

Tornado Smashes Silvertown; 19 Dead; 80 Injured

At 10:35 last Wednesday night, the retiring town of Silvertown was rudely awakened by the roaring, hissing sound that accompanied the dreaded tornado. The twister struck in a northeasterly direction, leaving behind a 300 yd. wide trail of death and destruction in the south and east part of town.

The city was stunned. No warning was given of the approaching danger and tonight the known dead stands at 19.

Rance Stevens, 29, was watching television when the electricity failed. Fifteen seconds later, he, his 27 year old wife, Mildred, their 5 year old son Bruce, four year old son Allen and two year old daughter, Rhonda Kay lay dead among the scattered splinters that had been a home.

At the same time, Mrs. Stevens' father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Vearal Vaughn, who lived next door, were torn from their bed and hurled completely across the street to be pronounced dead on the arrival of help. The Stevens and Vaughn's belongings were gathered up over a 200 yard radius around the houses.

"We didn't have any warning at all," said Elvert Stephens, who helped gather up the dead and dying.

Identifications of the wounded are still being made. No accurate count has been determined, as many are being taken care of by relatives and friends and were not hospitalized. The total injured is estimated at around 80.

Below are those for whom Silvertown will mourn for many days to come:

It was estimated that over 2000 cars were in Silvertown to see or relatives and friends day, (Thursday) either sight concerned about the safety of their loved ones.

The Salvation Army was on the job before daylight this morning, serving meals to the rescue workers, and homeless families. Approximately one-fourth million dollars damage was done in the path of the tornado which destroyed about 60 homes and business places. The force of the twister was such that brick and rock homes were smashed like kindling, a school bus was picked up and blown for 2 1/2 blocks and a railroad freight car, in the edge of the destructive wind was torn loose from its wheels and dumped off the track like a toy.

The Red Cross has set up an auxiliary station in Silvertown and is doing a good job seeing to the needs of the people, and keeping an accurate record of what is transpiring in the area. They have issued a call for funds, food and other necessary items, as well as clothing that could be donated.

As we relax and count our blessings, let's not forget those of our friends and close neighbors who are not so fortunate, but share with them some of the things that will help ease their troubles.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

The freshness of the rain, depression caused by hail, spring fever, and an itch to plow may best describe our feelings as to rise in both man and plants.

Along with all of the above, grows a re-newed interest and promise in something to build the soil. Because of the time of year, we will naturally confine our discussion to those soil builders or legumes, which can do a better job of taking the summer heat and any weather. Some of the warm season legumes that we can use are: cow peas, mung beans, guar and sesbania. Soybeans under irrigation.

We will confine our discussion to Cowpeas at this time.

Some of the common varieties of Cowpeas planted for soil building are: New Cra, Brabham, Whipperwill, Chinese Reds, Iron Clay.

These varieties are usually considered better because they produce more top growth. The more top growth you have, the more benefit received. Cow peas also have a rather deep root system which helps to withstand more drought and puncture our plow pans and dense sub-soils.

Cow peas are good for livestock, but are poor cover for soil protection during fall, winter and early spring.

In view of their lack of cover they are sometimes planted in the drill now with grain sorghum, or planted in combination of two rows of peas and two rows of sudan or sorghum, or 4 rows of the blow problem, where it can not effectively be controlled by emergency tillage.

The Brabham variety is probably the latest maturing variety of the group.

The following are guides for planting rates.

Rows (alone) 10 - 12 pounds dryland or irrigated.

Rows (inter-planted with sorghum) irrigated 5 - 8 pounds per acre. Dryland 3-6 pounds per acre.

The acreage reserves land furnishes one of our best opportunities to grow a soil building crop.

Some cooperations using cow peas for soil improvement include: W. E. Autry, Fred Mercer, Ben Whitfill, A. B. Rowell, Alvie C. Jasper of Silverton. Those from Quitaque include: J. K. Patrick, Clarence Barrett and Orlin Stark.

Joe Mercer had a good irrigated planting of New Era Peas last year.

In checking the effect of grass cover or the depth of moisture even with these slow rains, we found the following:

Good cover - 24 inches
Fair cover - 18 inches
No cover - 12 inches

NEW CROP
For the first time in the Cap Rock District we are having native grasses planted for a cash crop. The seed will be harvested for sale.

Carmon Rhode, Melvin Thacker and Don Grantham report that their Indian Grass and Side oats grama are sprouted and about up. I will keep you informed on the progress of these grasses.

Glen Morrison spent Monday and Tuesday night in the hospital at Matador.

Approximately 50 young people attended the lovely party. Refreshments of angel food cake and soft drinks were served. Chaperones for the occasion were Mrs. Harley Eddleman, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bedwell, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Bill Woods, and Mrs. Bert Grundy. FORT BELVOIR, VA. - Army Sgt. Pierce W. White, son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. White, Quitaque, Tex., recently was assigned to the 79th Engineer Group at Fort Belvoir, Va.

Visitors in the C. P. Richmond home Sunday evening were Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Monk, Jimmy and Jerry, and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Monk, Randy and Sue.

All three of the school chums have been away from here for several years.

RE A Bill Passed By Congress

West Texas Legislator, Leroy Saul, revealed his satisfaction over the final passage of House Bill 547, commonly known as the REA bill. The House bill, Saul explained, permits the REA to keep and maintain their customers in annexed areas of cities and legalizes other areas of operations.

Representative Saul of Kress was Chairman of the sub-committee which wrote and pushed the measure out of State Affairs Committee and through the House of Representatives. Saul had refused to include suggested provisions that the REA be limited to ten years in their rights to remain in annexed areas. The bill as recommended by the sub-committee and finally passed, allows the REA to remain in any annexed area in which they are now operating forever.

The West Texas Legislator declared, "In my opinion the Senate used great wisdom in passing the House version of the REA bill, which would have forced it into a conference committee, the measure would have died there and there would have been no REA bill. I am proud that there was not one single amendment or change in the bill my sub-committee wrote from the House until it reached the Governor's desk."

Saul stated that an article in the April issue of TEXAS CO -

OP, official publication of the REA Co - operatives, demanded that the REA be legally authorized to do the following:

1. Serve the farm of a man who lives in town.
2. Serve an oil well pump in the country for an oil company whose principle office is in the city.
3. Continue to serve a house in an area annexed to a city after the owner sells it to a person who was not previously a co - op member.
4. Continue service to many inhabitants of towns such as Lone Star and others that now exceed 1,500 inhabitants but have no other source of electricity.

Saul stated, "All four of these needed provisions were written into the bill by our sub-committee and are now law. The REA is fully legalized now to do the four things they declared they had to have permission to do. Under this bill no lights of any REA member presently living within or without the city limits will be turned off."

Visiting in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bradley and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Taylor over the Mother's Day weekend were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Beard of San Angelo, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Moss and Mr and Mrs J C Moss of Anson and Mr and Mrs. Jack Bradley, Jackie and Tillman of Dalhart.

Against the angry, striking hard of a death lden tornado, this grandfather clock struggled for almost an hour before giving up Wednesday night. Almost torn loose from its base and badly injured within, the faithful timekeeper fought valiently to keep pace with Father Time for 55 minutes before it's last faltering heartbeat was engulfed by the stillness of a cold, lifeless shattered home and the blackness of night.

"HEAVEN AND EARTH SHALL PASS AWAY, BUT MY WORD WILL NEVER PASS AWAY" Beside the clock on the Shelf rests a Bible, the only item in the entire jumble of confusion that was not mud spattered and soggy beyond recognition. A slight breeze was blowing across the pages and seemed as though an invisible eye would ponder for a while over the precious word of each page, then the unseen hand would gently turn the leaf. The Book was dry and locked as though it had never been disturbed since the owner placed it upon the shelf and retired for the night. Thus God preserves His Word, that people may know the power of the still small voice that can calm the restless soul and still the angry storms.
