A Man Who Follows a Peculiar Line of Business.

Kansas City Star. Of all the odd means of gaining a livelihood in the world, that of an individuual who was in the city a day or two ago is probably entitled to the championship. The name he was last known to fame under was John L. Wells, and he attracted the attention of an Evening Star reporter, who knew his peculiar history, while in the act of boarding a Rock Island train at the Union Depot night before last. Wells is a professional cripple, not of the variety who wear a placard and hold a hat in their laps at corners; but a more enterprising person altogether, who makes a good living blood-sucking corporations and cities. He first attracted attention in Detroit, Michigan, where a number of years ago he brought suit against a local railroad for damages sustained in being ejected from the train, resulting, he claimed, in the breaking of his leg. The case seemed to be all straight, and the company compromised for $2,000 rather than stand the expense of a law-suit. Some time after he fell on a bad spot on an Indianapolis, Indiana, pavement, again breaking his leg, and the city compromised for a respectable consideration rather than stand a suit which seemed certain to go against them. In 1881 he price. went to Leadville, Colorado, fell down, broke the much suffering leg, and sued the city. Some waftings of his crookedness had reached the benighted camp, and it employed detectives to look up the man's record. Their investigations showed that he had, in different parts of the country, broken his leg about twelve different times, dislocated his hip eight times and hurt his spine twice, for all of which he received valuable considerations. However, there was nothing besides this to invalidate his claim, and the city gave him $600 to withdraw it.

Leaving Leadville he went to Colorado Springs, Colorado, where he promptly hunted up a defective spot on one of the of nitrogen, rhombohedral glucose, indipavements, and sustained a compound cations of valedictory, and free milling fracture of the right leg, below the knee. Dear reader, shall I give you a few symptoms of the mining epidemic in grounds this afternoon to witness the cermountain towns? All right. I will,

Symptom 1-A long-haired man is seen pounding up a piece of quartz about the size of a man's hand.

Some years ago, writes a correspondent of the Philadelphia Record, I sat one evening reading a volume of Prescott's hisemonies of the unveiling of the statue of tories, in the library of a rich Wall street man, who was a bank president at thirty, seated figure, in bronze, heroic in size, at when he came in and asked me if I really the foot of the terrace stairway upon the enjoyed reading such books. #### Lewis and Reilly Recaptured.

The story of the recapture of the celebrated horse-thieves, Lewis and Reilly, is interesting and we condense an account of it from the Durango Herald. It may be remembered that the first horses stolen in this section were from Dalt C. Reynolds, who was at that time running the Overland livery stables at Rico:

The first day out from Durango two men Fogarty and McDermott went 37 miles to the La Plata and then, in the language of the pursuing party:

"The next day we rode 65 miles to the mouth of the Mancos, where it empties into the San Juan, and about five miles from the ranch of O. E. Noland. We struck the trail of the escaped prisoners about 25 miles from McDermott's ranch, at the upper end of a hogback, and followed the same for about ten miles, but at this point they took a circuitous trail instead of following the direct trail around the Mancos mesa. Fogarty, who Work on the Clan Campbell, one of was familiar with the country, then sugthe first locations of Nigger Baby, will gested that we had better go across the country direct to Noland's without reference to trails and thus would get there ahead of the fleeing persons. We did so and reached Noland's about nine o'clock, on Wednesday, had breakfast, told him our errand, and that the escaped prisoners were behind.

After breakfast we went down the river about eighteen miles to Mitchell's store, arriving there about four in the after noon. We told our business and all the men there volunteered to assist us. We looked for the prisoners every minute, but they didn't show up till about three ed down to the Grand View Smelter, and o'clock, on Thursday afternoon. Our horses were nearly played out and were

Brown in the lead, riding the Lindsay horse, Lewis following on the bay horse, stolen from the post, and Reilly in the rear on Pedgrift's horse. We had on our six-shooters, but our rifles were in the store. I said "boys they are coming," and McDermot and I went into the store in hopes that they would ride up, but they recognized us, wheeled their ho rses, and galloped away. We grabbed our guns and opened fire, but they were too far away. They ran their horses down the Bluff City road and we continued firing till they were out of range.

Fogarty's story continues: McDermott, myself, Billy Mathews and his partner, prospectors, and Church and Smith, soldiers from the post, armed with rifles, all started in pursuit on foot, arranging to have our horses start after us. They soon left the road and struck across the hills. About two miles below Mitchell's store I came upon the Sheriff's horse lying down with the saddle turned under him. The horse, with Refly riding him, had fallen lias been of course inadequate to carry down a steep clay bank, and had appar ently rolled over two or three times. At first I supposed he had been shot. I unloosed the saddle and made him get up. Seeing he was not wounded, I saddled and mounted him. The other members of the pursuing party, forming a kind of skirmish line, were on the bluff on either

Prior to this my partner, William Coker, came up on a pony, and I sent him back for the horses, and he returned in about an hour and a half, leading two horses. We then sent the soldiers and prospectors back and continued the pursuit on horse-back.

We followed the trail about five miles. and finally saw the two horses standing at the edge of the bluff in what is known real distance for additional service would as North Park Cow Camp. Concluding that they had dismounted and left their horses as a trap for us, we rode toward them until within 100 yards, and then pulled out of the trail to the blind side of the bluff and dismounted and crept up the blind side of a cone to some rocks where we could peep down. The escaped prisoners were on one side of the draw and we on the other.

We followed the cone for about 140 yards from the horses and Fogarty slipned up and glanced over and saw where they had first jumped down from the lap the San Juan country. The firm have of the cliff, evidently looking for us. We lately closed negotations with a syndicate, fired and they concealed themselves in the rocks. They were about 100 yards

> We then told Coker to slip around and endeavor to get the horses and we would fire at the fellows occasionally, to keep them behind the rocks. He did so, but, owing to the broken country, he could not get to the horses without giving the the Lewis-Reilly outfit a dead shot.

The prisoners had three single and one

E. L. Davis, general manager of the Nellie Gold Mining Company, will arrive commence work on the Nellie mine, sold last winter by G. N. Hyde and W. H. Trout, who received a handsome sum of money for their valuable property. On the sale of the Nellie, E. L. Davis organized the above company, composed of the following named gentlemen, who are the officers and trustees: C. C. Moore. President and Treasurer, B. F. Harris. Vice-President, S. P. Wellington, Secre tary, John Davenport, E. L. Davis, General Manager. These gentlemen command unlimited capital and with one of the best gold mines in San Miguel county, placed under the able and experienced management of E. L. Davis the company will no doubt receive large dividends from their investment. The Nellie is located up Bear creek, about two and three-quarters miles from Telluride, containing two full locations. The outcropping is plainly defined, showing a contin uous vein of an average of four feet wide of gold-bearing quartz, all of which pays to work, mill-runs give an average of $30 per ton. A stamp mill for treating the ore will be erected this season in Hyde Park, at the east end of the Nellie. The mme will produce abundance of ore to keep the mill in active operation, and being free-milling ore can be very successfully treated. The members of this company with the exception of Mr. Davis reside in New York.

IT seems we made a mistake in charging the Placerville postmaster with careless handling of Rico paper mail and that the fault is at Sargent's, where there is no postoffice and consequently no one to s, however, the point of junction with any one who will shear them. the stage route from Montrose to Telluride and sacks of paper mail are left there subject to the tender care of passers-by and the fitful temper of stage drivers, who take it on or pass it by as suits their fancy. In this way it happens that the papers have frequently been returned to Ames. This explanation of the subject is not very satisfactory to us. The fact that the NEWS does not reach its subscrbers is too aggravating. During a long and tedious snow blockade the paper mail lay urdisturbed in the Rico postoffice and to have such additional delays is not encouraging. Every mail brings complaints of "no paper since February. We don't expect the same facilities on a temporary service that a regular one would insure, but some remedy for the unnecessary evil should be provided. The News has left the Rico postoffice regularly for several weeks and should go through to destination promptly.

WE are sorry for the Rico boys who went to Cœur d'Alene. The boom is the worst fraud that was perpetrated by a railroad company. James Wilson, a returned miner, says in the San Francisco Post: "If there was ever such a damnable fraud got up on the face of God's earth as the Cœur d'Alene mining excitement, I never heard of it. When I left R. H. Cole, of Denver, had a leg cut there, three weeks ago, there were hundreds of poor devils begging bread."

Good Advice

The following from the Silver World is excellent, timely and appropriate:

"In these hard times-which are general throughout the country-it behooves people to bear and forbear with each other; to guard against becoming uncharitable, envious and jealous; to bridle their tongues that they do not deal out hatred, malice and bitterness, and generally to watch themselves least they become chronic growlers and kickers. Cultivate kindly feelings; be sympathetic; help the needy; cheer up the faint hearted-a kind act or sympathetic word costs nothing and may enrich the receiver."

We do not often embark on the unsatisfactory sea of puzzlemaking, but the solution of the following may serve to keep some of our readers out of mischief, and we will give a year's subscription to the NEWS (sent post paid to any address) to any person who will send us the correct answer within the next 30 days-at the end of which time the answer will be published. The idea is to complete the little poem in this way: by dropping the first letter of the concluding word of the first line (the word to be supplied) the proper concluding word for the second line is found; by dropping the first letter of the word so found, the word for the third line is had, and again dropping the first letter, the word for the fourth line is furnished. Taking a new word now, the last four lines are completed in precisely the same manner and the answer found. Who will be the first to send in the solution? It is a free for all-nobody barred:

Green willows on the banks are Blithe boatmen o'er the stream are To favoring breeze their speed is As swift as bird upon the With lily pads their oars are They shout dull care from me And echo answers

Up to date there has not been a single answer to the puzzle, although several have entered claims for a six month's subscription because of the correct solution of the first half of the puzzle. The completed verses are:

Green willows on the banks are growing, Bithe boatmen o'er the stream are rowing, To favoring breeze their speed is owing, As swift as bird upon the wing. With filly pads their oars are trifling, With eager hands the flowers rifling, They shout: "Dull care from me I fling," And echo answers "fling."

Business For Ladies.

The opportunities for ladies to find employment that is both suitable and remunerative are limited; their pay is usually poor as compared with the salaries paid to men in same line of occupation. But there are some very noted exceptions; journalism, the drama, music and platform offer equal advantages to men and women, and one occupation in which women are sometimes more successful than men, and that is in the management of agencies. In this line The Queen City Suspender Company, of Cincinnati, O., are offering inducements to ladies that night as well, never varying its motion, we think ought to attract attention. They are now manufacturing and introducing their new Stocking Supporters never tire, but now up, now down, it goes for Ladies and Children, and their unequalled Skirt Suspenders for Ladies. None should be without them, our leading physicians recommend them, and are loud in their praise. These goods are manufactured by ladies who have made the wants of ladies and children a study, and they ask us to refer them to some reliable and energetic lady to introduce them in this county, and we certainly think that an earnest solicitation in every household would meet with a ready response, and that a determined woman could make a handsome salary, and have an exclusive agency. We advise some lady who is in need of employment to send to the Company her name and address, and mention this paper. Address Queen City Suspender Company, Nos. 177 and 179 Main Street, Cincinnati, 243-253.

Extraordinary Offer to All Wanting Employment.

We want live, energetic and capable agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, ON ITS MERITS. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per ent. profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents, and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every house owner, it might not be necessary to make an extraordinary offer to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in our invention, but in its salability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $150 to $600 a month clear, and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent who will give our business a thirty day's trial and fail to clear $100 in that time, above all expenses can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like ten or more counties and work them through sub-agents for ninety days. and fail to clear $750 above all expenses, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employers of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we decreed to make such offers, nor would we and fail to clear $750 above all expenses, dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed, and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a COUNTY OF POLORES. Adolph Haas, Plaintiff, vs. SUMMONS. a day would give a profit of over $125 a eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and these we wish to send to every one out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the boom, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer, to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money. RENNER MANUFACTURING Co., 161 Smithfield St., Pittsburg, Pa. 236-288.

Paralyzed.

The following is from the Great West and can be relied upon as strictly accu-

"A native of the Gunnison country paralyzed a Boston excursionist by telling him how Judge Gerry sentenced Packer, the cannibal. It is a fact that Judge Gerry's sentence was a model of its kind, but the native referred to was altogether too enthusiastic. Said he: "The Judge give it to him strong and good. Says he to him, 'stand up, yer d-d cannibal.' "Then did he stand up?" timidly asked the excursionist. "Betcher life," replied the native. "he stud up, and the Jedge sez he to him, 'yer-a nice sort of son-of-agun of a patriotic citizen, ain't ye? Here right at a time when there were only eight men in the country, you must go to work and eat up five of'em. #### Colorado Cattle Sales.

Recent Colorado sales of cattle are reported as follows:

W. R. Smith, of Kester, Park county, Colorado, sold his herd of cattle, numbering about 1,000 head, range delivery, to the Reynolds Cattle Company, at Canon City, Colorado. Price, $30,000.

Mulock Brothers, of Canon City, purchased of W. Gribbell, of Currant Creek, Fremont county, Colorado, for $30,000, his herd of cattle, numbering 800 or 900 head. Bates Brothers, of Kester, also sold their herd, numbering about 1,000 head, to the same parties for $30,000. Both sales range delivery.

Uncle Tommy Robbins sold to White & Bros., of Salida, 35 head hay-fed steers at $5.50; weights not given. A. C. Scribner, of Hartsell, of Park county, also sold to the same parties 70 head of hayfed steers, averaging 1,185 pounds, at $5.75 per hundred.

Watson & Pierce, of Leadville, purchased of G. F. Cummings, 80 head of stock cattle; price not given; also 25 head of yearling bulls at $45 per head. These cattle will be taken to Grand river and turned on the range there.

A Miner's Cabin.

Noel May, alternate Commissioner for the State of Colorado to the New Orleans Cotton Centennial and World's Exposition to be opened at New Orleans on December 1, 1884, has the following proposition to make to the prospectors and miners of Colorado:

DENVER, Colorado, May 9, 1884. To the Mining Prospectors in the Mining Districts of Colorado:

GENTLEMEN-The grand opening of the Cotton Centennial and World's Exposition, at New Orleans, will occur on the 1st day of December next and will continue open during the winter months. It will beyond doubt be the most extensive exposition ever held in the United States. as nearly all of the States of the Union and about twenty foreign nations have applied for space in which to exhibit their manufactures and natural products.

The commissioners have granted space on the grounds on which to build a "pros pector's cabin," under the management of a delegated committee for that special purpose, and it is intended that it shall be the headquarters on the grounds for prospectors and miners who may visit the fair. It is proposed to build it in an elegant manner of logs and ores from the prospectors' camps of Colorado, and to make it one of the chief attractions of the mining department, and where parties can meet with miners and prospectors and obtain practical information in re gard to mines and mining, and where the ores of very many unknown mines can be brought into prominent notice without expense to the owners, and, as well, where individual owners of mines can present to visitors the value of their own properties. The general plan for the construction of the cabin is to have the inside wall show the logs, while the chinking, the fire place and general ornaments shall be of ores. The outside, with chimneys, etc., will be almost entirely of ores.

The ores of the State are attractive in appearance, and by being used in an artistic manner as proposed, will make a beautiful building.

As I made the suggestion myself, and am anxious to see a success made of the scheme, I earnestly invite the prospectors of the state to assist me in getting together a let of different varieties of ores for this very worthy institution are very this purpose, and to make the affair a moderate. For further particulars ad-credit to the state. Prospectors whose wealth is still in the ground, will appreciate this opportunity of placing their specimens prominently Memphis Route South. before the public, and being able to see them represented without expense to themselves. It is not intended to use ores of high value in construction, such only being used in ornamentary work. I hope I see a very large number of mines and prospect holes represented-each in a limited manner-as this is an enterprise entirely separate and distinct from the ore Without Change of Cars! exhibits which will go from the state, but is intended for miners and prospectors of undeveloped property, the ores of which extension of the Kansas City, Ft. Scott are not usually very high grade.
