THE CONTEST IS CLOSE.

Official Figures on the Legislature Necessary in Ohio.

Both Parties Claim a Majority and Burn Pyrotechnics and Powder-Great Excitement Prevailing-Hamilton County Holds the Key-Democratic Chances the Best.

Special to The News.

REPUBLICANS CLAIM THE LEGISLATURE. COLUMBUS, Oct. 15.—The Legislature is still claimed by both parties on joint ballot. The Republican committee is figuring on fifty-nine Representatives and seventeen Senators as positively elected, not including any of those from Hamilton County. The election of McNeil and Athens, Fairfield District, by 39 majority is claimed, and that of Grainer, in Muskingum and Perry, is also claimed at Republican headquarters. If their claims hold good they have a majority of one in the Senate. The vote is very close in the last two districts, and it will probably require the official count to decide. At Democratic headquarters they appear to be confident in their claim of twenty-one Senators and fifty-six Representatives, but give nothing upon which to base this. Ac-cording to the best information obtainable at the respective headquarters the Repubcording to the best information obtainable at the respective headquarters, the Republicans will control the House by four or five votes, while the Democrats will probably have one majority in the Senate. In this estimate Hamilton County members are conceded to the Democrats. The Republicans will have a majority on joint ballot, but it will be small. The exact figures cannot be given until the count is completed in the close counties and districts.

HOADLY RUNS BEHIND. COLUMBUS, 15.—Unofficial returns from nearly all the precincts of the State have been received at Republican State headquarters, showing that Hoadly will likely run behind his ticket rather than ahead of it. This is is believed to be due to mossbacks, who swore vengeance when the Governor, as alleged, had his name presented at Chicago to kill the nomination of their man.

MR. LEONARD SPEAKS. The following telegram was received this evening from the Prohibition candidate for Governor: "The Prohibition vote is all that could reasonably be expected and is large enough to hold a balance of power in future elections. The Prohibition party is the only one that shows an increase over the vote of last fall. It has multiplied its vote by three and will continue to grow. The next Prohibition campaign in Ohio begins to-day."

A. B. Leonard.

THE CLAIMS IN CINCINNATI. CINCINNATI, Oct. 15 .- The situation in Hamilton County remains unchanged. Both parties are claiming the legislative ticket, and are charging each other with manipu lating ballots to suit themselves. Returns from missing precincts are coming in slowly. The county ticket is Democratic, with one exception, that of Kuhl for comwith one exception, that of Kuhl for commissioner. This is conceded by the Republicans, but they claim the legislative ticket, except Harlan, colored, by majorities from 400 to 750. The committee of one hundred will meet this afternoon to organize permanently. Much indignation is manifested against a small crowd of unprincipled politicians of both parties, who have violated the registration and election laws. The committee have determined upon a severe poor annual report, coupled with the refusal to allow stockholders to examine the the registration and election laws. The committee have determined upon a severe course against all offenders and public officers who have failed to do their duty. There was some talk on 'Change to-day of calling an indignation meeting at Turner Hall tonight, but it is not likely that this will be done, as it would tend to inflame the passions of meen to deeds of violence. effect on the stock which fell 3 per cent. though there was a slight rally at the close.

CHARGES OF FRAUD. CINCINNATI, Oct. 15.—Returns from Hamilton County, and even from Cincinnati, are not all in, and this fact is cited by both parties as an evidence of fraud. Both the Commercial-Gazette (Rep.) and Enquirer (Dem. openly charge the opposite party with fraudulent practices.

CORNELL STUDENTS CONGRATULATE FORAKER. ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 15.—A large mass meeting of the students of Cornell University was held here to-night for the purpose of sending congratulations to Judge Foraker, a graduate of Cornell, upon his election ker, a graduate of Cornell, upon his election as Governor fof Ohio. The following message was sent to Foraker: "The students of Cornell, in mass meeting assembled, irrespective of party ties, extend you their hearty congratulations upon your election as Governor of Ohio. We cannot but feel gratified that a graduate of our school should have been thus honored. In the presence of the good news from Ohio we forget we are Republicans or Democrats and remember we are Cornellians. All join heartiest congratulations and good wishes."

NEWS FROM A REPUBLICAN SOURCE. Washington, Oct. 15 .- A private dispatch was received here to-night from Cincinnati, from a Republican source, which states that official figures will show that the Repub licans will have a majority in both the House and the Senate and eighteen majority on joint ballot; that they have elected nine representatives and four senators in Hamilton County and the Democrats have elected one Representative. Hoadly carries Hamilton County by 380 majority, running 1000 ahead of the legislative ticket. The Democrats lost four of their local ticket in Cincinnati.

THE EXCITEMENT IS HIGH. COLUMBUS, Oct. 15 .- The excitement is at fever heat here to-night. Some of the Democratic committeemen are here and they are closeted. It is understood they are arranging to look after the count in close counties and are sending agents to the different localities to represent them. They are still claiming the Legislature joint ballot by the same figures which they gave out last evening, with fifty-six members in the House and twenty-one in the Senate. They claim Hamilton County solid, while the Republicans have settled down to the idea that they have with the exception of one candidate for the House, Robert Harlan, colored. The con-test is there, and if there is any trouble it will originate from that point.

RASH REPUBLICAN RESOLVES. Should the Republicans find that they cannot secure the Legislature on joint ballot without Hamilton County, they will make a desperate effort to secure part of it at least. A large number of prominent Republicans have come in from different parts of the State on the evening trains, and they are making efforts to meet the enemy in anything which may be attempted in the close counties. The chairman of the committee again this evening sent telegrams to all the chairmen of the committees of the close counties where the contests have not yet been dewhere the contests have not yet been de-cided, and has put them on guard to the effect that there is an effort being made to steal a United States Senatorship, and to use the greatest care in the protection of tallysheets and pollbooks until the official count is completed.

BOTH BRAGGING. There has been considerable of the braggadocio on both sides, and they have conributed about equally at headquarters of the separate committees to the excitement by the noisy and extravagant claims which have been made in regard to the legislative PYROTECHNICS AND POWDER. At the Democratic headquarters to-night they are firing off skyrockets, and the Republican committee earlier in the evening caused a cannon to be fired over the result.

At the Republican headquarters they claim to have semi-official returns from all the counties in the State, with the exception of three—Stark, Lucas and Hardin—and these estimates show that Foraker has car-ried the State by a plurality of about 19,000 and the balance of the ticket will get over 20,000.

THE REPUBLICANS HAVE WEAKENED Since last evening on their claims of a ma jority on joint ballot and a working majority in each branch. To-night they claim seventeen Senators and fifty-eight members, which would give them a majority of only three on joint ballot. This claim leaves Stark, Lucas, and Hardin Counties in doubt, and also the Senator in the Dayton District. If the Democrats should get these doubtful counties they will have a majority of three on joint ballot, but the Republicans claim all of them. These deductions, which are made by Republican committees, are based on the supposition that the Democrats will have the entire delegation from Hamilton County, with the exception of one member. The Republicans claim majorities in Hamilton on the entire ticket of from 400 to 800. All sorts of stories are rife to-night as to how the thing is going to come out. bers, which would give them a majority of to come out.

HOADLY HEARD FROM. Gov. Hoadly, in an interview to-night, expresses regrets over the information which he has received that there has been corrup tion in some of the counties and districts While there was no money used against him, so far as he knows, on the State ticket, he says he has it on good authority that the Republicans have been making the most reckless use of money in some of the counties. He congratulates the State and the Democrats that they have accomplished one thing at the election, if nothing else, and that is they have done away with October elections in the State, and it will be some consolation, he says, if there should be a Democratic Legislature, in order that they might be able to administer a rebuke to Sherman and his methods. While there was no money used against him.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 15.—Extravagant reports have been telegraphed from here that there is intense excitement in the city over the election returns and a riot is anticipated. There is no reason whatever to believe that there will be any trouble of the kind. The figures show a closeness in the vote that is uncomfortable to both parties. In several cases, perhaps, the official count will be necessary to decide who is elected, but on the face of the returns the Democratic ticket is elected with the exception of two county officers. county officers.

POLITICS ELSEWHERE.

HILL AND JONES ACCEPT. ALBANY, Oct. 15.—Messrs. Hill and Jones, the Democratic nominees for Governor and Lieutenant Governor of New York, have sent in their letters of acceptance. Gov. Church, on motion, took the chair. Hill says: "The excellent platform adopt ed by the convention meets my entire approval. Unlike the platform of our opponents, it requires neither explanation nor apology. Most cordially do 1 concur in the declaration that the Democracy of the State render to President Cleveland their hearty approbation of the public policy which has governed his official action, their confidence in the wisdom of his administration and the appreciation of his firm, considerate and conscientious conduct as considerate and conscientions conduct as President. The Republican platform on the other hand, in ill-tempered language, denounces as hypocritical pretenses the effort which the President has made for the purification of the public service, the correction of long existing abuses and his professed desire and honest endeavors for better government, and it condemns the national administration for every reform which it has ministration for every reform which it has inaugurated in the management of the finances, in the regulation of commerce and in the enforcement of the laws of the courin the enforcement of the laws of the country. The issue thus sharply presented by the platforms of the two parties, cannot be changed by the individual utterances of candidates or the unauthorized explanation of party newspapers. Our opponents, as a party, are opposed to the policy and principle of President Cleveland, and their success at the ensuing election would surely be proclaimed throughout the country as a condemnation of his adtion would surely be proclaimed throughout the country as a condemnation of his administration. The hands of the President will be strengthened by a victory of his party friends; not by the success of the enemies of his party. I believe that the civil service of the country should be reformed. The continued ascendancy of one party in the national government for twenty-four years led to abuses, the creation of sinecures and the prostitution of public positions to partisan purposes. Any laws not inconsistent with the true spirit of our institutions, having for their sole purpose the inconsistent with the true spirit of our institutions, having for their sole purpose the GRAND OVATION TO GEN. LEE. LYNCHBURG, Va., Oct. 15.—The ovation to General Fitzhugh Lee to-day surpassed any thing ever before known in this section. Fully 1000 mounted men were in line, be sides multitudes of pedestrians. The city is literally covered with bunting, and the streets are swarming with strangers. The crowd in attendance at the fair grounds to-day is estimated at from 12,000 to 16,000. Everything passed off pleasantly, with no disturbance of any kind. Gen Lee, Major Daniel, and Hon. Rufus A. Ayres spoke to an audience of fully 2000 to-night, many ladies being in attendance.

Gen. Tom Ewing, who has been practicing law in New York for some years, tells a reporter that in his opinion Sherman has hurt the Republican party in Ohio by his bloody-shirt speeches.

Discoveries Made by the Grass Commissioners Reported Sale in London of the Capitol Lands-An Indictment-Capital City Cullings.

Austin, Oct. 15.—Col. J. T. Brackenridge, of the boundary commission, says the joint commission will probably meet, first at San Antonio, then at Austin and then at Galveston. He thinks there are persons in Texas who have, in the way of old correspondence and probably field notes of surveys in the Panhandle region, evidence that might be useful to the Texas commissioners. This might be sent to him here. The United States commissioners await more definite instructions. Decatur.

DECATUR, Oct. 15.—This is the day for the Alliance to bring in their cotton. It is estimated that between 400 and 500 bales has already come in, and that there will be as much more in before night. Cotton has declined somewhat. It is selling this morning at 8.40, which is not as much as it brought yesterday. Up to date there has been 886 bales shipped from here; stock on hand 502 bales, making 1388 bales, not counting what came in to-day.

Mr. A. Devereaux reports real estate improving and thinks that all kinds of real estate in this county will increase in value in the next twelve months at least 25 per cent. City property has depreciated very little in the last year, and considering the scarcity of money during that time, it is considered a good indication of a bright future for Decatur the coming year.

The Alliance cotton sold at from 8.50 to 8.75. Very little, however, was sold at the latter figure.

A good many strangers are in the city seeking homes, and a good deal of land is being purchased by the new comers.

Kaufman. Kaufman, Oct. 15.—The sick list is larger than for many months. H. T. Nash is slowly recovering from an attack of flux. Mrs. Handberry is not expected to live. Bonham.
Bonham, Oct. 15.—About 9 o'clock this morning a large caravan of wagons was seen approaching the city from the west, all loaded with cotton. They halted about a quarter of a mile from the public square to arrange the line of march. While they had made this stop quite a large crowd had collected on the southwest corner of the public square, the point at which the train of wagons would enter. The streets at this time presented quite a holiday appearance. At 10 o'clock there was over 650 bales of cotton in the city, and coming in rapidly from all directions. The public square at noon was literally packed with wagons loaded with the fleecy staple, while a constant stream of wagons were on their way to the tream of wagons were on their way to the

PURCHASERS AT PECOS.

The Second Birth of a New Texas Town.

Four Hundred and Fifty-seven Lots Sold at Good Prices-Large Attendance of Visitors and Purchasers from Various States-The Town and Surrounding Country.

Special to The News, PECOS CITY, Oct. 15 .- Pecos City is a peculiar Texas town. It has had a double birth. Several years ago, when a town was located on the Petriken survey under a verbal contract with the ower, it was first born. He was killed, and, as his heirs refused to complete the contract, no title could be made to the town lots at the old town, and so a new town site was selected on land where the title was perfect. The site was platted, and to-day the town was born anew, and under such favorable auspices as assures its future. From New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Missouri, Mexico, New Mexico, and all parts of Texas, came the people to-day who have cast their lots with this new town by purchasing lots herein.

The first lot was sold to a mercantile firm doing business here, Hilliard & Johnson, $500, they selecting on the Courthouse Square, 1500 feet from the railway station. The bidding was very spirited until the eighteenth lot had been sold, the prices being $200 to $400 for choice, and the sales even after that until over 100 lots had been sold, were rapidly made at what to the railroad company should have been satisfactory prices, this number averaging over $200 each. On the two main streets leading from the railway south every business lot is sold, and as there are already twenty-five or thirty business houses up and occupied, the future of Pecos is brighter. The total number of lots sold was 457; total amount of sales, $45,522.

A large cattle shipment may be expected from this point, for it is the depot for a scope of country more than 150 miles around here and in the region are more than 500,000 head of cattle, horses and sheep. A representative of the New York and Texas Land Co. told The News correspondent to-day that his company would, after their leases expire, on Jan. 1 next, begin the construction of a large irrigating ditch twenty-five or thirty feet wide and beginning at a point ten miles or more north of Pecos City, run southward and west of town through the company's land. When this is done all this part of the Pecos valley will blossom. Vegetables, cereals, cotton and fruits, The first lot was sold to a mercantile firm run southward and west of town through the company's land. When this is done all this part of the Pecos valley will blossom. Vegetables, cereals, cotton and fruits, almost perfect in quality, were displayed at the pavillion to-day, raised on irrigated farms in this valley.

Among the prominent purchasers were Col. Gilliam, of San Marcos; A. G. Hallagher, of Chattanooga, Tenn.; J. P. Martin, Fort Worth; George Cammack, New York; A. C. D. Miller and L. A. Pires, Dallas; Holt & Nye and J. J. Alexander, San Antonio; George West and P. S. Wren, Galveston; John Howard, Fort Worth; Volney Hall, Marshall; J. G. Eustis, Philadelphia; W. R. Warwick, Cincinnati, O. A. B. Judkins and Hiram Garden, of Springfield, Ill., the former the founder of Midland, were on the ground. There were between six and seven hundred present at the pavilion and over one thousand in the town interested in the sales. The citizens entertained the visitors with a barbecue in the evening, and all are pleased with location and prospects of the new town. The sale was not completed and will be continued to-morrow, when the balance of the lots will be sold. It is reported that 10 per cent of the gross proceeds of the sale to-morrow will be donated by the Texas and Pacific Railway Co. to the building of a school house and the digging of an artesian well.

HANLAN AND LEE WIN THE DOUBLE SCULL. ALBANY, Oct. 15 .- The double scull race between Hanlan and Lee and Courtney and Conley took place to-day at Pleasure Island before a large concourse of spectators. At 3:55 p. m. all was ready, and shortly after 4 p. m. the word was given. Hanlan and Lee caught the water first and sent their shell half a length to the front, steadily increasing this lead with a stroke of thirty-eight to the minute. Courtney and Conley seemed to pull rather unevenly. At the first quarter Hanlan and Lee led by three-quarters of a length. From this to the three-quarter both crews pulled hard and kept the same relative distance apart. At the end of the first mile Hanlan and Lee had slightly increased mile Hanlan and Lee had slightly increased the gap, turning the buoy a length in advance. Courtney and Conley steered wildly and made the turn rather clumsily. Hanlan and Lee won easily by three lengths in 18 minutes and 15 seconds, with Courtney and Conley fifteen seconds later. When two and one-half miles was completed Hanlan and Lee rested a few seconds and again rested upon entering the home stretch. When Courtney and Conley had almost reached their stern Hanlan and Lee, with a few quick strokes, would send their shell ahead three or four lengths. Referee Osmond states that Hanlan could have made better time if he desired. Courtney took Hanlan's water several times. Hanlan and Lee were greeted with great enthusiasm after the race. Very little money changed hands on the race.

El Paso's First Texan-Chinese Birth Claim Disproved.

Mongo-American Amalgamation and the Fruits Thereof Proudly Quoted from the Records-The Good Samaritans and Their Good Resolutions.

Waco, Oct. 15.—El Paso's claim for the first Texas-born Mongolian is an idle boast. In the summer of 1873 John Fou Hang, who had been a timekeeper on the International and Great Northern Railway, married a white woman here and located in the Central City. When the roses came again an heiress had blessed the Mongo-American union. The event was chronicled at the time in the Galveston News. Several children were the fruits of this marriage. The union was an unfortunate one for the wife. The story of her wrongs brought the wife's sister to her side. The Waterworks Discussed by Alderman Weis -Street Car Collision Caused by a Sleepy Driver-Small Fire.

Special to The News. GALVESTON, Oct. 15 .- Alderman Weis, in discussing the fresh water supply question with a News reporter to-day and compar ing his proposed plan with the one proposed by Chanute and associates, says Mr. Chanute offers 300 hydrants for $45,000 a year, which would leave a large portion of the city without water, but for which the taxpayers owning property in the unwatered districts would have to pay their proportion without receiving any benefit in return. As a matter of course petitions for more hydrants would come before the Council, which could not be refused, as the petitioners would be entitled to them, and in less than three years after the waterworks commenced operation there would not be less than five hundred hydrants in use at a cost to the city of $65,000 per annum. This amount per year for thirty years equals $1,950,000, to which add annual interest at 5 per cent $1,511,250, total cost to the city for thirty years $3,461,250. For this heavy outlay we are supplied with water for fire purposes only. Now let us refer to the Weis plan, my suggestion being for the city to own the waterworks: estimated without receiving any benefit in return. As city to own the waterworks; estimated less than $100,000.

cost in bonds, to be redeemed at the rate of $25,000 a year, for thirty years $750,000; interest thereon at 5 per cent equals $581,250; annual expenses, according to representative citizen, $79,330, from which deduct interest computed above $375,000; sinking fund $25,000; total $62,000, leaving $16,830, or say. $18,500 per annum, for thirty years $555,000; interest thereon at 5 per cent $433,437, making total expenditure in thirty years $2,319,687, at the end of which time the city will own its waterworks, besides having derived the benefit of the use of hydrants without any expense, and the entire system having been paid for by direct taxation on property which has received ample return for its outlay.

I ask the taxpayers which is the better scheme, to pay in thirty years $3,461,250 with nothing to show at the end, or $2,319,687 with the entire plant all paid for? Only $1,141,563 difference in favor of the Weis plan.

A small fire occurred here about 10 o'clock to-night in a small two story frame building on the south side of Mechanics street, between Twenty-second and Tremont, owned by Bowldinger Bros., and occupied by Alderton & Co., manufacturers of flavoring extracts. The fire originated, presumably, from the explosion of a lamp left in the rear of the building, and it spread rapidly by the aid of a quantity of alcohol and turpentine stored there. The stock of Alderton is valued at $2500, on which there is an insurance of $1500. The stock is badly damaged by water and smoke. The new paid department did excellent service, kept the fire confined to the rear of the building, and rapidly extinguished it. About $1500 will cover the entire loss.

Corsicana, Oct. 15 .- We seem to be on the verge of some very extensive improvements. In addition to the electric light, which we feel sure will be placed over the city by our city fathers, and first-class insurance and sewage, now comes the proposition to build a city hall, and instead of paying out money for city rents, to rent out the lower story of the hall for market purposes and utilize the upper for the transaction of the city's business. A most eligible location for this improvement has been pointed out by one of our most enterprising councilmen, the title of which lot is thought by him to be in the city.

Cleveland's Cleaver Ready for the Official Neck of Jack Evans.

Senator Kleburg of Cuero to Succeed Him, is the Report-Statement of the Causes Which Led to Judge Vincent's Removal-General Washington News.

Special to The News.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 .- It is understood on good authority that Attorney General Garland has recommended the removal of A. J Evans, District Attorney for the Western District of Texas, and the appointment of Rudolph Kleiberg, of Cuero, in his place. The removal and appointment will probably be made within a few days. Evans has served as District Attorney for a number of years and his official record is good, but the Department of Justice has been informed that he is a thoroughly offensive partisan. Mr. Kleiberg has served as State Senator in Texas, and is a law partder of Congressman Crain. Since the appointment of Mr. Crain's candidate for Collector of Customs he has interested himself a great deal for the removal of Evans.

WHY JUDGE VINCENT WAS REMOVED. It appears now that Judge Vincent, of New Mexico, was suspended at the suggestion of Secretary Lamar. Judge Vincent is a Democrat who has been living for a year or two in New Mexico. He recently appointed S. W. Dorsey, A. G. Burnham and Juan Carillo a commission to draw a grand jury for Colfax County, N. M. Secretary Lamar has been diligently investigating land frauds alleged to have been perpetrated in that county and locality, and the question of the punishment of the accused parties would come before the juries to be selected by the commission named.

would come before the juries to be selected by the commission named.

It seems that Burnham and Carillo are interested with Dorsey in business speculations, and the Interior Department authorities are not willing, in view of the facts before them, to have the judicial machinery there controlled by these men. The authorities here are unable to account for Judge Vincent's action in the premises. It is looked upon as entirely inexcusable. The selection of these jury commissioners was made at a time, when, in behalf of justice, it was the desire of the authorities to have the legal machinery in the hands of the very best citizens. the very best citizens.

THE ALABAMA COURT OF CLAIMS. Mr. J. F. Manning, the attorney who, on his disbarment by the Court of Alabama Claims, instigated the recent official objections to the "necessary incidental expenditures" of the court, has filed a motion through his counsel, Col. R. J. Christie asking for reinstatement, which was to-day passed upon by the court in a written opin ion delivered by Presiding Judge Hanlan and concurred in by the other two judges. The motion was denied, first because it did not contain an apology for the language and conduct which caused the disbarment, and secondly because since the original offense the court finds that Mr. Manning has issued two printed statements, one a circular addressed to his clients and the other a letter in a Massachusetts paper, both over his own signature, in which he uses language grossly abusive of the court, and in contempt of its authority. No court, it is said, could, with dignity or self respect, permit any person to practice before it who had deliberately used such language with respect to its members or its decrees or orders, and this court will not grant any motion to restore said Manning, except upon an unequivocal denial under oath that he was the author of these papers or upon the fullest apology and retraction, coupled with an assurance that if reinstated he will conduct himself in a manner becoming an attorney of the court. secondly because since the original offense

STRONG INDICATIONS OF WAR. London, Oct. 15 .- A dispatch from Constantinople says the war feeling throughout Turkey is rampant, and if a clash of arms over the usurpation of the Sultan's suzerainty by the recent union of Bulgaria and East Roumelia is averted it will be a miracle. In official circles it is freely stated that the Sultan is determined to permit no further encroachments upon his European possessions unless by force of arms, and that if the conference of ambassadors now in session does not adopt measures which will speedily reduce the territorial limits of Bulgaria to what they were previous to the bulgaria to what they were previous to the union, he will at once declare war against that principality. After some sparring Mr. Field raised the question of Mr. Reif's right to offer such a resolution, and told the secretary of the meeting that the only right of a stockholder defined in the by-laws was the right to vote for direc-tors. On Mr. Fields' motion, therefore, the resolution was tabled and the discussion can off an indictment has been found against J. T. | cut off.

'Change is still badly unsettled. Outside orders are not as heavy nor as numerous as recently, but "local talent" is in the field in force with very decided opinions and the spirit to back them. Trading is less misellaneous but fully as large in aggregate volume. Receipts at primary western points foot up but little more than half as much as at the corresponding time last year, and yet the brokers who guessed the increase in the visible supply at a million and a half bushels were about correct. This naturally raises the question as to how fast the "visible" would grow if deliveries in the Northwest should assume anything like normal proportions. They are pretty certain to increase somewhat now, as farmers are well along with their fall work, and the majority of them are compelled to sell their grain to meet maturing obligations, even though the situation seems to warrant the expectation of a better market to those who are able to hold until spring. This is one of the features tending to discourage the "bulls." Then, too, many have not recovered from the shock given them by that "bearish" government report, and a great deal of "long" wheat has been thrown over, notwithstanding the fact that many conservative dealers who have the best facilities for obtaining information openly expresses the belief that Statistician Dodge was considerably out of the way in his gov ernment report, and that the facts would justify an estimate of a 15,000,000 bushel decrease rather than a 6,000,000 bushel increase. This gives the market an air of weariness and weakness, but the number and character of the dealers who rush to its support on the least sign of a break shows that it has many strong friends. Still, if it is difficult to force a decline, there does not seem to be anything on which to base a rise. The houses which usually do business for Wall street parties are evidently work ing for a bulge, and to inspire the wavering crowd with confidence they have circulated considerable war talk, but the boys were inclined to believe it simply a rehash of last week's news, and as English securities remain steady, while the decline in French rentes was pretty certainly due to their own election, it had no effect further than to drive to cover a few "shorts," on whom the least whisper of war has the same effect as least whisper of war has the same effect as the cry of mad dog on a crowd. Cables continue to quote British markets firm, but without advance in prices, although Holders here claim that outside of her reserves in store and her own meager crop England has not one month's supplies that are really available.

To-night a prominent dealer says: "Encouraged by recent successes the bulls are heavy buyers on all weak spots and it seems so much easier to put the market up than to depress it that the crowd follows on. Sooner or later, however, the legitimate situation must come to the front, and the chief feature in that in a rapidly increasing supply on which exorbitant carrying charges supply on which exorbitant carrying charges must be paid, with no present prospects of a demand."

Another trader says: "I call it a very strong market to stand up in the face of such depressing influences. The real features of the situation have not changed, but I think the deal is in control of a powerful combination and advise going with the current as long as it continues to blow, but to be very careful not to get left high and dry on the sand whon it begins to recede."

Women in Society.

Last spring, while at the house of the late

Mrs. Commodore Vanderbilt, I heard on young lady guest remark how few of the gentlemen of families one knows when one knows intimately the ladies. "I often think of it," she said, "and wonder why it is. meet wives, mothers, sisters in society, and I visit them and they me; but I do not know the husbands or brothers or fathers, except in a very few cases; and my experience i that of all other women. There seems, some how, to be a growing distaste on the part of the men to social meetings, and even at balls there seem to be less men than women. I think it very unkind of them when we take so much pains to appear pleasing, and they seem to absolutely hate to dance with us. I cannot understand it.'

to dance with us. I cannot understand it."

"My dear," said an old lady present, one who was a great belle in her day, and who is now regarded as a wise and influential member of high society, "my dear, you will never get men—I mean all members of society, and those particularly that you are just complaining of—to dancing with you, or to meeting you more than they are absolutely forced to, until two reforms are made. You must not be vexed, any of you, when I tell you that the gentlemen, the fathers, brothers and husbands of our best society, will not dance with women who dress as they do now; and there is nothing in the dancing of the present day to awaken any enthusiasm in the heart, or put any life into the heels. These gentleman, as it is, prefer to stand aside and let some insane little dude whirl around and bob and bow, but real men won't dance until some leader of fashion starts up the brisk, merry dances like the old fashioned reels and moneymasks and such things. brisk, merry dances like the old fashioned reels and moneymusks and such things. 'Down the middle and up the outside and wheel your partners,' to a time that would put life into a rattling pile of dry bones. That would bring the loiterers forward. I remember the time when all men loved to dance, and did, too; but it was when we had dances like those—not these dreamy, die away things that to a spectator look as if the people were half asleep, and, if I may add, half ready for sleep besides Of course you young folks will say my ideas are superannuated, but I can say that in those days I never heard a complaint that the gentlemen wished to escape social duties."

duties."

The ladies looked thoughtful, and some not over pleased, but they all felt the truth of the remarks and none replied. Finally one lady, an ex-senator's wife, said:
"I wonder what will be done this winter about teas and such like meetings? Really, I think the teas and kettledrums we had last winter were the stupidest things imaginable. I think I never saw anything so ridiculous in my life as a great broadshouldered man sitting on an ottoman with isn't it, that Col. Knox won't drink our Russian tea himself, after having taught everybody to drink it? But what I want to say is this: If we are to have high teas let us have them in our own style, not copy after this nation or that. The Russians put lemon in their tea; the Germans flavor theirs with vanilla and cinnamon. I don't see why we should follow them. Besides, men don't like tea as a rule. They like coffee much better, as they say it leaves a good taste in their mouths to smoke after. So let us see if we cannot manage a little better and give them something they will like, and then perhaps we shall secure more of their company. My mother used to say that you must offer a prize for a man's society always."

Political Tolerance in Pennsylvania. Mauch Chunk Gazette.

Under Old Fagin Jones' mismanagement the Times has been the most conspicuous example of dishonorable journalism ever known in New York. Last year he lowered the price of the Times, cheapened and vulgarized and sensationalized the matter printed in its columns, supported the English Democratic free trade presidential candidate, lost his respectable constituency and involved the Times in financial disaster. Cackling over the defeat of the Republican party, volubly and bombastically advocating the un-American doctrine of free trade and all the while sinking deeper and deeper into the quagmire of financial embarrassment, Old Fagin has at last been brought to realize the fact that he must at once do something to prevent hopeless run. With a mean-spiritedness perfectly characteristic of the man he now comes sneaking back into the Republican party and impudently assumes to di tate policies to the organization he last year tried to ruin.

The Republican party should spurn the Times. Its secession has done its worst. Its return can only end in damage to Republican interests in New York and in the nation. It comes back crushed financially, but still howling for free trade, still malignantly and persistently abusing the best men of the Republican party, and still toadyingly excuses all the outrageous blunders of the ignoramus whom it aided to elect to the presidency. It is in no sense a Republican interest. lican party, volubly and bombastically ad-

At Forty-eight. At twilight, vis-a-vis with fate, She sat, unhappy and alone; Her milestones numbered forty-eight, No other pathway crossed her own.

No tender voice robbed age of gloom, No smiling faces cheered her sight— There only glided through the room The phantom of a dead delight. "How dim and drear the pathway seems,"
She said, "to me at forty-eight;
Long since I wakened from my dreams—
I seek for naught; for nothing wait.

"I am like one who blindly gropes
Toward fading sunsets in the west;
Behind me lie youth's shattered hopes;
What can I ask for now but rest?

"Some joys I sought with heart of fire Would find me now, but all too late— I watched ambition's funeral pyre Burn down ere I was forty-eight.

"With naught to hope, expect or win, This lonely lot remains to me; To count the wrecks of what has been, And know that nothing more can be."

Too sad to weep, too tired to pray, Alone she sat at forty-eight, While sunset colors paled to gray— How desolate, how desolate!

And his hair parted straight o'er his nose,
With his language and actions inane

THE NEWS is now perfecting arrangements whereby its distribution will be systematically and promptly effected upon all lines of railway centering upon and connecting with Dallas. It may be a few weeks before this is accomplished, but that it will be accomplished the public may rest assured. To the west and northwest of Dallas there have been some difficulties experienced in the matter of distribution within the past week, but it will not be long before the reading public of Texas all over the State will find THE NEWS a prompt daily visitor.

THE attention of the readers of THE News is directed to the completeness of its commercial columns. The management is making constant additions to this department of the paper, and will make no cessation in this direction until the commercial features of The News meet pretty much every requirement.

THE PREACHER IN POLITICS. The Rev. John C. S. Baird, a veteran minister of the Methodist Church, residing at Coleman City, Texas, makes an interesting revelation this morning. Mr. Baird is one of the Methodist preachers who does not believe in mixing religion and politics. He is one of the old-time chiefs of Methodism-one of the goodly band who have always been content to perform service for the Master with unselfish singularity of devotion, and never asked the assistance of a constitutional provision or a legislative enactment. Mr. Baird believes-with Mr. Scott, of Willis—that political prohibition is not and should not be a dogma of the Methodist Church He explains how he communicated with the Texas Christian Advocate, and how his communications never appeared. He is surprised, of course, and no wonder. The Advocate is maintained and supported by the Methodist Church, and not by a faction of it, and it was but reasonable for Mr. Baird to sup- while there is no such thing in progress. pose that it should impartially and comprehensively represent Methodist opinion. Doubtless, however, Mr. Baird never has administration is in the fight in New York, heard of that intelligent animal known as the office cat. Well, it would seem that there stalwart Republicans like to affect that the is a voracious cat in the office of the Christian Advocate, and that no Methodist who is and propose to drive the wagon. A meek, unmixed, singular ministry of the gospel may suit Brother Baird and Brother Scott and other old-timers who blazed the path of Methodism in Texas, but Brother Briggs and Brother John and the latter day leaders of the faith of Wesley in Texas aspire to something more sparkling, entertaining, towering and imposing. Brother Briggs has the reputation of being a very brilliant young man, and can hardly be expected to travel tamely between the gospel traces in the road marked out by the conservative old leaders of the time past. In other words, Brother Briggs would like to make the ministry of the Methodist Church a powerful but auxiliary factor for himself and other gifted and vaulting spirits in the somewhat dizzy, not to say perilous, business of regulating the politics and legislation and police administration of Texas, and finally of the country at large. Whatever objection Methodist brethren may find to this, politicians and purely worldly people will hardly complain of Brother Briggs for pursuing such a course. But outside of any church ethics, edicts, dogmas and traditions, THE NEWS has a direct and specific grievance against Brother Briggs. He has not been "toting fair." He has, in fact, been stuffing the office cat, or the ballot box, so to speak, and running the returning board game on THE NEWS and the public. Some weeks ago, when Brother Scott, of Willis, sent his first communication, THE NEWS, referring to it, said it would be interesting to know how many of the old-time Methodist preachers thought as he did. THE NEWS did not say that it wanted a census of the brethren taken, but the Christian Advocate construed its remarks to mean that, and called for expressions of opinion. The News, not caring to be contentious, good naturedly forbore to correct the Advocate's interpretation, but allowed things to take their course. Well, since then Brother Briggs has been filling his paper with the most luxuriant kind of taffy of himself without a single drop of vinegar to spoil the symmetry. At last the secret of this charming concourse of concordant utterances appears. The opposition vote was suppressed. Brother Briggs has been stuffing the office cat—the ballot box, so to speak-and doctoring the returns, as it were. Now, THE NEWS right here enters its solemn protest. The News never hesitated to give any of Brother Briggs' partisans space to work up his boom, or establish alleged points in his favor, and there is no reason why the Christian Advocate should choke off eminent old Methodists because they choose to think with THE NEWS, or with Senator Coke, or something after THE NEWS' or the Senator's fashion. Everybody who has anything to say on a public topic deserving the attention of the reading public is granted a hearing to a reasonable extent in the columns of The NEWS. THE NEWS is in a sense a common pulpit for Methodists, Baptists, Catholics, Presbyterians, Episcopalians, Spiritualists, heretics, agnostics, or anybody who can produce in practicable and seemly form a pertinent thought of interest to the public. Brother Briggs should study THE NEWS, and if he could be induced to emulate its liberal and impartial example, he would eventually become remarkable for fair statement, fair argument and general fair dealing. The people of Texas are a broadminded, open-hearted people, and the best in the week, and strict integrity of thought and conscience and speech on Sunday.

THE PRESIDENT'S DECENT AB-STENTION

The New York Mail and Express, a wool-dyed Republican organ, is prompt to take advantage of a circumstance which at the most can be foundation only for an excuse to drag the President into State politics. Referring to the contest for State and local offices in New York, the Mail and Express says "the administration gets fully into the fight." Does the administration do this? The country believes that the administration is composed of vigorous men: therefore. if the administration has gone into a fight, it will be found striking some heavy blows. Time was when a President and his cabinet went upon the various stumps presenting a field for Republican party work. It is not so with the present Cabinet. Yet the former one had not nearly such a reputation for vigor as this Cabinet. How can such present neglect of opportunity be accounted for? The simplest way to unriddle the perplexity is to fall back upon a healthy doubt or utter disbelief of the assertion of the Mail and Express that the administration has gone into the fight for State offices. If the Republican party of New York were at this moment considered as divided into two packs of hounds, the position of affairs might look more clear than it does to casual readers of Republican papers. The independent hounds start the game. The stalwart. stolid hounds sit upon their haunches. howl, and wait to head the game off. Could a returning Republican independent have done his party a more special service than to make such assertions about the administration's desires as should call out a decent denial? It was the political license of the Times, impertinently assuming to state the wishes of the administration, as it conceived or imagined or invented them, to be the defeat of the Democratic ticket, that gave occasion for a correction which in turn set the stalwart pack howling about administrative interference Verily, there is need of a Hamlet among the New York Mugwump players. If the is it not showing its usual vigor? The President is taking a course which they could regard as condoning the political not ready to boom Brother Briggs and his faults of Republican administrations, political enterprises should hope to see his | which, with equal regularity and indecency, opinions between the column rules of the went full length into State campaigns. MR. MANNING has signified his intention of going to New York to cast his vote. The result in Ohio ought to induce Mr. Manning to go home several days earlier than he expected, and, if not inconsistent with the policy of the administration, to induce several other people to vote with him. > FROM a Little Rock special to THE NEWS. published yesterday morning, it is learned that Hon. E. R. Breckenridge, member of Congress from the Second Arkansas District, is enthusiastic on the subject of improving the waterways of the country, and believes liberal appropriations for this purpose will be made at the coming session of Congress. Mr. Breckenridge was one of the strongest supporters of the Eads proposition for deep water at Galveston, a measure defeated at the last session of Congress, and it is fully expected that when deep water for the Texas coast again comes up before the National Legislature Mr. Breckenridge will be found on the right side of the question. It is understood that he favors a national commission to deal with river and harbor improvements, instead of the engineer corps, as giving the surest means of practical relief. In this opinion Mr. Breckenridge is undoubtedly eminently correct.

THE NEWS' Washington special conveys the information that the President will very soon appoint State Senator Kleberg, of Cuero, in place of A. J. Evans, removed, as United States District Attorney for the Western District of Texas. Mr. Kleberg has long been prominent in State affairs, and is a partner of Congressman Crain in the practice of law. Judging Mr. Kleberg by his past services to the State, he will prove a faithful and efficient official. He is a thorough Democrat and active in the ranks. No doubt his appointment is due to Congressman Crain, who seems to be doing good work and a great deal of it.

ROCHESTER, Oct. 15 .- Ambrose Chouquet. an attorney of this city and counsel for the French Canadian Society, has been seeking proof that Louis Riel was an American citizen. He has just received a copy of the original application made Riei by for naturalization and of the certificate of citinaturalization and of the certificate of citizenship, which bears the seal of the United States District Court for Montana, and is dated May 17, 1880. The witnesses are the clerk and deputy clerk of the court. Judge D. S. Wade is signer of the paper. Mr. Chouquet will ask the United States government to intercede for mitigation of Riel's punishment. The correspondent is not the first one that has ever felt the shiver of indignation pervade his gentle frame. When we first began to carve our name high up on the temple of fame where it so conspiciously glimmers at this date, we had the same sort of experience, and many a time have shed bitter tears over the eloquence that had fairly dripped from our graceful pen, but which had found a place in the waste basket alongside of the humorous poetry. We didn't weep because we were scorned and slighted. No, we didn't. We wept over the loss the public had sustained by being deprived of our handmade literary productions. The smartest articles we ever wrote in those days were contemptuously used for cigar lighters, while our little squibs of news were set leaded and accorded a place at the top of the column on the first page. One time we wrote an article on "the mule." It was a talented article. We would read it over and it nearly tickled us to death every time we read it. It was funny. It was. And it was long, a complete exhaustive thesis on the entire mule family. We mailed it at a cost of 37 cents postage and awaited the time when we would see it reproduced in every leading paper in America and translated into Bohemian and Greek. But the editor never did notice it at all, and our wit, humor and sarcasm was used to start a fire in the office stove. And thus it is that rit, humor and sarcasm was used to start a fire in the office stove. And thus it is that genius is baffled. All great writers have climbed up the same devious stairway, and some very clever composers have died and been tenderly laid in the tomb without creating a gripple on the great sea of human life or derly laid in the tomb without creating a ripple on the great sea of human life, or having a monument built to their memory. The world is a busy, practical world and demands active, tireless labor. We trust our friend will write again. If we do not publish an article it does not signify that we are angry. Our heart might be set on publishing it and yet something of greater interest might come in and crowd it out. Sometimes even our own dignified and recherche editorials are left out in order to get in a report of a camp meeting or a cotton statement. If all the matter written for publication was to be published Gabriel would commence to polish up his horn, for the world, under such a pressure, would crumble to pieces.

Labor and capital have equal natural rights and are mutually dependent upon each other, and are by nature friends; but because their respective rights have never been defined by law, we occasionally see these two powers wrangling between themselves. Until proper laws upon this important subject are enacted, the Herald will continue to champion the rights of the "horny handed sons of toil," because capital will continue to employ the best advoranged sons of ton," because capital will continue to employ the best advo-cates to press its claims. If the laborers will unite and send representative men to our State and National Legislatures they can "strike" a harder "lick" in a much can "strike" a harder "lick" in a much easier way than by measuring arms with their adversary. But the laborers must learn that some men who would represent them are incompetent because they do not understand the needs of the hour, while others who could aid them are deserters in the very hour of need. If the laborers refuse to look about them and select their men and elect them, then the inevitable must come and this whole country be thrown into confusion at the invariation. thrown into confusion at the inauguration of an immense "strike," when the laws will be disregarded and "might will be right!" Funeral of the Late Cardinal.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 .- At St. Patrick's Cathedral this morning the excitement is increasing; surging thousands, eager for access to the great edifice, upon the event of the funeral of his eminence, the late Cardinal McCloskey, are kept back to convenient distance by a strong cordon of police. Tickets had to be shown to obtain entrance, and these were limited. At 8:45 a.m. the doors were opened and the crowds formed in line. Several minor accidents occurred in the rush, and the police were unnecessarily severe in the use of their clubs. Superintendent Murray was in personal command of the police. It was found to be necessary to reinforce by additional squads in order to handle the throng. At 9:30 chanting of the solemn office for the dead began, Music was conducted on an exceptionally grand scale, and included many of the leading singers of the city. Many distinguished churchmen were present, occupying rows of seats within the sanctuary on in line. Several minor accidents occurred ing rows of seats within the sanctuary on the epistile and gospel sides. Among them were bishops from Canada, Vermont, In-diana, Philadelphia, Scranton, Reading, New Orleans, Trenton, N. J., Brooklyn, Ogdensburg, Toronto, Montreal, Manches-ter, N. Over this pile, which looked very much like a cord of wood, they threw a lot of old sail cloth, and when the customs officers asked them if they had any dutiable goods on board they pointed to this pile and said it contained cigars. The customs officers thought they were being guyed, and did not look at them. not look at them.

RAILROAD RUMBLINGS.

Heard on the Iron Highways that Center at Dallas.

Chief Engineer Sherman, of the Santa Fe-Tells What He Knows About the Brownwood Extension.

"What's the matter with Abilene?" asked the Rumbler yesterday evening of the chief engineer of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe, as the two stood at the ticket window of the Santa Fe passenger depot waiting for the Cleburne train to pull out.

"I don't know," replied the railroad official, "what you mean."

"I thought you had read the complaint in the railroad columns of THE NEWS, from an Abilene correspondent, in which he says your people are building out towards Pecan Springs, and that rich section will be diverted from trading with Abilene. The correspondent wants the Texas and Pacific to build a branch southwestward from Abi lene to San Angelo, in Tom Green County, on the north side of the Concho, so as to hold the tributary trade of that region for seventy-five miles around, which Abilene looks upon as its peculiar huckleberry."

"Our people decided long ago to extend the Lampasas Branch of the road from that point to Brownwood. The grading has been finished to and beyond Brownwood, and the rails are already laid to within fifteen miles of that place. For some time it was a question with the Santa Fe directory which route the road would take, one set of members favoring a line westward from Lampasas through San Saba, Brady, and thence onward to the forks of the Concho River, where operations would stop until the settlement and increased production of the contiguous country. Stopping on the east bank of the Concho the Santa Fe would be enabled to draw the rich trade lying for miles on the other side of the stream, and along the banks of its several branches, without going to the expense of building a bridge. It would be many years before any other road would invade this field, and this would give the Santa Fe a swing at the business long enough to make it remunerative. The directors opposed to this line were in the majority, and it was finally settled after much deliberation that the route of the Lampasas branch should be northwestward to Brownwood, thence almost due east through Coleman City on to the town of Runnels, the county seat of Runnels County." from Lampasas through San Saba, Brady, "Then where will you go?"

"Then where will you go?"
"It has not been determined yet," said Mr. Sherman, "whether we will go further west to the Red Fork of the Colorado River. It is not improbable that after reaching Runnels the road will turn due north, crossing the Texas and Pacific at Merkel, and continuing on in an air line through Jones, Stonewall, King, Cottle, through Hardeman into Greer County, and from there through the Oklahoma country northward till a junction is made with the Achison, Topeka and Santa Fe or the St. Louis and San Francisco."

But what becomes of the extension of the "But what becomes of the extension of the main line from Fort Worth, Mr. Sherman?"

"We are not quite ready for that yet," he replied, with a smile. "You may depend on one thing, if we cross the Texas and Pacific at Merkel, we will not extend from Fort Worth; if we extend from Fort Worth we will not cross the Texas and Pacific at Merkel." Then the train for Cleburne started and Mr. Sherman ran off and boarded it.

SURVEYING A LINE TO DENVER. The surveying party of the Kansas and Western, the new line from Hiawatha to Denver, reached Seneca, Kan., yesterday. They are twenty in number, and the survey from Bull City to Hiawatha will cost over $10,000, the expense being borne by the Missouri Pacific. The chief engineer of the party says the new road will certainly be party says the new road will certainly be built and that right speedily, twenty-seven miles on the west end having already been graded. The people of Seneca are enthusiastic over the enterprise and earnestly hope that it will not flash in the pan, as it would give a direct competing line with the St. Joseph and Grand Island Railroad, which for years has bled this section with their exorbitant freight tariff.

RAILS FOR A NEW ROAD. Seven cars of steel rails for the St. Louis and Emporia Railroad have arrived at But-Track laying on the road to Walnut will begin at this end. Ex-Gov. Foster and ex-Speaker Keifer are expected at But-ler on Monday next on their way to visit their coal fields and to note the progress made at their famous city of Walnut. They will meet Senator Plumb at Kansas City, where a conference will be held concerning railroad and mining affairs.

FROM KANSAS CITY TO THE GULF. The Hon. J. L. Gartrell, of Texas, has just brought to Kansas City tidings of a newly projected railroad which proposes to make that point its terminus. Gartrell is a large ranch owner in Texas, and his interests, as well as those of all other cattlemen, de mand access to the markets of Kansas City Their plan, which is already being put into execution, is to build a line from this city to Abilene, Tex., to connect with the lines running to Aransas Pass, Tex. It is neces sary to build about 500 miles of line to make connection between Abilene and Kansas connection between Abilene and Kansas City, and then the road will be an air line direct to the Gulf of Mexico. From Abilene to San Antonio the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe tracks will be used. The line from San Antonio to Aransas Pass, Tex., is now being built, and when this end of the system is constructed Kansas City will have a direct line to the Gulf. The line will give this city a monopoly of the Texas cattle business and shut out St. Louis completely. Aransas Pass is pronounced by pletely. Aransas Pass is pronounced by the Government to be the best bay on the Gulf, and connection with it would give Kansas City a better connection with the sea than Galveston.

The rumor that the Southern Pacific had refused to honor the draft of the Denver and Rio Grande for awards made by the Transcontinental Association is confirmed by a dispatch from San Francisco, which says that General Traffic Manager Stubbs states that all drafts of a similar nature will be rejected. It is said that one of the objects of Jay Gould's present visit to the West is to look over the Central branch property of the Union Pacific, recently released by the Missouri Pacific for a term of twenty-five years, and decide as to the policy of extending it to the Denver. This is an invasion of Burlington-Missoiri territory, and New York theorizers assert that the latter contemplates a counter move by way of securing a majority of Kansas and Texas stock and retaliating in Missouri Pacific territory.

It is now learned that Manitoba is the power behind the new Duluth, Huron & Denver Road, whose articles of incorporation were filed the latter part of August last, and this contract is to build the first twenty-five miles of that road.

Strong efforts are being made by the merchants of Oshkosh, Wis., to induce the rail-roads to stop running so many cheap excur-sions from that city to Milwaukee and sions from that city to Milwaukee and Chicago. Lately some of the principal business men of that city had a conference with the agents of the Wisconsin Central and Chicago and Northwestern and told them that unless some action was taken to put a stop to so many cheap excursions they (the business men) would form a combination and give all their freight patronage to one road. At first there was considerable hot talk back and forth, but finally it was partially arranged that the representatives of the roads should meet and come to tives of the roads should meet and come to

The latest Baltimore and Ohio plan comes from the Pittsburg Commercial Gazette, which says the Erie Road wants to throw overboard the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio, Mr. McHenry's road, and called the "Nypano." Erie pays 35 per cent of its gross earnings as rentals, and that, says the gross earnings as rentals, and that, says the Gazette, is 35 per cent more than it should pay. To the end that the "Nypano" may be got rid of, the Erie and Baltimore & Ohio are to agree. The Baltimore and Ohio is to give the Erie a chance to get to Chicago by widening the gauge of its Pittsburg and Western Road between Butler and Mount Jewett, and using the Pittsburg, Cleveland and Toledo for a connection with Chicago Junction. Thus the Erie may get around Mr. McHenry's road and drop it. In return for all this the Erie gives the Baltimore and Ohio entrance to New York and the use of its terminal facilities.

M. Bogue have ruturned to Chicago from Kansas City, where they have been looking after the live stock rates made out of the Emporia territory. The competition be tween the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe and the Missouri Pacific for the business has been extreme, and has carried the rates down to a very low point. The Southdown to a very low point. The Southwestern lines are unwilling to participate in the war, as they are forced to take their proportion of rates made by both of the warring roads, and the more biter the contest the more they are hurt. The commissioner was instructed at the recent meeting of the managers to arrange with the general freight agents of the outside roads mentioned for a restoration of the rates. It amounted to nothing, however, as it was found that both the Missouri and Pacific and the Atchison had made contracts covering the season traffic, which could not be broken; hence there were no rates to restore this year. As soon as these contracts store this year. As soon as these contracts run out a compromise will probably be made, as all of the roads are losing money at the figures now prevailing.

> Anointing the Sick with Oil. New York Tribune

The morning session vesterday of the Faith Convention in the Gospel Tabarnacle in West Twenty-third street, was devoted to the discussion of the second coming of Christ. Addresses were delivered by the Rev. A. B. Simpson and Brothers Morseman and Currie, of Brooklyn. In the afternoon the subject was the relation of Christian experience and prayer as preparatory to the anointing of those who were suffering from bodily ailment. After the hymn 'The Great Physician Now is Near" had been sung, about 100 persons who desired to be anointed with oil occupied the front seats. Mr. Simpson said that one afternoon the Lord came to him, in answer to his petitions, while he was alone among the pine trees near Louisville, and how he was convinced that God meant what He said in the Bible, and would do what He had promised there. He related the hardships that followed for a time the announcement that he believed that God would heal the sick, as he had done in the days of old, without medicine and by faith; that he had been called a lunatic and crank and disowned by his church for the step that he had taken. He then called upon all those among the patients who could say without a shadow of unbelief "I believe that God will heal me," to raise their hands. Every hand went up. Mrs. Baxter, the evangelist, then prayed for Jesus to come into the tabernacle and take part in the healing and make it divine.

Mr. Simpson took a small bottle of oil from his pocket and said that when he placed the oil upon the heads of those desiring to be healed he did so as the representative of Jesus. The women were requested to remove their hats or honnets. one afternoon the Lord came to him, in siring to be healed he did so as the representative of Jesus. The women were requested to remove their hats or bonnets. Mr. Simpson then went to each patient, poured a little oil upon his left hand and rubbed it upon their forehead. After he had got through with this ceremony the faith-healers, numbering twenty-five, stood behind the kneeling patients and pressed their hands upon their heads while Mr. Simpson payed that the anointing would heal the sick. The ceremony was impressive and exciting, and ceremony was impressive and exciting, and several women were so overcome that they were taken out into the vestibule. After the anointing was finished Mr. Simpson said: "Jesus is your physician and nurse hereafter, and He will take care that no harm comes to you."

Mr. Editor—A vote of thanks is certainly due The Dallas News for the excellent results of our first attempt at advertising in that splendid medium. From Bryan, Mexia, Groesbeeck, Corsicana, Ennis, Fort Worth, Weatherford, Marshall, etc., etc., we have had orders for those $20 dinner and $3 chamber sets; but many ask us whether we have goods still more elegant than the beautiful sets we sell at these prices. Please state to the people that in addition to these, we can furnish anything to the taste of the most fastidious. For instance, the Burslem Ragoon dinner sets, ivory body, underglaze decoration, worth $100, we sell at $40. In hanging lamps, glassware, silver plated goods, hotel and barroom fittings we defy competition. Our specialties in wedding presents are superb. But in order to tell your readers all that they can find at extremely low prices in our house, please have your special news agent call look. tremely low prices in our house, please have your special news agent call, look through the stock and inform the public what he saw in the way of assortment and prices and what he thinks of the China Hall, corner Elm and Murphy streets, D. AFFAIRS IN FORT WORTH.

The Relation of Business to Theatre Receipts.

The Services Over a Deceased Citizen-Progress on the Railroad-The Condition of Trade-The Courts and Police Matters-Other Notes.

Special to The News. FORT WORTH, Oct. 15:—It has been determined, in accordance with the wishes of deceased, that the remains of Hon. Royal T. Twombly shall be removed to Niles, Michigan, where they will rest beside those of his wife. Brief funeral services, held this evening at the residence of his son, were attended by a large number of citizens. A dispatch was received by Mr. Frank Twombly from the city council of Niles, stating that the body would be publicly received and the interment take place under the auspices of the city government. According to the funeral notice Mr. Twombly was 72 years of age.

THE RAILROAD. Material has been received for three bridges on the Fort Worth and New Orleans Road, one for the Sycamore Creek, one over Walnut Creek and one over Village Creek. Mr. Roche, the contractor, said to-day that the assessment on the citizens would not be called for until material for construction began to arrive. The first grading done south of the city is about three-quarters of a mile from the Missouri Pacific Hospital, which, also, by the way, is very nearly completed.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT ORDINANCE. Some very foolish braggadocio on the part of one of the promoters of the Vanderpoele system of electricity has caused some of the Aldermen no little annovance. He is said to have boasted that the franchise was worth $10,000, and that he had made arrangements in a certain direction, the effect of which would be felt in the Council.

which would be relt in the Council.
Several of the councillors are so much angered that they have expressed a determination to endeavor to revoke the ordinance. The whole story is a very silly one, and meets with no acceptation, but it has furnished a theme for some very excited discussion. discussion.

MERCENARY SCALPERS. Quana Parker left here with his Comanches for New Mexico last night, the chief incidentally remarking that he was going to fetch his sister to his home. A horrible rumor has reached the air, howhorrible rumor has reached the air, however, that the destination of the warriors, who are as forbidding crowd of noble red men as one would care to meet on a lonely prairie, is really the border of New Mexico and Southern Arizona, where they will take a hand in earning the reward offered in these Territories of $250 for every scalp of a buck and $500 for every chief. If they are not capable of thus betraying their own race, then their faces most flagrantly violate every rule of physiognomy.

THE THEATRE. It is worth notice that the Opera-house has been crowded on two occasions recently. Last night one of the best houses ever seen here greeted "Skipped by the Light of the Moon." The company will be in Dallas to-morrow night, and you may safely announce them as the funniest en-tertainment that has visited this part of the State. "It takes a wise man to make a fool," says the adage, and this is clever fooling.

But the fact of the crowded house is of more consequence as an indication of the increasing easiness in money. The theater is a sort of pulse to a place like this, and general prosperity or adversity is very quickly indicated by the theater box receipts. BUSINESS.

Business is undoubtedly better. There is no jumping, leaping boom, but there are lots of men who are quietly booming on their own account. The absence of bustle and the presence of a more steady flow of trade deceives the superficial, and Mr. Pessimus is very gloomy indeed. He fails to see Joe Brown's fine new $75,000 building going up, the new Fort Worth grocery store, the immense establishment of the Martin-Brown Co., the new buildings on Market Square, the great number of new, modest residences arising in every quarter; he takes no interest in the enormous quantity of arriving and departing freight or the decreasing number of the unemployed.

Because King Cotton hasn't showered his golden wreath on all alike, Mr. Pessimus thinks "the bottom has dropped out." He shakes his head and cries: "Ichabod, thy glory has departed!"

"The Magic City of the Prairies," he tells me, "will, if this sort of thing goes on, disappear as magically as it arose, and future topographers will describe the once brilliant Fort Worth as a melancholy place on the banks of the Trinity, with a hospital at one end and a jail at the other." trade deceives the superficial, and Mr.

THE COURTS.

The District Court was occupied all day with the case of Reeves against the Higbie, Randall, Darling Co. The case was given to the jury, who will render their verdict in the morning.
The cases of W. A. Aaron against Broiles

The cases of W. A. Aaron against Brolles and others and against the city of Fort Worth, were called, but continued until next term. The wife and child of the plaintiff were removed to the pesthouse by order of the Health Board, of which Dr. Broiles was at that time a member. Mr. N. A. Stedman is counsel for plaintiff.

COUNTY COURT. In consequence of Judge Furman's continued ill health, Mr. H. L. Curlock occupied the bench of the County Court. J. D. Larkin was accorded judgment in his suit against J. B. Farmer to force award of arbitrators. Plaintiff was also victorious in the cause of Thomas Duffy against Lang & Ratican for $100. In Moore, Marsh & Co. against Britton Bros. & Co., the plaintiff got $457 37, with interest and costs.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL. Bryan T. Barry, of Corsicana, a prominent member of the Democratic organization of Navarro County, was here to-day. Cotton came in at a lively rate to-day.

Mr. Morgan Jones has returned from the The Office Saloon was closed at midnight and has not since been opened.

Levi Kemper was committed by Recorder

Feild for contempt of court.

Marriage licenses were issued to H. J.
Long and Miss Juliet Weaver and to G. W.
Ward and Miss Mary D. Cone.

Sam Klein and Dan Stewart are here.

A knotty point—the value of a horse arose in the case of R. Griffin, an agent arose in the case of R. Griffin, an agent for sewing machines, who sued the Erie Telephone and Telegraph Co. for $125, the claimed value of a horse, which was startled by the falling of a wire and so injured itself that it died. The plaintiff esteemed the horse as a "graded" animal, but witnesses for the defense said it was a common Texas stock horse. J. F. Fogg valued it at $40 to $50. Reilly put it about the same, and M. V. Miller did not differ much from them, declaring that "the horse had no points" when asked to describe them. The court awarded claimant $65 and cost.

COTTON STOLEN. Complaint is made that two bales of cotton were stolen from the Keller gin Sunday night or Monday morning, and are supposed to have been brought to this market. They are marked H. M., 179, and J. H., 142.

RIGHT OF WAY. The Commissioners appointed by the County Court to appraise the value of property required in the construction of the Fort Worth and New Orleans Road, to-day filed condemnation to three cases, one of which has been already settled. The assessment on the other two, amounting to $125, was promptly paid in and awaits the order of lawful claimants.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS. The following real estate transfers were recorded: Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railway Company to J. T. Saunders part of lots nine and ten, block ninety-one; consideration, $800. J. T. Saunders and wife to Zane Cetti, part of lots nine and ten, block ninety-one; price paid, $1040.

The Challenge of the Galatea. New York World.

New York World.

A letter was received by Mr. Charles H Minton, secretary of the New York Yacht Club, Thursday morning, from J. Beavor-Webb, renewing the challenge for the America's cup. This challenge was first made last April by both the cutters Genesta and Galaeta, and it was specified that the former yacht should run for the cup during the summer of 1885. If the Genesta failed to win it was requested that the challenge be continued open until next season, when the Galatea would appear in these waters the Galatea would appear in these waters to try her speed with American yachts. Before leaving New York for England Mr. Webb notified the yacht club that the Galatea would be ready to sail for the cup

Galatea would be ready to sall for the cup at any time next year that the regatta committee might fix upon.

In the letter Mr. Webb proposes that five races be sailed, and that the yacht winning three be adjudged the winner of the cup. It was further suggested by Lieut. Henn, the owner of the Galatea, that at least two of these races be sailed outside of Newport, R. I., and that the whole series of races be sailed as late in the season as is practicable. A few other suggestions were offered by Mr. Webb, which will be duly considered at the next meeting of the New York Yacht Club on the 22d of this month. There will be a new Regatta Committee appointed, who will communicate with Lieut. Henn and complete the arrangements for the next secomplete the arrangements for the next se complete the arrangements for the next series of races.

Mr. Webb, who is the designer of both the Genesta and the Galatea, is more confident of the ability of the latter yacht. The Galatea has already beaten the Genesta in several races in British waters and has been held as a last resort in case Sir Charles Sutton's cutter failed to bring home the cup. In speaking of the future races Mr. Webb said recently: "I shall devote my whole attention to the Galatea on my return home. I have in mind several slight alterations which I think will improve the cutter for racing on this side of the Atlantic."

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.-Mr. J. K. Fisher, the good looking Chicagoan, is home again from New York, and as he sat in John Lester's office to-day, swapping lies with Frank Johnson, George Dunlap and some of the other well-dressed seniors, who were watching the stock market, the talked turned upon the report that "Uncle Billy" Travers, the rich New Yorker, had covered his "short" Northwestern, when Fisher told this story Somebody had taken the good-natured old fellow, who stuters terribly, but who is nevertheless very witty, down to Newport. A great many fine yachts lay in the harbor. "Who-who-whose yacht is th-th-thathat?" he asked, pointing to one of them. "That belongs to Mr. Jones, the well-known broker," he was told. Mr. Travers raised his dexter finger slowly and brought into line another yacht. "Wh-wh-wh-whose yacht is that?" he asked, with some difficulty.

"Wh-wh-whose is that?" pointing out "That belongs to Mr. White, another Wall Street broker."

W-w-well, wh-wh-where's the customer's yachts?" inquired the great Wall

A LEVER FOR LOGAN.

A movement is on foot to have the Republican State Central Committee establish permanent headquarters in Chicago. The ostensible object is to have a central headquarters where the workers may gather in and from which the State organization may be kept alive by intercourse and by the sending of documents to county committees. It is said, however, by people who claim to be conversant with the real object that most of the influential Illinois Republicans are in harmony with the movement in-augurated by the "Logan 103" at Spring-field to run John A. Logan for the presi-dency, and that a headquarters in Chicago would have a tendency to keep the State in line, besides reaching out influences to adline, besides reaching out influences to adjacent States. At any rate, the movement is under way, and has taken the form of a petition asking for the establishment of a State Central Committee headquarters, and the petition is now in the hands of "Long" Jones, chairman, and George Schneider, treasurer of the State Central Committee, and Jacob Bunn, chairman of the Executive Committee, all of whom are said to favor the proposition.

BOOTH AND BARRETT.

The announcement has just been made of what will unquestionably be the most important dramatic event of next year. This is the tour of the principal cities of America by Mr. Edwin Booth. The tour is made doubly important by the fact that its preparation and equipment are in the hands of Mr. Lawrence Barrett, who is now playing at the Chicago Opera House, in this city. at the Chicago Opera House, in this city. Some of the New York papers have published statements to the effect that Mr. Booth and Mr. Barrett would travel together, alternating parts. Mr. Barrett said to-night that there was not the slightest truth in this. Mr. Booth and Mr. Barrett are very intimate friends. Mr. Booth desires to be surrounded by the finest company obtainable, and to make the presentation of his plays as complete as possible. In order to carry out his idea he has placed the matter in the hands of Mr. Barrett, who will select his company, thoroughly rehearse it and place it upon the finest footing money select his company, thoroughly rehearse it and place it upon the finest footing money and experience can.

ABOUT AN ANCIENT ACTOR. C. W. Couldock is playing at McVicker's in "The Willow Copse," which he advertises as the latest New York success. Humph! "The latest New York success!" Well, more than twenty years ago the venerable Couldock, who was pretty generally called "grandpa" then, made a starring tour in "The Willow Copse," and it was not tour in "The Willow Copse," and it was not pretended, even at that time, that the play was anything but a very old one adapted from the French by Dion Boucicault. It was on this same tour, too, that Couldock, in a certain scene, where it is laid down that he shall find a lost will in a chest of drawers, found at the critical moment the drawers locked. And it was on this same tour that the vituperative old actor went behind the scenes, and retting an ax, broke open the was on this same tour that the scenes, and, getting an ax, broke open the drawer "just as if it was part of the play," and bringing down the house. I think it was at that time, too, that he got his reputation as a hard swearer. He had an exceedingly gawky super in "Richelieu." A raw countryman, who had offered himself as a supernumerary, did some atrocious things at the critical moment when the cardinal was on his deathbed. Despite the solemnity of the moment and the fact that the venerable Richelieu was represented to be in extremis, nevertheless there came from the deathbed, in a hoarse tone, in Couldock's loudest stage whisper, distinctly audible in every part of the house: "Now look at the G— d— gawk."

PADDY RYAN'S PRESENCE. Paddy Ryan's arrival here and the pres ence of John L. Sullivan have furnished much gossip for local sports. No sooner had Rvan struck town than he declared that it was his intention to try to get a match out of the "big one." Ryan does not talk as bombastic as heretofore. "I don't say I can whip any one," says the ex-champion; "but if Sullivan will meet me I promise him the toughest fight he has ever had, and if he downs me I will never put on the gloves again." This is fair talk, and Sullivan can trull disprayed the dispray the carls "again." not well disregard the claim of the only first class pugilist of his weight and inches in the world. New Haven, Oct. 14.—The tenth annual Congress of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States will be held in this cit t. 20 to 23, in Carll's Opera-house. Much amerest is felt in this gathering by leaders of the Episcopal Church and by Christian people generally. A large number of distinguished clergymen and laymen are to be in attendance, and are to speak upon the many subjects marked out for discussion. The congress is not a legislative body, being simply an association for the

to Christian progress, The writers and speakers are not delegates, but simply churchmen, high or low, or ritualist, as the case may be, having a single object in view. No votes on any subject under discussion are taken. There will be two sessions of the congress daily, at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., and but ten minutes are allowed to each speaker or writer. No one can speak twice on the same subject. Bishop John Williams, of Connecticut, will preside, with Rev. G. D. Wildes, of New York, as general secretary. The list of writers and speakers includes many of the most prominent clergy of the Episcopal Church of America. Among the number are six or seven bishops, Archdeacons Farrar and Vesey, of England, and several gentlemen well known at the bar and in private life.

A VETERAN PREACHER TESTIFIES. Is Brother Briggs Stuffing the Office Cat?

To The News

COLEMAN CITY, Oct. 10.-I once more ask a hearing through the columns of THE NEWS, and if any of your readers should want to know why a Methodist preacher does not address his communication to a Methodist paper, you can tell them that my experience in that line is that nothing short of a red ho indorsement of Brother Briggs' political views can escape the waste basket of the Advocate office. A gentleman asked me two questions: 1. What is the difference between politics and State policy? 2. Has the church any more right to say how I shall vote than the Democratic party has to say what I shall preach? Desiring the best and ablest answers possible, I referred the questions to the Advocate, but up to the present writing they have never been answered. After that THE NEWS desired to know how many Methodist preachers in the State agreed with Brother Scott, of Willis, Tex., whereupon Brother Briggs then opens the columns of the Advocate and called on the brethren to speak out that THE NEWS might know just how many Methodist preachers were of Brother Scott's way of thinking. I "spoke out," siding with Brother Scott. I don't know whether any other letter of that sort went to the Advocate, but however many there were they all went together-into the waste basket. So, actuated by a feeling of consideration for the editor's time and patience, I concluded to send no more letters to the Advocate until I had got my full consent to vote for prohibition or any other sumptuary law, and to cry hurrah for Briggs or any other self-constituted ecclesiastical dictator. Many times in my life have I felt the keenest dissatisfaction with myself in regard to my personal piety, as well as in regard to my pulpit efforts and my official administration, but never until quite recently has there been a shadow of doubt in my mind as to my harmony with and loyalty to the M. E. Church South. My type of Methodism I have always thought to be intensely Southern. The two fundamental principles upon which Southern Methodism rests, as a distinctive household in the great Methodist family, are: 1. Political legislation has no place in the Church of Jesus Christ; and, 2. The majority must respect the majesty of the law in the hands of the minority. I have always taken great pleasure in denying the charge that the Methodist Church separated on the question of slavery, but held that slavery was a mere side issue to the main question. Standing upon a principle, we opposed our Northern brethren in their effort to use the Methodist Church as an agency to secure the election of abolition candidates. Our Northern brethren were working for the freedom of four millions of clares.

candidates. Our Northern brethren were working for the freedom of four millions of slaves. And now we are trying (if we are to believe the papers) to outhered Herod by running the M. E. Church South in the interest of a measure that looks to the enslaving of over fifty millions of people who were born free.

A young man accused of flirting said: "No, I am not a flirt; I was only mistaken. I was in love, am in love yet. I only engaged myself to the wrong girl. If I ever find the girl I thought she was, I will marry her if I can." For thirty-one years the unmixed devotion of heart and life have I lavished upon the M. E. Church South, and the consuming flame has been constantly fanned by the thought that non-interference in State politics is one of the primary laws of her being. But I am not yet ready to return her photograph or to call on her for my old loveletters. I can not believe that the principles upon which Soule and Andrew and those who were "with them in the regeneration" stood and by which their chilthe principles upon which Soule and Andrew and those who were "with them in the regeneration" stood, and by which their children have so successfully labored, were enunciated merely as a pretext upon which to build a new ecclesiastical government, and thereby make places for another set of eeclesiastical dignitaries. Gen. Grant is reported to have said early in the war that if he thought the war was being prosecuted to abolish slavery he would put up his sword and go home. So I say now if I thought the M. E. Church South was born of a political spirit to perpetuate slavery I would confess to the world that I was ashamed of the founders of the church, and would dissolve my connection with an institution that in 1885 would repudiate the very life blood of its existence since 1844.

founders of the church, and would dissolve my connection with an institution that in 1855 would repudiate the very life blood of its existence since 1844.

I have been waiting hopefully for the day when the adverse winds of disappointed ambition shall cease to drive the dark clouds of misdirected enthusiasm athwart our ecclesiastical sky; the glad day when the pure light of a purely scriptural christianity, free from all political taint and color, shall dispel the fog of blind fanaticism; the day when the Methodist Church South shall, indeed, be found sitting at Jesus's feet clothed and in her right mind.

I confess to a feeling of surprise and disappointment at a recent communication in the Advocate from the pen of Dr. Abbey, not because the good doctor is a prohibitionist, for it is the privilege of any citizen of this government to be an adherent of any school of religion or politics he may choose. But in that paper he says that the cause of Christ prospers in any country only as the laws of that country favor its prosperity. As a Christian writer, Dr. Abbey has few if any superiors in the United States. He has undoubtedly forgotten the history of the island of Madagascar, and numerous other instances where the Scriptures have been fulfilled by the kingdoms of this world becoming the kingdoms of our Lord and of his Christ, and thattoo through the unsupported power of the Gospel, or rather through the influence of moral suasion in its highest and purest form. "It is not by might nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord."

Such sentiment as the doctor expresses would become Mr. Shaw. It is in keeping with Shaw's creed. But when Shaw became a humanitarian he very consistently retired from the ministry of a church that teaches the divinity of Jesus Christ, and gives to the gospel the first and highest place as a refiner and purrier of human nature.

I do not believe in reading any man out of the Democratic party for voting for any nature.

I do not believe in reading any man out of the Democratic party for voting for any measure until that measure has been thormeasure until that measure has been thoroughly tested and formally declared to be undemocratic. I do not believe in cutting off the rations of a preacher because he forms and expresses a political opinion, so long as he does not try to run his church in the interest of politics and elections.

Southern Methodist preachers are entitled to all the rights and privileges of American citizenship, but their citizen rights should be exercised as citizens, not as pastors of Southern Methodist Churches nor as editors and paid correspondents of Southern Methodist Churches or as editors

Southern Methodist Churches nor as editors and paid correspondents of Southern Methodist papers. As citizens claiming to be quiet and peaceable subjects, we are entitled to such laws as will protect us in the enjoyment of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. As members and ministers of the church of the Son of God, we are to remember that "the weapons of our warfare are not carnal but mighty through God (not the Legislature), to the pulling down of strongholds, and the bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ."

JOHN C. S. BAIRD.

THE APPELLATE COURTS.

Information concerning the Appellate Courts will be furnished on application to The News court reporter, lock box 1450, Tyler, Texas. COURT OF APPEALS.

Nathan Moore vs. the State, from Nacogdoches County; per curiam. This case is stricken from the docket because the same was heard and determined at a former branch of this court, and the record has been filed here by mistake.

Ed. Adams vs. the State, from Polk County; Wilson, J.—Where the application for continuance complies strictly with the statute and the evidence of the ab sent witness is material and bears directly upon the vital issue in the case, it should be granted, notwithstanding the evidence may be cumulative, and especially so when the evidence on that issue is conflicting and apparently evenly balanced, even though the evidence may be controverted by some witness as to its probable truth, when it is supported by some of them. It was error for the court to refuse the application because the defendant declined to accept the proposition of the court to go to the place where the witness was confined by sickness and there take her testimony. Reversed and remanded.

Morgan Duke vs. the State, from Smith County. Willson J.—Defendant was convicted upon indictment charging him with slander committed by stating that Miss Mattie Gowan, an unmarried female, was a whore. Defendant proposed to prove by three witnesses that they knew that Miss Mattie Gowan and one John Copeland had illicit carnal intercourse in January, 1884, and that said witnesses had informed the defendant of their knowledge of said fact prior to the time he made the alleged imputation that she was a whore. The court reected the proposed evidence. Held: Error (Wagner vs. the State, 17 Ct. App., 554). The proposed evidence was relevant, and while it would not itself establish the truth while it would not itself establish the truth of the imputation that the female was a whore, it tended in that direction, and should have been allowed to be considered by the jury in connection with all the other evidence in the case. It was also admissible on the issue of the intent of the defendant in uttering the imputation. To constitute this offense the slander must be either malicious or wanton (McMahon vs. the State, 13 Ct. App., 220). Reversed and remanded.

J. B. Ligon vs. Missouri Pacific Railroad, from Wood County. Willson, J.—Suit for damages claimed to have resulted by delay in delivering certain freight shipped over appellee's railway from St. Louis to Mineola, consisting of doors, windowblinds, etc. The original petition alleged that appellant had a contract to build a courthouse in Wood County, in the construction of which the said freight was to be used; that the same was not delivered at the point of destination within a reasonable time, in consequence of which twenty be used; that the same was not delivered at the point of destination within a reasonable time, in consequence of which twenty hands which he employed at $3 per day were idle for eight days, and he was compelled to pay them full wages during that time, amounting to $480; that he paid out $18 in tracing the freight and hurrying it to its destination, and prayed for a recovery for these two items of damage. A general demurrer was sustained, and he amended, alleging that four days after shipment he notified appellee's agent at Mineola and St. Louis of the importance of the immediate delivery of said freight. A general demurrer to the amended petition was also sustained. Held: the item of $480 was special damage, and appellant could not recover without alleging that at the time of entering into the contract of shipment appellee had knowledge of the facts which would reasonably make it probable that delay in performing the contract of carriage would result in such special damage to him. A subsequent knowledge of such facts would not, in the absence of fraud or gross negligence on the part of the carrier, render him responsible beyond the general measure of damages in ordinary cases of delay. Even if the other item of damage would be recoverable under the ordinary measure of damages, the amount is not within the jurisdiction of the court a quo, and could not be recovered in this suit.

MESQUITE MATTERS.

The Farmors Alliance-The Debating Club and Other Societies in Flourishing Condition and the Town and Country on a Boom.

Special to The News. MESQUITE, Oct. 15 .- Mrs. Lewis Filer, sister of Rev. Chas. Cole, aged 20 years, died last night of typhoid malaria, leaving two young children. She was universally regretted.

The Boi's d' Arc Farmers' Alliance met in the hall over Nash & Baylor's store on Tuesday night and elected Messrs Vanston and J. M. Knox as delegates to the County Alliance, which meets on Saturday next, Oct. 17, at Oak Lawn schoolhouse, two miles north of Dallas.

A cold norther has been blowing, and there have been indications of a light frost the past two nights. Cotton not injured. Almost every man, woman and child in the neighborhood are in the fields picking. The two gins are working, turning out quite a number of bales every day. Merchants are paying 8.65 for ginned cotton; $2 75 for coton in seed.

Quite a number of new settlers have arrived during the past week.

The frame of the new schoolhouse is up. It is to be two stories high, with a belfrey It is on rising ground, and will be quite an addition in the way of improvements.

The new building for the Christian Church is also well under way. Numerous other buildings are in contemplation.

The Mesquite Literary Club, met on last vening, numbers seventy two members. r. Lynch was elected president, Miss Alice ew vice president. Miss Mattie Caldwell treasurer and secretary and Hon. Thomas F. Nash critic. The following committee on programme was appointed: Mr. James Knox, Miss Mary Warnick and Professor

The debating club meets every Monday night in the Methodist Church. Subject on next meeting: Resolved, That a Monarchical form of government is superior to a Republican publican.

Mesquite needs a good dry goods store.

Mr. Coats has moved his stock of groceries from Dallas and has opened in the store lately occupied by Mr. Nash.

The Bennett House is again open to the public. A lady from Dallas has taken charge, the former proprietor, Mr. Nance, having moved to Dallas and purchased an interest in the Atlanta House.

A Farmers' Alliance has been organized at Hously, six miles north of this place, and one at Savere three and a belt wiles.

and one at Scyene, three and a half miles and one at Seyene, three and a half miles west.

Mr. John Duff is planting a larger acreage of wheat this fall than ever before. He is one of the most enterprising farmers of this section, owning nearly eight hundred acres within half a mile of town. Having made a success of farming, he is living in independent circumstances.

Mesquite is a local option town. It is a rare thing to see a man drunk. Never, unless one drops off the train from Dallas, and then the good Lord pity him.

The Knights of Honor, the Farmers' Alliance and the Knights of Labor all meet in the same hall, over Nash & Bugel's store.

The Dallas Morning News has favorably impressed all, and it is sincerely wished God speed. There are a large number of farmers in this vicinity ready to take ber of farmers in this vicinity ready to take THE WEEKLY NEWS.

COMMERCIAL.

DALLAS, Oct. 15 .- A leading dry goods man was asked yesterday, "How is trade?" Said he, "We have been busy all day, busy as we could be." This will apply all around in all lines of business. The middle of the week has tried itself, and all interested are consequently happy over the result. The press of orders and the active movement just at a time when the dengue fever is so severe, creates considerable incontomers goes on and goods are sold, marked and sent off with dispatch. and sent off with dispatch.

In the produce market, all is life and stir.

Irish potatoes rule higher, as will be seen by our quotations. A good article commands 85 cents per bushel; 80 cents for lower grades. Cotton receipts are not as large as they should be, but the explanation of this is found in the fact that farmers are still working the alliance scheme and are unsettled accordingly There is no complaint among farmers who bring their bales to this market, as a general rule. They get the market price, and cash is plenty to pay it.

AMOUNT OF COTTON IN SIGHT OCT. 9. In the table below, from the New York Com-mercial and Financial Chronicle, is given the receipts from plantations, to which are added the net overland movement to Oct. 1, and also the takings by Southern spinners to the same date, so as to give substantially the amount of cotton now in sight: 1885-6. 1884-5. 713,865 Total receipts from plantations 701,170 681,852 Net ov'rl'nd to Oct. 1 Southern consump'n to Oct. 1 29,000 28,000 30,000 Tot'l in sight Oct. 9. 753,080 722,248 878,859

Northern spinners'
takings to Oct. 9... 174,770 139,335 189,269
It will be seen by the above that the increase in amount in sight, as compared with last year, is 30,837 bales, the decrease from 1883-4 is 125,779 bales, and with 1882-3 54,766 bales.

DRIVING CAPITAL FROM THE SOUTH. The Baltimore Manufacturers' Record says: The persistance displayed by some of the law tal, and especially if the capital is invested by outsiders, would accomplish great things for their State if turned into some good channel. We must confess our surprise at the lack of encouragement given to capital by these legislators. The South is greatly in need of capital lators. The South is greatly in need of capital to develop her vast resources, build new rail-roads and increase her banking capital, and yet, instead of offering every possible inducement to attract the favorable consideration of capitalists, her legislators, or at least many of them, apparently make it their special study to see what they can do to make capitalists suspicious of the South. Certainly there can be no excuse for legislation of this character. It only serves to hinder the progress of the whole South, and to keep away millions of dollars that under other circumstances would be invested in that section. These laws not only do harm to the State which makes them, but to the whole South, as they cause capitalists and business men generally to feel a degree of uncertainty regarding what might be done next in the way of hostile legislation that prevents many investments which would otherwise be made.

PORK PACKING AND PROVISION TOPICS.

According to the Cincinnati Price Current of Oct. 7 Western packing operations during the with 105,000 for corresponding time last year the total from March 1 to date was 4,000,000, against 3,480,000 a year ago—increase 550,000. Values of hogs declined 15@25c per 100 pounds for the week, and are now about $1 65 per 100 pounds lower than a year ago at Chicago, a reduction of 21 per cent. The average of present prices at Chicago is now about 75c below the average for last winter at that point, or 17 per cent. Compared with a year ago, for January delivery there is a reduction on mess pork of $3 47%, or 27% per cent; $1 32% per 100 pounds delivery there is a reduction on mess pork of $3.47%, or 27% per cent; $1.32% per 100 pounds on lard, or 18 per cent; $1.90 per 100 pounds on short rib sides, or nearly 30 per cent. The reported stocks of provisions at Chicago the first of the month indicated a very satisfactory reduction during the month, and that the surplus of pork to be carried beyond the 1st of November will be greatly below the calculations of the trade, while lard is brought to a low point already, being practically out of stock here at Cincinnath, and low at every Western point; the supply of meats at Chicago is not inconveniently large. The season is too far advanced, however, for expectations of a move to essentially higher prices. The accomplished securing of an immense corn crop of good quality is an element which counts emphatically for low prices of hogs and hog product. The foreign export movement of provisions for the week was liberal, exceeding the corresponding time last year 5,000,000 pounds, of which the larger part was represented by meats.

COTTON MARKETS.

GALVESTON, Oct. 15.—General business has been comparatively quiet to-day in wholesale lines. The local cotton market is quite active ping it to Liverpool through this port. The reason for this is the very fine condition of the reason for this is the very fine condition of the Texas crop and the generally poorer condition of the crop elsewhere. This fact was recognized in New York to-day where all grades of uplands below middling were reduced 1-16c, while Texas low grades were unchanged. Middling upland is unchanged but middling upland is unchanged but middling upland was advanced 1-16c. Good middling upland was advanced 1-16c, and good middling Texas %c. Middling fair upland was advanced %c, and middling fair Texas 3-16c.

The Galveston spot market closed steady at previous prices. Stock 59,189 bales; in compresses 30,905, on shipboard 28,284. The net receipts thus far this season are 24,825 bales more than on this day last year.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET. CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Trading began this morning with the pit full of sellers, and they soon ing with the pit full of sellers, and they soon worked December wheat down from 93½c to 29½c. Cables were somewhat firmer in tone but showed an increase of 1,280,000 bushels grain on passage, which caused weakness in the market. From 92½c it sold irregularly up to 93½c, when news of posting a small lot of red winter wheat in New York again broke it off, there being sufficient selling after this break began to carry prices down to the lowest point of the day. Wall street interests were to-day, as on yesterday, large sellers on both this and the New York market, and are still supposed to be the "power behind the throne" in wheat. During the last hour values were at their heaviest and prices 1½c lower than yesterday, the close at 1 o'clock being a fraction over the lowest point. the close at 10 closes being only a desultowest point.

Corn is very slow, there being only a desultory trade in futures, which moved along quietly and failed to exhibit any features.

ST. LOUIS GRAIN MARKET. ST. LOUIS, Oct. 15.—Wheat lower; market dull and unsettled during most of the session, with moderate trading and small changes in values. The increase of 1,280,000 bu in the amount on ocean passage, and declines elsewhere weakened the market early, but it only lost ½%½. Just after the noon call the market was strong, but soon gave way on adverse advices, and with freer selling and livelier trading prices declined, finally closing ½%½ below yesterday's close.

Before the King. Mme. Charlotte Wolter, the celebrated Viennese actress, recently played before King Ludwig, of Bavaria, appearing as Mme. de Pompadour in "Narcisse." The event is described:

At 12 precisely an electric bell announced that the King had left the palace and was on his way to the theater by his private passage. A second signal soon made known that his majesty was installed in his box and instantly the curtain rose, as to have kept the King waiting one single instant would have entailed the gravest consequences for the management. There were no lights in the house, but the light from the stage, of course, penetrated it deeply. The single spectator in the royal box was totally invisible, and remained absolutely silent from beginning to end of the performance. When the curtain at last fell between 3 and 4 in the morning, the actors were ordered to remain silent on the stage lest any noise should disturb the reverie in which it was the King's habit to remain plunged for some time after the performance was over. At last a bell announced that he had taken his departure, and his slaves were released. An old chamberlain at once waited upon Mme. Wolter in her dressing room and conveyed to her an enormous bouquet and a piece of jewelry with the compliments of the King, whose titles he scrupulously recited from beginning to end. "I begged the old Chamberlain," the actrees continued, "to have the kindness to convey to his majesty the expression of my gratitude; but he informed me that according to etiquette the artist must thank the King in writing. I was drooping with fatigue and told the functionary that I would have the honor of writing to his majesty the following day. The old gentleman replied that the King could not be kept waiting; that he was expecting my answer at that moment, and that he (the Chamberlain) would have the honor of then and there dictating it to me in the form imposed by court ceremonial. I had to submit, and it was not until 5 a.m. that I was free to return home. "I did not see the King," said Mme. Wolter, "either before, during or after the performance. He had traversed my artistic life like an invisible spirit. At this moment I cannot quite assure myself that the whole thing was a reality and not a dream. I do not say," she concluded, "that I should like always to play under such circumstances, but I am delighted to have gone through the experience, which has given me a new sensation in my art." tween 3 and 4 in the morning, the actors were ordered to remain silent on the stage

The Morning News.

THE CITY.

It is the desire of the management of THE DALLAS MORNING NEWS to have that paper on sale, in sufficient quantities to supply the demand, on all railway trains running into or connecting with trains to and from Dallas. The traveling public are respectfully requested to bear this fact in mind and to report to the business department any failure on their part in being able to purchase copies of the paper in the manner indicated, giving date, train and other par-

To City Subscribers.

We beg to announce that the failure of our city circulator to call upon a number of citizens for their subscriptions is not due to oversight, but is the result of his finding i necessary, for the time being, to devote his entire time and attention to the systematizing of the routes, and the supervision of his carriers, to insure the prompt delivery of the paper each morning to the subscribers already obtained This work has prevented him from making a thorough canvass of the city. He expects, however, to resume this canvass this morning and continue daily until every section of the city has been visited. In the meantime be pleased to send names and addresses to the counting room, where they will receive prompt attention. Subscribers failing to receive their papers with regularity and promptitude will please notify us.

THE IDLEWILD CLUB

Gives Its First Recention-Toilettes of the Ladies.

Perhaps the most elegant affair in the social history of Dallas was the reception given last night at the Merchants' Exchange by the Idlewild Club. This was the first of the series of club receptions for season of 1885 and 1886 and the Idlewild deserves the encomiums which were showered upon it and its management last night by the several participants of its hospitality.

An elaborate programme of dances was arranged and carried out with delightful smoothness. The dancing took place in the large hall of the Merchant's Exchange, which had been appropriately decorated for

The hall was lighted with several clusters of the Edison incandescent electric light, which was supplied by the dynamo in The News building, and made the handsome toilettes of the ladies glisten under its soft radiance in a hundred beautiful hues, like rainbow robed cascades in Aiden.

The music furnished by Meine Bro.'s orchestra was excellent. There were several new figures introduced. The supper was served up in the ample rooms on the third floor of the Exchange at 12 o'clock. It was a masterpiece and came from the cuisine of Mr. Lang, the popular Main street restaurateur.

The Idlewild Club has made a superb beginning as the leading social institution of our city, and it will contribute largely to the gay season which is just commencing. gay season which is just commencing.

Father Quinon is very ill with malarial fever, which, it is said, he contracted as the result of exposure in attending to the fever-stricken patients in his parish. The Father, who is noted for being a hard worker in the vineyard, is being visited on account of his illness by Father Baden, of Waco, who officiated Wednesday night at the marriage of Mr. McDowell and Miss Gilroy.

The pay firemen yesterday organized themselves into a benevolent association, by the election of Mr. Tom Wilkinson as president, Mr. George Williams secretary, Mr. George Burger treasurer and Messrs. C. N. Smith and George Bennet directors. The purpose of the organization is to come with N. Smith and George Bennet directors. The purpose of the organization is to come with funds to the rescue of their sick and crippled, to which end they propose paying each a monthly assessment of $1. Prominent citizens, interviewed by The News reporter on the subject, agreed that its object was a noble one and should receive substantial encouragement from the public, whose property and lives it is the province of the firemen to protect at the risk of their own lives.

Space to the extent of 4243 square feet for a Dallas special exhibit at the New Orleans Exposition has been applied for as follows:

Factory, 144; Swann Bros., cotton gin and machinery, 750; Frank Hamm, Dallas Steam Sausage Factory, 225; The Howard Oil

ery, 960. Mr. Hamm proposes to give the world a taste of Dallas sausages, to which end a branch of his machinery will run them off by the yard in the Exposition.

Mr. W. C. Howard, president of the Empire Mills, has consented to act as honorary commissioner, for which office he is eminently qualified. He will consult with the Mayor and City Council with the view of getting the Exposition management to name a Dallas day to be celebrated with suitable ceremonies, when a cheap excursion may be expected from Dallas to New Orleans. Commissioner Walshe states that the following firms and industries withheld from applying for space in order to confer with absent members: The Wagenhouser Brewing Co., the Dallas Cracker Factory, the Dallas Show Case Works, the Sanger Bros. and several others.

THE COURTS.

In the Mayor's Court yesterday several of the poor, weak, mortal kind were placed in the balance and found wanting. J. W. McDuff-not the original "lay on Mc Duff," but another of the clan who loved the third part of an inch not wisely, but too well-was taxed to the extent of $3, at which he seemed to wear a bewailing look that was anything but smiling. Dave Johnson, D. C. Parry and James Doyle, for doing likewise, were dealt with on a descending scale of $4, $3 and $2 respectively. If these sufferers take the good advice of the Mayor they will never get drunk any more. Frank O'Donnell—the clerk laying a mournful stress on the "O"—for abusive language, had to pony up $6, and was advised in substance to take a reef in his jaw-tackle, and George Francis, who was mulcted to the extent of $7, for obscene language, seemed to need some good advice. Francis goes to the poor-farm to do penance and find the truth of ex-Gov.

good advice. Francis goes to the poor-farm to do penance and find the truth of ex-Gov. Roberts' celebrated adage: "Civilization begins and ends at the plow."

In the case before Justice Kendoll of the State vs. John Grauwylor, charged with disturbing the peace, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. This case was very similar to the one tried the day before by Justice Schuhl, the merits of which hinged on the acceptation of the words "durn it." The learned counsel for the State contended that the term was of German origin and related to sheol, but the defense, also learned, took the ground that it was not a term but an expression, and could not be strained into anything beyond the domestic virtue of repairing stockings.

"Well, Judge," queried the reporter of Justice Kendall, "How is it that Judge Bower is doing all the marrying business now?"

"I declare, I don't know."

now?"
"I declare, I don't know."
"Perhaps your habit of kissing the girls scare them off."
"Oh, that can not be," and the Judge looked in his toilet glass, and he looked sad.

Beyond the inquest proceedings reported elsewhere, nothing of interest occurred yesterday in Justice Schuhl's Court. In the evening His Honor started for Denison, in response to a call from the Knights of Labor to address them on the questions of breed and butter.

The case of J. M. Justice vs. the receiver of the Houston and Texas Central Railroad was called in the County Court, but postponed until next Tuesday. Capt. A. Faulkner and Mr. Adair, of Houston, and Mr. C. W. Brecoster, of Hearne, road officials, were present, together with several employes who had been summoned as witnesses.

Jesse Jones, the small boy with the lanuishing eye who stands charged with hold-ng up a mail stage and robbing it, was rought before United States Commissioner cCormick for a preliminary examination, and his case continued until to-day.

The time of the District Court was conumed in arguments over demurrers.
The committee created for the purpose, eported the following assignment of jury ivil cases for the two weeks beginning Monday, Oct. 19.

A red headed centipede was discovered yesterday crawling over the floor of the Howard Oil Mills. As the creature, unlike the wasp, has no particular business end, but, like other red headed institutions, is war all over when he starts in, a council of war was summoned and views interchanged as to the best mode of capture. It was easy enough to lay him out with a club, but the idea of making the fiend captive and them drowning him in alcohol as an awful example and an aid to science was uppermost. One gentleman tried to drown him in oil, but the beast was not in that strike. Another tried to lasso him with his suspender, and came near getting him up his sleeve. Finally, as the beast was approaching a rat hole, a clerk came along with a bottle of mucilage, and after pasting him all over, Ben Butlerized him by bottling him up. When it was good and dead observations were taken as follows: Six inches long, red headed, body black as the amendments, a long attachment on his head like that of a swordfish, eyes bright yellow, with black piercers, and a pair of claws located under the lower jaw. as to the best mode of capture. It was a pair of claws located under the lower jaw

A Small Blaze. About 11 o'clock last night a small house in Cottage Lane, adjoining Mr. Openheimer's residence, was discovered to be a mass of flames. The alarm was sounded and the THE VICTIM OF A WRONG DOSE.

A Mystery that Puzzled the Jury-Conclusion of the Inquest.

The taking of testimony was concluded yesterday by the jury of inquest summoned to fathom the mysteries overlying the sudden death of Mr. Samuel Pollock. There were the same scenes in and around Justice Schuhls' court that were presented the previous day, with the exception of a far larger crowd of spectators. The small vial containing the fatal poison was the observed of all observers. It appeared to be less than a third full, but a portion had been used for analytical purposes, and it would be difficult to say with certainty how much of the original contents had been disposed of. The first witness called was Mrs. Dora Ereeman. She deposed as follows: "About 12, noon, when I went to the house of deceased I picked up the bottle that was standing in the dressing room, and old Mrs. Pollock that it was not quinine he ok, but that I thought it was morphine for I had seen so much of morphine. Mrs Pollock said he took a dose of it last night

Pollock said he took a dose of it last night. I told Mr. Stribbling to go for a doctor, as I thought he (deceased) could be saved. Mrs. Pollock followed Mr. Stribbling to the door and said, 'Don't tell the doctor it is morphine.' The doctor came soon after; Dr. Eagon it was, and he pronounced Mr. Pollock dead. I told the doctor that I thought it was morphine. He said it would have to be tested, that he could not tell."

C. H. Stribbling next testified. He said: "I was standing at my door when Mrs. Pollock called Mr. Chase; he went over, and about a minute later he called me; I went over and saw Mr. Pollock lying in bed apparently dead; I believe they telephoned for Dr. Eagon and could not get him, so I went for him in my wagon and could not find him, and I so told Henry Pollock and brought him with me; about fifteen minutes after that the doctor came; when the doctor came I was not in; when Chase and I were in there Mrs. Pollock said that Mr. Pollock was complaining at night, and took on going to bed or during the night—I am not sure which—a dose of quinine; the bottle was standing on the dressing case; Mrs. Freeman came in about that time and picked up the bottle and looked at it, and said this must be morphine in place of quinine; then I started for the doctor; Mrs. Pollock said, 'say nothing of morphine,' for she did not think that he had any."

for she did not think that he had any."

Dr. Eagon deposed: The family sent for me and I arrived about 12:35. Deceased then had probably been dead several hours. His body was cold. The death having been sudden and unexpected, I inquired if the deceased had taken any morphine, where upon they showed me a bottle containing a white powder marked "quinine." I examined if and expressed my opinion to be that I thought it was morphia and not quinine. I requested his son to preserve it and let the jury have it examined. Deceased had not been sick. I saw him the day before in good spirits, well and as jovial as ever, meaning that he was always of a happy disposition. I visited his daughter, who was sick, and Mr. Pollock was not sick. I asked if any of the contents of the bottle who was sick, and Mr. Pollock was not sick. I asked if any of the contents of the bottle had been taken before by any one else, and they said not; that he had taken a dose on returning the night before. I asked that question on account of the suspicion I had about its being morphia instead of quinine. The modeling of the surface does not indicate any particular cause of death. The causes are manifold for the same modeling and appearances. A post-mortem examination is the only positive way of ascertaining the cause."

the cause."

Mrs. Marie S. Pollock recalled: "I don't know of my husband taking anything during the night, as I was sound asleep. He did not tell me in the morning that he took anything. I attended to my daughter, who was lying sick up stairs most of the morning, and I do not know if he took any medicine. If he took anything at all he took it without my knowledge. When I went through the room with a cup that I got for my daughter, I found that his face looked yellow and unusual, and I touched the head and found it cold. I called for Mr. Chase, who said he was dead. If morphine was in that bottle I don't know how it came there. He sent for quinine the night before by my son Charlie. There was nothing in the world to mar our who are ready to take anything are working hard to play the Fleming racket' on the world to man cut was will-color of the deceased. About haft-past St. Louis, all married, in business and well to do. There was no other bottle in the room except the one you have, and we bought it for quinine. He was snoring and not hard breathing."

Charles Pollock was the last witness sworn, and he testified as follows: "I am the son of the deceased. About haft-past St. Tuesday evening my father sent me to get a bottle of quinine—a quarter's worth. I went to Waller's drug store and asked for a quarter's worth of quinine. Jim Waller waited on me. He gave me a small bottle, labeled quinine and sealed with red sealing wax. I took it home. One bottle, I believe, was full. That was all I got. When I came down in the morning I heard my father snoring, which was nothing unusual."

The yerror.

The jury after a short deliberation urned the following verdict: "Winginged jury, summones" inquire into and manner.

and manner of the death of Sam Pollock, find that he was about fifty-four years of age, and was found dead in his bed at nis residence on the corner of Ross avenue and Leonard street, Oct. 14, 1885, and that he came to his death from an overdose of mor-phine: how administered we have been unable to ascertain.

"Charles Howard, foreman; W. Leonard Wyenill, C. Freeman, Jr., E. H. Richardson, W. E. Halsell, R. Liebman."

Mr. Pollock's remains were interred in the Hebrew cemetery. The funeral was very large as, might have been expected, for the deceased had a host of friends and no enemies. He was a man of sparkling. the deceased had a nost of friends and no enemies. He was a man of sparkling humor, kind and unassuming to all, and possessed of large benevolence, the benefits of which he is, no doubt, now reaping in the hereafter. His life was heavily insured, in the Merchants for $2000 and several other associations. associations.

The County Fair Opens With Gratifying Pros pects-Local Option Inquisition-Local Notes.

Special to The News.

Denton, Oct. 15.—The fall meeting of the the Denton County Fair and Blooded Stock Association opened at 1 o'clock at the Fair Grounds to-day. The programme this evening consisted of running and trotting races. Some very nice racing was done, and everything passed off pleasantly. A splendid programme is arranged for to-morrow which is the big day, and a very large crowd is expected to witness the sport.

At the races this evening the first, a quarter race, was won by Patton's bay gelding; three entries. Time—25% seconds.

Second Race—Half-mile: five entries:
Won by Campbell's bay gelding Chantilia.
Time—54 seconds. Gregg's sorrel mare won second money.

Time—54 seconds. Gregg's sorrel mare won second money.

Third Race—Trotting, four-minute class: Won by Halsell's bay gelding Village Blacksmith. Time—3:38. Austin's bay gelding Blackwood won second money.

Subpænas have been issued for about forty respectable citizens to appear before Esquire Withers on Monday next to, testify to alleged violations of the local option law. Much indignation is expressed by some of witnesses at this inquisitorial proceeding. Smith, who is charged with shooting Fowler, is in jail, having failed to give bond. His examination is set for to-morrow.

Industrial Progress in the South.

Baltimore, Oct. 15.—In its quarterly statement of the industrial growth of the South, which the Baltimore Manufacturers Record will publish to-morrow, statistics are given showing the amount of capital invested in the Southern States in manufacturing and mining enterprises during the first nine months of 1885. The figures show first nine months of 1885. The figures show that the limit of capital, including capital stock of incorporated organizations, represented by the new manufacturing and mining enterprises organized since Jan. 1, and the amount expended in the enlargement of old plans and the rebuilding of mills after being destroyed by fire, aggregates $52,386,000, divided among the States as follows: Alabama $5,864,000, Arkansas $500,000, Florida $1,237,000, Georgia $2,052,000, Kentucky $14,005,000, Louisiana $1,955,000, Maryland $6,107,800, Mississippi $571,500, North Carolina $2,543,000, South Carolina $592,000, Tennessee $2,300,000, Texas $2,080.

The President Don't Like Kickers.

The President's recent letter to the friends of Judge Fleming, in which he wrote that he was so pleased with the demeanor of the Judge when denied an office for which he had applied, that he (the President) subsequently sent for him and tendered him the Judgeship, has been a matter of serious consideration, it seems, among the numerous applicants for office. In the letter the President very plainly intimates his distaste for what are known as "kickers." He wrote that the manly, dignified bearing of Mr. Fleming, who did not consider that the Democratic party was disrupted because he was denied office, so impressed him that he subsequently sent for Fleming and voluntarily offered him the Judgeship. The letter is said to have had a very quieting effect upon the numerous ape was so pleased with the demeanor of the
