, enclose extra "To" and "From" address label. Free labels available from Railway Express.

For the Christmas shopper who is planning to send gifts to friends and relatives, careful packing is but one step in preparing holiday shipments for safe and sure arrival. After gifts are properly packed, the package or carton must be securely closed or held together.

As shown here, taping or tying, or both can be used. Gummed tape, however, is preferable for shipments going by express. Sealed express packages do not involve extra charges or require opening for inspection. The tape, sufficiently wide, can be moistened with a damp sponge, cloth or paper napkin. Soaking will impair the adhesive quality of the tape. If a little vinegar is mixed with the water the tape will stick more securely.

Cartons containing holiday gifts can be shipped very safely if strong twine and proper tying methods are used.

First, make a knot at the end of the cord. Then loop the cord around the girth, or outer side of the package, make a slip knot and pull tight (Fig. 5). Make a simple knot around the slip knot to keep the twine taut and secure (Fig. 6).

Next, run the twine around the length of the package (Fig. 7) and when passing the cross-wise loop at the bottom make a knot (Fig. 8). Bring cord back to the original slip knot, tie securely with a double knot (Fig. 9) and — for additional safety repeat the process so that the package will be double tied. While these procedures will work in most instances, special sizes or shapes of types of gifts may require additional or slightly different methods. If in doubt or in need of special advice the local railway express office is a good place to call or visit to get help.

Most Christmas shopping lists include gifts to be gathered and sent to distant friends and relatives. Here are some hints on getting them to their destinations safely, on time, and in perfect condition.

The first thing to do, of course, is to ship early. Equally important, however, is the need to pack and tape or tie gift shipments carefully and address them correctly. Shipping them early enough to avoid the last minute rush presents no problem if gummed "Do Not Open Until Christmas" outside address labels are used. They may be obtained free at railway express offices. Unbreakable gifts, such as linens and textiles, weighing less than 35 pounds and otherwise properly protected, may be outer-wrapped in paper — but use at least two thicknesses of heavy wrapping tied with a double strand of strong twine. For most gifts, however, corrugated or fibreboard cartons in sound condition are always preferable. Grocery or other neighborhood stores usually are a good source.

Note when shopping in your local stores that you can send virtually anything as a gift, since express shipments can be any weight, size or shape. Properly crated, even pets and live animals are sent in great volume each year as holiday gifts. It is worth remembering also that sometimes multiple gifts, or gifts that come in several parts sent to the same address may be protected best if packaged separately.

Fluffed strips of newspaper, used as suggested, make an excellent cushioning material to protect gifts from shock in transit.

If the same care used in selecting gifts is exercised in preparing them for shipment, it can mean a "Merry Christmas" in every instance.

Only You Can Make This Tree

Whether you have a green thumb - or whether you're all thumbs, you can make this tree for holiday decorating. All you need are two types of cones - pine and plastic - plus some pine branches, real or imitation. Best thing about this tree is that it takes only a few minutes to create. You simply clip the wires of each of the 4 dozen pine cones to about one inch, twist them together to make a firm spike and then stick them into the plastic cone - like sticking pins into a pin cushion. In between the cones, tuck as many pine sprigs as you like - there are about 3 dozen in the picture.

You can put this tiny pine tree on table, mantel, bookcase or even in the front window, spotlighted by Christmas tree lights. This make-believe tree becomes almost as versatile as the real thing — the pine tree which gives us everything from wood to wonder-working pine oils. Incidentally, the Pine Cleaner Information Center suggests you might want to scatter a few gifts under the big Christmas tree, such as pine cleaners, candles,

And, lo, the angel said unto hem, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people-(St. Luke 2:10)

Don't be surprised if some of the Christmas cards you receive this month contain sentiments that are short and amazingly to the point. For example: In the event you're waiting for the mailman to deliver my little Christmas remembrance He just did! Merry Christ-sophisticated good taste. There's nothing "off beat" however, in a New Year's studio card from the same publisher, Rust Craft — just a plain, simple, biting truth: "At the bewitching hour of 12 . . . your car depreciates $500!"

That hunter was me and it was some time ago and I'm no longer an expert. A quartercentury afield has made me discard most of the things I've read and heard about hunting, and today I'm almost back where I started from. But if I still don't know much about hunting, what I do know is for SURE.

This store of outdoor wisdom, gathered over twenty-five years of boondocking and chore-dodging, falls into four broad catagories:

People 1. A hunting partner usually oversleeps.

2. A wife sleeps deepest when her duckhunter wants his breakfast. 3. The guys in the next blind are game hogs. 4. If you wonder where to hunt, ask a barber. 5. Beware the quick shooter, for thou shalt inherit his quickly-shot birds. 6. Blessed be the camp cook, the wife who cleans game and

4. Bird dogs are optimists; pheasants are pessimists.
5. There is no greater faith than a small boy's defense of his birdless dad.

6. The last hills are the highest.

These are the only hunting facts that I'm dead sure of, for I've never seen exceptions to them. There's lots of stuff I'm half-sure of. It seems fairly certain that wives save up the year's odd jobs for October and that small boys like to carry rabbits or empty shotgun shells just as much as they ever did.

Every year I salt away a few more hunting truths. Trouble is, I'm getting smarter slower and older faster, and my list is starting to bog down. But wisdom begets wisdom. I'm passing this list on to my son, and with a head start he may even be able to find easy ways to open field gates and climb barbed

Of all the upland game birds in America, I think the most beautiful is the lordly, multi-colored ring-necked pheasant.

Before 1882, there wasn't a pheasant in America. But our hunters had heard of this crafty and tasty oriental bird, and a few were imported from China and released in Oregon.

The pheasant liked America
besides tasting good, he had good taste, too!—and today they're one of the leading upland game birds in the northern and central states. But plentiful as they are, pheasant aren't always so easy to ind. They seem to know when hunting season begins. However,

And herein do I exercise myself, to have always a conscience void of offense toward

God, and toward man.

-(Acts 24:16) What a wonderfully different world this would be if all of us followed St. Paul's example. There would be little need for police forces, prisons, armies and wars if each human being possessed a sensitive, God-inspired conscience and bent his efforts toward keeping it "clean."

Christmas program for patients in the occupational therapy department of Wichita Falls State hospital, Thursday afternoon of last

The true spirit of Christmas-Others-was reflected in the theme of the program "The world we live in relieved through public health." In the spirit of good will, club members took gifts for distribution at Christmas time and provided refreshments for a social hour following the program.

Mrs. E. A. Cooney, head of the department, introduced Mrs. Sam Hill, club president, who was in charge of activities. Mrs. K. P. Abernathy was program leader.

presented by Mrs. R. R. Brubaker was "The beauty and wonder of Christmas." Introducing her topic, Mrs. Brubaker said "There is so much that is lovely at Christmas -lights, color and ornaments, and little children and older ones look ing forward to Santa Claus, Bells ringing, choirs singing are but the efforts of millions to say that a new joy came into the world when Christ was born."

Mrs. Brubaker said the spell of Christmas can transform selfishness into generosity, and the wonder of Christmas grows when people take their eyes off externals to look at the heart of Christmas -Christ. A peak of the devotion was reached when Mrs. Brubake said "If we invite Christ to reign in our hearts, the joy we have will outlast withered brees and wor out presents. It will grow until suffuses our earthly lives with di vine joy and even in eternity our greatest joy will be to know Jesus who was born in Bethlehem." Another feature of the program was a Christmas story told by Mrs. Homer Blalock, who gave "Little Black Lamb" by Emily S. McCracken. The fantasy centered around experiences Ishma, an old shepherd, had with a black lamb who appeared among his flock under mysterious circumstan ces; and how later he took it as a gift to the Christ Child. As the lamb knelt humbly before the manger, Ishma realized that the Baby Jesus was sent into the world because of the Father's love for all His children.

Mrs. O. E. Lochridge, pianist, and Mrs. C. W. Coppock, director, led the entire group in singing Christmas carols preceding the

PROMISE A PRINCESS FOR CHRISTMAS

Well, it's that time of year again when the men of Iowa Park tackle the problem of selecting something for Christmas for the "Lady-of-the-House." Some men never seem to know what to choose. So they end up with some unimaginative item-a compromise between something she doesn't really want and something she doesn't really dislike. (Ever happen to you?)

In any case, here's good news for Christmas shoppers. A Christmas surprise she'll use and treasure all year long ... the new, streamlined Princess phone.

It's little, the fadies love it, and it lights. The dial glows more softly than a light on your Christmas tree, and when you lift the receiver, it shines brightly for easy dialing. It has a smart

So, why not "promise her" a Princess phone for Christmas? If you want to surprise her, we have a Christmas tree-shaped gift certificate to hang on the tree. It unfolds to show her the colors in which the Princess phone is available. White, pink, turquoise, blue and beige. After Christmas, we'll install the Princess phone in the color and place she likes best.

Like to order a Princess phone for your "Best Girl"? Just call the telephone business office.

Banquet

guests attended the annual Allfown Banquet sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Thursday, Dec. 1. Principal speaker was Mr. Reagan Brown, rural sociologist with Texas A & M college extension service.

Brown said the Challenge of Choice is an important problem facing rural towns with modern transportation making it only a 30 minute ride to major shopping centers around a person's home.

Each center must be made attractive enough to cause people to want to trade there.

He also stressed the importance of raising healthy and sound children, because a major problem of our nation is juvenile delinquency. A report of the progress of our Town of Friendly Living during 1960 was given by Leslie Clapp, outgoing president. Donald Hill showed color slides of homes and businesses here.

Elvy Sargent introduced guests from Archer City, Burkburnett, Electra, Valley View, Wichita Falls and other surrounding communi-
