

School Tax Office Holiday Hours

The Shallowater School Tax Office will be open during the Christmas vacation during the following hours:

Thursday, Dec. 26th and Friday, Dec. 27th, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. Monday, Dec. 30th and Tuesday, Dec. 31st, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

A Public Thank You

A public job, so many times is taken for granted by residents, as a service they pay for and are entitled to, which is very true. It is one appreciated by all, but the following letter depicts the feelings of the majority of city residents in Shallowater.

The city employees and members of the city council deeply appreciate Mrs. Fairhurst for taking the time to put her feelings down on paper.

Dear Garbage Men,
Thank you for a year of terrific service. Thank you for picking up trash when wild dogs got into the garbage, you didn't have to. Thank you for putting up with my own two sheppards who bark wildly at you every time. Thank you for being so careful driving in the alleys. My children just love to run and say hello. Thank you for a vital service that is by it's nature unpleasant. Merry Christmas to you and to yours.

Rays of Hope

"For God so loved the world..." (John 3:16a). This was the beginning of the Christmas Spirit. And years and years later, this is still the true meaning of the Christmas season.

When God first spoke the world into existence, He said, "Light Shine!" and in doing this, he gave physical light to the whole world. At a later time in history, in Luke 1:78-79, it was announced that spiritual light would be given to the whole world.

This story is given in John 1:1-14. This is how the story reads from the Living Bible:

Before anything else existed, there was Christ, with God. He has always been alive and is himself God. He created everything there is, nothing exists that he didn't make. Eternal life is in him, and this life gives light to all mankind. His life is the light that shines through the darkness, and the darkness can never extinguish it.

God sent John the Baptist as a witness to the fact that Jesus Christ is the true light. John himself was not the light; he was only a witness to identify it. Later on, the one who is the true light arrived to shine on everyone coming into the world.

But although he made the

Due to the holiday season, and previous arrangements with the U.S. Postal Service, the next issue of Suburban Today will be printed on Thursday, January 9th. Everyone involved with "Today" will take a few days well earned rest, and get ready for next year.

May we wish all our readers a very Happy New Year.

STILL PROOF that things are larger in Texas, is this 10 1/4 lb. turnip grown on the Bill Farris farm, six miles northwest of Shallowater. The turnips, planted in early August yielded several in the 9 lb. variety. This is just an example that things are bigger in Texas and as always, with a picture to prove it, how could anyone doubt the word of a native Texan.

GSPA Executive Predicts Deficit Grain Supply For Southwestern Area of U.S.

The tightest grain supply in recent history is forecast for the southwestern part of the United States in the spring and summer of 1975.

That is the prediction of Grain Sorghum Producers Association Executive Director Elbert Harp "if the present rate of consumption continues."

Harp points out that, although the number of cattle on feed is down, the number of cattle currently on feed is higher in relation to the feed supply a year ago.

The USDA cattle on feed report

Monday night, the 7th and 8th grade girls basketball teams met Seagraves for a very tough game. The 7th grade girls were very close during the first half, then Seagraves kept their momentum up and ended the game winning 26 to 18.

The 8th grade girls had a very exciting game. At the end of the first half, they were only behind 3 points. Then during the 3rd quarter they began to get behind but all of a sudden they put the pressure on and went ahead 2 points. Seagraves came back and scored 3 more points with the winning score of 40 to 37. The guards played exceptionally well. They were rebounding very good over Seagraves 6'2" girl and got the ball down court well.

The forwards did very well in scoring. Terri Stanton scored 28, Jana Hayslip 7, and Jeani Roberts 2. We are proud of these girls for all their hard work and hope they will have a victory over O'Donnell Jan. 13th.

for November, 1974, showed the cattle on feed number about 71 percent of the level of the previous year.

The total 1974 production of corn and grain sorghum for the Southwestern United States is only 68 percent of 1973. With the heavier weight cattle going into the feedlots, the average daily consumption may be higher, adding additional stress to the figures.

The exports of grain sorghum for the last six months of 1974 are running about 86 percent of 1973. In comparison to the production of 1974 the export market is using a larger percentage. The exports for the last six months of 1973 were 3.75 percent of the crop that year. The relationship was 4.95 percent for 1974.

"Under present consumption trends, it appears that grain will have to be shipped into the southwestern feedlots from the corn belt by late spring and summer," Harp predicted. "We encourage all cattle feeders to study these figures while grain is still available, in order to avoid the additional freight expenses."

SPORTS

by Joe Kelly

Twas the night before Christmas and all through the Texas Tech athletic department all you could hear was J.T. King moaning, "I've gotta made a decision."

Well, maybe Jake didn't get quite that far. Before you can make a decision, you have to have the field narrowed down to the point where you can make a decision. And, if he's reached that point, he ain't talking. The betting is that each day he gets closer.

There are those supporting a wide variety, and if you listen, each is supposed to have the inside track. The only really established candidates are Richard Bell and Tom Wilson. The names of others crop up in conversations, such as Gil Bartosh, Hayden Fry, et al.

I'd almost bet that Jake makes an announcement right after Christmas and before the Cotton Bowl game. Then, like many other ADs before him, he could take his new coach to Dallas and get good copy.

One man brought up an interesting point the other day. Said he, I don't think Tech will hire Wilson because then you'd have two head coaches (Gerald Myers) who were both Tech graduates.

I don't think that rules out Tom, but I'd be happy with either him or Richard Bell. The latter is an Arkansas graduate, whom we respected as an outstanding player when Tech faced the Porkers. In addition, he's one of the sharpest defensive coaches around, is highly personable, meets people easily and is a good speaker.

If Tech hadn't run into some "homers" on the road, Myers' bunch would be 5-1, instead of a respectable 3-3. The Raiders should have won both the Vanderbilt and LaSalle games.

But Vanderbilt received enough free throws to win two games and LaSalle was so clean that, using a fast break and a tough defense, only nine fouls were whistled—and Tech went to the free throw line in anger only once in 40 minutes.

The single free throw might have established a new record for the Guinness Book of Records. Even in the days of Doc Hayes' regime at SMU, the Ponies didn't play that cleanly.

SMU teams, in those days, were so immaculate that other teams woke up in the night hearing whistles, while the Ponies didn't know what they were. It led Bobby Rogers, then A&M coach, to cut short a press conference. He told the writers that he had to supervise the taking of showers by his players. He wanted them clean enough to play SMU!

Regardless of the two road losses, the Raiders have become a changed team. It probably started with the Vandy game, that they should, by all rights, have won. It carried over to New Mexico, when they looked poised, polished and potent.

They knocked off a Dayton team in a major upset and obviously played well, then came back to do a great job on LaSalle, only to lose because they didn't get any free throw attempts.

The potential for a strong team was there all along. It just took time for the players to jell. They started slowly against Adams State, suffered jitters against K-State and then have come on fast.

Tech lost both of its starting guards, but four men have begun to shape up as strong replacements. And there never really was any question about the front line. It was especially capable, two of the threesome being among the two best players Tech ever has had.

Saturday night, hours after the Peach Bowl game, the Raiders have another warmup game that should give them a good test and help them polish their talents.

Mississippi arrives Saturday night and it should be a good game. The Rebels are in the tough Southeast Conference and won't be easy. A victory for Tech will be hard earned, but it will put the Raiders above .500 and help them down the line, just as the other games have helped.

The football Raiders put prestige and pride on the line Saturday morning when they kickoff the start of spring training in the Peach Bowl. There's not much else riding on the game.

What the Raiders will do is anyone's guess. They'll be playing for a coach who will leave right after the game to take up his new duties at another school. And another coach will be walking the sidelines for the last time. John Conley also will take up new duties.

As I said, no one really knows what the Raiders will do, except that competition gets the adrenalin flowing. Therefore, I look for the Raiders to give a good account of themselves. After all, a good performance will help impress the new coach, whoever he is.

But, more than that, Tech will be representing the Southwest Conference, as well as the school, Lubbock, the South Plains and West Texas, to say nothing of the state. It's a good challenge.

The Raiders should be in good physical condition, which will help. They've been under no pressure in practice and they have some formerly injured players back that should help.

Despite the obvious tensions, I'd be willing to bet that the Raiders come out full of enthusiasm and play a good game. A victory would kick the new program off well and give players a lot of satisfaction. The Raiders are capable of an outstanding game. I look for them to have it.

This column changes base, as of Christmas Day, to Dallas, where I will be helping Wilbur Evans with Cotton Bowl activities. The next column will come from Big D.

Meanwhile, apologies for getting so wrapped up in time that I lost track of time and failed to do what everyone should do. And thus, a belated, but most sincere, Merry Christmas to all our readers and a wish for 1975 that the new year will bring you peace, hope, love, and prosperity. Happy New Year!

world, the world didn't recognize Him when He came.

Even in His own land and among His own people, the Jews, He was not accepted. Only a few would welcome and receive Him. But to all who received Him, He gave the right to become children of God. All they needed to do was to trust Him to save them. All those who believe this are reborn. Not a physical rebirth resulting from human passion or plan, but from the will of God.

And Christ became a human being and lived here on earth among us and was full of loving forgiveness and truth. And some of us have seen His glory, the glory of the only Son of the heavenly Father."
