Wedding Attire Donated To Museum

The formal wedding attire of the late Dora Barringer, has been donated to the Callahan County Museum in Baird, by her niece, Mrs. Bill Work.

The dress, worn at her wedding November 21, 1889, over 77 years old, consists of 13 staves in the waist section, was handmade of heavy cotton satin with a cotton underskirt lining. It is a two-piece dress with a close fitting waist coming to a point at the center of the skirt in front. Ribbons and appliques were the only other decorations on the dress.

A stole, with dozens of handmade flowers and five inches of fringe, tied into the completely hand-hemmed edge, and white satin slippers, completed the wedding trousseau.

All these articles, along with dozens of others, worn, used and enjoyed by the early pioneer family, are on display at the Museum for your viewing enjoyment.
