The Live Oak Fund

For the past 5 months residents of the quiet ranching community of Hansford County in the Texas Panhandle have been struggling with crisis - not farm foreclosures but something equally threatening to their way of life. On December 16, 1985, they read in the Amarillo Globe News that American Natural Resources - a Detroit based company - was planning to build a PCB waste dump on the land that had supported them for four generations.

Hansford County is one of the most prosperous agricultural areas in Texas, and it's fourth generation farmers and ranchers describe themselves as people who "tend to mind their own business". But with their land, health, and even their way of life suddenly threatened, they are fighting.

Their first meeting drew 500 people, and it was only a matter of days before Citizens Against Poisonous Pollutants was formed. Now they are taking their fight across the state and the country.

Last week they received their first outside support - a grant of $2500 from the Live Oak Fund.

In Houston, the ACLU chapter has been receiving 30 to 40 calls a month concerning rights abuses related to AIDS. Houston has one of the largest numbers of AIDS cases in country, and abuses have gone to the extent of employees being fired because they did volunteer service work with AIDS victims. There has been no coordinated program of legal assistance in Texas to date.

This week the Clark Read Foundation of the Houston ACLU will begin a pilot project of attorney training and telephone assistance for Victims of AIDS related discrimination. Seed money for this project came from the Live Oak Fund.

As Texas' only public foundations committed to supporting community based activism, the Live Oak Fund supported nine other organizations this spring, including ADAPT a group of disabled activists fighting for accessible public transit; a group of students at Texas A&M forming a chapter of the National Organization for Women; and Refugio Del Rio Grande, a refugee camp in Harlingen offering legal assistance and sanctuary to war refugees from Central America.

The Live Oak Fund for Change is an unendowed public foundation supporting community activism on issues of poverty and social justice, environmental safety, peace and disarmament. Live Oak accepts proposals from community groups twice a year, and has a statewide Board which currently distributes $50,000 annually in grants. The fund itself is supported by over 500 contributors, both large and small.

Live Oak staff are available to consult with interested community groups, and can be reached at 512-476-5714.

Live Oak Spring Grants

1) American Disabled for Accessible Public Transportation $2800. Austin - Continued funding for education and organizing campaign to win 100% accessible public transportation.

2) American Friends Service Committee $1200. Austin - Live Oak Funds provided to assist in organizing opposition to war in Central America throughout Texas.

3) Citizen's Against Poisonous Pollutants $2500. (see above text)

4) Clark Read Foundation $250. (see above text)

5) Dallas Peace Center $2000. Dallas - Seed money to organize Sept. conference uniting peace activists with low income and minority activists.

6) East Dallas Seniors $2500. Dallas - Grant given for advocacy work for low income seniors and cooperative programs with community youth.

PALO DURO CAMP MEETING!

The Palo Duro Cowboy Camp Meeting that everyone's been talking about is finally here. The Camp begins Thursday evening at 6:30 p.m. at the Rodeo Arena 1 1/2 miles east of Gruver. You won't want to miss this event! It will be talked about for years to come!

This will be YOUR chance for an outdoor worship service like many, many years ago. There was a time people had to travel as much as 100 miles in wagons to reach a worship service. This camp will be a reproduction of one of the "olden day" services. The food will all be cooked over an open fire and served chuckwagon style. Breakfast, lunch and dinner will be served everyday, and there is no charge.

To go along with the western cowboy theme, we will have Dennis McKinley, a PRCA calf roper as one of the preachers. Dennis is also involved with the street ministry in Fort Worth. Also, Wayne Stockstill, Upland, CA will be preaching Wayne attends all camp meetings throughout the summer.

There will be big old western campfires in the evening with lots of singing. If you are musically inclined, be sure to bring your instruments! Also, there will be a choir. For all interested, meet at 6:30 p.m. with Paul Biggs, the song director out of Bartlesville, OK.

To go along with the praise, prayer and worship there will be other activities typical of the old west. God put all things on earth for our enjoyment...including team roping. The team roping will be Saturday and Sunday with the entry fee being attend the evening service! Cowboy Bibles will be awarded to the go-round winners and silver buckles to the average winners. In addition, there will be stick horse races, calf dressing, greased pig and sack races! Something for everyone!

Everyone is welcome to attend, regardless of your denomination. There is plenty of room to camp overnight, but the facilities are limited. This will be a come and go camp, so come every chance you get. Don't be left out!

There is no charge to participate, however the Camp Association operates on donations. The budget for our camp is $8500. So if you feel led to donate, there will be donation boxes. However, no collection plates will be passed during services. If you wish to donate before the camp, or if you would like further information, contact KEITH OR MERRY BATEMAN 798-8129 or -8252.

PDRA proposes budget

The Palo Duro River Authority (PDRA) budget, effective July 1, is tied to consideration of a proposed bond election - to be held possibly as early as August 9 - to raise an estimated $12 million. The money would be used to fund the construction of a 4,900 - foot earthen dam in Northwestern Hansford County. The money would also furnish recreational facilities for the lake the dam would create.

The bond issue would raise only an estimated half the cost of the dam. The Texas Water Development Commission will provide another $10 million for storage in the lake.

States fund will be provided through the Texas Water Plan at 7.65 percent interest following a reduction in interest rates by the state agency. Interest was previously charged at 9.1 percent.

The PDRA directors will consider the proposed budget in their June meeting to be held Tuesday, June 10, at 2 p.m., in Spearman, at the Pittman - Shield-knight building.

To finance the general operations budget, the directors will consider a tax rate of .0119 cents per $100 of value.

The Palo Duro authority has used that rate for the last 10 years, a period when the authority was essentially a single county taxing entity, notes Johnnie Lee of Spearman, general manager.

Johnnie Lee believes no increase in the rate will be necessary to finance the larger budget since the district will have a larger tax base for revenues.

"The major expense for the district will be in engineering fees for design of the Palo Duro dam and plans for its construction," Lee explains. "The additional costs will run from $60,000 to $90,000 more."

The district spent $18,000 on engineering during the current year which ended June 30, according to its amended budget.

Beef For Father's Day

What's cookin' for Father's Day? Turkeys have their day at Thanksgiving. Hams generally grace the table at Easter. Why not beef for Father's Day? It's nutritious, fun to cook and dads love it!

"We want to tie beef to Father's Day like turkey has been tied to Thanksgiving," says Lucille Sterling, president of the Texas CowBelles, an organization devoted to the promotion of beef in the state.

"If we can establish that connection, we can get people to head for the meat case in June and think of beef when they think of Father's Day."

Governor Mark White strengthened that connection by signing a "Beef for Father's Day" proclamation which states...

"Beef is a basic American food. It is rich in protein, iron, B-vitamins and other essential nutrients make

Last Quarter

Hansford County reported the biggest economic increase among north-eastern Panhandle counties according to a sales and use tax analysis by the State Comptroller of Public Accounts. Hansford had $27,879,319 in gross sales from 255 reporting outlets, which was 35.7 percent better than 1984.

Counties showing increases included Ochiltree, with a 2.4 percent increase, and Lipscomb, with a 29.5 percent increase.

Showing decreases were Gray County with $118,089,844 from 1,069 outlets; Hemphill with a 33 percent decrease; Hutchinson with a 1.5 percent decrease; and Roberts with a 18.5 percent decrease. State totals showed 435,232 outlets reporting $105,221,160,766 in gross sales for the fourth quarter of 1985, compared with $97,918,128,723, or a 7.5 percent increase. Of this total, $26,618,756,545 was subject to tax.

Heavy Rains Stop Harvest in Gruver

Some of the area wheat has been ready to cut since the end of May, but recent rains have slowed the wheat harvest this year. Forecast of warm weather have farmers gearing up to start their harvest in earnest.

Area Soil Conservationists said the overall production is expected to be lower this year as compared to the last few harvests. Part of this is due to the farm program, but a dry winter also hurt the crop.

Conservationists don't think the rain was heavy enough to hurt the crop though the recent moisture has slowed the harvest.

"I think the wheat is alright once it's dried. The only problems will be in low areas where water is still standing and Area youth interested in participating should contact Susan Wheeler, rodeo secretary at (806) 396-2468. Contestants planning to enter should plan to arrive early in order to complete necessary paperwork and consent forms.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Wednesday said a downward slide in sales tax collection last month confirmed that the energy collapse has spread to other sectors of the Texas economy.

Bullock said there was a 4.4 percent falloff in sales tax collections in May compared to the same month a year ago.

"The downturn in oil has finally set in motion a wave that's soaking the rest of the Texas economy," Bullock said.

He said collections in May this year amounted to $438.4 million compared to $458.7 million for the same month last year.

Bullock said the $20.3 million drop was due to declines in retail sales, services, construction and oil and gas.

Last month, he said, taxes attributable to retail sales were up 10.9 percent while May's collections showed a 10.7 percent decline.

Texas from services were down 12.7 percent in May, reversing a 15.5 percent gain in April.

Texas from oil and gas were off by about 40 percent and construction was down about 18.5 percent.

He said last month's sales tax collections were the first time this year that the monthly income has fallen below the same month of the previous year.

Bullock said the downturn had been predicted because of falling oil prices.

Gruver City Library

The evolution of a State or Recollections of Old Texas Days by Noah Smithwick is a book about which J. Frank Dobie says, "best of all books dealing with life in early Texas." Noah Smithwick, author, was an old man, blind and near his ninetieth year, when his daughter recorded these words. "I was but a boy in my nineteenth year, and in for adventure when I started out from Hopkinsville, Kentucky, with all my worldly possessions, consisting of a few dollars in money, a change of clothes, and a gun, of course, to seek my fortune in this lazy man's paradise."

A blacksmith and a tobacco smuggler, Noah Smithwick made weapons for the Battle of Concepcion, and he fought in that battle. With Hensley's company, he chased the Mexican army south of the Rio Grande after the Battle of San Jacinto. Twice he served with the Texas Rangers. In quieter times, he was a postmaster and justice of the peace in little Webber's Prairie.

Eyewitness to so much Texas history, Smithwick recounts his life and adventures in a simple, straightforward style, with a wry sense of humor. His keen memory for detail, what the people wore, what they ate, how they worked and played - vividly evokes the sights, sounds, and the smells of the frontier. Some of Smithwick's "pen pictures"

Are of famous events - the Fall of the Alamo, the Battle of San Jacinto, the Mier Expedition. But less historic occasions, like "bear hunting," "A smuggling trip to old Mexico," and "Camping with Comanches," make lively reading, too.

This new addition of a Texas classic that was first published by the Dallas Morning News, makes widely available for the first time in many years the recollections of a real pioneer. Just one of many good books available at your City Library.

Summer Reading Program
Bring your children by the library and let them participate in our summer reading program! Each child participating will be awarded with a "prize" at the end of the specified time, and the winner in the different grade levels will be given a "grand prize." Your child can sign up any time during regular library hours, and this will encourage them to become familiar with the Library and hopefully become a regular patron. We have received many new children books, and look forward to your child becoming part of this program. In July we will have a storytime on Friday mornings, and will give further details on this at a later date.

ing it a food that fits well into today's active lifestyle. The beef industry is a vital part of our State's food chain and contributes millions of dollars to the state economy annually..."

Texas CowBelles from across the state and representatives from the Beef Industry Council were on hand May 15 as Governor Mark White signed the proclamation in the Governor's Reception Room at the State Capitol. A beef rib roast was presented to the Governor during the ceremony.

"Consumers are often surprised at how low in calories and cholesterol beef is," says Anne Anderson, Texas Beef Promotion Coordinator. "The rib roast presented to Governor White, for example, contains a mere 217 calories per three-ounce, roasted, trimmed serving. It contains only 66 milligrams of cholesterol as compared to the same amount of roasted chicken which contains 76 milligrams of cholesterol."

According to the American Heart Association, no more than 300 milligrams of cholesterol should be consumed per day. A three-ounce serving of beef rib roast accounts for less than one-fourth of the American Heart Association's recommended maximum.

To encourage consumers to purchase beef for Father's Day, the Beef Industry Council in Texas is working with food editors around the state on everything from special features to exclusive photography. Photography and interview sessions with grandfathers, fathers and children are being scheduled for food editors to help them with their "Beef for Father's Day" features. The nutritional value of beef, which is often overlooked or misunderstood, is being stressed in this promotion.

As the Beef Industry Council and the Texas CowBelles join efforts to promote beef as a nutritious, tasty component of the diet, beef should be making an appearance at quite a few tables on Father's Day across the state. Why not at yours?

Beef Rib Eye Roast

4 to 6-pound Beef Rib Eye Roast

Consult owners manual for preparation of coals. Insert roast meat thermometer so bulb is centered in thickest part. Make certain bulb does not rest in fat. When coals are ready (low to medium temperature*), set drip pan in place in center of the lower grid. Place roast, fat side up, on top grid directly above the drip pan. Cover kettle (leaving all vents open) and cook roast until meat thermometer registers 140 degrees F for rare; 160 degrees F for medium, allowing 15 to 20 minutes per pound.

NOTE: Roast may also be cooked on a rotisserie over low to medium coals, using indirect heat method, to desired degree of doneness. Allow 18 to 24 minutes per pound.

*To Check the temperature of the coals, cautiously hold the palm of your hand about 4 inches above the coals. Count the number of seconds you can hold your hand in that position before the heat forces you to pull away.

TIME	TEMPERATURE
2 seconds	hot (high)
3 seconds	medium-hot
4 seconds	medium
5 seconds	low
6 to 7 seconds	very low

THERE'S STRENGTH

Some people seem to think that beef is just too good tasting to be good for you. But the new numbers are in. And they are impressive.

MYTH: The fat in beef is saturated fat.

FACT: Beef fat contains only about 47-49% saturated fatty acids. The rest is unsaturated fatty acids, including significant amounts of polyunsaturated fatty acids.

MYTH: Beef contains more cholesterol than most other animal-source proteins.

FACT: Three ounces of cooked lean beef contain 73 mg. of cholesterol; 3 ounces of roast chicken, 76 mg.; 3 ounces of flounder 52 mg.; 3 ounces of shrimp, 128 mg.; 3 ounces of pork, 79 mg.; 3 ounces of turkey, dark 72 mg.; light 59 mg.

MYTH: Heart disease risk can be reduced by reducing intake of saturated fat and cholesterol.

FACT: The current trend in the scientific literature is away from thinking that reducing heart disease risk is simply a matter of cutting down on foods high in saturated fatty acids and cholesterol. More scientists are now saying that more scientific answers are needed before marked changes in diets can be recommended for the general population.

MYTH: Dietary cholesterol has a direct effect on blood cholesterol level.

FACT: In most persons, dietary cholesterol and blood cholesterol are not closely related. In fact, in most persons, heredity and weight or amount of fatty tissue in the body are more important than diet, including dietary cholesterol, in determining blood cholesterol level. If a person keeps his weight at recommended levels, odds are that his blood cholesterol will not be above normal.

Interesting People

"MR. AND MRS. HOOEY", also known as Mr. and Mrs. L.W. Ayres of Rt. No.3 in Gruver are responsible for the introduction of the "HOOEY STICKS" in this area. Photo was taken in 1971.

Last week, we interviewed L.W. Ayres and the more we talked about clocks, the more I found out about his variety of interests. Of course, you can't talk to him very long until suddenly, you'll find him approaching the subject of two nine inch dowel rods one of which has a two inch propeller at one end with sixteen notches carved in the middle of the stick.

Now for all you "Old-Timers" of the Gruver area, this is an "old" story. But for the newer generation and for certain people who have been here for over 35 years but don't know about these famous sticks L.W. will say, "do you know what a Hooey Stick is?" After retrieving your tongue from your throat and muttering "huh"? and he begins demonstrating the Hooey Stick. The nine inch stick is held firmly in one hand, while the other hand rubs vigorously over the notches with another stick, six inches long. The propeller turns when the notches are rubbed with the other stick. The thumb and forefinger on the hand holding the smaller stick is placed alternately on either side of the larger stick, which changes the direction of the propeller.

Ayres says the word "Hooey" and at the same time changes the pressure on the notched stick. Well to make the story short Ayres says he enjoys watching the expressions on peoples faces when he makes the gadget operate on command of the word "Hooey."

Well, since I started out a story on a clock collection, I guess I's better continue.

In 1974, J.W. and Mary attended the organization meeting of the "5 States Clock Collectors" at Amarillo. At this meeting, a member offered the owner of a French Clock and Candelsticks $225. for the set. But the owner didn't like the man that offered $225. And chose to sell it to Mary for $200 for which she always cherished.

Another unusual clock was the type used in 15th century. It has all wood gears, with only one hand and a rock on a cord powers the clock, and a small rock to keep the cord straight. Other clocks of an antique value would be a tear-drop clock made in 1891. It is known as a Monarch a replica of the old clocks and is a 3/day clock. Also in the group picture, the taller clock is an 18th Century Clock given to J.W. by Mrs. Guy Lewis from Indiana whose land he farmed for 39 years. The small black clock is a French type, and the next is known as a kitchen clock bought in Gateling, Tenn., in the edge of the Smokey Mountains. In the corner of the group picture, this clock is known as a 30 hour O.G. clock. Ben Harris' dad bought a clock like this in 1903 that is a Ray Ingraham clock. It has a colorful scene done in glass in the lower case.

The Camel back Seth Thomas was ordered sight unseen by J.W. and it has plaque on the front of it that reads "presented to William Francis Magie as a token of their esteem-class of 1925" on the back of the clock is a label that says "Skind and Sons 1110 Chestnut St. Philadelphia". J.W. wrote the National Clock Co. and they said Seth Thomas made this clock from 1922-1927. They said they believed the SKind and Sons Jewelers are still in business. It is a No. 113, with No. 77 chime. The suggested retail price was $60.

Mr. Ayres has several more unusual clocks some humorous and ones that are valuable in different ways. He has recently had a garage sale in which some of these were offered to the public but if you didn't have a chance to attend, you may contact him if you want information. Mr. Ayres not only builds clocks for sale, he also can repair clocks. So if you are having problems with your clocks, give him a call and discuss your problem with him.

Below: Tear drop clock made in 1891 is considered very valuable. Upper - Several 18th and early 19th century clocks. The one in corner is a 30 hour clock needs to be wound every day. This clock was used in 15th Century.

River Valley Folk Festival To Be Held

The River Valley Folk Festival to be held in Canadian on Saturday, June 21, will be the first stop on their summer tour for the famed Kwahadi Indian Dancers of Amarillo. From Canadian the troop will go to Perryton for a performance and then head southeast where they will go as far as Florida to perform their colorful and authentic Indian dances.

They will perform in Canadian at 11 O'clock Saturday morning at the Hemphill County Exhibition Building as one of the events in the Folk Festival being sponsored by the River Valley Pioneer Museum.

The Kwahadi Dancers are members of Explorer Post 80, Boy Scouts of America. The group has performed over a period of 41 years, with more than a thousand boys involved at one time or another in the performance of the stirring and visually pleasing dances. They have researched the dances, costumes music, traditions and ceremonies connected with each tribal dance in order to bring authenticity to their performances.

A feature which will have special appeal for their audience will be a large Indian teepee which they will set up as part of the scenery for their show.

The kwahadi Dancers are only one of a number of types of entertainment being planned for the folk Festival. Also planned are performances of Living History, gospel music, talent by the winners of the Our Little Miss Pageant, the Lone Star Shootists from Amarillo, Ventriloquist Rick Fiel of Wheeler and other.

There will be demonstrations of crafts, among them Rene Heil, a potter from Follett; a spinner, Charlene Manns of Canadian; horseshoeing by Tommy Wheeler of Miami, machine knitting, quilting by Barbara Hawkins, hand-crafted jewelry, puff paint art work and Texas barbed wire art.

Other craftspeople will be exhibiting and selling their work, but not presenting demonstrations. There is still booth space available for demonstrations and/or selling. For details call Pam Spencer, 323-5567, Sue Bartlett, 323-6051 or Nan Ezzell 323-6461.

Coffee and doughnuts will be served early in the day, a barbecue plate at noon and night, and other foods and beverages.

The gate fee, good from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., will be $1.50 for adults and $1 for children 10 and under.

All proceeds from the Folk Festival will go to the River Valley Pioneer Museum.

Cold Grilled Fillet of Beef Rocket Salad

1-6 to 8 pound fillet of beef
 2 medium yellow onions, peeled and sliced
 2 bay leaves, crushed
 10 to 12 black peppercorns, crushed
 1 bottle red wine (Beaujolais or Chianti)
 1/2 cup virgin olive oil
 10 to 12 sprigs Italian parsley salt and pepper

Completely trim beef of fat and connective tissue. Place in a large, wide dish. Put onions, bay and peppercorns around fillet, then add red wine, olive oil and parsley. Cover; marinate refrigerated for several hours or overnight, turning several times. Prepare a medium - hot wood charcoal fire. Remove fillet from marinade, rub with a little olive oil, salt and pepper. Fold thin tail of the fillet toward the center; tie securely to form a roll of even thickness. Put over hot coals when flames have just subsided. Cook about 25 minutes, turning 5 or 6 times for even cooking. The fillet is done when its internal temperature is 125 to 130 degrees or when it is firm yet springy when pressed lightly with a finger. Remove from fire; cut off strings. Cool completely. Carve into three-eighths of an inch slices on a slight diagonal. Serve with a rocket salad with vinaigrette and garlic mayonnaise. Makes 8 servings.

USDA 'reserve' acres increase

Thirteenth District Congressman Beau Boulter (R-13) said today that the US Department of Agriculture has upped the maximum per acre bid for the Conservation Reserve Program in North Texas and the Panhandle.

"The second sign-up period for the CRP is completed," Boulter said, "and the USDA has agreed to a $40 maximum per acre bid for our region. That means we're going to see more program participation, which will be to the overall benefit of farmers and the conservation effort."

The Conservation Reserve Program, part of the 1985 Farm Bill, is designed to remove highly erodible land from production. The goal is to remove 40-45 million acres from production within the next five years.

During the initial sign-up period less than one million acres were placed in the program by farmers. Boulter, who said that the relative failure of the first sign-up was due to "poor program administration and a lack of equity in the way bids were accepted," arranged a meeting in Amarillo with the top USDA officials and local farmers.

"Our district," Boulter explained, "was given a lower maximum bid price than similar areas in both New Mexico and Oklahoma. Needless to say, our farmers were upset, and they let the USDA officials I brought to Amarillo know about it. As a result, the producers I represent will receive $40 per acre for qualified land."

The second sign-up period has seen a significant increase in acreage enrolled, with a total now reaching 3.8 million acres. Annual payments will be made to compensate farmers for retiring erodible land from production. Participating farmers will also be paid up to 50 percent of the costs of planting trees and grass on the acreage placed in the reserve.

Mrs. Stavlo and Mrs. Rasor visit with Beau Boulter at a meeting held here last week. Topics of the town-hall type meeting included the PCB dump North of Gruver, and the new tax bill, plus oil and farming discussions.

Rains cause slight rise at Meredith

Lake Meredith is rising slowly from recent heavy rains on its Texas Panhandle-eastern New Mexico watershed with the depth at the dam pegged at 75.34 feet early Wednesday.

The slow rise -- about six inches in a week -- has reversed a trend. Lake Meredith has been dropping slowly from a 79.43 depth reading last October to a 74.78-foot level on May 29.

"The lake is up over six inches," declares John Williams, manager of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority at Sanford. "It's not rising rapidly but the increase is a lot better than a 6-inch loss."

Fed by the Canadian River, the lake is located in southeastern Moore county and in Hutchinson and Potter counties.

Jerry Jasinowski, economist:

"The increase (GNP up 3.7%) was attributable solely to one-time factors and does not indicate any major strength in the economy."

Bill Frenzel, Rep. (R-Minn), on trade bill:

"A lot of Republicans are trying to tell the administration they want more action from them on trade."
