EXECUTIVE ORDERS

What are Executive orders? Sometimes referred to as "Presidential Directives," these orders initiate actions by government departments and agencies. Virtually every American is affected by them. I've often been asked about them by folks in the Panhandle. Here's a report:

George Washington issued the first Executive Order on June 8, 1889, when he asked heads of Executive Departments to submit "a clear account" of affairs connected with their departments. From Constitutional powers is implied the authority exercised by presidents through history to issue Executive Orders. Under the Constitution, the President is vested with the executive power; the power to preserve, protect and defend the Constitution; and the power to see that the laws are faithfully executed. Presidents have based the authority for Executive Orders on all these grounds, most often the latter.

There has been a tendency in this century for Presidents to guide Executive Branch policies by using Executive Orders. Most have been routine in nature. One order, for example, provided for the appointment of a charwoman in a local post office. Here are the total numbers of Executive Orders issued by Presidents in this century: Theodore Roosevelt, 1,011; Wm. H. Taft, 699; Woodrow Wilson, 1,770; Warren G. Harding, 484; Calvin Coolidge, 1,248; Herbert Hoover, 1,004; Franklin D. Roosevelt, 3,722; Harry S. Truman, 903; Dwight D. Eisenhower, 481; John F. Kennedy (through July 4, 1963), 212.

Executive Orders are supposed to be based on authority granted directly to the President by the Constitution or by specific Acts of Congress. In many instances Presidents have issued Executive Orders to lay down administrative procedures to be followed by departments in implementing laws passed by Congress, a practice that has evolved as Congress has legislated in broad, non-specified terms. As many of you know, I have been critical of Congress for frequent legislation so broadly that too many details have been left to Executive decision and direction.

Occasionally, Presidents have had their hand called by the Courts when a challenge has been raised over the provisions of an Executive Order. The order of President Truman of April 8, 1952, seizing the steel industry, was held by the Supreme Court to be without Constitutional or Congressional authority and therefore could not stand. In this case, Youngstown Steel Co., threatened with seizure, brought the case before the Court — and the Court held that the power President Truman sought to exercise was a law-making power which the Constitution vests in the Congress alone.

When business groups such as the steel industry are threatened by the effects of an Executive Order, they move quickly into the Courts to test its validity. On some occasions, as in the Youngstown Steel Case, the plaintiff has been successful.

The greatest concern centers around the type of Executive Order directing administrative action or procedure by a governmental agency. This is, in effect,

GRIFFINS HOME FROM VACATION TRIP, REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Griffin and Johnny returned last Saturday from their vacation trip.

They left here Saturday, July 20, and drove to Levelland to attend the Deere family reunion (Mrs. Griffin's family), which was held in the park at Levelland. The picnic lunch was spread in the park at noon on Sunday and the afternoon was spent visiting and taking pictures. All 8 of the children were present. Mr. and Mrs. Griffin and Johnny spent Sunday night at the home of her sister, Mrs. Elzada Bird in Levelland. Tuesday morning the Griffins drove to Lovington, N. M. where they visited Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Smith and other friends. Mr. Griffin was associated with the Smith Funeral Home in Lovington before moving to Quitaque. They drove back to Levelland and spent another night with Mrs. Bird, and Wednesday the Griffins went to Fort Worth, where they visited his mother, Mrs. Mae Griffin, his brother, Lee Griffin, and his sisters, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Moring and Mrs. Myrtle Moring. They returned home, reporting a very good vacation.

a construction by the President of Congressional intent. Action taken by the administrators acting under these orders can drastically affect the affairs of small business operators. Unlike major industry groups which are quick to challenge the provisions of Executive Orders they oppose, the "little man" is often loathe to contest the effects by taking the matter to court. The little man's own economic situation may prevent him from seeking redress in an expensive court action.

Custom now is for a President to set forth in the Executive Order the authority, Constitutional or Congressional, upon which the order is based. Thus, in Executive Order No. 11,115, a good example of a more or less routine order, President Kennedy cited Section 10 of the Railway Labor Act as authority for him to create an emergency board to investigate a railway dispute. This order of July 4, is the latest in the historic chain.

From time to time there has been criticism of Executive Orders, even as constituting illegal government by edict. I've questioned the wisdom and validity of many Executive Orders issued over the years by Presidents of both political parties. In my opinion, it is time that this question be dealt with directly either by the Courts or by Congress. There should be a delineation in clear-cut terms of where the President's powers with relation to an Executive Order begin and where they end.

NEW COTTON BOLL SEPARATOR DEVELOPED

College Station, August 1 — An improved cotton crop and earlier harvesting may be brought to the High Plains of Texas and Oklahoma by an experimental cotton boll separator attachment, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The attachment for cotton stripper harvesters effectively separates immature cotton bolls from mature bolls, thus solving a problem that has long complicated early harvesting. A USDA spokesman told of the new device at a recent meeting of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers. It was developed by the USDA scientists in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock.

In explaining the machine, the spokesman pointed out that cotton harvested before a killing frost has a higher lint quality than cotton harvested following a frost because the crop is exposed to less weathering. However, when the crop is harvested before frost, it contains many immature bolls that must be separated from mature cotton before it is ginned.

In the High Plains, cotton is usually harvested after the first killing frost by the non-selective process of stripping all bolls from the plants at the same time.

The new machine works by blowing the light, fluffy mature cotton through a conveyor into a wagon or basket. The heavier immature bolls drop into a box and are later piled in the field to dry. This cotton can be sold after it has dried, though it is of low quality.

Mr. and Mrs. Lesley Crane of Redford, Ore. spent Tuesday night with Mrs. Patsy Martin and children. Mrs. Crane is Patsy's aunt.

The Rev. and Mrs. Amos Bennett and four children of Daingerfield were recent Quitaque. The Bennett family lived here in 1934 and the Bennett children attended school here. Rev. Hi-Plains Hi-Lights

NEWS from the High Plains Research Foundation

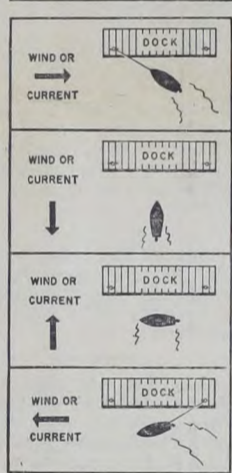

Jack Parks, Assistant Agricultural Engineer in charge of flame cultivation research at the High Plains Research Foundation, announced that farmers throughout Texas could save several thousands of dollars in hoe labor if they would start using flame cultivation. Mr. Parks based his statement on research that has been conducted by the Foundation for the past 4 years.

Mr. Parks pointed out that early planted cotton, which survived the adverse weather condition, in most cases, is now being irrigated. This irrigation will cause the weed seed to germinate, and flame cultivation can be used to good advantage in eliminating these new weeds. The one or two inch weeds can be destroyed with no damage to the cotton or soybeans if the crop plants are 6 to 8 inches in height. Grain sorghum and castorbeans can be flame cultivated with ease now since these crops are of sufficient height to permit the application of intense heat to the weeds.

Parks cautions that cloddy conditions, resulting from sweep cultivation when the soil was wet, may reduce the efficiency of flaming due to the inability of directing the flame at weeds located behind the large clods. Proper adjustment of flaming equipment can overcome this difficulty, however, and if it is necessary to sweep cultivate, flaming should precede this operation. Parks said it will take more heat early in the day when dew is on the weeds as compared to flaming later in the day. Flaming late planted cotton should be started when the cot-

Boating Tips...

Docking a boat is easier than parking a car because you can make the forces of nature help you, say Mercury outboard experts. Try to approach against the force applying most pressure on your boat, be it wind or current. If this force flows parallel to the dock, come in against it, bow angled toward the dock slightly. Shift to reverse to stop and secure the bow line. Your stern will swing toward the dock, and you can tie up aft. With an off-the-dock wind, approach head on, stopping a few feet from the dock. Secure the bow line, then power the stern into place. When the wind's astern, come close and parallel to the dock, then drift into place. If you must approach with the wind, drive parallel to the dock and secure the stern line first. The wind will push your bow into place.

New Fresh Nectarine Dessert

Easy to prepare, elegant to behold, "Nectarine Mint Bavarian" is a gourmet dessert to catch the fancy of summer appetites. This colorful chilled delight combines chopped fresh nectarines with lemon gelatin and whipped cream flavored plquantly with peppermint extract. It's crested with nectarine slices for added eye appeal.

Although the nectarines are peeled in this case, it isn't necessary to remove their thin, smooth skins for most uses. The fuzz-free skin makes nectarines a favorite for out-of-hand eating. Juicy, red-and-gold fresh nectarines from California are found in markets from late June into September. Savor their sunny flavor and fragrance regularly during their all-too-fleeting season.

NECTARINE MINT BAVARIAN

- 2 packages (3 oz. each) lemon gelatin
 - 1 1/2 cups boiling water
 - 1 1/2 cups cold water
 - 1 to 1 1/2 teaspoon peppermint extract or 3 tablespoons creme de menthe
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
 - 3 tablespoons lemon juice
 - 3 large fresh nectarines
 - 1/2 pint whipping cream
- Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; stir in cold water, peppermint extract, salt, lemon rind and 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Chill until mixture mounds on spoon. Peel and slice nectarines. Brush 6 slices with remaining lemon juice; chop other slices coarsely. Whip cream; fold into gelatin mixture. Fold in chopped nectarines. Turn into 6-cup mold; chill until firm. Unmold and top with reserved nectarine slices. If desired, garnish with maraschino cherry and additional nectarine slices. Makes 10 servings.

Flame cultivation by the Foundation staff is underway in the High Plain Area and in the lower Rio Grande Valley of Texas. Dr. Earl Collister, Director of the Foundation, stated in commenting on the flame cultivation research program that an advisory council, which represents the flame cultivation industry, meets with the Foundation staff frequently regarding the research program. The council is composed of: J. J. Let us consider whether it was the custom of the early church to gather with the assembly of the saints. Acts 20:7—"And upon the first day of the week, when the disciples came together to break bread, Paul preached unto them." Hebrews 10: 24, 25 and other places also prove this.

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE ON THE BALLOT

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 9, 1963. SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 1 proposing an amendment to Sections 2 and 4 of Article VI of the Constitution of the State of Texas so as to repeal the provision making payment of the poll tax a requirement for voting and so as to authorize the Legislature to provide for the registration of all voters.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Sections 2 and 4 of Article VI of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended to read, respectively, as follows:

"Section 2. Every person subject to none of the foregoing disqualifications who shall have attained the age of twenty-one years and who shall be a citizen of the United States and who shall have resided in this state one year next preceding an election and the last six months within the district or county in which such person offers to vote, shall be deemed a qualified elector; provided that any member of the Armed Forces of the United States or component branches thereof, or in the military service of the United States, may vote only in the county in which he or she resided at the time of entering such service so long as he or she is a member of the Armed Forces; and provided further, that before offering to vote at an election a voter shall have registered if required by law to do so. The Legislature may authorize absentee voting. This Amendment shall take effect on December 1, 1963.

"Section 4. In all elections by the people the vote shall be by secret ballot. The Legislature shall provide for the numbering of ballots and make such other regulations as may be necessary to detect and punish fraud and preserve the purity of elections, and may provide by law for the registration of all voters. Should the Legislature enact a registration law in anticipation of the adoption of this Amendment, such law shall not be invalid by reason of its anticipatory character."

Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of the state at an election to be held on the first Saturday after the first Monday in November, 1963, at which election all ballots shall have printed thereon the following:

"FOR the amendment of the Constitution of the State of Texas so as to repeal the provision making payment of the poll tax a requirement for voting and so as to authorize the Legislature to provide for the registration of all voters."

"AGAINST the amendment of the Constitution of the State of Texas so as to repeal the provision making payment of the poll tax a requirement for voting and so as to authorize the Legislature to provide for the registration of all voters."
