TO THE PUBLIC.

Some months ago we offered $250 to party making nearest estimate of the Texas cotton crop, season of 1884-85, to be decided by THE GALVESTON NEWS' figures. THE NEWS did not compile the figures this year owing, we understand, to their being busily engaged in organizing and equiping their new office at Dallas for the publication of THE DALLAS MORNING NEWS. We have written to the sec retary of the Cotton Exchange for the official figures and as soon as obtained will make the award.

MORGAN, Nov. 14 .- A dangerous disease has made its appearance among the calves in this vicinity. One man near town has lost five within three weeks, and another farmer living a short distance down Steel's Creek has lost several head of his young calves in a very short space of time. The first time anything wrong is noticed with the animals is generally the morning and by dinner time the same day it is dead, and within a short time after death the carcass swells and puffs up to a prodigious size. Like the liver rot in sheep, nothing is noticed wrong until the animal is dead. When the first began to die it was thought they had been

When the first began to die it was thought they had been murt in some manner, but now it is conceded to be a disease of some kind, the nature of which has not, as yet, been determined. Several of the leading business men stated to your reporter that business at the present time was considerably better than for the two pre-eeding years. People are purchasing liberally, but carefully, as a rule paying as they go, and paying up back accounts quite promptly. Elder Ed Wallace, who was called to the pas-sorate of the Baptist Church here last Sunday, has been at the point of death all this week with the black jaundice. The school children held a very interesting monthly review last night at the Academy Building. Many of the patrons turned out to witness the affair, and all expressed them-selves highly gratified with the result. The ittle ones have made wonderful progress within the past three months. Board of Church Extension.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—At to-day's session of the general committee of the M. E. Board of Dhurch Extension all the bishops and minis ters were present. Bishop Andrews occupied the chair, and Rev. W. A. Spencer, of Rock ford. Ill., was chosen assistant corresponding secretary. A resolution was adopted that in raising money for church extension the effort should be to increase the donation fund for the purpose of annual gifts to the churches. Appropriations were then made to the different conferences to the amount of $18,000.

as every dollar subscribed will relieve Galveston's citizens of the noble burden they have taken upon themselves. The sources from whence come sympathy and offers of substantial aid shows the universal sympathy for Galveston in her great afflic-tion. Besides the numerous offers of aid from different sections of the State, Boston, Kansas City, New York, Louisiana, Vir-ginia and even Dakota, through representa-tive organizations, have tendered substan-tial aid to relieve the distress. Dis-patches have also come from Lon-don, England, offering generous aid. The unsolicited spontaniety with which relief is tendered, cannot but be gratifying to the city's local pride. The liberality, too, of the insurance companies is a subject of favorable remark. and prompt assistance is being rendered the sufferers. The citizens' committee adopted the following resolution: Besolved, That it is the sense of this committee that, while the people of Galveston are not soliciting con-tributions from abroad, yet they will, in behalf of the sufferers, receive them cheerfully. A number of prominent insur-ance companies authorized their agents to settle claims at once where it will be a re-lief. In addition a number of companies are donating liberally. Contributions so far amount to about $50,000. Some promi-nent firms have donated a month's extra pay to their employes who have suffered. Figures of last night are correct.

RAILROAD RUMBLER'S REVIEW

THE FRESH TRAIL OF THE IRON HORSE.

Facts, Figures and Fancies Gleaned, Originated and Wired Specially for this Department of the News.

Special to The News.

HOUSTON, Nov. 14.-Representatives of the Missouri Pacific, the Southern Pacific Company, the Houston and Texas Central, the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe, the Texas and St. Louis and the Houston and Shreveport Railways held a meeting at the office of Commissioner Waldo, of the Texas Traffic Association to-day to agree upon a new schedule of freight rates, to take effect on Dec. 1. The meeting was private. It is generally understood, how ever, that all classes will be reduced on a basis of 5 cents per 100 pounds. The meeting adjourned until Monday.

Dallas Rumblings.

HEALTH OF RAILWAY EMPLOYES.

It may not be known generally, but the Hous-ton and Texas Central are as particular about the health of their track men as they are about keeping the track in good shape. Years ago the section hands became sick nearly every fall, and sickness on this class of labor was not only hard on the men but on the road. Mr. Quinlan saw the whole trouble came from the use of well and spring water. The plan of building cisterns at every section house was adopted, and the road now boasts of the good health of its men. The first cisterns built cracked—for the same reason that it is difficult to keep a railroad bed, made up of dirt in good condition-because of the disposition of the land to contract and expand. The cisterns built after this trouble were built in a differ ent way. A space between the wall of earth and the brick was filled with sand. Another wall of brick was put in the old cistern, mak ing the two walls two bricks thick. Since this plan was adopted no more trouble has been experienced INCREASED PASSENGER TRAFFIC. The Houston and Texas Central Railroad is doing a big passenger business. There are two passenger trains leave Dallas every day each way, north and south, besides an accommodation train at noon of each day going north and south. This "accommodation" consists of a baggage car, and a passenger car at-tached to the freight train running from Denison to Corsicana and from the latter to the former place. The reporter had occasion to go to Hutchins a few days ago on this train. On it he found between sixty and seventy passen-gers. It may have been an unusual day for for travel, but the passengers were there and the conductor said that he was always crowded.

THE COLORED PASSENGER. On the south end of the Houston and Texas Central road, on the eastern end of the Texas and Pacific, on the narrow gauge running through East Texas, the travel is brisk, and it consists in great part of colored people. The country colored person has never yet become used to the cars. He admires them as they pass him waist deep in the cotton of his patch, and he then and there determines when the errop is gathered he will lay aside a part of it to take a ride, and he never forgets his resolution. He don't go anywhere on any business. He just rides for the pleasure of riding. A con-ductor told the reporter that he asked an old colored woman for her fare. She tendered him a $5 bill. "Where are you going?" "Laws, child, I ain't going no where. I got that money to spend it in a ride. I want half of it to bring me home." And he carried her to the $2 50 limit and put her on another train to bring her back. pass him waist deep in the cotton of his patch

THE NEW MISSOURI PACIFIC BUILDING.

The brick work of the house being built for the Missouri Pacific offices is nearing completion. The house will, in appearance, be as neat and stylish as the best house in the city, and its arrangements will be superior to any and its arrangements will be superior to any building of the kind south of St. Louis. The railroad officials carefully scanned the plans, made suggestions, and the house will be the result of their ideas of comfort and conven-ience. A large cistern with a filter attachment has been dug, and the officers intend to have health also thrown in with their other com-forts.

A HARSH WORD.

Commissioner Fink says the word "pool" grates harshly upon his ear, because it smacks so much of horse-racing. It is a bad word. In politics in Texas it is a very, very bad word, and is as unmusical to some ears as it is to that of Commissioner Fink. But the declara-roads. This necessitates the organization of two classification committees, one for the lines east of the Missouri and another for the lines west of the river. HARROLD HAPPY AND HOPEFUL. Special to The News. HARROLD, Nov. 14.—President Morgan Jones and Superintendent Frost, of the Fort Worth and Denver, came up here to day in a special. Mr. Frost said that during his trip East there Mr. Frost said that during his trip East there was a great deal of inquiry about Northwest Texas. Mr. Jones says there is no prospect of the extension of the road. This will leave Harrold the terminus for some time to come, and Mr. Frost seems to think the line will be extended north to Dodge City, Kan, when the time comes for pushing it on. If this policy is pursued, this will make Harrold one of the best places in Northwest Texas.

Our Clothing Department is in a pickle, and this is how it happened: In order to supply our wholesale trade in clothing for fall we make up our samples and send out our travelers in June. Business was brisk this season, orders were forwarded rapidly and when they got to New York they found the mills unable to supply the cloth. We did the best we could on a short supply until now, the mills being eased up, they filled every one of our back orders when it was too late for us to distribute them. The whole lot came in last week, and if you want to see an you must walk into this department of our house. Now we have them, we must sell them. No. 2 will tell you how we propose to do this.

This is the story of our Overcoat slaughter. Slaughter is a strong word, but we shed no blood. Ours is a peacable cutting of prices to sell our goods and please our customers. This is how we do it: Overcoats, sack and ulster style, in Vermont gray, at $4 50, worth $6 50; fancy back overcoats in sack and ulster styles at $5, $6 and $7 that would be cheap at $7 50, $8 50 and $10, and cannot be bought for less at other houses. But the next few lots beat even the foregoing. They consist of Kerseys, Chinchillas and fancy overcoatings, and are made up in Ulsters and "Prince Charles" style. The prices are $8, $10, $12, $13 50 and $15. By adding 50 per cent to these prices you will arrive at their worth. Dress overcoats in black, brown and blue corkscrews and diagonals, $13 50 to $20.

[NO. 3.]

REVERSIBLE OVERCOATS in sacks and ulsterettes at $10, $12 50 and $13 50. All-wool beaver overcoats in black, myrtle and blue at $12 50. Do not satisfy yourself with reading these quotations-they mean nothing unless you see the goods, see the trimmings and note the styles.

We have a few words to say about single pants: We begin our line of Cassimere pants at $1 75 per pair. The next are $2, and then they run up to $2 50 and $3. Nobody can afford to sell these goods at such prices unless they are under the same pressure that we are, and then only when they, like we, have manufactured the goods themselves. Our allwool Cassimere pants at $3 50, $4, $4 50 and $5 50 are as fine in point of material and workmanship as were offered for one-half more. A feature of our stock this season is our line of fine custom made English trouserings that are in no way inferior to the best merchant tailors' make. We are selling them from $7 per pair up.

BOYS' CLOTHING.

Space permits only a short notice. Mothers, come and see the largest stock ever shown. Kneepants suits, ages 4 to 12, from $2 to $13 50 per suit. Boys' suits, ages 12 to 17, from $3 50 to $18 per suit. Overcoats for boys and youths from $3 50 to $10 each.

[NO. 2.]

Now comes the interesting portion. We begin with German worsted suits at $4 50 and $5. Union Cassimere suits at $7 50 and $10. In order to arrive at the values of the above you must see them. We claim they are one-third below what others ask for them. At $10 we are offering the best line of allwool business suits that we have ever seen. They are elegant in cut, fine in trimmings and superb in making, and are worth $13 50. Our $12 and $13 all-wool business suits are without doubt the finest values ever offered and are just as cheap as the $10 suits. $15, $16 50, $18 and $20 are the order of prices at which we are offering a line of the most elegant suits ever seen. They are worth $18, $20, $22 50 and $25 at our regular low prices.

OUR CUSTOM MADE SUITS

for dress or business are marvels of tailoring skill. and are in every way equal to anything bought at merchant tailors' for double the price. They consist of fancy worsteds, diagonals and corkscrews, and we sell them from $20 to $27 50 per suit.

It is now believed that Vanderbilt is throw ing one of his long tentacles out toward the West. The Globe-Democrat says of his inten-tions in this matter: "A fortnight ago the Globe-Democrat stated, upon the authority of a high official in interest, that the introduction of the Vanderbilt influence into the Erie councils, at the coming annual meeting of that company, would result in throwing up the lease of the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio and an alliance with the Nickel-Plate and the Bee Line for Chicago, St. Louis and Clincinnati connections. That was the plan at that time, but a new one has been sprung, and if it is successful the first will be dropped; if not, it will be taken up again and consummated in all its parts and detail. The new plan contemplates a suit at law to oust H. J. Jewett from the presidency of the Chicago and Atlantic, and the placing of Presi-dent King, of the Erie, at the head of that cor-poration. In that event the Nypano will be re-tained and used in connection with the Chicago and Atlantic as a Chicago line tor the Erie, and the Bee Line from Dayton for the Clincinnati connection with the Ohio and Mississippi for the St. Louis line. The reason for this sudden of an ew line between Chicago and Atlantic const, by bringing under one management the Chicago and Atlantic, Cinein nati, Hamilton and Dayton and Ironton and Chattarri, extending the latter to a connection with East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia, and Richmond and Danville roads; besides, Mr. Vanderbilt would like to control one more line out of Chicago." lease of the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio

Officer Lawler was attracted by the boister-ous conduct of a couple of men at Cattlet's saloon, at about 10 o'clock last night. He went to them and asked them to hush. This angered them, and they became more violent than ever and began to abuse Lawler, who then informed them he would take them to the calaboosc. They showed fight, and for several minutes there was a hand to hand engagement, the officer using his club. Of this he was at length deprived, when he drew his pistol. Quick as a flash one of the rufhians sprang upon him and matched it from his grasp. Being opposed by desperate odds and disarmed, the officer beata hasty retreat, the enemy firing on him as he ran, but missing him. Two of the charges, however, struck the City Marshal as he was sunning, one in the hand, the other in the shoulder, but inflicting no fatal wounds. Special to The News. RUSK, Nov. 14.—The ignorance of some of the uries of this county was clearly shown here. It only cost the State of Texas $27 75 for the privilege of keeping this convict $27 (a) for the privilege of keeping this convice in confinement fifteen minutes. It would not take many sentences such as this to bankrupt the State. The cash money paid the convict after serving his fifteen minute term is cer-tainly a great inducement for the worthless characters of the State to settle in Panola County and violate the law prohibiting bigamy.

CALIFORNIA WINES.

A Short Crop the Past Year-Prices Advanced. NEW YORK, Nov. 8 .--- Advices from San Francisco are that the California wine crop this year is put down at only half that of 1884. Last year's crop was 15,000,000 gallons. It was thought this year's yield would be 20,000,000 gallons. After allowing for local consumption and shipments and this without taking a possible increase in consumption into account, it is thought that the supply at the end of the year will not be over 300,000 gallons. Prices have advanced. The anticipation of a 20,000,000 gallon yield, with a total disregard for any unforeseen climatic influences, caused the price of wine to drop to 15 and even 11 cents a gallon, a large sale having been effected at the latter figure. The wine makers were at the latter figure. The wine makers were in many instances obliged to sell and glad to realize upon almost any terms, in order to make room for the prospective large yield. In a few instances, where a superior quality of wine was assured, higher prices were paid. But they were the exception that proved the general rule of low figures. The change to-day is most marked. Cali-fornia brandy is very scarce, and limited to comparatively small stocks in makers' hands. The first reported sale of the vintage of 1885 was at 25 cents, as against quotaticns of 15 cents a few months previously. The sale of a whole cellar has since been effected at 30 to 81, and offers at similar figures have been refused. The San Francisco dealers are anxious to secure stocks, knowing full well, that the shortage will have the effect as the year advances and the wine matures of en-hancing values. The experience of the year will we her wither the the scient with year advances and the wine matures of en-hancing values. The experience of the year will not be without future beneficial results. It proves that estimates made a year ahead cannot be relied upon, and should not be a guide for prices. France has of late years suffered enormous diminution in her wine crop from various climatic and pestilential causes, and Californians can hardly expect, even in their magnificent climate, to be per-ennially exempt from similar effects. The present crop is rather more than a third of what was anticipated, but its general quality is superior to anything ever before produced or to anything ever before produced

Some months since Holkar, one of the great East India rulers, while on a visit to Lord Dufferin, saw his lordship going through the process of cutting his news-papers and reviews. The Indian potentate asked him for the ivory paper knife, prom-ising another in return. The prince re-turned recently to Government House, tak-ing with him a young elephant. The animal had had his tusks shaped and sharpened, and between the Rajah's two visits to Cal-cutta had undergone a training in secre-tarial work. When led into Lord Dufferin's presence it took up some newspapers with SAN FRANCISCO, NOV. 14.—A meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Leland Stanford Uni-versity was held to day at Leland Stanford's them on a carpet in an orderly fashion.

THE CURTIN MURDER. A dispatch from Dublin states that "Tade" Casey and Jeremiah Casey, brothers, Terence McMahon, John Spring and two small farmers named Sullivan, have been arrested, charged with complicity in the murder of Curtin and the raid on his house at Mahlahafee, near Tralee, last night. The moonlighter who was killed in the attack had a small holding near Curtin's farm. The police expect to capture the whole gang and are now on the track of several of the other miscreants.

SERVIA'S WAR DECLARATION

The latest news from Belgrade, the Servian capital, is to the effect that the war feeling throughout Servia is predominant. The Ser vian forces, it is expected, will meet for the first time since the formal declaration of war their enemy, in any considerable number, to

A large force of Eulgarians have been concentrated in this pass, and have thrown up strong entrenchments. A bloody and sangulnary conflict is expected. A queer story is reported from Buda Pesth with regard to the heir apparent to the English throne. The story goes that while on his re-cent visit to that place the Prince of Wales won at one sitting in a famous fashionable gaming resort the enormous sum of 500,000 florins. It is stated that his royal highness was much elated by his winnings, and on leaving expressed the hope of being able some day to allow the house to retrieve its loss.

TORONTO, NOV. 14.-A special dispatch from Winnipeg says that a special messenger from Ottowa passed Port Arthur yesterday noon on his way to Regina, bearing the Governor General's warrant for the execution of Riel on Monday next. He will reach Winnipeg this morning and Regina Sunday morning. All preparations for the execumorning. All preparations for the execu-tion have been completed. Riel was made aware four days ago that the sentence of the court would be carried out on Monday. After the first reprieve he got it into his head that he was to be sent to the penitentiary and his spiuitual adviser could do nothing with him, his manner being insolent, but when the news was broken to him that he must prepare for death he sobered down. Riel's relatives and friends at St. Vital, five miles from Winnipeg, are very much broken down. His aged mother became crazed some months ago, during the re-bellion. capes taxation altogether, and any one who will take the trouble to examine the reports of the fiscal departments will conclude that personal property is for the most part practically exempt. The people who mainly support the government are those who own the lands and farms and those who sell liquors. These classes pay the bulk of the taxes. Few farms or improved pieces of real estate in town or country are assessed below their actual value. The smaller the tract of land the nearer does the assessment approximate its full value. The smaller the stock of goods of the merchant the nearer the assessment to its full value. The mass of the voters are small taxpayers, and this class is forced more easily into the payment of taxes upon the full value of the property taxed than the wealthy holders of personal property in the shape of stocks, bonds, securities, money and merchandise, and of horses, cattle and sheep scattered over the wide plains of the pastoral districts. The small taxpayers are most interested in reform of the revenue system by which burdens would be equalized and their contributions notably reduced, and as they are, out of the cities at least, the most influential class in politics, it is then obviously their interest to exert their influence in the selection of men capable of and pledged to legislation in the direction of a thorough and complete change. It is evident that there are enough taxes and enough revenue officials, and that enough money is paid for their services. It has been customary to lament the increase in the number of officials and the great expense of the internal revenue bureau of the federal government, when, in fact, both the number of officials and the expenses of collection in the business of that bureau are being reduced, while the revenue from its main sources is being increased. Last year this department collected $112,420,111 17, at a cost for collection of 3 9-10 per cent., or say 4 per cent. The State revenue officials collect, say $1,800,000 a year of general revenue, of which the State will receive $1,530, 000, the cost of assessing and collecting being 15 per cent. In this is included losses from defalcations, insolvencies and various other sources. The general government has an internal revenue system under which there are practically no losses from defalcations and insolvencies, and few opportunities to evade the taxes, while the ratio of cost of collection to the amount collected is constantly decreasing. Secretary Manning approves the report of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, which states that evasions of the laws do not exist in any part of the country to such an extent as to occasion alone. material loss to the government. In Texas a State grass agent declares that the State loses on one class of property taxes in a dozen counties amounting to 6 per cent of the entire revenue. The internal revenue laws extend over all the States and six Territories, over the wild districts of Texas and the mountains of the moonshiners, and yet the government suffers no material loss. The government pays 4 per cent for collection, including salaries of collectors, agents, clerks and subordinate officers, stamps and paper, the salaries and expenses of detectives, and the cost of the bureau at Washington; while the State pays 15 per cent for assessing and collecting to two officers, namely, the County Assessor and the County Collector. These officers may discharge their duties faithfully under the laws, and the laws may be at fault. Evidently the work is overpaid, or more work is paid for than is the agents of the State investigating land he virtually dictated legislation by threatenmatters that a great deal of property es- ing members to expunge items they were interested in from the bills unless his measures were supported. He was really in a manner the autocrat of the House, and exerted all the powers that his position gave him. The members became restive under goading, and began an agitation for a change of the rules, so as to take so much power out of the hands of any one man. It would seem from the replies received from Congressmen by the Courier-Journal that the movement to dethrone the chairman of the appropriations committee is well under way. But if this is a movement to get rid of Randall, why not get rid of him in a more manly and direct way? There is no reason why Mr. Carlisle should place Mr. Randall at the head of appropriations in the next Congress. With the knowledge that Mr. Randall abused the trust when it was last conferred on him, the Speaker should glean wisdom from experience. The proposition to endow general House committees with the right to report their own appropriation bills, if adopted, might be a dangerous experiment. Committees become enthusiastic sometimes in the particular legislation in which they are interested, and may be inclined to be reckless and prodigal in appropriating public money. On the other hand, the appropriations committee, in the line of its proper functions, handles all propositions for the expenditure of money in a cold blooded, disinterested manner, from a more lofty standpoint and in a more business-like way. It is much to be feared that if the rules were changed so as to remove from other committees and the House the brake of the appropriations committee, jobbery, profligacy and wanton extravagance would crawl in. It is easy enough to see how the members should become restive under the autocracy of Randall, but it is also easy enough to bring the Pennsylvanian within safe bounds by assigning him to a committee where he would be harmless. Tinkering with the rules of the House is bad practice, and in the present case it might lead to untold confusion and mischief. Too much money is squandered now in appropriation bills, but if each House committee had the right to frame at discretion its money own bills, without an effective outside check somewhere, the treasury would doubtless soon be drained. Each committee, under the logrolling system, would be bound to support the others' bills, no matter how extravagant, in order to win support for its own. This kind of thing would eventually lead to indefinite jobbery. Better, it would seem, let well enough, or only tolerably bad,

MR. GLADSTONE has been heard from on church disestablishment in Scotland and England. THE chances are good that the House and Senate of the Forty-ninth Congress will wrangle with each other in the investigating line.

THERE seems to be some doubt in the minds of the people as to the real meaning of Col. Moody's telegram to the Mayor of Dallas. There should be none. Col. Moody did not ask for assistance, possibly, because he did not wish to place his city in the position of a mendicant. Yet he did not say that the homeless people of Galveston did not need it. The telegram of Mr. Golden, also to be found in the local columns of THE NEWS, sets all doubts at rest. Galveston needs aid. Dallas, as a city known for its prosperity, wealth and public spirit, can show that she is also worthy of that higher name of charitable. It is the duty of every man to give, and the character which the town has always borne justifies THE NEWS in the belief that they will do so generously.

PENCIL POINTS.

The es-ablishment of a popular message rate and tablishment of a popular message rate and its maintenance long enough to afford a fair test would be an experiment of much in-terest. If the telegraph companies afforded the public the same facilities for using the wires that the government does for using the mails, there is reason to believe that the mails would be used less and the telegraph more. Perhaps before another fifty years we may have a two-cent telegraph rate, street boxes for their deposit, and an or-ganized carrier service for their hourly col-lection and delivery, lection and delivery,

THE STATE PRESS.

What the Newspapers Throughout Texas Are Talking About.

Enterprising Texas newspaper reporters who went to Mexico to witness how the neighboring republic conducts election riots were badly fooled. The Laredo Times tells how they did not happen, as well as why they were expected:

why they were expected: For some time past many exaggerated re-ports have reached this city of troubles, ri-ots, etc., occurring at different points along the line of the Mexican National Railway in Mexico, caused by political differences in municipal affairs between the people. A Times representative concluded to take a trip down the line on the day of election, and obtain a correct report. On arriving at Lampazos, the reporter was informed that no election was being held, the government concluding to postpone the same, as the parties are nearly equally divided, and some trouble might have occurred had the election gone on. As Bustamante was the point where a riot had occurred a week ago, it was ex-pected that there would be some tragedy to report from that point. On arriving there but two persons outside of the accommodat-ing agent, Mr. Dix and the hotel employers, were seen. As nothing more was to be gained there the pencil shover concluded ing agent, Mr. Dix and the notel employers, were seen. As nothing more was to be gained there the pencil shover concluded to go on down to Villaldma. The election was going off quietly there, there being two candidates before the people for Alcalde, Don Antonio Gonzalez and Dr. Garreta. The city was very quiet and not an armed man, not even a policeman was seen.

This is about as much as the witness in Georgia Scenes could tell about the fight at Capt. Rice's. People and newspapers in Mexico are a good deal like those of Texas. The Two Republics remarks:

Newspaper correspondents are, as a rule, a very nice lot of fellows, but in no profes-sion does the old adage that the devil finds plenty to do for idle hands get more con-firmations than in that of the newsgatherer. The Two Republics details some of the mischief done by this class, but ends with the impossible remedy: "Let the correspondents confine themselves to actual facts." Then the same paper says:

As the Two Republics needs at present all As the two reeputies needs at present an its resources, it has become necessary to discontinue the free list on which had been placed the names of many warm friends of the paper. The latter cannot show their friendship better than by becoming actual ubscribers.

This is a departure from the old idea that the friends of the publishers only subscribe to encourage the paper and do not expect to pay.

The Corpus Christi Caller states that Mr. Fabian Fabela has established himsolf at San Diego and is engaged in the manufacture of a very fine article of wool hats. E. T. Merriman, of the Caller, returns thanks to Mr. Fabela for one. They are very substantial and Mr. M. will doubtless use his as a helmet. The man who calls on him to explain something said in the paper and emphasizes the request with a stick will have to "'it 'im 'arder" than formerly.

The Brownsville Cosmopolitan says the Matamoros Rev' ta "puplishes a report, by Mexican Consul Trevino to his government, on the commercial condition and necessities of this section. Among other things he recommends two light draft steam lighters for Bagdad to carry goods direct from the anchorage outside to Matamoros."

The San Antonio Light lost step last Sunlay in its religious department. Whether the reporter was drunk or went fishing it does not say, but it promises to keep up Judge last August. His body was buried by the officers. with the procession:

On Thursday morning the prisoner, in charge of the Sheriff and posse, accompanied by THE NEWS correspondent, started from Atoka and traveled that day some twenty-five miles toward the place of execution. The party camped Thursday night at the house of Deputy Sheriff Carnes. There Burris was dressed in a suit of new clothes, black trousers and white shirt. From a pocket of his old clothes he took a jewsharp and re-quested that it be given to his little brother. At supper At supper

Friday, the 13th, at 9 o'clock, the weather being bright and charming, the party moved some three miles to the place of execution, the court ground of Pushnataha District. Through some misunder standing the courthouse was built about two miles from the place designated by the law. Consequently the last August court, at which Consequently the last August court, at which Burris was convicted, was held at the lawful place under an arbor. By a late act the build-ing was declared to be the courthouse, and hereafter it will be used as such. This refusal to hold court at a place of doubtful legality illustrates the Indian's respect for the very letter of the law. The court ground is dis-tinguished from the surrounding woods only by the remains of last summer's arbors. No sign of habitation is within sight. DEFECTIVE AND EXTRAVAGANTLY COSTLY REVENUE SYSTEM.

Comment was made in these columns some days ago upon the defects in the State revenue system, and especially upon the want of uniformity and equality in its operations as exhibited in the collection of the occupation taxes. It is a subject that deserves much more attention than the slates of the politicians. Any set of officials that may be selected will administer, after a fashion, the laws as they are, about as well as they have yet been administered. What is most needed is the thorough reformation of the revenue system itself. Some years ago, referring to this matter, THE NEWS suggested the appointment of a commission of three sensible and industrious men to thoroughly investigate the systems of taxation of other States and countries. with the object of submitting a better system for Texas. A business man for Governor or Comptroller is very well, but the man who is preoccupied with the business of the ten boards and bureaus at the capital, and the cares and anxieties of the campaign always just ahead, has no time and taste for the dull and tedious business for research required to give the State the best and most scientific system, the most economical, thorough and efficient system, that can be adapted to eeded. In the cost of collecting the renues as given above, the maintenance of the fiscal department at Austin is not included. Let that department be compared with the Internal Revenue Bureau at Washington with respect to cost of maintenance. The pay roll of the Internal Revenue Bureau at Washington is about $10,000 per annum, while the Texas Comptroller's office costs about $60,000 per annum. There are obvious reasons why a complicated system of taxation upon property, polls, occupations and incomes should require numerous officials and involve much expense, but the inquiry is legitimate, is not that expense in Texas inordinate, and is not the system which requires it and at the same time exempts large interests and classes of property from taxation so defective as to claim the attention of the best talent in the country? It is believed that the revenue that is absorbed unnecessarily in cost of assess ment and collection and in losses direct and indirect would equal the amount actually received by the treasury. At this time, then, the tax, under a proper system, should be only half the present rate. Local statesmen, pluming themselves for the flight to the halls of legislation, should study this matter, and, if not able to reach satisfactory conclusions, thay may at least be convinced of the necessity of some plan for obtaining data by which a future Legislature will have the advantage of the experience of other

CHANGING THE RULES OF THE HOUSE.

States and countries.

The Washington correspondent of the Louisville Courier-Journal sent a circular to the members of the House of Representatives of the Forty-ninth Congress asking for an expression of opinion on the proposition to change the rules of the House, so that the different appropriation bills should be prepared by the different committees. instead of by a general appropriations committee, as now. Replies have been received from 138 members, and of these ninety-seven favor the change, twenty-eight are of posed to the change, and thirteen are non-committal. Although 138 falls far short of being a majority of the House, still they are sufficient to show the drift of opinion. Republicans and Democrats alike seem to favor the change, and all sections of the country are represented in the Congressional replies. The proposition to change the rules was first agitated during the last session of the Forty-eighth Congress. Mr. Randall was chairman of the appropriations committee, and held a whip over the House. IT is said that Mr. Logan does not aspire to the nomination for the presidency at the hands of the Republican party. One or two results like that in New York will materially reduce the number of candidates. It is very honorable to lead a forlorn hope but it is not pleasant.

It is a real shame for New York papers to talk of the solid South when New York is politically so close to it.

THE recuperative powers of Galveston will be put to the test, and it is the uiversal opinion that it will not disappoint any of its friends.

CANON FARRAR has called Boston the Athens of America without having visited Waco.

WITH fifty blocks to rebuild, the saw and hammer will hereafter be busy. The people of Galveston, becoming accustomed to improving their city, will not stop when they fill with houses the lots made vacant by the great fire. After all, the catastrophe may be a blessing in disguise.

SAM JONES contemplates going to Washington to preach to the Congressmen. This will be the means of hurrying up the average Congressman in his work that he may return home quickly.

It is the duty of every newspaper, in consideration of the services rendered the country by Mr. Dorman B. Eaton, late Civil Service Commissioner, to state that he did not resign because Chenoweth would not allow the account for 65 cents for ginger ale.

THE Pittsburg Commercial-Gazette cannot get up an excitement by its allegation that facts have come to light which seem to indicate that the Pennsylvania tax law passed last winter by the Legislature was carried by corrupt means. It is doubtless designed to make people think that corruption is noticed in the high tariff State.

The silver question will agitate Congress when it meets next month. It is already agitating some of the congressmen who must contrive means to reach the national capital before the session opens.

No wonder the replies to Mr. Manning's questions are so unsatisfactory. The average man knows as little about the tariff question as John Sherman does about a fair election and an honest count.

This Cincinnati mandamus business is becoming so unpleasantly monotonous that the telegraph editor is about to coin a new word from the mandamus root to express his opinion about it.

Galveston will continue to do business at the old stand, but with better facilities for showing goods. There is nothing like a fire to give a smart town a fresh, business-like appearance when the rebuilding boom begins.

"If nature had intended human beings to wear rings in their ears, ears would have been born with ring holes in them."-Picayune. Most assuredly. And if nature had intended human beings to wear clothes. they would have been born with clothes on.

Galveston editors and printers have, or had, homes, just the same as other people. This fact was developed by the little blaze

In the world of active newspaper work the journalist is the ornamental mugwump and the newspaper man is the straight goods. The latter find readiest employment on metropolitan newspapers.

The Austin Statesman says:

The last man who should demand cheap money is the laboring man. He wants his labor paid for in dear money, with which he can buy cneap commodities, so that his money may get him a cheap living.

Money is subject to the same laws that govern other articles. Its purchasing power increases or diminishes in proportion to its abundance, and in the end labor is regulated pretty much in the same way, mauger all attempts to establish arbitrary prices. The Austin Statesman sees the late Democratic triumphs in this light, though its view may be a little more roseate than that of the general public:

The recent victories won by the Demo-cratic party have their preliminary cause in the determination of that party, as de-clared in their State and national platforms, to reduce expenses in the State and na tional government to the legitimate cost of the same

That such is the desire of the great body of the people is true, but whether those who hold the offices and live directly on public patronage are sincerely actuated by such a desire is a question that people will determine according to their estimates of professional politicians and great corporations that have become a power in our land. The Statesman, however, 1s safe in saying:

The people believing the Democratic party honest in these declarations, and party honest in these declarations, and believing their voice potential with their leaders, have entrusted the federal govern-ment to that party and will hold it responsible for an economical administration. The Democratic party owes its success to this idea of retrenchment, and if it fails after having a working majority in Congress and a Democratic President the people will hold it responsible for the failure.

CALVERT, Nov. 14 .- To the Clergy and Laity of the Diocese of Texas: Dear Brethren-The distressed condition of so Brethren—The distressed condition of so many of the people of our beautiful Island City, now homeless and helpless, makes its appeal to every heart. I ask, therefore, that collections be taken up in all our churches as early as practicable, in aid of the sufferers, and sent to the chair-man of the relief committee. Affection-ate your friend and bishop, ALEX. GREGG. Col. John D. Rogers, of Galveston.

FROM FORT WORTH.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 14.-The Galveston fire has been the sole topic of conversation upon the streets to-day, and many expressions of sympathy for the sufferers and proffers of substantial assistance have been made. A fund for the relief of those who stand in need of assistance is being made up and there is no doubt that a good round sum for this purpose will be realized. THE NEWS of this morning containing full particulars of the destructive fire and a diagram showing the burnt district was eagedly sought for the destructive fire and a diagram showing the burnt district was eagerly sought for and went like hot cakes. That Galveston will prove herself equal to this emergency and maintain her prestige, undaunted by the terrible ordeal through which she has passed, is the firm conviction and earnest hope of Fort Worth citizens.

WACO'S RELIEF EFFORT.

WACO, Nov. 14 .- The destructive fire at Galveston suggesting to the charitably inclined a desire to render timely relief, Rev. Mr. Starr, of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, has volunteered to receive contributions of clothing and money for distribution among the most needy in the Island City, and to attend to the forwarding of same to proper parties. The Examiner, taking Jay fould's contribution to the relief fund and Sould's contribution to the relief fund and Boston's proffered assistance to the Galves-ion sufferers as its text, delivers an edi-iorial sermon to its readers to-mor-row on that broad charity which is not confined to tear shedding, but which goes down to capacious pockets for relief sums. The article closes as fol-ows: "Let us try and do a little good Samaritan work too, while the current his-fory of the world is recording so much to the credit of others." The Day says: "The disaster at Galveston appears to have aroused the sympathy of the entire country. Texas towns should not be outdone by outsiders, and is is in order for Waco, as she always does on such occasions, to show a helpful spirit. The Day has its cash mite ready to add to its suggestion.

THE BOSTON GLOBE'S EFFORTS.

BOSTON, Nov. 14.-In consequence of the publication of Mayor Fulton's reply to the Boston Globe this morning, in which he said: "Galveston returns thanks for your kind and sympathetic expressions and offers of aid. The affluent of Galveston can care for her poor," there was no further action here to-day toward a relief movement. The publication of another in the evening edition of the Globe has awakened renowed interest in the matter, however. The second dispatch reads: "To the Bos-ton Globe: Understand me to say, that while we are not soliciting outside aid, we

BURN NUMBER TWO.

GALVESTON, Nov. 14.-To-night about 11 o'clock a fire was discovered in the upper part of the building occupied by S. Berwin, a retail dry goods dealer. The flames were seen darting from the roof with alarming rapidity and coming, as it did, directly upon the heels of the late holocaust, the streets were soon alive with hundreds of excited pedestrians with nervous agitation written upon their contrenances. The house is situated almost in the heart of the city, between Center and Twenty-second streets, and had the flames progressed would have resulted in a general conflagration, much more disastrous than the one preceding. The upper portion of the house, where the fine caucht, was immediately adjoining P. The upper portion of the house, where the fire caught, was immediately adjoining P. H. Rose's art gallery and was used by him. All of the sides were composed of wood and glass, as was also most of the roof. The fire department quickly responded to the alarm and put a quietus to the flames in short order. Notwithstanding the fact that three lines of hose were turned on the fire, the battle be-tween the conflicting elements was flerce though of brief duration. Considerable dam-age was done in the lower part where the ge was done in the lower part where the ry goods were stacked, though most of the freets were removed to the opposite side of he street in time to escape. The damage in he upper part was confined mainly to ma-erials and photographic appliances, though is not thought to be very great. The ex-itement was intense and many were houring.

This is the third alarm of fire that has been sounded to-day. While goods remain-ing were being removed from the shattered building to escape the flood of water that came down in a shower after the fire's collapse a number of pilfer-ers were detected trying to get away with some of the articles and were un-ceremoniously dealt with. Several paint-ings and engravings were transferred from Rose's gallery to the shed adjoining, but it was hardly necessary, as the flames were extinguished two minutes after. All were of the univer-sal opinion that had the wind been as vio-lent as at the preceding blaze, a fire of much greater devastation would have been inevitable. NOTES AND COMMENTS.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

District Master Workman P. H. Golden, of District 78 Knights of Labor, states that the executive board of the State have resolved themselves into a relief committee for the purpose of having money, clothing, provisions, etc., sent to the sufferers of Galprovisions, etc., sent to the sufferers of Gal-veston, and request all local associations throughout the State to forward their con-tribution to him for distribution. All true members through the country are solicited to generously make response. It was figured out to-day in the Cotton Ex-change that of the 126 members of that body, and quite a number of these non-residents, thirty-three were burned out by the fire, making about one-third of the total resident owners.

The tenor of their report was upon the hypothesis that the people of Galveston were unable to look after their homeless poor, a position not yet assumed by the organized osition not yet assumed by the organized relief committee. An eye witness, in commenting upon the statement that the fire "petered out for want of material," says: "An inspection of Mr. Neison's half burnt house will show that at no other place was a more de-termined or judicious fight made, and Messrs. A. P. Luckett, W. P. Hutchings, J. S. Montgomery and E. S. Hughes and a negro picked up the abandoned hose on avenue O while the third house was a sheet of flames, and fought like Troians for almost of flames, and fought like Trojans for almost half an hour, until one of them fell from suffocation, when a number of others came to their relief and worked heroically for some time before the fire was extinguished, and Mr. Nelson's charred house and a burnt roof across the streat ore avidences of a gal oof across the street are evidences of a gal-ant fight."

In consequence of the present depression and troubles caused by the occurrence of the late unfortunate fire so quickly upon the heels of the labor difficulties, the joint committee of aldermen and citizens do not feel competent to press the claims of the Ameri-can Exposition at New Orleans upon the the community. Messrs. POLITICAL GOSSIP IN MAINE.

Senators Frye and Hale on Cleveland-Blaine Out of Politics.

BOSTON, Nov. 14 .- A Portland (Me.) special Senator Frye was in the city yesterday and discussed the President's appointments He said in substance that the appointments ought to be considered by Republican mem-bers in precisely the same way as if they had been made by a Repub-lican President; that if the appointee is a man of good character and qualified for the place he should be confirmed without ref erence to Republican questions, and that if there is opposition to the confirmation in any case the burden of proof should be in those who make the objection.

From what he said it may be fairly assumed that he will vote for the confirmation of nearly all, if not all, of the Maine apointments, certainly Gen. Anderson, whose pointments, certainly Gen. Anderson, whose appointment as Collector is findorsed by his predecessor and apparently by Republicans generally. Senator Hale agrees with his col-league. A personal friend of Mr. Hale, who recently had a long and interesting talk on political matters with Mr. Hale, says: "Mr. Hale believes in making no factious opposition to President Cleveland as to his appointments. He regarded the President's course thus far as very satisfactory from a Recourse thus far as very satisfactory from a Re-publican standpoint; that he was doing about as well as he could. Reference was made to the rumor that Mr. Blaine has thoughts of relieving Mr. Hale from his duties in the Senate. The Senator declared emphatically that there was no truth in the story. He said further that Mr. Blaine had no intention whatever of entering the field as a candidate for the next presidential nomi-tion. Ex-Postmaster Manley and Congress-man Boutelle do not agree with Senator Hale on the last point, but many pretty knowing politicians do." politicians do." A gentiement who is certainly reliable, and M gentieman who is certainly reliable, and whose sources of information are very good, recently said: "You may depend upon it that Mr. Blaine is out of poli-tics and will remain so unless some-thing unexpected occurs. I have absolute knowledge that he considered his nomination last year a mistake, and he consented to make the fight only because his friends had so far committed themselves that to refuse would put them in an embarrassing position. I now know them in an embarrassing position. I now know that Mr. Blaine has said just that."

At 11:45 they were interrupted by a messen-ger who announced that the time had arrived for them to bid farewell to the world. Then the swarthy faces were blanched, but other-wise they betrayed no signs of emotion. The march from the library to the gallows was a short one. THE DROP.

He has been in the sister republic for a lengthy period, and has given the politica situation through the country much attention and states unhesitatingly that the charge against ex-President Gonzales will amount to nothing. He says the attempt to prove that the ex-President stole the wealth he now possesses from the public Treasury is the out the ex.President stole the wealth he now possesses from the public Treasury is the out-growth of the spitcful feeling of a minority in Congress toward him. Gonzales does not hesi-tate to state that he went into the presiden-tiat office a poor man and that he came out worth $10,000,000, but there are abun-dant chances for a person in a high position in Mexico to acquire wealth without robbing the public treasury, and the efforts of Gonzale's enemies to prove him a thief will re-bound to their own destruction. Gonzales to-day is the strongest individual in the republic, both with the people and army, and will cer-tainly be the next President if he lives. His personal strength is so great that the army is changed from point to point by his instructions. He has had the troops at Guanajuato changed several times recently and is in the habit of dictating to President biaz. NEW YORK TO GALVESTON.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 .- Steps were to-day taken by the Cotton, Produce, Petroleum and Mercantile Exchanges to raise a fund for the relief of the sufferers of the Galveston fire. It is thought that the cotton men will be able to send $50,000 to Galveston early next week, and each of the other exchanges ex-pect to fully cover the same amount. A subscription list will also be circulated on the Stock Exchange on Monday.

SAN ANTONIO SUBSCRIBES.

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 14.-This evening a meeting was held in the District Court room. After electing a secretary, a finance committee was appointed, of which Mr. H. Groos is chairman, and also a soliciting committee, with Mr. L. C. Grothaus chairman. A collection was taken up at the meeting for the purpose of assisting the sufferers from the recent fire at Galveston. The following subscriptions were made:

Opposed to Riel's Execution.

MONTREAL, Nov. 14.—It is stated that Hon. M. Chaplain, Secretary of State, replying to the French-Canadian members who met last night to hear his explanation as to the decision of the Cabinet to the Riel case, said that the warrant for Riel's execution was on the way to Regina, and read a telegram from the Governor General's private secretary that his excellency vould adhere to the warrant. He pointed ou that Riel was a great criminal and responsible for all the numerous crimes during the rebellion, and the government could not execute the Indians and allow Riel to escape. He 'further said that he would not resign his seat in the Cabinet if another minister did so, meaning Sir Hector Longevin, minister of public works, and leader of the French ministerialists. The cause for respitting Reil from the 10th to the 16th inst., he said, was the intense feeling among French Canadians, against his execution, and that he and Sir Hector advised the respite. Fifteen French Canadian mem-bers have sent a telegram to Sir John A. Me-Donaid stating that, under the circumstances, the execution of Riel would be an act of crueity for which they decline to be responsible. all the numerous crimes

SPECIAL NEW YORK LETTER. SKETCH OF THE LATE JUDGE CARDOZO

Depew, the Funny Fellow, Fuddled at That Famous Grant Dinner-Astor Apings. Observations on Wealth.

THE DAL Special Correspondence to The News. NEW YORK, Nov. 11 - The death of Alpert Cardozo brings to mind the manifold candals of the Tweed time. It is remarkable that this man was exceptionable among the many disgraced in that era of corruption. He remained eminent in at least one respect. His wonderful talent as a lawyer kept him in a highly profitable employment. The two deposed Judges, Barnard and McCunn, died sots. They were uninteltectual loafers, who found congenial society in barrooms when off the bench, and whose dishonesty was about as much due to hailfellowship with Jim Fisk and the Tweed thieves as to the outright briberv; but Cardozo was a student by disposition, a mover in the highest circles of Jewish wealth, culture and religion, and mentally so well endowed with cool ability that his official rascality could have had no other cause than a desire for gain. His fortune was large, and the understanding used to be that got no less than a quarter of a million for his venal acts. Down to the day of his demise, however, he was on terms of familiarity, if not intimacy, with several Supreme Court Judges, so valuable was his knowledge of law, and so entertaining was his general conversation. With him died most of what was known about the Nathan murder mystery. His wife was a sister of the assassinated millionaire, and it was he who, during the weeks of excited investigation and suspicious secresy, had entire charge of the matter. Not only did he represent the Nathan family in finding out and suppressing things, but he was permitted by Tweed to control the authorities as he willed. The chief of police then was Jim Kelsoe, and his confidential crony was Joe Dowling, notorious in those days for his drunken exploits as a Tombs magistrate, while the head of the detective force was Jimmy Irving, long ago retired under a shadow. Cardozo's hands were free, therefore, to reveal or conceal. It is sure that nothing was revealed as to the murder. It was left to people to imagine what was concealed, and the popular conclusion was that Cardozo covered up a crime.

Ex-Judge Cardozo's nature was never grim, and even within a year of his end, when fully aware that his ailment would soon kill him, he was apt to be jovial. One day he attended a law hearing before a referee in the Grand Central Hotel. A back room, well up stairs, was used for the sake of quiet. Two youthful lawyers were engaged in the proceedings, but not so engrossedly as to keep them from seeing that the faces of two girls at a distant window the faces of two girls at a distant window were notably pretty. A flirtation ensued, and it was so coyly conducted on the femi-nine side that the susceptible chaps were deeply impressed with their own senti-mental prowess. A sly smile crept over Cardozo's scholarly face (it so resembled Edwin Booth's that he was sometimes mis-taken for that actor) and somewhat lighted up the otherwise settled expression of pain from the disease that was that distracted the

MCKINNEY, Nov. 14.—Commissioners' Court approved the annual settlement of Col. L. W. Oglesby to-day. This is the fourth term of Col. Oglesby and the seventh annual settlement he has made of the finances of the county as Col-lector. As Collector, he has had an admirable training for the next step, Comptroller, and if promotion in line is the order, he will go up. The accounts of W. M. Bagley, Treasurer, were examined and approved. Commissioners' Court also received and paid for bridge on body can get drunk with completeness and entire satisfaction unless he wastes some of the time and money in a certain notoriously gorgeous Broadway groggery. To see the worst drunkards in town (because they are men who ought to know better) the observer should wander into this resort in the after-noon, and take a seat by a window com-manding a view of the vestibule. I had barely done so before a hansom cab stop-ped so suddenly that two well dressed and feverishly happy fellows were all but thrown out over the dashboard. They smiled feebly at each other, and climbed with some difficulty to the sidewalk. They were red-faced and totter-legged. Their very fine clothes were slightly awry. One said to the driver with dignity: "Much?" "Two dollars, gents, please," was the af-fable reply of the rascal. "Give you fifty cents," said the other, pulling a handful of jingling coin and rumpled notes out of a pocket. "O, you'd better make it a dollar, sir. You know I had to help you gents into the hansom." "Well, 111 match you whether it's a dollar [Established in Dallas in 1876. Manufacturer of and Wholesale Dealer in

"Do you know whose house that is?" he asked, as he pointed across several rear yards, not at the building that they were interested in, but at the back of a big, solid, brick structure. "No, Judge," was an eager response, "do you?" "O, certainly: that's the old Commodore Vanderbilt residence, and his widow lived there until her recent death. I believe her relatives now occupy it." Then the two beaus were elated by the thought that real belies were cestowing at-tention on them, and they renewed their demonstrations with an ardor that, as they were delighted to see, elicited the liveliest responses. Kisses were thrown with avid-ity, and bright smiles invited acquaintance. At the adjournment for luncheon the mash-ers of course walked around from Broad ity, and bright smiles invited acquaintance. At the adjournment for luncheon the mash-ers of course walked around from Broad-way through Third street to the front of the house that contained the dear creatures. Impudently they mounted the steps. Then they went right down again, as crushed as though forty malignant fathers had re-pulsed them with clubs. They had read on the big brass doorplate, as Cardozo knew they would, the inscription, "Home for Un-fortunate Women."

A FUNNY FELLOW FUDDLED.

It is usual nowadays to provide, along with other means of entertainment at public dinners, a guest who is professionally funny. There are several amateurs with established reputations as banquet numorists. Two famous laugh producers are Mr. Chauncey M. Depew and Gen. Horace Porter; but the former now shows a disposition to regard his elevation to the presidency of the the shaven moustache and the cooped hair, who can be certain of his identity? The assertion is that he is shoveling ashes, polishing stove castings and the like. Bah! No such case of wasting a clever convict is known. Fish is a clerk. Ned Stokes kept books, and always the man is put to the best use; and yet they want us to believe that Ward, with millions at his command, is kept working a shovel or a stove brush." So much for a theory, with nothing tangi-ble to support it. I am able to give something worthy of credence, however, as a reason why Ward is in prison. He had ample money and op-portunity to go to a safe country after the exposure of his rascality. Several days of liberty elapsed after, the explosion of the Grant & Ward bubble before he was ar-rested, and then he was kept in only civil confinement, from which his escape was easy, until his conviction; and I asked a lawyer connected intimately with the case why it was that the Napoleonic scoundrel did not retreat quietly from the Moscow of his ruin. "For the simple reason that he likes to live in New York," was the reply. "He knew that he could not get more than the years, which term would be shortened by good conduct to about six and a half. He will be scarcely more than 40 when he comes out, wealthy, full of schemes in-vented during his incarceration and not at all ashamed of his great exploit. That suits him better than banishment for life."

BOUND FOR BRAZIL.

Good Missionary People Bid Farewell to Friends and Home at Dublin, Texas.

Special to The News.

DUBLIN, Nov. 14 .- The Sunday school scholars and day scholars of this place all assembled at the depot this morning to bid farewell to Miss Mina S. Everett, who departed for Waco to attend the Texas missionary farewell meeting, which takes place at Waco University the present week. Miss Everett will, in company with other Texas missionaries, leave for Brazil next week. The scene at the depot was touching indeed. Rev.C. D. Daniel and bride, also missionaries to Brazil, who were married last night at Comanche, accompanied by Dr. S. A. Hayden, of Dallas, were invited from the car to join the group, and while thus assembled the photographer secured a picture of the group. There were present all ages and sizes and sexes to bid an affectionate fare-well to the Brazilian missionaries, who go forth to sow seeds of kindness and brotherly love among the nations of men and teach the Brazilian heathens of a Savior and a risen Christ. While the missionaries were returning to the car the entire crowd commenced sing-ing that ever beautiful and touching song, "We Shall Meet in the Sweet By and By." While regretting exceedingly to lose these excellent, self-sacrificing ladies as citizens of Texas, yet the people feel that they go forth to work in their Master's vineyard. The prayers of many people ascend in their join the group, and while thus assembled The prayers of many people ascend in their behalf, wishing them a safe and pleasant journey to their new fields of labor.

Sir John Lawes has signified his intention through Central Park attended by an out-rider? The distinction is so marked that the public cannot fail to be struck forcibly by it. It is common among wealthy fami-lies to have a footman in livery sit up on the front seat of a carriage beside the cos-tumed driver, and we progress so rapidly in the direction opposite from Yankee sim-licit that there notes backed unt family for the transition for improvements will be let at £2 per acre. HOW THE MARKET ENDED YESTERDAY.

A Slight Gain for the Week in Killing Grades.

Stockers and Feeders Fair - General Tone Inclined Slow and Low.

Special to The News.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14 .- The cattle market during the past week has ruled dull and slow. On the early days receipts were much lighter than for the corresponding time of the previous week, and salesmen were inclined to ask big advances on this account. Buyers realized that holders had the advantage, but were reluctant to pay the increased rates asked, and some of the chief Eastern shippers were practically out of the market. Yet, although the demand was nothing to brag about, an average gain of fully 10c was recorded on ordinary killing cattle, with fat stock showing the most strength. Some of the choicest 1480 pound beeves, however, were hard to sell at $5 50, and some big 1650 pound animals went at $5, while poor stuff was very slow. Exporters restricted their purchases to medium wined totals and desceed here purchases medium priced stock, and dressed beef operators were the most prominent buyers. Native cows and mixed lots were strong and rather higher, with canners paying more at-tention to this class. Offerings were light, and although inferior kinds dragged somewhat, buyers naturally picking out the best of each day's supplies first, the general demand fully qualed supplies. Rangers also were fairly ac tive, with the feeling stronger. Common to fair kinds of slaughtering stuff sold no higher, but canning stock and Texans were generally dearer, and the trade was satisfactory all around.

Stockers and feeders were in fair supply, and as there was a pretty good demand values ruled steady.

FORT WORTH MARKET REPORT.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 14.-Business has been fairly active to-day in all branches, the small dealers particularly doing a good trade. Cotton receipts were light, only about 75 bales being brought in. The market remains dull and unchanged.

COTTON MARKETS.

GALVESTON, Nov. 14.-In walking along the Strand by the wholesale houses no stranger would imagine that the most destructive fire that has ever visited this city has just oc curred. Business was going on in the custom-ary way and without any interruption. There is a good receipt of country orders and the freight movement is above the average.

Liverpool spots advanced 1-16d to-day, and Mobile and Savannah advanced 1-16c. The local market shows a firm front and good de-mand. Liverpool futures are from 2 to 3 points lower, New York futures are from 1 to 4 points lower, and New Orleans futures are from 3 to 4 points lower than last night's closing figures. Galveston stock this day 107.616 bales, same date last year 63,323; in compresses this day this advance was lost by midday. The sales for the morning amounted to 345,000 shares. After midday the market was weak and fever ish. Prices fluctuated frequently, the result of conflicts between the opposing cliques. There were decidedly more sellers than buyers, and despite the efforts of the bulls to hold values up the closing figures were generally the low-est of the day. The decline ranged from ½ to 2 per cent below last night's figures. The spe-cialties closed generally weak and lower. The inclination to sell so generally during the aft-ernoon was attributed to the announcement that war had been declared by Servia against Bulgaria and the belief that the other and more important powers would become involved. This, it was agreed, would result in the with-drawal of foreign capital. The specialties were generally lower. The day's business was the largest within a year, $21,128 shares changing hands. CLOSING HDS.

demand for both year and May options. El-dredge was the principal buyer of May.
Fraley sold a large line of year. The demand for cash was fair, but by no means urgent. The stock has been reduced 300,000 bu during the week, leaving but little corn now here. Receipts, however, are expected to show a good increase next week, and will give us some cash stuff to fill November sales. The market closed firm in sympathy with wheat, year so ing perhaps the weakest delivery and May the strongest.
For Monday receipts are expected to be life cars of wheat, 175 cars of corn, 120 cars of oats, 50,000 hogs; 250,000 hogs are estimated to arrive for the week.

JOE MANN KILLS HIS MAN.

A Tragedy at Pilot Point, in Which Ross Harpe Furnished the Corpse.

Special to The News.

PILOT POINT, Nov. 14 .- A shooting affray occurred last night at a dance at the residence of A. W. Wortham, about six miles in the country, in which one Ross Harpe, a sporting character, was instantly killed. From character, was instantly killed. From the evidence in the case it appears he had been trying to provoke a quar-rel with two or three parties during the even-ing by drawing his pistol and flourishing it in their faces, and went so far as to strike one young man under the chin with it. The Coro-ner is holding an inquest this evening with closed doors, and the facts as to who did the killing cannot be definitely learned. Suspicion at present rests upon James Mann, one of the parties with whom Harpe endeavored to force a fight, and the prevailing opinion is that he had to kill Harpe in self-defense. LATER.-In summing up the Coroner's jury gave their verdict that the victim came to his death by a pistol shot in the hands of Joe Mann.

Special to The News.

HARROLD, Nov. 14.—The cattle shipment has been cut short on account of the bad market. Mr. O. P. Wood, who has just returned from the Panhandle, reports that prairie fires have the Frankancie, reports that prame mes have destroyed the grass over a very extensive area, and some large ranges have been nearly ruined. The Francklyn Land and Cattle Com-pany and the Brown syndicate have suffered heavily, and so has Judge Dunn.

THE GHOST EDITOR'S GRIEF. FORCED TO FORAGE FOR FINITE FEES.

A Tale of Trouble Told in Tender Tones to the Toiling and Tired Terriers of the Treadmill.

"Well, Ghosty," abruptly remarked the para grapher, as he hung on the hook a diamond from his mental lapidary shop, "what's the matter with you this evening?"

"Oh, nothing in particular," said Ghosty, "only thinking of some troubles of the past. Some troubles" (and Ghosty sighed a heave) "that haunt me in the still hours of night, and even in the exciting times of payday.

"You are wound up, Ghosty, and as this shop has never hitherto got the worth of its money out of you while you were in that condition, just be fair to the office and unwind."

"Don't talk so. I have troubles, and as you seem to have more sympathy with me than the rapparees who edit the telegraph I will tell you what they are and ask your advice: "I was born in Russia. When two years of age my father was torn from his family and sent to the salt mines of Siberia, and in the oowels of the earth wore out his poor life. He was a peaceable, loyal old man, but in an un-guarded moment he got into a scrapping match with a tax collector. My mother died of a broken heart within two weeks. I went out ehind the henhouse and under the blue vault of heaven swore eternal vengeance. I quickly ecame the professor of chemistry in one of the Russian universities and-"

"Hold on," said the paragrapher, "you were only two years old and in less than a second's talk you are the chief mixer at a high school. You get over the ground too fast for an ordinary mind."

"Don't be frivolous. Events crowd themselves so fast on me that my story may not be intelligible, but it is true. As I was going on to ay, I became the leading chemist of all the Russias and I received honorable mention for naving discovered the cholera microbe. Well, I fell in love. I was then 22 and Sophia was 18. She was highborn and was sweet. She tore my heart from me and carried it with her. My ove became more than love-it was madness I declared my passion. She was cold; but she did not repel me. She told me to come to her castle one week from that day and she would tell me of my fate. That week was one of agony; one filled with the fever of hope and the chill of despair. I was rattled, as it were, till I couldn't tell strychnine from sal soda. At the end of the time allotted I betook myself to my true love's feet. She met me with a smile and carried me to the turret of the castle, where we could look down upon the Blue Danube, murmuring in low song as it wended its way to the sea. She took up her guitar and sang—" declared my passion. She was cold; but she

It was in the evening—in the afterglow—and the sun dying behind the mountains sent back a heated breath that made all the walls of the baronic castles, pinnacled in high fastnesses, glow and shimmer in gold. The bittern croaked his sad plaint in the mursh below, and its sadness was echoed by the hooting owl, which bade the day farewell. 'Twas a time for love—for soft love, unalloyed by thoughts of life—and well we felt it both. When the music of her voice had died away I had been so transported with ecstait happiness that my lips refused to speak. Her dark blue eyes fastened upon me, kept me spellbound until a low sob from her awakened me, etc. It was not of love that it had its bitrh. It came from a heart of sorrow and startled me. In the impetuosity of youth, for I was not a newspaper man and knew not the secrets of the interviewing business, I threiw myself at her feet and said. 'Oh maidén,' they's the way they talk in Russia, 'tell me of your sorrows. Into a heart entirely thine point thy grief. If you are of me a part, give then me my dues. He is not a public school graduate and is in utter darkness about the adventures of Billy the Kid and Sam Bass, but he is the victim of a congenital weakness for everything he can lay his hands on. He attended the Con-federate reunion here a year ago last August and proved himself "a captain"—a cavalry captain—by laying violent hands on an old war horse. He was next accused with the robbery of the Q. T. saloon and then followed a num-ber of charges for petty theft, in which his youth saved him from prosecution. Mr. Clint will push the new case against him in the County Court.

OUT OF THE FRUIT OF TOIL.

A Little Chat on a Live and Applicable Topic. THE NEWS man yesterday found Mr. C. Lom-bardi, of Houston, at the Windsor Hotel. The name was familiar to the reporter's mind as the one of the gentlemen who recently purchased the Nye pasture of near 8000 acres, situated two and one-half miles from Wichita Falls. The well known business character of Mr. Lom bardi, together with his intentions regarding the cutting up of his purchase into small farms to be paid for in installments, led to the follow

It should be known that Mr. Lombardi is the right bower of Mr. W. D. Cleveland, the leadng wholesale grocer of Houston. It is to the keen business sense and foresight, able and ex ecutive qualities of Mr. Lombardi, as much as to his own great capacity, that Mr. Cleveland owes his success. Taken together the two men are a rare combination, and one or the other is always in the Cleveland establishment directing and managing its best interests. Mr. Lom Ing and managing its best interests. At. Lom-bardi spoke freely of his new land scheme, for, as he put it, he is merely giving a chance to industrious farmers to get homesteads and pay for them out of the fruits of their toil. The section of country where the land lies is rich and well watered. Hereto-tore the cattle barons have pursued a policy rather tending to exclude farmers, owing to the difficult terms on which the land is offered to them. So popular has the plan of Mr. Lom-bardi become that already one-half the land has been taken in farms ranging in size from 80 to, say, 250 acres. The inducements combine a kindly treatment with fair, yet firm terms, and the instaliments may be paid out of cash or hand or, as before stated, from the producis of the soil itself. The scheme makes the farmer independent from the start, for with care and good judgment he may get his home in one, two or three year. The example set by Mr. Lombardi is a good no, for it will develop the State. Large land-holders as well as the State may study the out-come with profit. Indeed, there may be a point in t for the good of our Texas statesme.. NEW COLONIZATION SCHEME. bardi spoke freely of his new land scheme

NEW COLONIZATION SCHEME.

Mr. E. M. Powell, of this city, has taken the cue from the success of the Marienfeld colony, and is preparing to open up a large body of well watered land in Crockett County to settlers seeking farms in a productive and healty district. In order to start the undertak-ing with a rush, he offers as a gift forty acres each to a number of first settlers. He is satis-fied that their efforts will prove the produc-tiveness of the region and hurry up its occu-pancy.

The Galveston Sufferers.

In yesterday's NEWS was published the tele-gram from Mr. W. White, president of the Dallas Merchants' Exchange, to Col. W. L. Moody, of Galveston, asking what assistance was needed by the sufferers from the fire, and in what form required, and promising that Dallas would respond to the best of its ability. Col. Moody's courteous reply, indicative of the efforts of Galveston to look out for its suffer ers, came yesterday, as follows:

"W. White, Dallas: Deeply grateful for you olicitude. Galveston is endeavoring to tak are of the sufferers. W. L. MOODY, day evening at 7 o'clock sharp, at the Court-house, District Court room, for the purpose of coming to the rescue of the sufferers at Galves-ton. By order of the Executive Committee of the Knights of Labor of Dallas." Col. Moody's telegram was the subject of much comment on the street last evening, many taking it to mean that no assistance from outside was needed. In the accepted significa-tion of the word endeavor—and it is one of the words in the English language that has not a transferred meaning—the idea which Col. Moody desired to convey was that Galveston would try or strive to take care of the assumption It certainly did not authorize the assumption that aid would be refused.

The Wizard Oil Troupe.

The Wizard Oil Troupe. A free concert was given last night by the Wizzard Oil Troupe, on the corner of Main and Lamar streets, that deserved the ap-plause of a crowded house. The music, vocal and instrumental, under the manage-ment of Dr. Blish, was first-class. The songs, consisting of quartettes, duets, sen-timental and comic, were among the most popular and latest published, and provoked roars of laughter or loud applause, accordpopular and latest published, and provoked roars of laughter or loud applause, accord-ing to the chord they touched in the listen-er's heart, which, at best, is a sort of a harp of a thousand strings. To the dramatis persona, individual mention is due. Dr. Blish and Mr. Wymar were at their best as baritone soloists, while Mr. Laurens' rendi-tion in comedy and es a rocalist in the # Suit Entered.

Suit was entered yesterday in the District Court of Dallas County by Calvin A. Kennedy, of Limestone County, assignee of Moseley Bros., of Denison, vs. the late United States Marshal, Col. James A. McKee, and his bonds men, Christopher C. Slaughter, Chapin M. Seley, James E. Stone and John M. Holt. The petition alleges that on Jan. 25, 1884, the de-fendant levied an attachment on the stock of fendant levied an attachment on the stock of goods of Moseley Bros., in Denison, for $1958 59, and $1088 80 at the suits respectively of Crow, Hayedine & Co. and Goodbar, White & Co., and that the stock at that time was assigned to W. E. Doyle. The assignment since then has been transferred to Calvin A. Kennedy. Damages are put at $12,496 05, being the alleged original value of the goods with 50 per cent added. Two of the members of the firm, the petitioner states, were not present when the assignment was made and so did not sign it, but assented to it afterward.

The New Acquisition.

That Trunk Mystery.

For several days past many rumors have been afloat of the sale of the Trunk Road, and perhaps one of the directors, in anticipating perhaps one of the directors, in anticipating events to suit his inclinations, did not heed the injunction of the thrity German not to talk too much with his mouth. That the parties to the sale have come near enough together to make the trade is quite certain, but the meet-ing of yesterday developed the fact that the sale will not be consummated before next Monday or Tuesday, and until that is done it is useless to talk about money awaiting the sell-ers at any particular bank.

En Route for Hill County.

A train of eighteen emigrant wagons-ten from Missouri and eight from Arkansas-passed through the city yesterday en route to Hill where the newcomers, aggregating ninety-four souls, ranging in years from the gray-haired grandfather to the baby in the mother's arms, as described by Shakespeare, propose to settle down and aid in developing its untold resources. They informed a NEws reporter that Texas is still upon the lips of thousands in the States they came from, and that families upon families are pre-paring to follow them. Notwithstanding the great extent of weary travel these newcomers had gone through they looked fresh and the reverse of care worn, like the Jews in sight of the Promised Land. # BARLEY [CHASE'S] AL WHIGKY.

Not in flavor, mild and elegant in taste. It does not contain one drop of impure oil. Being a genuine, Barley Malt Whisky, it possesses much nutriment, and is a fine tonic for use in malarial sections. It greatly prevents attacks of Pneumonia. A splendid tonic for weak lungs and feebleness. Most excellent for drinking, and purest for home use.
