It has become apparent during recent months that a greater number of people would express their opinion to our lawmakers on various measures if they were more aware of the contents of the bills, how they were affected and the purpose behind legislation.

I have heard many a member of the State Legislature and Congress make the statement that they wish more of their constituents would write, call or wire them on legislative matters.

In juggling this idea around, it came to mind that not a single daily newspaper in this area carries a legislative round-up for the benefit of its readers. There are plenty of columns expressing writer opinions pro and con such as Drew Pearson and Walter Winchell, but not one column giving the number of the bill, sponsor, purpose and date for hearing or the vote on it.

This would give the people a chance to use the mighty pen before legislation is passed and not afterwards. Some would say it would take up the entire paper, but it wouldn't. Only major bills concerning this area or the nation as a whole would need to be published.

To go even further, television could do a great deal in this field. We all know this kind of reading is rather dull; so is listening to it, for that matter. But more and more people are becoming interested in our government and are wanting to do their part in making it strong.

A daily report or summary could do a great deal in giving the people facts about legislation in time to write, wire or call Austin or Washington.

Why don't you write your daily paper and suggest that they try using a legislative column that lists just the facts with no opinions? It would be a start in getting the information to the people. After all, you can't have much of an opinion on anything that you don't know something about.

TESCO to Conduct Cooking School

Cooking through a silk scarf without damage to the delicate fabric will be one of the dramatic demonstrations to be presented during "What's Cookin' Week" in Iowa Park, starting Wednesday and continuing through Friday.

This demonstration of the controlled heat feature of the electric range and other demonstrations will be presented each of the three days from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. in the Texas Electric Service company office by Mrs. Amy Walker, home service adviser. The silk scarf will be placed between a surface heating unit and the pan to show that a double boiler isn't needed on an electric range to provide low, diffused heat.

Other demonstrations will show how the controlled heat of the electric surface units make cooking easier, and will emphasize the cleanliness of electric cooking.

A complete selection of modern electric ranges of various makes will be displayed at the electric company office through the cooperation of electric range dealers where those interested may ask questions and may compare the different ranges sold locally.

The Independents look strong at several positions, with good hitters in line for every position. Rauscher wants any boy who is interested in playing ball this summer to come work out, because no position is sewed up.

Baseball fans are invited to come watch their local boys in action.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bridgers of Vernonia, Oreg., are visiting in the Dave Bridgers and Mrs. Lula Hill homes.

GARDEN CHATTER

City beautification committee of the Chamber of Commerce met in the chamber office Tuesday night. Much enthusiasm was manifested and a roundtable discussion was led by the chairman Mrs. Bonnie Hudson. Plans were made for the annual Spring Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up Week, the date to be set later.

Plans were also made for the spring Plant Exchange, and it will be handled much in the same manner as last year.

Anyone who has plants or shrubs to divide should call the chamber secretary, 2431, and likewise those desiring plants should call Mrs. Lella Grace Livingston. It is hoped that no plants will go to waste, and everyone who wants plants will be able to secure. You do not have to be able to give plants to receive.

A committee for the business section of town is busy making plans to help in a major way toward cleaning up, fixing up their respective places of business, thereby improving the appearance of our little city.

Several suggestions were made, and the committee will meet again Tuesday night, April 12, at 7:30 to perfect arrangements and set dates for the various activities.

One of the plans of the committee is to have an article in each issue of the Herald called "Garden Chatter" and this article is hoped to be beneficial to the entire city, it that it will contain information pertaining to gardens and lawns.

This week we quote from F. M. Wilson, our local florist, who says: "Don't touch your flowers, shrubs or trees for a couple weeks. Give them time to recover from the recent freeze. Let the old leaves, buds or such fall off and the new life will take hold. Then there will be plenty of time to cut or trim.

"Don't transplant, reset or move anything until after Easter. In case your verbenas look sick, it wouldn't hurt to break off the old branches, or pick off the dead leaves, but nothing else. It will probably come out.

"Shrubs or trees will do well put out as late as May 1."

Watch this column. We hope it will be helpful. If you have a problem, let it be known, and we will try to help you.

WEATHER BOOK FOR SALE

Much has been and is being written on how our climate is moving northward. I bought a book on the subject last year. A new one by another prognosticator is being highly publicized now. I would like to read it, but I am rapidly losing faith in the idea.

They have some convincing evidence. Northern harbors are open for longer periods each year. Glaciers are receding. Fishermen must go farther north to find certain types of fish. Land animals are ignoring the Mason-Dixon line and are going north about as fast as Yankees are coming south. One of the many less tangible proofs these "Seers" offer is the ebbing energy of people who live in the Southland. Some of them would have us believe the industry that is rapidly coming to Texas will have to turn around and go back north because people will be unable to work efficiently in the increasingly warm weather.

Now I am not particularly interested in Iceland becoming greener and Greenland becoming less icy. As to the fish moving their feeding place, maybe that's just a maneuver to evade man's ultrasonic locator device. It isn't a fish's nature to give up too easily, you know.

It is all right with me for the "possum to go live with the Canadians or the Eskimos, if it's agreeable with them. I am a little concerned however about the melting of the glaciers.

The Columbia Ice Field is the hydrologic center of the continent, from which rivers flow to all the oceans around it. With so much worry about water shortage, I would hate to see all these mighty rivers dry up. After spending considerable time trying to figure out how many million years it would take the Athabaska Glacier to disappear at her present rate of melting, I decided to leave that worry to some one more adept at worrying over monstrous problems such as this.

Now as to the matter of "ebbing energy due to warmer weather," that doesn't bother me at all. In fact I like the idea. After what happened this week I'm ready for a change to warmer climate. Oh sure, the freeze was unusual, killing crops and ornamentals like they have not been killed in many years.

So was the 10-inch snow in December unusual. The weather seems always to be doing the unusual. That is why I am not getting excited about the climate moving northward.

At least, I have not investigated the homestead laws of Canada nor Alaska. Neither have I planted any palm trees at Iowa Park. Anybody want to buy a book?

While shivering along the ditchbank the other day, I got to meditating on the whys and wherefores of this unusual weather. Now I have a new worry. It is not too good for us to have too broad an understanding of natural phenomena sometimes.

Here is how it is: The weatherman let a little too much arctic cold from Columbia Ice Field come thundering down across the Rockies onto Texas. It resulted in an unusual freeze. Texans let up an unusual howl. I almost threw my book into the fire.

But this is the big worry now: If the weatherman let a little extra cold out of Columbia Ice Field, there is now less cold to keep the glaciers frozen, and old Athabaska is likely to recede an extra 1-1000th of an inch this summer.

Thus the prognosticators may get the idea that they have miscalculated the speed with which climate is moving northward and proceed to write their books all over again.

Will I be sucker enough to buy 'em?

Early Day Resident Visits Friends Here

Miss Lula Adams of Portland, Ore., is house guest of Miss Mina Frouman this week.

Miss Adams formerly lived here in her girlhood days and has many friends here.

She moved with her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Adams to the Denny community southwest of Iowa Park in 1891, from Ft. Smith, Ark. She attended school here when it was in the south part of town.

Later the Adams family moved to Wichita Falls, and then in 1908 went to Portland.

Miss Adams left Portland in January for California. Later she flew to San Antonio for a visit. The past week she flew to Wichita Falls. She says flying is the best way to travel nowadays.

Every year or two Miss Adams visits friends here. She laughs and says her relatives and friends in Portland can't understand why she comes here on vacations, but she insists "I love my dear old Texas."

The spring conference closing the year's PTA work in 13th district was conducted in Burkburnett last Friday, with district board members convening March 17.

The Burk board of education was host to board members for luncheon Thursday and conducted members on a tour of the school.

Mrs. D. O. James, parliamentarian, and Mrs. Archie Bryant, health chairman, were in this group.

Friday, Mrs. Stanley Williamson, Mrs. H. Pierce and Mrs. M. T. Archer attended sessions. In the election of district officers Mrs. James was named corresponding secretary.

The Iowa Park PTA yearbook was among books awarded four star ranking, the highest rating.

The publicity record books were not to be graded, but Iowa Park's book compiled by Mrs. Rollins Woodall was rated among the best by those checking them.

Certificates of 14 were awarded the Iowa Park unit's executive committee for having completed 12 hours of study on "Guidance for Growth" as education for family living.

Senior News

Tickets are on sale for the Sr play "Marry Before Midnight." It is going to be a good entertainment and we would like to see everyone there.

It will be in the high school auditorium, April 4. The cast has been working hard and I believe you will enjoy the play.

Everyone is excited about the trip, which is just about three weeks off. We are planning to have a swell time on the beach at Galveston.

Eubs Fenner has been out this past week with tonsillitis. We all hope he gets back in school soon.

The Hawk baseball team goes to Electra on Saturday for the district tournament and we would like to have lots of fans in the stand. See you next week.—Ape.

The Sr play has been chosen. We will present "Marry Before Midnight." Some of the boys are in sports and are not available at the time of practice.

Laurence McLeMore was seen driving a red convertible recently, with California licenses. There was a pretty girl in the car too. Who was she, Laurence?

Marble season has started and a few of the Srs have been cleaning up over at the store. How about that, Bubs, Gerald and Dennis?

Something must have happened over the weekend. Study hall is quiet. The teachers are not having trouble. Everyone must be glad we had a holiday and are trying to be good and get another.

We enjoyed having George Clements back for a visit while home on leave from the army.

Clayton Boyd is building a hot rod, and if anyone is missing any car parts, Clayton may have them. He and Bobby should go into the car trading business. They have a lot of junk around their house they might sell for "cars."

If anyone is in the market for a coffee table, see Bubs. It is a project he made in shop.

See you next week.—Ape.

ATTEND CHURCH EVERY SUNDAY

SUNDAY, APRIL 3 (Palm Sunday)

Read Luke 19:28-38

They cast their garments upon the colt, and they set Jesus thereon (Luke 19:35).

Despite his three years of public ministry even those close to Jesus still misunderstood the nature of his kingship and kingdom. That first Palm Sunday people were eager to hail him in a public demonstration as the promised Messiah, as one who, they thought, would restore the kingdom of David.

Perhaps to repudiate this idea, Jesus chose the donkey as the animal to ride into Jerusalem. Look at the picture: Jesus, meek and lowly, legs dangling and nearly touching the ground, astride the awkward young donkey, with the multitude before and after acclaiming him king. What! A king on a donkey?

Jesus is indeed a king! He is the king who personally knocks at the door of the hearts of men. He enters only where he is permitted to enter. He conquers only those who voluntarily surrender to him. Every one thus conquered becomes part of his kingdom, a spiritual kingdom not of this world.

When we give him a triumphal entry into our hearts, we acclaim him as this kind of king.

Prayer

Our Father, we thank thee for Christ, the king of kings, and for his kingdom, which is not of this world. Help us to open our hearts to his redeeming love and thus acclaim him as king of kings and lord of lords. In his name we pray. Amen.

Thought for the Day
We acclaim Christ as king when we give him a triumphal entry into our hearts.

Dangerous Drivers Compared to Cheaters at Solitaire

Have you ever chucked at the fellow who cheats at solitaire?

If you have, you'll probably be interested in the views of R. B. Roaper, chief safety engineer of Humble Oil and Refining Company, Houston, and president of the Texas Safety Association, as he discusses the Know and Obey Traffic Laws program which the safety association and the Texas department of public safety are conducting in cooperation with the National Safety Council.

Mr. Roaper says, "Many of us duplicate the chiseling solitaire player's tactics when we drive in traffic—sneaking through a stoplight, driving a few miles over the speed limit or otherwise disobeying traffic laws.

"Traffic laws are made for our protection and we're cheating ourselves when we disobey them. And that's more, our irresponsible conduct also exposes everyone else on the road to danger."

Those who excuse recklessness by saying they only disregard traffic laws when it's safe to do so are in for a special word of advice. He explained that traffic laws are made after careful studies by traffic engineers and enforcement people, and that there's expert thinking behind the placement of traffic signs and signals.

Here's an example," Roaper said. "You may be driving along a residential street, and because there's no traffic you may think it isn't necessary to stay within the posted limit of 20 miles an hour. Suddenly a little girl bounds out in front of your car. Her life depends on how fast you can stop. You didn't know it, but there are many youngsters living in the neighborhood and the people who set the speed limit were providing for just such an emergency as this."

Roaper urged Texas drivers not to cheat themselves by disobeying the law. "It may be fun to fool yourselves at solitaire, but it can be just plain fatal to fool yourself in traffic."

TALL TALES from East Texas

It's hard for me to imagine a time more invigorating than when the sunny days of spring bid all nature to arise in its best attire of living splendor. Nor can a place be more exciting than the woodlands and prairies as Mother Nature brings into being the exotic and alluring freshness of youth to all living creatures.

The aroma of peach trees in full bloom or clover blossoms enticing the honeybee to sip its nectar as it zooms from flower to flower in its never ending toil to fill its hive in preparation for the cold bleak breath of Old Man Winter. The thought of these wintry days always caused Uncle Sam to ponder the necessity of improving his traveling methods as a salesman during the summer months.

In bygone times when automobiles were made to serve mankind as a means of prolonging life and adding a bit of happiness instead of a potential weapon capable of shortening man's days on this good earth and marring his future with tragedy, Uncle Sam pushed, pulled and coaxed his ancient vehicle along the dusty country roads and across the rickety bridges in an effort to make his wares known to everyone in Sulphur Valley. His troubles were few as long as the weather was dry, but when spring arrived with its rains and overflowing creeks, washing out bridges and floating them down the streams like rafts putting out to sea, his troubles began to mount.

Now, dear reader, I know you will understand when I say this almost drove him to distraction, but not for long it didn't, not a man with his abilities!

EPISODE NO. 3

Late one afternoon in the early spring, Uncle Sam sat in his old rocking chair by the fireplace—watching the flames, as if by magic, escaping from the fire wood, glancing against the backlog then up the chimney to the great outdoors, only to be forever wiped out by the deluge of rain pounding upon the roof and against the windowpanes.

By the intense expression on his face, one could tell he was in deep thought—thoughts of the flooded streams he must cross on the morrow. Then came this astounding revelation. So shocking was it that he leaped from his chair, right into the fireplace.

Needless to say, he leaped right back out.

Now, he had a plan with the potential of thwarting the rain gods in their effort to curtail his traveling. Among his collection of guns was a .45 caliber rifle, and he reasoned, why not make a sort of harpoon gun by taking a bullet and fixing a spear on it. To the spear was attached a small but strong coil of rope.

The next step was to secure four old inner tubes, a tire pump and a sharp pole axe, all of which he placed in his car.

Bright and early the next morning he loaded his wares and off he went to seek his fortune. At the first creek he encountered, sure enough, the bridge was gone and the stream was flooded.

Now, to try his plan. He felled two long thin saplings trees, cut off the limbs and placed one across the other, forming an X. To each of the four ends he attached an inner tube and inflated them with his tire pump.

Taking his rifle, he aimed across the creek at a big oak and fired away. Believe it or not, this spear bullet carried the rope right along with it and lodged securely in the tree.

Now you know what he did. Yes sir, he loaded his wares in his back pack, pushed the X raft into the water and climbed aboard with the remaining end of the rope and ferried himself right across that creek without a hitch. To this good day, Uncle Sam has never started anywhere without getting some place, no matter what.

Until we meet again next week, if you have goodness a-plenty and maybe a little to spare, how about sharing it with a neighbor?

Ham-Pineapple Skillet Saves Time, Flavor

The exotic flavor of this dinner-in-a-dish belies its simple preparation.

Ham and Pineapple Skillet is sure to rate a special niche in your file of favorite recipes. Ground ham and beef patties—half and half—combined with sweet potatoes, glamorized with golden pineapple is one of those easy-on-the-cook family dinners that's complete when you add a tossed green salad, rolls, a beverage and a simple dessert.

You'll notice, too, by combining the patties, sweet potatoes and pineapple, you're saving all the delicious flavor of the fruit. The pineapple slices also lend an excellent texture contrast.

Here's the tested recipe:

- HAM-PINEAPPLE SKILLET
- 1/2 pound ground ham
 - 1/2 pound ground beef
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1 egg
 - 2 tablespoons fine dry bread crumbs
 - Oil or shortening
 - 4 slices canned pineapple
 - 4 sweet potatoes
 - Cinnamon
 - 1/2 cup brown sugar (packed)
 - 1/2 cup syrup from pineapple sugar. Pour pineapple syrup over all. Cover with a tight lid. Simmer over very low heat until potatoes are tender, about 25 to 30 minutes. Uncover and spoon pan liquid over fruit and potatoes last few minutes to give a beautiful glaze. Serves 4 handsomely.

Early Tax Returns Mean Early Refunds Revenue Officer Says

Marvin M. Rudd, administrative officer in charge of the Wichita Falls office, released the following figures comparing the income tax filing for 1955 with 1954.

In 1955 Internal Revenue has received 1,192,906 pieces of mail during the first 45 working days. During the same period 1954, 1,324,574 pieces of mail were received. A large part of this mail is income tax returns.

During January this year more taxpayers filed than during January of 1954. Filing dropped slightly in February and is dropping rapidly at the present time because of the change in filing deadline.

Last year March 15 was the deadline, whereas April 15 is the 1955 deadline.

Based on last year's mail receipts, more than a million pieces are yet to be received in less than a month. Mr. Rudd felt that those who have not filed had better start figuring because there is not much time left.

Dallas Internal Revenue district deposited $236,596,986.75 during Jan. and Feb. 1954. In the same months of 1954, the district deposited $239,935,181.07. Officials expect the March deposits to drop below those of last year since many taxpayers will wait until April 15 to pay their tax.

129,962 North Texans have been refunded $10,094,311.45, or an average of $77.67 per refund. Internal Revenue is mailing out refunds at the rate of 10,000 a day. They will have to maintain that rate to get out the more than 700,000 refund checks by the May 31 deadline.

Internal Revenue has 300,000 refunds being processed at present. It takes six weeks to two months to process a refund. They have six weeks' work on hand.

In spite of the 430,000 tax returns due a refund that have been filed to date, more than 300,000 Texans the government owes money have not filed their tax return. Mr. Rudd urged taxpayers who have a tax refund due to file immediately so Internal Revenue can begin the necessary processing.

Tax refunds amounted to over $72,000,000 in 1954 and Internal Revenue expects that much or more to be paid out in refunds during 1955.

Mr. Rudd requested that taxpayers not write Internal Revenue concerning their refund. IR can send out several refunds while answering one letter. The large volume to be processed prevents IRS from giving a taxpayer individual attention concerning his refund regardless of circumstances.

Many things can prevent the IR from getting the taxpayer his refund check within six weeks after he files his return. It is obvious that a large majority of North Texans will receive their refunds within two months after filing.

Taxpayers who make errors in their tax returns will not receive refunds until after correct refund returns have been processed.

Mr. Rudd concluded by urging that every taxpayer who has not yet filed, no matter whether he is due a refund or owes tax, sit down immediately, prepare his return and mail it with a check for any tax owed—today.

FARMERS UNION NEWS LETTER

Repeal of the sliding scale price support law was recommended by the House agriculture committee recently by a bi-partisan 23-11 vote.

The bill would also raise mandatory supports for dairy products from 75 to 80 per cent of parity, continue $15,000,000 a year for Bangs Disease indemnity payments through 1958, and increase funds for the special school milk program from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000 a year through June 1957.

The committee-approved bill provides 90 per cent of parity supports instead of the sliding scale for four of the basics—cotton, corn, rice and peanuts—for three years through 1957. Tobacco would continue with 90 per cent supports as long as producers do not reject marketing quotas.

Wheat producers would get 90 per cent of parity instead of 82½ per cent this year. For next year and thereafter, producers would vote in a nationwide referendum to choose between a two-price plan and the sliding scale.

Voting for the bill were 18 Democrats and 5 Republicans. Against it were 10 Republicans and 1 Democrat.

The two-price plan for wheat was offered by Rep. Hope (R-Kans.), ranking Republican and chairman last year. With solid backing from wheat bloc Congressmen, all Republicans, the plan was given full committee approval out of deference to Hope.

The referendum on next year's wheat support program would be held promptly this summer if the bill passes.

Under the two-price plan, producers would get 100 per cent of parity for wheat used for food within the U.S., and a price equivalent to corn for the rest. With corn at 90 per cent as provided in this bill, the wheat equivalent would be about 65 per cent of parity.

Acres restrictions are provided for the two-price plan, as a condition of getting support for his "domestic food quota" by the individual farmer. Acreage allotments and marketing quotas are in force under the sliding scale.

According to rough estimates, the total net income of wheat producers as a whole from wheat would be about 10 per cent higher under the two-price plan than under the sliding scale.

Dairy products lost out on getting minimum supports higher than 80 per cent by narrow margins in committee voting. Motions by Knutson (D-Minn.) for 90 per cent, by Johnson (D-Wis.) for 85 per cent, and by Albert (D-Okla.) for 82½ per cent, were defeated before the final motion for 80 per cent was carried.

Almost solid Republican opposition plus a few votes from some "basics" Democrats defeated the motions for higher-than-80-per-cent dairy support. Many Congressmen of both parties are unwilling to make dairy or other perishable commodities eligible for support at the same level as basic commodities because they fear losses by spoilage.

Acceptance of production controls like those in effect for basics would remove this objection for some of these "basics" Congressmen—probably enough to win basic status for dairy commodities.

Next move for stronger dairy supports probably will be to start from scratch in hearings before the committee's dairy subcommittee. The Johnson bill providing marketing quotas for manufacturing milk along with supports equal to the basics, may be what it takes to overcome objections of basics Congressmen. If so, it would give dairymen about the same chance as producers of other basics to win 90 per cent supports.

It is generally agreed that a marketing quota for dairy commodities should not be considered until the farmers have been heard from at public hearings.

House action on the committee bill is expected soon. Less support for 90 per cent is probable from Republicans this year than last, when only 24 voted against the sliding scale. The outcome apparently will depend on "city" Democrats.

Farmers Union will support the bill as a step in the right direction. But it falls short of what FU wants in the following respects:

1. Level of support should be 100 per cent instead of 90.
2. At least feed grains, eggs, hogs, beef cattle, lambs, oil seeds, should be included under mandatory support.
3. Authority should be provided for using production or compensatory payments to farmers for supporting prices.

4. A limitation should be placed on the eligibility of industrial-type farms for supports.

5. Milk should be given statutory basic commodity status.

Baptist to Continue Simultaneous Revivals

This year is being referred to as the "year of evangelism" for Southern Baptists with 29,000 churches and missions participating in simultaneous evangelistic services during March and April.

In Texas, 2500 churches will be conducting revivals during one of the two-week periods of March 6-20 for South Texas; March 27-April 10 for Central Texas; or April 10-24 for North Texas.

A major phase will be to encourage laymen to become active soul winners. Pastors have been asked to train 25 per cent of each church's resident membership in personal evangelism. Many have started this program which will result in 800,000 members dedicating themselves to leading others to become Christians during 1955.

Texas Baptist leaders are expecting a minimum of 80,000 baptisms during the year as a result of the simultaneous campaign.

Eagle Boxers Win Red River Team Title; Four Are Champs

All Hollidans agree with Bud Worsham of the Record News in his remark printed in his Sports Sports. "Without the Holliday entrants the boxing meets would not have been nearly so interesting."

Charlie Dean, coach at Holliday and former Midwestern university grider, has a unique plan for developing football players. He makes boxing champions out of 'em during the winter and early spring. Dean said, "Boxing calls for quick reflexes, good footwork and raw courage. That's what every coach wants in his football players. A boy who can take care of himself inside the ring is capable of doing the same on the football field."

Football and boxing are pretty rough sports—certainly they are not for the tender hearted. So it figures a boy who excels in one is best suited for the other.

Holliday again ran away with the high school division team championship, winning four of the five titles. Winners in the finals Saturday night were James Crosswait, Jeff Dyer, Joe Powers, Marlin Tigger, Wayne Waincott, Leon Walker.

Friday night, Deno Tufares Jr., who weighs the whole sum of 45 pounds, won his bout in the special weights. His dad assisted greatly with the tournament and seconded for many winners.

It's The Law In Texas

PERMISSION TO SUE STATE

Included among the measures pending before the current Texas legislature are several concurrent resolutions and bills permitting various individuals and firms to file suits against the state. Applying to local situations only, such measures are ordinarily attended by little publicity, and most Texans are never aware of their passage.

In fact, the average individual would seldom have occasion to ponder the question of whether the state can be sued on the same basis as a person or corporation. One of the prerogatives of sovereignty carried down from ages past into our present day laws is that of immunity from being sued. The State of Texas may not be sued without its consent.

The Legislature by a proper action may permit certain general types of suits to be brought against the state, under certain conditions and restrictions. Then, if a specific situation arises which is not covered by the general rules, the legislators are authorized to pass a special measure to permit suit to be brought.

Therefore, any person seeking to enforce a claim against the state through the courts must petition the Legislature for the necessary permission, unless his claim falls within some general category or type previously recognized by our lawmakers.

In its preceding session, the Legislature passed legislation allowing suits to be brought against the state in a variety of cases, ranging from an action for damages for personal injuries suffered in a collision with a State Highway Department truck to a suit for monetary damages alleged to have been incurred in connection with the securing of a right of way for a farm-to-market highway.

Sometimes, however, suits may be brought against individuals holding office under the State of Texas and acting as agents of the state, but where the state itself is not the principal party to the suit, without first gaining consent to sue. There are many situations in which an individual officer may be sued with regard to the duties and functions of his office, and in which the state is not directly or substantially a party in interest.

Suppose you do obtain legislative permission to sue the state. What happens then?

If suit is brought against the state, and the action is successfully prosecuted, you will be awarded a judgment against the state. Then, it's back to the Legislature for more legislation to appropriate the necessary money with which the state may pay off the judgment.

GAS OFFICE REDECORATED
Mr. and Mrs. Carl Walsh are enjoying their newly decorated office at the Lone Star Gas company.

The back wall has been done in Brewster brown, the side walls in Mojave tan—making a lovely combination.

They are soon to get a new table to place on the green and white tile floor.

They have on display several gas ranges and gas refrigerators and hot water tanks of different brands.

Practice track meets are being held now in preparation for the district meet.

Last Thursday, Iowa Park was host to Holliday, Seymour, Valley View and Burk Burnett. Although it was slightly on the cool side, the boys had a good workout.

The Hawks are being coached by Bob Covington and Gene Snipes.

The school board has been unable to find suitable property close to the school ground proper, and are now considering building more class rooms on the present campus to relieve next year's crowded conditions.

Advice on Income Tax Available at Wichita

Marvin M. Rudd, administrative officer in charge of the Wichita Falls office located at Room 312, Post Office building there, has announced that the Internal Revenue Service has resumed holding special Taxpayer Assistance Days on Mondays. The hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Taxpayers who have read their instructions, who have their W-2, Withholding Tax Statement, and are fully prepared to file their tax return but have a technical question, can go to the office for information.

Mr. Rudd said most taxpayers can prepare their own returns after reading the instruction without any assistance from Internal Revenue. Many questions can be handled over the telephone, and taxpayers can get this service by calling Wichita Falls 2-3163 or 3-4097.
