

Surprise Birthday Party Staged

by Janice Jarvis

Celebrating his 87th birthday at a surprise party at the First State Bank of Shallowater, L.E. McMenemy said that one of his birthday wishes is to have a motorcycle.

Jokingly he added, "If I had one I don't believe my wife would ride with me if I was driving it."

Instead of riding a motorcycle, Mr. Mac, as he is called by friends, rides a three-wheel bicycle around town. He also has his drivers license renewed for four years.

Mr. Mac moved to this part of the country in 1924 and then later settled in Shallowater in 1960. For many years he farmed near New Deal.

"You might say I'm a clodhopper," he laughed. But he was also on the school board in what is now New Deal.

Making his home in Shallowater, Mr. Mac enjoys working in the yard and reading current news. His wife spends her free time making quilts and is now working a quilt for her great-grandbaby.

The McMenemy's also enjoy visits from their four children, 13 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

"All our relatives live in Texas except for one boy who lives in New Mexico," Mrs. McMenemy said.

Mr. McMenemy said he has enjoyed good health throughout his 87 years.

"Mrs. McMenemy has been a really good cook," he said, which may attribute to his good health. Luck and clean living also played a part in his life, he said.

The couple attends First Baptist Church of Shallowater but occasionally visit the Methodist Church.

"There's a church on each side of us and we usually get around to visiting both," he said.

Born in Farmersville, Texas Sept. 6, 1889, McMenemy has seen many changes over the years. He philosophized that if people worked for what they received everyone would be better off.

"A lot of people are victims of circumstances but if they worked hard as I did they wouldn't be on relief," Mr. Mac explained.

During his early years, Mr. Mac lived on a farm with his parents until his father bought a cafe and they moved in town.

Leaving his home he headed for the plains and began farming. He chose this part of Texas as his home because, "I wanted to try some new country since I already wore out the old one," he said.

Study Club Meets

The first meeting of the Shallowater Study Club for this calendar year was held Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 in the home of Mrs. A.C. Woodruff with Mrs. F.W. Farris, president, presiding.

Seventeen members and four guests were present and heard Dr. Dudley Strain, retired minister of the First Christian Church in Lubbock, speak on "How To Grow Big."

Refreshments of cookies, nuts, mints and punch were served by Mrs. Woodruff, Mrs. Farris and Mrs. S.H. Robinson.

The next meeting will be Sept. 21, in the home of Mrs. Carey Gooch with a book review by Mrs. Howard Preston.

Drive Set To Up State's 'Poll Power'

With all the hullabaloo of the national political conventions only echoes of the past, the move is on to get citizens registered to vote in time to cast ballots in the Nov. 2 election.

Texas has long been below the national average in voter participation, according to Sec. of State Mark White. In 1960, only 41.2 per cent of the voting-age Texans went to the polls, and in 1966, that figure fell to 20.8 per cent.

The state's voter turnout in 1972 was 45.3 per cent, still well below the national average of 55 per cent.

White wants to do something about Texas' poor voting record. Beginning this month, his office is conducting a massive, statewide voter registration drive for this fall's Presidential election.

"Clearly, there is room for improvement, and we hope our drive will help," White said. "We hope every Texan will register and vote."

A pilot registration drive was conducted last spring, White said, and it added about 400,000 new voters to the Texas rolls.

"Last spring's experience convinced us we need to enlarge our registration efforts," White said. "The new Texas registration law makes it easier than ever before to vote in Texas, and we are trying to make sure every citizen is aware of that fact."

Under the new registration law, White said, Texans need only fill out a registration postcard and mail it. Registration deadline for the Nov. 2 election is Oct. 1.

Who can register to vote? According to White, any Texas resident can register once he or she reaches the age of 17 years 10 months, though the age of 18 must be reached to actually vote.

Booster Club Meets

The Shallowater Athletic Booster Club met Tuesday night, Sept. 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium with a presentation of the Mustang football players by the four coaches, Wolski, Tubbs, Baker and Casey.

A committee, composed of Ricky White, LaVon McAuley, Mary Warren and Mrs. Raford Thomas will be promoting spirit, a new tradition for winning football in the Shallowater school system.

The Booster Club voted this year before each home game to decorate as many cars as possible in the school colors of red and black crepe paper to stress the fact the boosters are behind the coaches and players 100 per cent.

Those attending enjoyed a film of the Shallowater-Ackerly game played Friday night, the Mustangs won 23-0, narrated by Coach Wolski.

Punch and doughnuts were served to the members, guests, coaches and players.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 14 at 8:00 p.m. in the auditorium and everyone is urged to attend and help back the Mighty Mustangs and their coaches.

Under revised registration laws, White explained, voters who are registered receive a blue registration certificate from their county clerk. Only holders of blue certificates will be eligible to vote this November—older certificates are no longer valid, he said.

Residents who have moved since registering to vote also should fill out another voter registration application.

Lubbock County Tax Assessor-Collector Russell Hardin said voter registration applications can be obtained at his office. Voter registration postcards will not be mailed out during the September drive, he said, unless a citizen sends in a request for one.

"Applications also will be on display in food stores around the state," White said. "We hope to literally put voter registration at the fingertips of most Texans before the registration deadline."

As of July 31, 65,910 Lubbock County residents held blue voter registration certificates — with about 300-500 additional registrations coming in weekly during August, Hardin said. He anticipated the number of registrations coming into his office to more than triple during the September drive. "We anticipate having a voting strength of 100,000 in Lubbock County in November," Hardin said.

Lubbock County 4-H Fair Set

The Lubbock County 4-H Fair will be held on September 11, 1976 at the Merchant's Building on the South Plains Fair Grounds. We would like for you or a member of your staff to attend if possible.

4-H'ers will exhibit projects in crops, electricity, horticulture, floriculture, hobbies, culinary, baked foods, textiles, poultry and rabbit. There will also be a dog show and a "Share-The-Fun" talent show.

The judging will begin at 1:00 p.m. with the talent show, awards, and baked goods auction at 2:30 p.m.

The public is invited to attend and we would also appreciate any publicity you could give us.

Lubbock County Farm Tour is Tomorrow

The annual Lubbock County Farm Tour will be held on September 10, 1976, according to Ken D. Cook, county Extension agent. The tour will depart from the parking lot south of the Federal Building by chartered bus at 9:30 a.m.

Points of interest on this year's tour will include the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Home Water System at New Deal, Feedlot Pollution Control at Abernathy, and several cotton variety and cotton disease control plots in the Idalou community.

The tour is being sponsored by the Lubbock County Extension Service, Soil Conservation Ser-

The Rains Came

Several inches of rain has doused the South Plains with much welcomed moisture over the past week, with a steady downpour falling in the area Monday night and Tuesday morning, leaving city streets running curb deep in places.

Although the rains came at a time they were really needed the most, it hampered the predicted starting time for harvesting the abundant area grain crop.

Goodpasture Inc. was contacted

Tuesday afternoon and they received 9000 pounds of yellow milo, Saturday afternoon, brought in by Bryan and Glen Burgett from Burgett Farms with a moisture content of 20. We were unable to get in touch with Shallowater Grain at presstime to see whether they had received a load or not.

When the wet weather moves on out and the fields dry enough for the combines and trucks, the grain harvest should be in full swing soon.

Dr. Harvie M. Pruitt Becomes LCC Executive Vice President

Lubbock Christian College Dean Dr. Harvie M. Pruitt has been named executive vice president of the college.

Pruitt now holds the school's second highest administrative post behind LCC President Dr. W. Joe Hacker Jr.

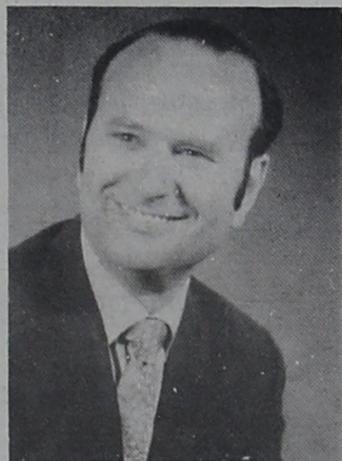

Pruitt will continue his duties as dean of the college while taking on additional responsibilities on institutional planning and budget coordination. He also will serve as chairman of the administrative executive council when the president is absent from campus and be directly responsible for student life, academics and the college business office.

"I appreciate this vote of confidence from the board of trustees and will use all of my resources to see that this trust is well placed," Pruitt said.

According to Hacker, Pruitt's record as a professor and dean has been one of complete competence. "We're proud to have a man of his capabilities here," Hacker said.

A native of Lubbock, Pruitt joined LCC as a professor in the education department in 1966. He was selected by the students as Teacher of the Year in 1971 and was chairman of the Faculty Senate for three years. In early 1975, Pruitt was named dean of the college.

After graduating from Lubbock High School in 1947, Pruitt received a B.A. degree from Abilene Christian University in 1951 and master's and doctorate degrees from Texas Tech University.

Harvie M. Pruitt

Pruitt's first teaching position was at Lubbock High, where he taught speech and journalism. From there, he was a teacher at Abilene Christian High School before moving to Frankfurt, Germany, for three years as a minister and teacher.

In Lubbock, Pruitt has been minister of the Smithlawn Church of Christ, Greenlawn Church of Christ, education minister for the Broadway Church of Christ and director of the Smithlawn Maternity Home.

Pruitt has contributed articles to several Church of Christ-oriented publications. He also was a staff writer for "Power for Today" and senior editor of "Christian Bible Teacher." A book entitled "Workshop Manual" was authored by the Lubbock man, who also has written literature aimed at teens attending vacation Bible schools.

He has 40 grandchildren, 61 great-grandchildren and 1 great grandchild.

Letter to the Editor

This letter of thanks is for the Shallowater Volunteer Emergency Medical Service personnel which includes J.D. Young, Richard Hopson, Sid Leonard, Harry King, Ernie Rockler, Debbie Turner and Dardie Wiliamson for their part in making the ambulance available at the Shallowater football game Friday night.

It gave the parents and grandparents a good feeling to know that the ambulance and medical help was on stand by in case it was needed to take care of the players if one was injured.

We would like to say three cheers for these fine medical people and the ambulance for giving of their time and services voluntarily to the Shallowater School and the Shallowater Community. There is no way to thank each of you enough.

Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Giles

SPORTS

by Joe Kelly

The hour glass has been turned over and the sands are counting out the minutes until Texas Tech makes its 1976 football debut. The coming out is Saturday, 7:30 p.m., against Colorado in Jones Stadium. It would be a good night for you to be there.

I think fans will like what they see. The Red Raiders have worked hard. Judging from last Saturday's scrimmage, they have learned well. Now it's final exam time.

It won't be a particularly new look. Oh, some changes have been made, subtly, here and there, but basically it will be the same offense and defense as last season.

The big difference, perhaps, is the fact that both players and coaches are a year older. Both know what the other expects of them, there is better understanding. But there is the same enthusiasm there was a year ago.

The Raiders got a real break for their final tough scrimmage. It was hot Saturday and the scrimmage was a normal game's length. And the squad had to go full speed, after which it did many sideline to sideline wind sprints, never easy.

The scoreboard read something like 62 or 63 points, with the offense looking about as potent as the tote board indicated. The Raiders didn't move at will, but they moved the ball extremely well.

Asked to assess the performance, Coach Steve Sloan called it "adequate." That's about like catching 60 trout when 10 is the limit.

But Steve went on to explain that it wasn't like the preceding Saturday, because the first and second teams were going against the scout team. Still, he obviously appeared pleased with the overall showing.

A year ago, in its opener, Tech turned in an almost flawless performance. It will take a similar effort Saturday against the Buffaloes, who are big, strong and talented.

In fact, if the South end of Jones Stadium sinks a little when Colorado comes on the field, don't be surprised. The visitors have size. They also have ability. There's more support for the Buffs to win the tough Big 8 than there is for Tech to win the Southwest Conference. And that tells you something.

Frankly, this will be one of the tougher openers for the Raiders. At the same time, this appears to be a well-conditioned squad with more than the normal depth.

In Tommy Duniven and Rodney Allison Tech has two outstanding quarterbacks, along with a strong stable of runners. There is more experience in the front line and the defense is more experienced. All in all, it promises to be an interesting and exciting season.

One of the spectators Saturday was Jimmy Martin, better known as Mr. Dairy Queen. Jimmy owns some nine stores here, as well as one each in Lamesa and Brownfield.

It turned out that Jimmy comes by his football interest legitimately. He played football at Washburn and, while the Ichabods are not exactly a household word in West Texas, they had their moments of glory. Jack Dale could tell you about Washburn.

Jimmy also had a brother who went to Kansas State, but was sidelined early. Anyway, Jimmy's old Washburn teams at one time ruled the roost in Kansas and once, as I recall, beat Army.

Jimmy also played pro baseball, but "I had to quit when I couldn't hit the curve ball," and turned instead to softball. He related that once he played against Art Gatts, former sports writer here, now on the West Coast.

Talked to a fellow in Roscoe last week. He had gone out opening day of the dove season and had gotten his limit. He said that the doves were thick and also fat.

I know that driving down the back roads in late summer and early this fall doves were all over the place. In fact, many stayed on the road too long and were hit by the car. They looked fat and I have an idea that the hunting should be better than average.

Baltimore, playing host to the Yankees, could do no better than split when the Orioles needed a sweep and that probably clinched a first place finish for New York.

While the Yankees are riding high, the other races have begun to get a little more interesting. The Phillies had a long losing streak, Oakland has picked up on Kansas City and the Dodgers have hacked some ground out from under Cincinnati.

The races aren't over yet by any means.

Dropped in to see Norm Williamson last week and saw someone who looked familiar. I couldn't place him until Norm "introduced" me to Owen Gray. I put "introduced" in quotes, because a few years back Owen was a top road racer here.

In fact, he did his best to cajole me into running a Mexican road race with him. But when he described it, with all the dirt and gravel mountains, narrow cliff runs, etc., I had second thoughts.

Besides, Charley Guy never would have let me go—although I'm sure there were times that he had later second thoughts!

Encephalitis Outbreak Feared in Some Areas

Some health officials are predicting an outbreak of St. Louis encephalitis around the state and nation.

St. Louis encephalitis (SLE), a sometimes fatal disease of the nervous system, has been identified positively in the Houston area. Officials are watching closely in Dallas, the Corsicana area and the Conroe area for confirmation of suspected cases.

Mosquitoes get the disease mainly from birds and give it to people. Monitoring human, bird and mosquito populations in several states has shown SLE present.

Only two of the approximately 80 mosquito species in Texas can carry SLE, the Texas Medical Association (TMA) said. Texas state health officials are continuing regular monitoring of mosquito populations in about 30 areas for signs of infected mosquitoes.

Only a few cases have been confirmed in Houston, but many people are alarmed—remembering Houston's 1975 outbreak when there were 32 confirmed cases with two deaths. There were an additional 28 suspected cases with five deaths.

Similar or larger encephalitis outbreaks have occurred in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, the Corpus Christi area, Dallas and the Lubbock region in years past, a state health department official said. There is no known cure for any type of encephalitis.

According to TMA, the best way to control encephalitis is to vigorously fight mosquitoes. People can destroy mosquito breeding grounds by getting rid of standing water in tin cans, old tires, flowerbeds, boats, etc. Cutting tall grass and weeds robs mosquitoes of some hiding places. Staying indoors at night, wearing protective clothing and applying a mosquito repellent intended for use on the body also can help. Repellents containing the chemical ingredient diethyltoluamide can be useful.

A local health department may be able to fog an area with a biodegradable insecticide and may even resort to aerial spraying in some cases to kill adult mosquitoes. Standing bodies of water can be sprayed to kill mosquito larvae. If a private citizen wishes to treat an area, the health department can advise about their own spraying schedule and insecticides available.

For every serious case of SLE, it is estimated there are between 65 and 150 other cases—many unreported. Encephalitis can be a serious disease but there should be no cause for great concern about a mosquito bite until encephalitis symptoms develop. A biting mosquito may not have been the right species or it may not have been infected if it were a possible carrier; it may not have transmitted the infection if it did carry encephalitis; if it did infect someone, symptoms might be relatively mild. Humans cannot give SLE to each other. SLE symptoms can include high fever, headache, urinary problems, weakness, speech and movement problems, sluggishness and unconsciousness.

Art Classes Set At LCC

Three art-oriented courses are being offered by the Continuing Education Division of Lubbock Christian College beginning in mid-September.

A course in macrame designed for the beginning or the experienced Craftsman starts Sept. 13. The class will meet on Mondays and Thursdays for two weeks.

A liquid silver jewelry crafting course will allow the interested student to make his own jewelry. The course meets Sept. 14 and 21.

Oil painting will be offered on Tuesdays and Thursdays, beginning Sept. 21. This course is designed for beginners but is open to all persons who wish to paint in the classroom setting.

Other classes starting in mid-September include dog obedience, cake decorating, basic real estate and speedwriting.

4-H Donors Help Ease College Cost Squeeze

CHICAGO—As the cost of higher education rises steeply, choosing a college becomes one of the most critical decisions a young person must make.

Several alternatives have to be considered: public versus private school, four-year university versus two-year community college or technical school, living at home and commuting or living on campus. All these alternatives affect over-all educational costs.

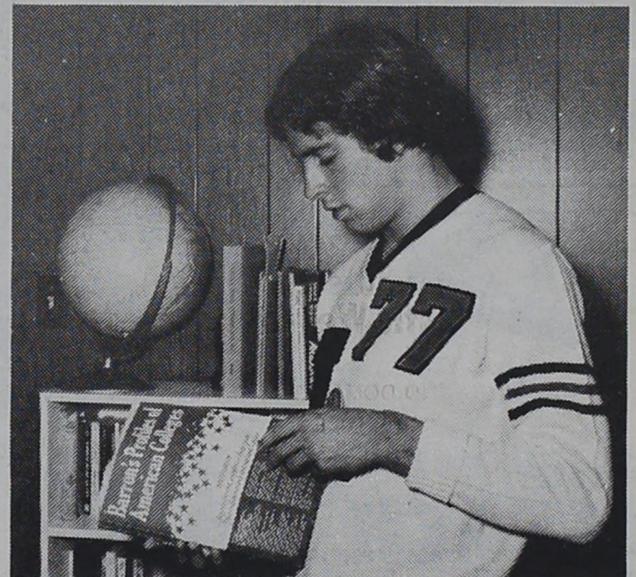

Most financial aid is administered through the colleges. But there are other sources of scholarships, grants and loans that prospective students should explore.

For example, $209,000 in scholarships is available this year through the National 4-H Service Committee to young people who are present or former 4-H members. Funds for these scholarships are donated by private businesses, foundations and individuals.

Most of the scholarships reward outstanding work in a broad range of 4-H projects. Eligibility requirements are set by the Cooperative Extension Service, which conducts the 4-H program.

Many private-sector donors also offer medals of honor, expense-paid trips to the 55th National 4-H Congress, Nov. 28-Dec. 2 in Chicago, and other incentives and recognition to 4-H members.

Among some 60 donors providing funds through the Service Committee in 1976 are Standard Brands Incorporated, sponsor of awards in the national 4-H bread program; Insurance Company of North America, 4-H dairy program; Carnation Company, dairy foods; Tupperware Home Parties, Division of Dart Industries,

With the cost of higher education rising steeply, choosing a college becomes a critical decision. Young people who are present or former 4-H members may qualify for one of 260 scholarships donated by private businesses, foundations and individuals through the National 4-H Service Committee this year. Details on 4-H scholarships and awards programs are available from Cooperative Extension Service agents in your county.

Inc., home management; and Simplicity Pattern Co. Inc., dress revue.

Others include The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, 4-H bicycle program; Purina Dog Foods Group, Ralston Purina Company, dog care and training; Hercules Incorporated, entomology; The S&H Foundation, Inc., home environment; Union Oil Company of California, public speaking; and The Upjohn Company, veterinary science.

Weyerhaeuser Company Foundation joined the roster of national 4-H donors this year as sponsor of the woodworking awards program. And Chevron Chemical Company, Ortho Division, expanded its support of 4-H by assuming sponsorship of a full schedule of awards in the national 4-H gardening program.

College scholarships are offered by DeKalb AgResearch, Inc. for agribusiness careers; Allied Mills, Inc., animal science; Homelite, a Division of Textron Inc., forestry; and Champion Valley Farms, Inc., Recipe Division, Lassie 4-H Veterinary Medicine, Edwin T. Meredith Foundation offers scholarships to present or former 4-H members who live in a 15-state area.

Six $800 scholarships, plus expense-paid trips to Congress, are assured by the Service Committee to national winners in 4-H beef, horse and swine projects.

More details on 4-H scholarships and awards programs are available from county extension agents.

Sheridan's Ride

by Jack Sheridan

Even the oldtimers, particularly those who have paid attention to or been involved with advertising campaigns in show business over the years, agreed they had hardly ever seen anything quite like the approach.

For more than a week, there were daily individual television spot commercials and in the press there were sizeable ads (expensive, too) that plugged the upcoming film "Goin' Home" but the writer-producer-director Chris Prentiss, (he also handles the make-up, photography and lighting), told us nothing about the film, its cast, its content other than to say it had taken six years to film, was a "film for all ages" and it was a film "like they used to make."

Exasperating as it was, it was somewhat provocative. Add to that the fact that the picture opened on the same day (Friday, Sept. 3) at three houses in the city limits (and around the area), each house representing a different theater chain and curiosity in the trade as elsewhere was whetted.

Now the "mystery" is unveiled. Just what is "Goin' Home" and is it so "different?" Not really. It is a G-rated film (for the whole family) and resembles a cross between Huckleberry Finn and Tom Sawyer coupled with a scenic travelogue of the nation coast to coast.

Thumbnailing "Goin' Home," it tells of a South Florida boy, Todd, who is pursued through the Everglades with his big black dog Chase (the dog accused of mauling a small child) the flight of boy and dog to New Orleans, his involvement in that city, flight from police across the Mississippi, and his gradual accumulation of other traveling companions, a boy like himself, a retarded, kindly adult, a grinning black boy, an aged, laughing, black man. Pursued now by the evil one, an ugly brute who has stolen Chase briefly and who tries to burn up the traveling band in an hospitable farmer's barn. The evil one gets his midway in the too-long two-hour film. The group loses the retarded one in a tearful scene and finally there are only the two boys and Chase to continue westward over mountain, dale and desert until the crucial decision point at California's Big Sur area.

Prentiss did most of this one on his own. I cannot fathom what took him six years to produce the film. It is a warm, slight tale with a peculiarly unsatisfactory and improbable ending and its saving grace lies in the magnificent photography and the semi-classical film score. The episodic scenes are much too long; the editing could have produced a much tighter and therefore more effective film. As it is, the cow is over milked!

There are also a number of puzzling scenes and some loose strands dangling. For instance, how did the boys know so much about tractors and farm machinery and all to enable them to work on tilling the fields? When the barn fire takes place as well as episodes that threatened the group and his master, did Chase not respond and bark a warning, or growl, at least. Even when the flames leaped, Chase remains stoically calm and lovable. Yet, only a plank wall of the barn kept him from the stealthy, gasoline-spreading villain! And fire is terror for all animals.

Well, we found out what Chris Prentiss and his enigmatic campaign were all about. "Goin' Home" sets its own theme. Ultimately, when asked about the dog, young Todd says that Chase is "home wherever he is." There's the point and I suppose that is as close to elusive question that any of us will ever get. And an acceptable one, when you study it for a while.

There has been a lot of conscientious work given to "Goin' Home." For this Chris Prentiss is to be cited. He was in town last week for the debut showings and I hope he had good houses. For what he put into it, he deserves them. I'll remember the photography for a long time to come.

Do you remember a few years back when the local newspaper refused to take ads for X-rated films? Remember when a poor all-star comedy, X-rated "Candy" was lashed by a city councilman, thereby taking it from failure status to a sell-out on its final night's stand of a week? Remember when all the hullabaloo about Marlon Brando's "The Last Tango in Paris" at the Fox resulted in its being yanked and the manager tried in court? It was X-rated and not worth the fuss. The manager was acquitted and the film came back to better box office than it deserved.

Times have changed. In the Avalanche-Journal Friday, Sept. 4, there were five G-rated films advertised and, get this, five X-rated films. Heavens to Betsy, times have surely changed!

Prime among those X-rated ones was the current Fox Theatre complex's X-rated "Alice in Wonderland," a Cruiser Productions epidermis and clinical anatomy study "epic!" It is a sexual parody of the famed classic and is a musical with not-bad lyrics and music by Bucky Searles. It features all the male and female standard equipment unadorned and frontal, a script that is also unadorned and blatantly frontal! The Rabbit, the Mad Hatter, the Queen and King and all the rest are here, Tweedledee and Tweedledum cavort in the open air in unseemly fashion, and Alice learns that an everyday, chaste librarian is a nothing. It runs an hour and it seems much, much longer. I managed to last 55 minutes out of 60.

If you saw "Flesh Gordon" when it was around, also a spoof, these are the folk responsible for that one. The Alice in this one is reportedly Playboy Cover Girl Kristine De Bell and I have news for you. Bill Osco, the producer credited with the first two mentioned is upcoming with an X-rated "The Wonderful Wizard of Oz" with Miss De Bell setting her sights and impressive equipment on the central character of Dorothy. Hmmm. Wait until Bill Osco and company hurl themselves into "Little Women!" Alice's Lewis Carroll and Dorothy's L. Frank Baum are NOT resting in peace!

Whoops! Ran out of space this time. With a lot more to discuss. Well, next time around? I promise.

PUBLIC NOTICE

SUMMARY OF PROPOSED
CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS
GENERAL ELECTION NOV. 2, 1976

NUMBER ONE ON THE BALLOT (S.J.R. 49)

Repealing Sections 49-d and 49-d-1 of Article III of the Texas Constitution, S.J.R. 49 amends Section 49-c of Article III of the Texas Constitution to provide for and authorize an additional $400 million in Texas water development bonds that may be issued on approval of two-thirds of the members of each house of the Legislature for such water development purposes as the Legislature may prescribe.

NUMBER TWO ON THE BALLOT (H.J.R. 99)

The amendment contains a specific prohibition against the use of state funds for the development of water resources from the Mississippi River and also requires that before any single water development project may be undertaken requiring the expenditure of more than $35 million in bond proceeds, it must be approved by resolution of the Legislature.

The amendment removes the constitutional requirement that certain revenues must be used to retire water development and water quality enhancement bonds and removes the constitutional interest rate limit on such bonds.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing an increase of $400 million in the amount of Texas Water Development Bonds that may be issued on approval of two-thirds of the legislature; amending and consolidating provisions of Sections 49-c, 49-d and 49-d-1 of Article III of the Texas Constitution; and repealing Sections 49-d and 49-d-1 of Article III of the Texas Constitution."

H.J.R. 99 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to increase from $100 million to $200 million the aggregate principle amount of Texas water development bonds which may be issued and outstanding by the Texas Water Development Board to provide grants and loans for water quality enhancement purposes as established by the Legislature.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"A constitutional amendment to increase from $100 million to $200 million the amount of Texas Water Development Bonds that may be issued for water quality enhancement purposes."

HORSE TALES

1st Devision Twirling Line

by Allison Terry

"Step-ball-change! Step - ball - change! Step - kick - step - kick!" These and other famous lines, taken to heart by all twirlers, must have been the subject matter of many a night's dream for the twirlers of Shallowater High.

Endless hours of practice paid off this past summer as the sweethearts of the Mustang Band twirled their way to a Division I and second overall in "Best Twirling Line Competition" at Texas Tech Band Camp. Twirlers from AAAA Odessa Permian High School were the only group able to surpass the excellence of a quality performance by our twirlers.

The twirlers for the Mighty Mustang Band of 1976-77 are: Jamie Myers, Jr.; Kim Myers, Sr.; Tammy Medlock, Jr.; and Lisa DuLaney, Jr.

We should be extremely proud of these girls for their first-rate representation of Shallowater High!

Classes are Clicking

by Alison Terry

Officers for each class and representatives for the Student Council were chosen last Wednesday as activities started clicking around Shallowater High School.

Seniors elected to their executive branch: President, Steve Wilson; Vice-President, Alison Terry; and Secretary - Treasurer, Robbi Mauldin. Representatives to the Student Council are Judy Waller and George Parsley with Steve Wilson serving as alternate to the council.

Juniors chose: President, Tony Heinen; Vice-President, Donna Evans; Secretary, Belinda Seale; Treasurer, Barbara Thomas; and Reporter, Lee Parsley. Student Council representatives are Ruben Gomez and Lori Harrison. Jamie Myers is alternate.

Sophomores ran with: Jana Hayslip, President; Julie Sproles, Vice-President; and Roddy Thomas, Secretary-Treasurer. Danette Dopson, Tim Sinclair, and Mitch Wilson will serve as representatives and alternate to the Student Council, in that respective order.

Fish swam with: President, Lisa Gates; Vice-President, Jami Hart; Secretary-Treasurer, Randy Middlebrook; Representatives, Allan Judah and Steve Roberts; Alternate, Katie Blackmon.

Student Council Capers

by Janice Cook

The Student Council officers and representatives are: President—Brent Ratliff; Vice President—Sam Bohner; Secretary — Kim Myers; Treasurer — Beverly Pair; Representatives — George Parsley, Sr.; Judy Waller, Sr.; Ruben Gomez, Jr.; Lori Harrison, Jr.; Tim Sinclair, Soph.; Danette Dopson, Soph.; Steve Robers, Fr.; and Allan Judah, Fr.

The student council officers who were elected last year attended a camp in Canyon, Texas, on July 25-30. They stayed at West Texas University Campus in the dorms with people they didn't know, but Beverly commented, "this was good because it helped her to meet new people."

At nights they had group sessions of about eighty-five students. All kinds of schools attended this camp.

They had a number of competitive recreational events. There was a Junior Olympics, and they went to see a play called "Texas."

It was a very good opportunity to meet new people and learn about school government and leadership.

Pony Power

by Gloria Lara

The season has started for the mighty Ponies. This past week, the Ponies have worked out hard and rough for the oncoming competition. This year the team has a new Coach. He is Coach Casey, a willing and lively coach who plans to take the team to many victories. This week the Ponies will have their first game. They will be traveling to Ralls to go against the Bunny Rabbits. The team has confidence in their coach and within themselves for a Pony Victory. Good luck Ponies.

Magazine Madness

by Lee Parsley

The Juniors are conducting a magazine sale in order to raise money for the annual Junior-Senior Banquet. If your subscription is running out or you want to subscribe to a magazine call Tony Heinen at 873-3448 or Donna Evans at 832-4246. Please call between 3:30 and 9:30. The sale will be from September 1 through September 15. We need your support!

Calendars On The Move

by Alison Terry

The Senior Class of 1977 is now taking orders for Community Calendars. These calendars stating the birthdays and anniversaries of people in the Shallowater community. One may order a calendar for 60 cents. Family birthdates and/or anniversaries may be placed on the calendar for 25 cents a listing.

The seniors are making every effort to contact all those who purchased calendars last year. If you are new to the community or we fail to contact you, see Mr. Kenneth Grissom or any member of the senior class to order your calendar.

Spirit Reviving

by Suzie De Anda

BOOM - CLASH - YELL! Yes, that is right. Another season of football is under way and that means pep rallies are too! The Shallowater pep squad, cheerleaders, band, and students gathered Friday afternoon to honor the coaches and football players. The gym was packed with spirit for our football team. The cheerleaders taught the spectators new yells, Coach Wolski gave a speech, and everyone yelled.

Friday, the 10th will be a FIFTIES DAY. Everyone will need to dress up Fifties style. So everyone come "dressed up" and boost our team.

On To Olympics

by Janice Cook

Boys and Girls. Kindergarten through 6th grade. Gymnastics is being taught in the old gym on the Shallowater Schools campus. Mrs. Cave, the instructor, reports that the classes are free and no uniform is required. Meet after school from 3:00 to 3:45 as follows:

Monday—5th and 6th grade students

Tuesday—3rd and 4th graders

Wednesday—2nd graders only

Thursday—Kindergarten and 1st graders

Friday—no tumbling. Gym is closed.

Senior Spectacular

by Gloria Lara

Donna Boone is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N.C. Boone. She resides at 1117 15th Street. Donna's birthday is April 22, 1959.

As a senior, her favorite subject is English and she enjoys reading and writing. She is a member of the Future Homemakers Association and the Mustang Band. Writing, traveling, painting, and music are four hobbies of this versatile girl. She was a member of the Youth Exchange program that traveled to Japan this summer.

She is glad that she is a senior because that gives her two free periods in the busy schedule, and very little homework from the other classes. After graduation, she plans to go to a university, but does not know what her major or minor will be.

Have a good year, Donna.

Adult Homemaking Meeting Scheduled

All women interested in making a string art picture come to the Homemaking Cottage, Monday evening, September 13, 7:30 p.m. Bring the following articles: hammer and three or four colors of string. You may use sewing thread or crochet thread. Select different colors which blend or look good together. Boards, stain, patterns, and brads will be furnished.

Mustangs Corral Sands' Mustangs

by Steven Wilson

Shallowater started the 1976-77 football season off with a bang by blanking Sands 23 to 0. The Mustangs began dominating the contest early by pouncing on the Sands' offense, on the first possession of the game.

Shallowater gained their first possession deep in the opponent's territory and it took only one play from scrimmage to score the first touchdown of the game. The point after attempt failed. The remaining seventeen points were scored as the result of two touchdowns, a two-point conversion, a one-point conversion, and a safety. All points were scored in the first half.

Sands seemed unorganized, whereas Shallowater had everything put together. They dominated the entire contest with both their defense and offense. The young men were very fired up, with the desire to win and spirit flowed everywhere. The win was the first of the season and it was the first win for Coach Wolski as a head football coach.
