More Rain Showers Hit Gruver Area

Perfect rains, averaging from three and one-half up to six inches soaked the Gruver area the latter part of last week.

Only three and one-half inches fell in the official gauge at Gruver put parts of the area caught much more and the thunderstorms criss-crossed the region.

The rains started Wednesday evening and better than an inch was reported in many places. Moisture came again Thursday and Friday and Saturday evenings and the last good shower occurred Sunday Morning.

The Gruver area was in a severe weather forecast area Tuesday evening and night but only a small amount of moisture fell in town.

Water was still running strong Friday morning after the rains of Thursday night. The rain continued Friday and Saturday and into Sunday morning.

IN THE GRUVE

We've held off as long as we can about the fish stories.

During the past few days we've heard several explanations as to how the small fish happen to be in irrigation ditches. Several farmers in this area have reported finding fish.

The best we have heard is that the sand used to pack around the pipe contains fish eggs. Most of the sand comes from creek bottoms. Another is that birds carry eggs on their claws.

The whole situation has been the subject of much humor. Some have advanced the theory that an underground river runs through this part of the country.

If that kind of talk keeps going on, someone will want to dig down and put a dam on it.

Business men in Gruver will meet tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. in the school agriculture building to talk over plans for a chamber of commerce or business men's club here.

We hope all the merchants will attend. Such an organization could do a lot for Gruver.

It is generally believed that wheat is not a good crop to irrigate. This is probably true in most cases but R.Y. Cooksey has evidence to the contrary.

He has several heads of wheat hanging in the Huddle Drive-In and some of them contain up to 20 meshes per head. We understand that F.A. Shapley also has some beautiful irrigated wheat.

HIGHLIGHTS FROM THE PAST TO THE PRESENT

Highlights from the Past to the Present travels to the west of what is now Gruver to visit with the J.A. Dozier family. This is another of the Hansford County pioneer families who moved to the county in 1918.

Mr. J.A. Dozier was born November 12, 1863 in Tennessee. Viola Turner was born in Cooke County Texas on October 31, 1876. Mr. Dozier moved to Texas and Cooke County when he was about twenty.

On November 6, 1896 Mr. J.A. Dozier and Miss Viola Turner were married. The couple made their home in Cooke County until their move to the Panhandle.

Mr. Dozier had four children from a former marriage who were Molly, Ellie Hugh, Charlie and Fannie. These children spent their youthful years in Cooke County and never came to Hansford County to make their home.

The family farmed for their living. Cotton was one of the main crops and corn and oats were also raised. Three children were born to this union, they were Si, Tom and Era. The babies were born in Cooke County.

The children attended school there in the county. Tom was quite mischievous and his brother, Si, tells of the time when Tom carried the ground squirrel into the class room of the school. He had placed it in a chalk box. While the children were studying, Tom let the squirrel loose in the room and all the girls climbed on top of their desks.

In the fall of 1916 Mr. Dozier set out from East Texas to search for new land and better opportunities. He found land which he thought appealed to him near Stratford. There he bought one section just to the east of the town of Stratford.

After purchasing the land Mr. Dozier returned for his family to bring them to this new country. The family came by train. They rented a box car in order to bring all their belongings. Five head of stock, about two hundred chickens, household goods, some corn and oats, butchered meat and a wagon were among their possessions which came in the box car. The children recall seeing buffalo around the town of Goodnight as the train passed through.

Upon arriving at their new home in Stratford, the children were excited to get off the train and to see their new home town. The town was small and rather scattered, and Tom first asked his father where the town was. He was evidently expecting a large place.

The family lived near Stratford for about a year. They farmed and ranched on their land. A house was already there for them to live. Si recalls another humorous incident when a baby calf was born in the pasture. Era and Tom were so excited to see the calf that they scared the baby up, then being frightened about what they had done, they ran back to the house to tell their mother and father that a coyote had scared the calf.

Mr. Dozier decided the land he had was not quite what he wanted so set out in search for more. He found what he was looking for about eight miles to the northwest of what is now Gruver, only thirty miles from their other land. They sold their land in Sherman County and moved to their present home in January of 1918.

They purchased their Hansford County farm and ranch from the Walkers, buying both land and cattle. Mr. Dozier made the statement that he was $11,000 in debt and said that he would never live to see them debt free. But this was not true for the debt was paid in a years time.

The family moved to a two room house, with one room upstairs and one room down stairs, to the north of their home place. The house was heated by the cook stove which was a bachelor stove with a drum in the top. They burned coal and cow chips for fuel, and the house was lighted by coal oil lamps.

Later they moved south to their present home place where they lived in a half dugout. Tom and Si were get-prepared for a party when they heard a noise behind the trunk. Upon moving the trunk to see what it was they found a rattle snake.

Si completed his schooling in Stratford where the children drove the buggy to the Stratford school. Upon moving to Hansford County Tom and Si and Era attended the Lakeside School where Ollie Moore Spivey was teacher. Other children to attend the school were the McRees, Spiveys, Wells, Willy and gayless children. Era and Tom later went to the Woodrow school where Marvel Walker and Mae Cluck were their teachers.

The family recalls a snow storm when they had just purchased some hogs from the McRees. The snow came the first night they had the hogs, burying them. The next morning they had to poke sticks into the snow to find the hogs and then dig them out. Another snow storm recalled by the Doziers was when the cattle from the Bivins ranch grew so lame that they would die in a ditch while the live ones would trod across them.

Entertainment was usually the Literary Society, and the "play parties" which usually had a victrola or a fiddler who would start the party into a dance.

The Doziers built a new home, for which they hauled the lumber from Texhoma. When the house was completed the neighbors and friends gathered for a housewarming. The rain came so hard that evening that the guests had to spend the night. Mrs. Dozier prepared the breakfast for the guests before they returned to their homes.

Wheat was the main crop for the family. They drilled it with a team driven drill. Most of the land was broken when they purchased it. Harvest would usually last for a month and men from Cooke County would usually come for the harvest to help. The first wheat they cut was harvested with headers and threshers. A few years later they harvested with mule drawn combines. The families would help or swap out with their harvesting. The women would take care of the washing and ironing for the hired hands as well as their meals. They would store their harvested grain in granaries near the house and when winter would come or harvest was over the men would freight their grain to Texhoma.

Texhoma was also a place for supplies and the mail. Whenever one family would go to town the others would usually send for something. They would take a toe sack and bring home all the mail for themselves and for their neighbors. Their groceries were bought in large quantities. For instance their flour was bought by the 500 pounds while sugar, potatoes, and beans were bought by the 100 pounds. It was always exciting to receive fruit from the store for it was a treat to receive anything fresh.

A post office at Record located at the Spivey home was the source for getting mail after Texhoma. Jay Jones carried the first mail and Mr. Rovie carried the mail for

HANSFORD COUNTY BAKE SHOW HELD

Lee and her first year in club work. Despite rainy weather muddy roads there were 35 4-H girls who entered the Hansford County Bake Show. Purpose of the bake show is to learn how to make two products each year, and to promote products made from wheat.

Mrs. McClellan To Receive Award

Mrs. Ted McClellan of Gruver has been selected along with 23 others of 15,000 Texas 4-H Club Volunteer Adult Leaders to receive the highest award conferred by the Texas 4-H Club movement on adult leaders. The Texas 4-H Youth Development Foundation, whose Trustees are drawn from many walks of life, makes the annual award possible. Recipients of the Volunteer Adult Leader Award will arrive in College Station June 4, 1963, to participate in the Annual Texas 4-H Club State Roundup. A press conference for Volunteer Leader Award recipients will be held at 11:20 a.m. followed by a luncheon in their honor on June 5.

Mrs. Ted McClellan was selected for the 4-H Club State Award because of the outstanding leadership she has given the youth in Hansford County. The remarkable thing about Mrs. McClellan's 4-H leadership is that she has had a daughter only in 4-H 5 of these ten years that she has served willingly and well when there was a need. Her years of leadership have not been limited to the years she might have felt obligated because of having a family member in the organization. Mrs. McClellan has helped with many extra activities as camps, concession stands and always has her heart in each project. She always seems to be around when there is "word" to do, and she is rather difficult to find when praise is being passed out or recognition is being given to 4-H leaders.

4-H Girls at the Hansford County Bake Show display their ribbons which they won in the County Show.

Allen McCloy, 4-H member from the Morse Jr. Leader 4-H Club, has won the State Fair Award of Honor. Allen will be honored at a banquet at the State Fair of Texas this fall. Allen submitted a Local farmers and ranchers quick ground cover. Weeds planning to sprig Midland Bermuda grass should make every effort to get their sprigs planted by July 1st. Sprigging by July 1st will give the grass a better chance of becoming established during its first growing season.

Soil Conservation Service technicians point out that Midland Bermuda Grass must be managed properly in order for the farmer or rancher to receive maximum benefit from his Midland Bermuda. Extra care should be taken to be sure the seed bed is prepared properly. The seedbed should be firm, moist and free of other growing plants. The sprigs to be used should not be exposed to the sun or allowed to dry out. For this reason, you should obtain only enough sprigs for one days planting. Sprigs should be kept shaded and moist for the time they are dug until they are planted. Another important factor in the management of Midland Bermuda is weed control. Weed Control is important in order to get a 4-H record book of his accomplishments when he won this award.

Green Thumb Tips

One vegetable that should be grown in shade is garden sorrel. Delicious as a green vegetable; the foundation for a gourmet soup; the acidity in the leaves increases when the plants are grown in hot sun. This is the reason for giving it a shaded location.

Food for birds is particularly necessary in late winter when natural supplies are at a low point. Remember that the birds that come to your feeders are apt to spend the summer riding your garden of insects.

Make up your mind that crabgrass will not be a pest in your garden this year. Investigate NOW the various pre-emergence controls, decide which kind best suits your lawn and conditions, and apply it as early in spring as manufacturer's directions permit.

Looking for a green edging for a bed or border? Grow perennial candytuft from seeds and you've found your edging. Leaves are green all year long. Flowers may be pure white or pinkish-white depending on the species you buy.

The homemaker who longs for a new vegetable should try growing okra in the garden. Small, tender pods may be used in soups, dipped in batter and fried, or combined with tomatoes for a vegetable stew.

Flowering tobacco (nicotiana) isn't always night-flowering. While the older varieties with white flowers bloom at night, the strain called Daylight has the same color blooms but they stay open all day.

If you prefer colored to white flowers, Daylight Sensation Mixed will produce lilac, coral, violet, yellow, rose, crimson, scarlet and mahogany flowers as well as white. They'll stay open all day, but they lack fragrance.

WATERING GRAIN SORGHUM

We are going into the grain sorghum season now and many of you will be watering heavily before too long. You might be interested in knowing how much water this crop used per day during the growing season and wheat stage of growth in the critical period. Below is a chart which explains this.

1. Planting to 7 leaf state about 30 days uses .1" per day.
2. 30 day to 70 days this includes the boot and bloom stage. Water used gradually increases from .1" to .35" per day in critical stage which is the boot and bloom stage.
3. From bloom to maturity the water used decreases from .35" to .1" per day.
4. After grain is mature and while drying for harvest the water use is about .075" per day.

Use this chart to determine when you should water and how much water to apply.

The chart below might be useful in knowing how much water you are applying. You will need to know approximately how many gallons your well is pumping, then divide the No. of acres irrigated per set into the acre inches per hour. This will give you the depth of water in inches applied to each acre in the set one hour.

To Whom Shall We Go by Alfred White

Despite the clear unmistakable teachings of the New Testament, this question is given more answers by the "shims" of men than any other. The multiplicity of religious systems all over the world each give a different answer and yet expect the world to swallow every answer as the truth. Surely in all this maze of contradictions who can we trust? To whom shall we go?

Jesus, the author of eternal salvation declares "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature, he that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, he that believeth not shall be damned" (Mk. 16: 16). Note the conditions of salvation as given by the only one that we can trust--Jesus Christ.

"Go preach the gospel". This eliminates infants and idiots, for the innocence of childhood is only that of a simplicity to which as yet temptation is impossible; and of a nature so incomplete, that it has as yet no passions to resist. Need one but to remember "for of such is the kingdom of heaven" to know that the great commission was not for them. See Matt. 19:9; and 21:16. This of necessity is for intelligent, mature persons that have the ability to discern good and evil. People who are of good and honest hearts and can accept the convictions of God that "all men everywhere should repent for he has appointed a day in which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he ordained; whereof he hath given assurance unto all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead" (Acts 17:13). Again, that "all have sinned" (Rom. 3:24) and need the mercy and grace of Jesus. In fact, Jesus himself said "that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations" (Luke 24:47).

"To every creature", refer to salvation as an individual matter. Some try to get to heaven on mother's or dad's religion. Some try to ride on their wife's apron--strings. Others imply that morality alone will suffice, but Jesus said "every creature" must make up his or her mind personally as to which way they will go. Is this hard to understand when we know that we each must give account to God personally some day? No, the commission is very clear.

"He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved". The man or woman, boy or girl that has the ability to understand that they have sinned by personal transgression, can also understand how they can be saved. It takes a lot of teaching to mis-understand Jesus. If you believe that he is the Savior sent down to this world of darkness to save you, then arise immediately and be buried with your Lork in baptism to arise in newness of life. See Romans 6:3:6. It matters not what men declare, but what your Lord commands that counts. Both belief and baptism are connected by the conjunction "and", and neither will avail separately, but harmony both in heaven and in your heart exists when you do what the Master states. As Peter declared, "Repent and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord" (acts 3:19).

"He that believeth not shall be damned". This condition existed before the gospel is preached and does not change the hearer simply because he heard. James declares "Be ye doer of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving yourselves" (James 1:22). The man who hears but does not respond to God's overtures of mercy can expect nothing but a certain looking for of judgement and fiery indignation, which shall devour and the adversaries..

Are you a Christian?

THE WAY I SEE IT

MAKING MARRIAGE LAST

While attending a college a girl received this proposal: "Psalm 34:3, Jerry." It reads "Oh, magnify the Lord with me, and let us exalt His name together." "P.S. She married the fellow.

In marriage, two persons are brought together in the closest, most intimate, most demanding of all human relationships. Emotions are a part of every human and they play a part in the marriage relationship.

Every couple contemplating marriage should read books on marriage and seek at least two counseling sessions with their pastor.

What are some of the most common causes of marriage breaking up--and so many are breaking up? The foremost is immaturity--two young people thinking they know everything and that marriage will easily adjust itself. Running home to Mama at the first sign of discord is a common fault. When you marry, leave your parents. Oh, ask advice--but make your own decisions. And parents--let your young ones establish their own homes.

Another fault is financial disagreements. Over spending by one or the other causes friction. Not trusting the other brings doubts. And one party of marriage using personal money secured before marriage can bring fights--serious ones.

Of course religion plays a part but it isn't as often a cause for divorces as you might think. Before marriage, all mixed faith problems should be discussed. Visit and understand each others views. Be in accord.

We need to "vaccinate" young people early against divorce. Teach them not to rush into marriage. Be connected with the church. Plan for two or more children. They need to understand we must work daily at making marriage succeed.

The Gospel of Christ is the most powerful transforming power the world knows. recently served this dessert and a friend recommended it highly, so we are able to share it with you.

During the month of May 4-H subject matter leaders reported 17 meetings with 74 in attendance at their subject matter group meetings. The subject matter groups under the leadership of 4-H leaders are functioning well over the County. 4-H members report that they really enjoy attending subject matter group meetings.

Royal Ensign is the name of this bush-type morning glory which has true ultra-marine flowers with white halos surrounding the yellow throats. Many blooms practically cover plants.

When is a vine not a vine? When it's the bush form of a flower that normally grows as a vine. Surprisingly, there's a bush form of the popular morning glory and also two bushy varieties of the equally popular sweet pea.

The bush form of the morning glory is named Royal Ensign. This has flowers of a deep, bright, true ultra-marine blue which are set off by the white halos which surround the rich golden throat of each flower. The bush grows only 8 inches tall; is covered with flowers so that the green hardly shows.

The bush forms of sweet pea are named Sweetheart and Bijou (French for jewel) and a sweetheart and a jewel they are. Sweetheart grows only 8 inches high; Bijou is taller, growing to a foot in height.

Both varieties are available only in mixed colors and these include all the colors usually associated with sweet peas: white, cream, shades of pink and rose, red, scarlet, lavender and dark blue.

Most of us have grown used to the custom made suit, shirt, hairdo and house, but it remained for a New England builder to add a very new touch to tailoring a product for particular tastes.

Not only is the builder offering homes in attractive wooded areas — his firm is also creating lakes to complete a perfect suburban setting.

Stamford, Connecticut's Harry Bennett and Associates are currently putting lakes where ponds used to be to set off a new housing development in the Nutmeg State.

According to Harry Bennett, firm president, "making lakes by enlarging existing ponds does a double job for us. Not only do we enhance the value of surrounding property, we also get gravel for use as fill and top quality humus for enriching top soil."

Bennett's group is building a new community — Lake Wood Park — in Stamford. With 20 homes already completed and plans for 65 additional units on the drawing boards, it appears the builder's idea of lake front living has found favor.

Unlike most planned communities, Lake Wood Park doesn't boast "model homes".

Each house, ranging in price from forty to fifty thousand dollars, is an individual product.

Lake Wood Park has drawn most of its residents from city environs, and most of them are transferees from areas throughout the country who now have business connections in and around New York City.

Apparently catering to his customers' every whim, Bennett takes the trouble to stock his lakes with large and small mouth bass.

Also available to the new homeowners is ice for skating during the winter months and a perfect setting for picnics from June to September.

Coming with the business of home building for the past 12 years, Mr. Bennett can count the lake-front concept as only one of several innovations.

Bennett also pioneered the Colonial split level home and the side split level structure in the Stamford area. In all, he estimates he's built almost 250 homes since entering the field.

Admitting the lake front idea is catching on, Mr. Bennett has set this writer to thinking. I wonder what we could do with the stream in my back yard?
