Redistricting county keys on census

The problems Wichita County's commissioners' court faces in redistricting this year, were discussed by County Judge Calvin Ashley Tuesday before the Noon Lions Club.

Judge Ashley said the action was being forced due to the 1968 ruling by the Supreme Court that representation at all levels must be on a "one-man, one-vote" basis.

Wichita County, since almost its origin, has been ruraly oriented county, Ashley said, with only some 13 percent of the population being represented by three commissioners today.

The court must wait until the federal census is completed, that an accurate division of the county can be made for equal representation, Judge Ashley pointed out. He told of one area in a southern state that was forced to change its lines because of a four percent difference in population of two area, and used the point to stress the need of the accurate census head count.

All four county precincts will come to a point somewhere in Wichita Falls, he said, because that is where the major population is.

The Judge also explained why the county had undertaken the commodity program instead of the food stamp plan to aid needy families.

He said the commodity program, which is for distribution of surplus foods directly to the family, is best because most of the families on relief in the county have children. The food stamp plan is best for those areas where older people dominate the needy families and diet is a problem. Then they can buy the foods they need with the stamps.

After the initial cost of providing a building for the commodity storage and distribution, cost to the county is not very expensive, he explained. It costs the county only 36 cents a year per recipient. This, he added, did not cover the cost of administration, however.

A new slate of officers of the Noon Lions was proposed by a nominating committee. It included: Norman Mayes, president; Bill Steger, first vice president; Hoyt Watson, second vice president; Jerry Robertson, third vice president; Richard Hill, secretary; Rollins Woodall, treasurer; Henry Jones, Lion Tamer; Ralph Beall, Tail Twister; and new directors Carl Barnhill, Pete Koonce and Robert Wilcox.

Election of officers will be held next week, and they will take office effective July 1.

Rubinoff concert Tuesday

Advance tickets went on sale yesterday for Tuesday's concert in the high school auditorium of Dave Rubinoff, who is returned to Iowa Park by popular demand under sponsorship of the Noon Lions Club.

Admission for the 8 p.m. concert will be $2.50 for adults and $1.25 for students.

Rubinoff will make brief appearances before the school bodies in town, free of admission. This is a practice he has observed in the many years he has been making concert tours.

All members of the Lions Club have tickets for sale. Revenue from sales will help finance worthy civic projects undertaken by the organization.

Those attending the concert will be sharing one day out of the nine months Rubinoff spends each year touring the nation. These nine months will add up to some 125 cities visited, 250 matinee and evening concerts played with an additional 1250 free performances at service club luncheons, hospitals, radio broadcasts, and with at least 1000 of these free appearances before students in school assemblies.

A day with Rubinoff is a whirlwind of activity. He is up at 4 and 5 a.m. and as a rule, travels 100 or 200 miles before breakfast.

Weekends are usually spent in cross country train and plane flights. If the schedule permits, he will visit four or five churches on Sunday morning. Red Oak, Iowa, holds the record for the most churches visited in one morning. The Ministerial Association there presented him with a beautiful Bible in recognition of his playing for seven churches.

To start his day, Rubinoff arrives for a hurried greeting with sponsors, perhaps a picture for the local press, and then he is off to an escorted tour of practically the whole city's school enrollment for free school assemblies, with only breaks of five or ten minutes between for transportation. Almost without exception, he is invited as guest speaker for a service club luncheon, but winds up "fiddling for his lunch".

The student matinee follows in the afternoon with an hour or two spent autographing for his young friends after the concert. Next routine is an interview for the local radio station and by then it is time to change into full dress, dinner, and the big event of the day--the evening concert.

An ironclad rule with Rubinoff is to be at the auditorium an hour before the audience assemblies for practice on his beloved Stradivarius. The Maestro is often questioned as to why he has to practice after having played the violin for 50 years. His serious reply is that with all the many appearances he makes, that still does not allow him time to polish and perfect individual notes and passages. Difficult exercises also keep his fingers flying at the effortless speed maintained for hours at a time.

Even in his automobile or on the train, Rubinoff either uses his Strad or his 'specially built pocket fingerboard to keep up with his rigid practice schedule.

With all this, Rubinoff still finds time for collectors hobby of antique glass, dictating letters, long distance telephone calls, and enjoying life in general.

This famous artist spends his days at a terrific pace, but he wouldn't trade it for any other life, he says. Each morning he looks forward with fresh enthusiasm and boundless energy to the new day to be shared with new friends in new places.

HAWK BAND OFFICERS POSE WITH SWEEPSTAKES AWARD

ANOTHER IOWA PARK FIRST

Hawk Band earns sweepstakes

The proud Hawk Band of Iowa Park High School earned its first Sweepstakes Award in history Saturday, when it received First Division ratings in both concert and sightreading in University Interscholastic League competition.

In order to achieve the Sweepstakes Award, a band must earn Division One ratings in those two categories, plus marching, which Iowa Park took last fall.

Sweepstakes has evaded the Hawk Band for several years, but it has been the driving goal of the organization all year, which is the first year under new director, Larry Kingsley.

Judging the competition Saturday at Vernon's Wilbarger Auditorium, were six noted high school, college and professional musicians: Ben Gollehon, Hereford; Bob Gans, Borger; Lloyd Cook, North Texas State University; Russell McKiski, Big Spring; Merlin Jenkins; and Ben Lichtenwalter.

Gollehon, who has established a perennial Sweepstakes organization at Hereford High School commented about the Hawk Band, "This band is well trained and presented a very enjoyable performance."

Cook's criticism sheet had this statement written on it, "Congratulations to the band and the director. I enjoyed hearing your performance. It shows much effort and careful rehearsal."

The sightreading judges' comments were extremely complimentary.

Judge Jenkins said, "The band is very attentive. A fine group, which shows evidence of good teaching and good reading."

"Director's instructions impressive--forceful, energetic, thorough. Any band would watch, listen and respond. The band and the director are solid and played with good style," stated McKiski.

In the sightreading competition, the band is allowed six minutes to look at a selection of music that the students have never seen before, and then perform the selection without stopping. The students are not allowed to rehearse the music, but must depend on the director to explain the selection and then receive a rating on the quality of the performance.

"The dedicated effort and hard work of the Hawk Band members has been rewarded, with the highest award possible in U.I.L. competition. It makes me very proud and humble to be able to say that I am director of bands in Iowa Park and have been privileged of working with such a great group of students and parents. I want to take this opportunity to thank the parents of the band students for their patience and cooperation during our school year. It took lots of practice, extra hours, extra miles and extra good parents. I'm very grateful," stated Director Kingsley.

Special presentations of gift certificates were made to the Chapter Sweetheart, Kristi Crawford, and FFA sponsors Richard Davis and Dell Renfro.

On display in the banquet room were dozens of chapter, team and individual awards, which had been earned during this school year.

Time saving starts Sunday

Iowa Park residents start saving time Sunday. That's when Daylight Saving Time goes into effect. Residents should, before going to bed Saturday night, set their clocks ahead by one hour, in order to get up at the proper time Sunday morning.

Or they can wait until 2 a.m. Sunday, when Central Daylight Saving Time officially takes effect. At that precise moment, they can switch to 3 a.m., and be right with the world and the Texas Legislature, which approved the time change a couple of years ago.

Daylight Savings remains in effect until the last Sunday in October.

As I See It .....

By BOB HAMILTON, Publisher

One of the comments I got from everyone at Littlefield, when I was letting it be known that the Hamiltons were moving to Iowa Park, was "Oh, you don't want to go down there. That's tornado country."

The folks in that country are now digging out of one of the state's most wide-spread tornado rampages.

Having come from that part of the country, I'm familiar with every community the funnels struck. And two of those who were killed were acquaintances of mine.

And because I am from that part of the country, I share the frustration of all who are now living away from the High Plains. That frustration comes from attempting to find out what happened, and not being able to with the Associated Press stories appearing in the Wichita Falls, Fort Worth and Dallas newspapers.

The AP really fell on its face on that story. The wire service had an entire day to get it for Sunday's editions, and didn't. Lubbock's paper did a fine job, but the Amarillo paper's coverage was fantastic! Its entire front page was devoted to the storm, and additional information was on many of its inside pages.

The storm was a bad one. One of the worst in Texas history. I'm glad my family wasn't there.

One of the big complaints we've heard since moving here, and from several sources, is that there is nothing for our young girls to do in Iowa Park. All the activities seem to be geared for the boys.

I suppose it's true, though we didn't have much participation, in numbers, in basketball or volleyball. Tennis seems to get a good turnout. And there is a girls' softball team working out.

We've suggested girls' track. And have gotten favorable response, though no one has jumped on the idea enough to provide the leadership.

Track for girls is not yet included in the University Interscholastic League, but I understand it will be in the near future.

There is already competition held for girls' track, and it is broken down into districts, regionals and state. An extremely high percentage of the schools on the high plains have had girls' track for at least three years.

We have a story in this edition about Holliday winning its district championship.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS From Your State Capital

BY VERN SANFORD

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN--Adequacy of planned public school education programs on the dangers of drug abuse drew a challenge last week from Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, as the war on narcotics increased in tempo. Barnes told newsmen he feels the program can be "redeemed" and straightened out by the beginning of the next school year. He suggested that bona fide authorities on drugs and former addicts should be included among teacher-resource personnel.

Meanwhile, the Lieutenant Governor told a narcotics seminar for law officers and prosecutors, that Texas is spending far too little money on drug law enforcement.

Gov. Preston Smith, in the opening address to the conference, said the primary obligation of law enforcement is to rid society of pushers who traffic in narcotics for profit. Smith also said education is the key weapon in fighting drug abuse by addicts and experimenters.

Barnes said the new school course on narcotics should be made as "personal" as possible. Both Smith and Barnes agreed that teaching must be done by those who know what they are talking about.

This program can be held through the spring months, and then can be continued well into the summer in the Texas Amateur Athletic Federation, in which they can go as far as the state and even national levels. And the summer program is open to girls from eight years of age to as old as they want to compete.

We've got lots of talent in Iowa Park. All we need is for someone to direct it in an organized manner.

In the Catholic Layman publication is the following observance:

"An American is a fellow who drives home in a German car from a French movie, slips off his Hong Kong suit and Italian shoes, puts on his English robe and Mexican slippers and sips Brazilian coffee from Dutch china while sitting on Danish furniture. Then he writes a letter to his congressman on Canadian paper with a Japanese pen, demanding that he do something about the gold that's leaving the country."

Lieutenant Governor believes that lowering of penalties for first-offense possession of marijuana to misdemeanors would end the reluctance of juries to convict. He reported heavy response to his suggestion, and said that correspondence is running four-to-one in favor of lighter sentences. Pushers, he emphasized, should get tougher punishment than at present.

Spending for enforcement, the Lieutenant Governor claims, could be increased "200, 300, to 400 per cent" without undue burden on taxpayers--by "reevaluation of priorities."

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES--State Board of Health may adopt reasonable rules and regulations relating to minimal equipment for ambulances, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

Members of Chambers-Liberty Counties Navigation District are authorized to receive $25 a day or "reasonable per diem" for time spent on duty as fixed by county commissioners.

Board of trustees for a firemen's relief and retirement fund may not invest in mutual funds.

Changes in boundaries of county election precincts may be made only during July and August terms of county commissioners' court and the month of September, 1970. Changes do not become effective until the following voting year. Voters in the new Bailey County precincts must vote in precincts where they are residents.

OIL PRODUCTION--Texas Railroad Commission trimmed statewide allowable for May to 64.5 per cent of potential.

Reduction follows four months at a high 68 per cent level. Commission said a restudy of the producing ability of Texas oil wells and increases in above-ground stocks of crude oil led to the cut-back.

May allowable will mean maximum production of 3,505,375 barrels a day, or 147,530 less than April. Estimated actual production will decline only about 43,750, Commission figures.

Nominations by major producers actually totalled 20,922 barrels a day more than April.

HOSPITAL GRANTS CLEARED--State Board of Health has approved $10.1 million in federal grant allocations for 24 hospital-health facility construction or improvement projects. Program pays up to 50 per cent of construction or modernization costs.

Grants of $1 million each went to El Paso's Hotel Dieu Hospital, Houston's Christian Home for the Aged, Dallas County Hospital District and Weatherford Memorial Hospital. Other projects and allocations included:

San Antonio Metropolitan Health District, $153,000; Brownsville-Cameron County Public Health Center, $312,500; Crossroads Community Center of Dallas, $639,350; Fort Worth's Tarrant County Public Health Center, $262,625; Southwest Texas Methodist Hospital at San Antonio, $106,000; Children's Rehabilitation Center at Amarillo, $228,472; Spohn Hospital at Corpus Christi, $250,000; San Jacinto Methodist Hospital at Baytown, $171,100; Youens Memorial Hospital at Weimar, $206,900; Holy Cross Hospital at Austin, $750,000; Goodall-Witcher Hospital Foundation, Clifton, $789,973; Teague Hospital Authority at Teague, $230,285; M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute at Houston, $660,000; New Braunfels Hospital, $450,000; Trinity Memorial Hospital, $218,500; Fayette Memorial Hospital, La Grange, $200,000; Mercy Hospital, Laredo, $50,000; Northwest Texas Hospital, Amarillo, $237,500; Good Shepherd Hospital at Longview, $75,000 and San Antonio Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center at San Antonio, $106,217.

COURTS SPEAK--State Supreme Court held that an El Pasoan should be repaid his investment on a car repossessed by a finance company and resold, although the man claimed he was promised more time on payments. High court threw out punitive damages assessed against the finance company in a lower court, finding no proof of malice.

Fifth federal circuit court of appeals ordered Crosby Independent School District to implement a school desegregation pairing plan by June 1. District previously had been given until September 1.

TROY A. POWELL and Ross O. Roberts, local breeders of registered Charolais cattle, purchased a full French Charolais bull priced in excess of $20,000, last Saturday at the Oklahoma Charolais Ranch auction in Ada, Oklahoma. The yearling herd sire, FA Vaillant II EO3, was born in Canada out of Charolais stock imported from France by Mack M. Braly of Ada. Although not fat on a growing ration, the young bull weighed 1320 pounds at one year of age on April 6. His sire, the famous FA Vaillant F16 (the largest Charolais bull in North America), had many admirers when he was exhibited at the Red River Charolais Bull Sale held at the Wichita Livestock Auction last December. Powell and Roberts have also leased the 3,000 pound imported French bull, Unisson FA8, to use in their herds this year. Both bulls can be seen at the Powell Charolais Ranch south of the Iowa Park Experiment Station. Powell also added to his breeding herd with the purchase of twelve quality females. Included were one half French daughter of Uranium FA7 with three quarter French heifer calf, one half French daughter of Amour AO2 bred to Uranium FA7 (Braly's $500,000 bull), and ten purebred domestic cows bred to the famous Uranium FA7. Powell owns and operates the Beverly Meat Shop, 1406 Beverly Drive, in Wichita Falls and Roberts is a Computer Training Supervisor at Sheppard AFB.

Early Archer county church to be marked

A historical marker at the site of one of Archer county's early day churches will be dedicated at ceremonies in the Bowman Community on Sunday at 1:30 p.m. Rev. Leland Young, pastor of Trinity United Methodist Church will speak and Jack Loftin, chairman of the Archer County Historical Survey Committee, will be in charge of the public meeting.

The marker was purchased by one of the community's pioneer citizens, Walter H. Ford, whose family came to Archer County in early 1880's.

The Evangelical United Brethren Church was first named the Holliday Creek Mission when it was established as a teaching mission by that denomination in 1885. A parsonage was soon erected at a point called Stringtown and services in both German and English were held in the school house.

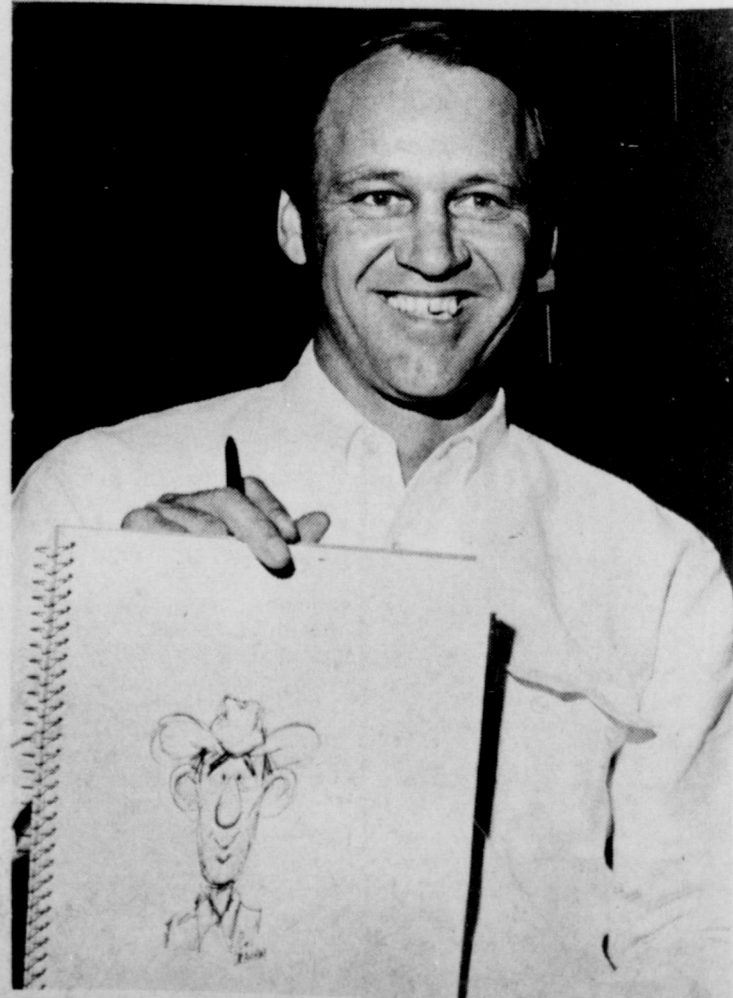

In 1897, after the wheat harvest, members built a new church building with materials hauled from Henrietta. Then in 1901, the church and parsonage were moved by steam engine to the present site of the Bowman Community Building on a tract of land donated by Luke Wilson and later purchased by Walter Ford.

The buildings were moved because of the threatened inundation of the new Lake Wichita which was being built.

Services were conducted here until 1932 when the congregation merged with the First United Evangelical Brethren in Wichita Falls. Later the entire denomination merged with the United Methodists and many of the former Bowman members are now members of the Trinity United Methodist Church in Wichita Falls. Some of the early day families who came from Bell County to this area and were active members of the Evangelical Brethren were the: Brown, Decker, Laukhuf, Schmitt, Bohns, Vogtsberger, Finkler, Ford, Priebe, Krebs, Bachman, Daume, Kaneck, Sturm, Ludolphus, Block, Mahler and Ingalls families.

In 1940, the unused church building was given to the newly formed congregation of Mankins Baptist Church and was moved to that village where it continues to serve as a place of worship.

HOLLIDAY native, Lex Graham, creator of the cartoon "Back Forty" was featured speaker Tuesday night at the annual FFA Chapter Parent-Son Banquet.
