

Groundbreaking Opens New Bank Building Project

Shallowater School Board Hears New Building Progress Report Last Monday

Monday night, the Board of Trustees of Shallowater I.S.D. received the fourth progress report on construction of the new elementary building. Tom Mills, architect, reported that exterior wall work is complete except for cast stone sills below the windows, which could be finished this week. Stucco work at the entrances and fireproofing of exterior columns should begin this week. There has been some difficulty in obtaining some of the materials needed, including terrazzo flooring and metal lockers. However, everything has now been received and work is progressing rapidly.

The contractor is optimistic about completing the project by the time school starts.

Charles Hohertz, superintendent of schools, said that when the building is completed, grades one through six will be housed there. Mr. Don Morris is principal of the elementary school. The intermediated school, grades seven and eight, will occupy the old upper elementary building. Randy Barnes has been employed as principal of the intermediate school. A high school principal will be employed in the near future. High school will consist of grades 9 through 12.

In other business transacted Monday night, the Board of Trustees approved an open campus for grades 9 through 12, which will permit those students to leave the school grounds during the lunch period and go home or anywhere in town to eat lunch.

A report was also given concerning the parking lot to be constructed on the north side of the high school building. Company B, 980th Engineering Battalion, a reserve unit of the U.S. Army engineers, will begin the rough ground work in September. Alton Brazell, Commissioner of Precinct 4, said the county crew will hopefully finish the paving by January 1, 1975.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new Shallowater First State Bank building were held at 8:30 a.m. Thursday, July 11 by bank officials at the intersection of Loop 388 and Highway 84, just east of the White Stores Inc. Regional Distribution Center.

The ceremony followed the approval for the bank to change its present location by the Texas Banking Department and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

Construction of the new building will be a Spanish design decor accented with face brick exterior and Spanish red tile above windows and entrances. Completion of the building is expected to be around January 1, 1975, on the seven acre tract.

The interior of the new bank will be enhanced by a wood burning fireplace, glazed floor tile and a central courtyard. A special feature of the building will be a decorated community room for after hours, featured with a private entrance.

Bill Cox of Lubbock is the architect for the project and Ed Lampe, also of Lubbock, was awarded the contract to build the 6400 sq. ft. building that will be supplemented by a large parking area.

The officers and directors of the bank include Raymond Barker, chairman of the board; Harold Harriger, Leroy Johnson and Jimmie Mason, directors; Mabry Brock, President and Director; Kenneth Shropshire, Senior Vice President and Director; Floye Gosch, Vice President and Pat Young, Cashier.

Other employees include Philip Gerig, Teller and Security Officer; Jane Blackburn, Teller; Ranita Nunn, Secretary; and Bookkeepers, Shirley Briant, Patsy Miller, Pat Galbraith and Linda Bruno.

SPORTS

by Joe Kelly

Salado—I was driving here for a conference held Saturday and Sunday in connection with the way I make a desperate effort to stay a step ahead of the wolf, when the C&W music suddenly turned to rock. I switched the dial and there, for everyone to hear, was the Friday night Yankees-Rangers game.

It was only the third inning and already the Yanks had an 8-2 lead and it obviously wasn't a good night for Texas. But I didn't know the inning when I tuned in, so I listened.

It seemed interesting. May was serving them up for the Yanks and he was touched for a single. Then he walked a man. Hey! This might be interesting.

The next batter struck out. Well, still two to go. The next batter popped up. Ikay, still a life left. Nuts, a pop-up to the second baseman. He dropped it! A major league player dropping a routine inning-ending pop fly. Whoops!

There still was hope, with the bases loaded. But Piniella made a brilliant diving catch, said the announcer, of a line drive to left and the score was announced. I went back to the rock.

And thus it goes in major league baseball—and in the minors, too. Recently, watching a Texas League game in Amarillo, a batter lofted a routine fly to left. The fielder jogged an easy few steps, camped under the ball—and dropped it.

It's gotten to the point where baseball is a comical imitation of what the sport used to be. I defy anyone to tell me that we have major league ball today. What we actually have is the lower minors and the upper minors.

A majority of the major league players, and "major league players" should be in quotes, couldn't have made that high a rate a few years ago. Now all they have to do is hit .250 and occasionally catch a ball.

I hate to knock baseball, because for years it was my favorite sport. I had, at one time in my youth, a chance to try out with the Chicago White Sox. For various reasons which I won't go into, I didn't take it. So my sympathy is with the sport.

It remains a fact, though, that the current brand of ball is notches below what it was when the Yankees ruled the roost. At least in those days every team made every effort to be as good as the New York Club, which brought the entire brand of ball up.

I suspect today that players are more interested in what the stock market does and how many toothpaste commercials they can make than in improving their games.

At the same time, baseball asked for the sorry state it is in. Greedy officials foolishly expanded from 16 teams to the present 24. Let's face it, there are enough players to man that many teams. In addition, the majors, indirectly, killed off their most fertile source of personnel, the minors.

I'm not knocking Henry Aaron, who is a great player by any standard, but I doubt that he'd have been as successful if he'd faced the type of pitching the majors used to have.

By the same token, the stress on the home run ball has made good hitters nearly extinct. Look at the averages. A .300 hitter is a rarity and to reach that plateau is hailed. It used to be that a majority of the hitters were above .300 and were aiming at .330 or better.

Which brings me, most indirectly, to one of the points I want to make. Before he dies, I'd like to see Lubbock and this entire West Texas area pay special tribute to Sam West.

Many of the younger citizens, and the youth of today, never heard of Sam West, but he was one of the great players in major league history. I don't have Sam's records with me, but I guarantee you that old baseball players spoke his name with respect.

Sam, if memory serves me right, got his start in Roswell. He went up through the minors to play, with outstanding distinction, for such teams as the woebegone St. Louis Browns, Washington Senators and Chicago White Sox.

A measure of the respect in which he was held was shown by his being picked for the very first American League All Stars, who battled the National League.

Again, if memory serves me, he still holds the fielding record for one season among outfielders. If the ball was hit and Sam could get to it, he'd catch it.

Clark Griffith, the cranny old owner of the Senators, told me in 1966, at the All Star game, that Sam could be playing for the Senators right then. Burt Hawkins, now with the Rangers, and then a baseball writer for the Washington Evening Star, said much the same thing.

And yet, Lubbock never has paid tribute to Sam, who moved here years and years ago, still makes his home here and who has been a good citizen.

Sam has brought credit to the city, but you never hear of the Chamber of Commerce holding a testimonial dinner for him, nor any other civic organization. You never hear of any sports group that wants to praise and honor him while he's still alive.

Sam was, and is, an unassuming man, quiet and not what the news people would call "good copy". Oh, he had opinions and you could, from time to time, trap him into making statements.

But by and large Sam never created any waves, didn't cause a ripple. He went about his work without fanfare, never too busy to talk with anyone and always willing to help a kid with a baseball problem. He was a giant that people more or less took for granted.

He's had a heart attack or two, but he still plays golf and he is still active. He's interested in baseball and still maintains his many contacts with baseball people, who know and love him.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if "his" city suddenly decided that, hey! here's a great guy, someone who has done a lot for Lubbock and baseball, let's recognize him. Let's have a night for Sam West. Let's show our love and affection for this man. Let's give him a night that he'll remember.

*****

If it takes money, I'll put up the first bucks, and it will take money. But it also will take direction, time and organizing. Let's get with it and have that night for Sam. Let's never be put in the position of saying, later, "Gee, we should have had a night for Sam." How about it? Is there any group willing to take over? It's something that ought to be done, and done in first class fashion. Let's get cracking on it!

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

Equalizing Gas Supply

Wise boat owners who equip their large runabouts with high-powered, twin-engine outboards usually carry at least two spare tanks of gas—both ready for instant change.

Even wiser boat owners stop the craft after some 10 minutes out and substitute a fresh fuel tank for one of the active partially-emptied ones.

Reason is so that both of those big engines will not exhaust their gas supply at one and the same time, die simultaneously, and thus cause 100% loss of full power—instanter.

Don't say this will never happen, because it has—and there's no chill like the fear of an oncoming wake rolling over the transom of a fast moving outboard that's suddenly stalled in the middle of the lake.

Only other preventative is to stop after a short time out and add some gas to one of the active tanks—and only one—so as to maintain an unbalanced supply to the fuel line. Then only one engine at a time will lose its exhaust. The other will continue to furnish forward motion—thus to minimize the danger of swamping the boat.

Just remember that a speeding boat rides the crest of the waves. The faster it travels the shallower its trough. On the other hand a suddenly powerless boat drops low in the water and its trough dips deep. Add to that a low transom, no spillover panel, and a fast-moving, high-rolling, white-capped wake and you're in big trouble.

So be cautious, drive friendly at all times—and especially with others aboard.

Timely Bait Most Tempting

Each season brings with it certain insects—for example, Mayflies in the early Spring and grasshoppers in late Summer or early Fall.

Isn't it but natural that when these insects light or fall into the water that fish soon become aware of the new food possibilities.

Then what's more timely as a tempting bait?

A few minutes collecting such insects and using them for that purpose is bound to pay dividends.

Next best bet is an artificial lure as closely resembling that insect as man can make.

Save Anchor Scars

Some small boat anchors have a tendency to scratch or scar the finish of a boat. This is especially true when the anchor is stored carelessly, but it also happens when the anchor is lowered or raised.

It can be prevented in some cases by padding the sharp pointed ends of such anchors.

A rubber crutch tip on each end of hollow crossarms not only prevents damage to the boat but also keeps out mud and grime and helps prevent water collections and possible rust.

Home Highlights

Hamburger Questions & Answers continued from Last week

Q. What should I look for in buying ground beef; in handling after purchase?

A. First, make sure the package has not been torn. Select a package that feels cold. Most important of all, make ground beef one of your last purchases before leaving the store. Then, get it home quickly and refrigerate or freeze it immediately. Each of these measures will help to preserve the freshness of the meat and reduce the growth of bacteria.

Q. How should ground beef be stored, and for how long?

A. Ground beef, like other fresh meats, should be refrigerated or frozen as soon as possible after purchase. If you plan to use the ground beef within a day or two, it can be stored in the coldest part of your refrigerator—usually near the ice cube compartment or in a special meat keeper. Ground beef wrapped in transparent film can be refrigerated without re-wrapping. But ground beef wrapped in butcher paper should be unwrapped, placed on a platter and covered with wax paper before refrigerating.

If ground beef is to be stored in a freezer for two weeks or less, it may be kept in transparent film without moisture loss. For longer storage, it should be wrapped tightly in moisture-resistant material like aluminum foil, freezer paper or plastic bags. Ground beef kept frozen at 0°F. can be stored for two to three months with little loss of quality.

Q. What is the best way to thaw ground beef?

A. Ground beef should be thawed in the refrigerator. Keeping the meat cold while it is thawing is essential to prevent growth of bacteria. If you must thaw ground beef rapidly, put the meat in a watertight wrapper in cold water or in a closed double paper bag at room temperature; then cook as soon as thawed.

Q. Are high bacterial counts dangerous in ground beef? What can be done about them?

A. High bacterial counts are not necessarily a hazard to health as long as the meat is thoroughly cooked before eating and proper handling practices are followed.

Lemon Cooler With Cheese Ball and Dip

- 3 1.7-oz. envelopes Nestea Iced Tea Mix with Lemon
- 6 cups water
- 1 1/2 cups Galliano Liqueur
- 3/4 cup lemon juice
- 1 1/2 cups orange juice
- 1 orange, sliced
- 1 lemon, sliced

In a 4-qt. punch bowl, combine Nestea Iced Tea Mix with Lemon and water. Stir in Galliano Liqueur, lemon juice and orange juice. Add orange and lemon slices; chill. Add ice when ready to serve. Garnish glasses with lemon slices, if desired. Makes approximately 20 4-oz. servings.

Twin Cheese Balls

- 1 10-oz. pkg. Wispride Sharp Cheddar, softened
- 1 10-oz. pkg. Wispride Blue, softened
- 1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/2 teaspoon Maggi Seasoning
- 2-3 fresh leeks, finely chopped

In a small bowl, combine Wispride Sharp Cheddar, Wispride Blue and cream cheese; beat until creamy. Blend in milk and Maggi Seasoning. Stir in leeks. Form into 2 small balls; roll one in chopped nuts and one in fresh chopped parsley, if desired. Makes 2 small cheese balls.

Easy Mexicali Dip

- 1 10-oz. pkg. Wispride Sharp Cheddar
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 10-oz. can tomatoes and green chiles

In small saucepan, combine Wispride Sharp Cheddar, flour, tomatoes and green chiles; heat, stirring constantly, until cheese melts and mixture is thick and smooth. Serve warm with taco chips or crisp vegetables. Makes about 2 1/2 cups dip.

Ground beef, made as it often is from trimmings, had been handled more than other cuts of meat. Grinding exposes more of the meat surface to bacteria normally occurring in the air, on the butcher's hands and on the equipment. These bacteria are not harmful, but they will cause loss of quality and spoilage if the meat is mishandled. To keep bacterial levels low, keep ground beef cold (40°F. or lower) during storage and cook it thoroughly. Also, wash your hands thoroughly with soap and hot water immediately before and after handling ground beef—to make sure you don't spread bacteria. Don't re-use any packaging materials or utensils which have come in contact with the raw meat, unless they, too, are washed thoroughly with soap and hot water.

Q. Why does ground beef sometimes release a lot of "juice" while cooking?

A. In making ground beef, some retail stores grind the meat while it is still frozen. Ice crystals, which are incorporated into the meat, melt when the meat is cooked. The same thing can occur from home freezing. If large packages of ground beef are frozen, freezing will be slow, causing large ice crystals to form in the cell walls. The ice crystals break down the cell walls, releasing the cellular fluid or meat juice.

Q. What causes ground beef patties to shrink when cooking?

A. All meat will shrink in size and weight during cooking. The amount of shrinkage will depend on its fat content, the temperature at which the meat is cooked and how long it is cooked. Basically, the higher the cooking temperature, the greater the shrinkage. Cooking ground beef at moderate temperatures (325-350°F.) will reduce shrinkage and help retain meat juices and flavor. Overcooking draws out most juices from ground beef and results in more shrinkage and a dry, unpalatable product. Wait until ground beef is cooked to season with salt; salt draws juices out of meat.

Q. Is there any danger in eating rare or raw ground beef?

A. The U.S. Department of Agriculture strongly recommends against eating either rare or raw ground beef.

Rays of Hope

by Pat Stanton

Are you living a life of receiving or giving? The prophets who would spend his life giving out to mankind.

The apostles and disciples were also instructed in this manner of life by the example of Jesus Christ.

Jesus' first public miracle was one of providing for man's social need. He went to a wedding and as the reception progressed, the supply of wine ran out. Jesus saw the need, and although he was not yet ready to begin this kind of miracle ministry, he saw the plight of the hostess and responded by turning the water into wine.

We Christians have also been called to a life of giving. Jesus said, "He that findeth his life shall lose it, and he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it." (Matt. 10:39). When we begin to lose our lives in

The scripture also says that the liberal soul shall be made fat. Proverbs 19:17 says that he that hath pity upon the poor lendeth unto the Lord; and that which he hath given will he pay him again. Don't ever be afraid to give to others for fear that you won't have enough.

Newly Funded Community Service Project Begun at Texas Tech University

Using university academic expertise to help rural areas and small communities of the South Plains solve housing, health and environmental problems is the objective of a newly funded community service project of Texas Tech University, administered through the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

D.M. McElroy, head of Continuing Education at Texas Tech, will direct the project, an expansion of an existing program at the university.

With the cooperation of the South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG), seminars will be conducted by professors whose backgrounds provide them with unique knowledge on the various problems to be explored.

Videotapes of some of the seminars will be produced by KTXT-TV, Texas Tech's educational television station. Some of the tapes will be prepared for possible broadcast to the general public; others will be produced for video cassette distribution among local governments comprising SPAG membership.

To conduct the project, Texas Tech is matching $23,519 of its own funds with a $46,000 federal grant from the higher education Title I Community Service and Continuing Education Program. The Coordinating Board administers the Title I grants for public and private colleges in Texas.

Final Rites Read For Mary Bartlett

Mrs. Mary Flossie Bartlett, 79, of 2109 25th St. died last Thursday afternoon in Highland Hospital.

Services were held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the W.W. Rix Chapel with Jerry Heston, minister of the Wolforth Church of Christ, officiating. He was assisted by the Rev. Wayne Perry, pastor of the Estacado Baptist Church in Lubbock.

Burial was in Resthaven Memorial Cemetery under the direction of Rix Funeral Home.

Mrs. Bartlett had lived in Lubbock about nine months. She moved here from Odessa, where she had lived about five years.

She was married to Pete Bartlett on March 9, 1931 in Portales, N.M.

Survivors include her husband of the home; a brother, W.T. Wynn of Shallowater; and several nieces and nephews.

Crime Prevention In Texas

The scene is an average neighborhood in Texas. A would-be burglar stalks one of the homes; he sees that all doors appear to be securely locked and windows are shut. He walks to the rear of the house and disgustedly sees no signs of invited opportunity. Before he can leave the area, a police patrol car stops him and checks his identification. The police were summoned when an alert neighbor reported a suspicious man near the home of an out-of-town family.

What could have been a financial tragedy was averted because of the public information campaign being conducted by Governor's Criminal Justice Division, is one of the first comprehensive programs of its type in the United States. Six cities, Amarillo, Abilene, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Odessa, and Waco, are involved in the massive public information effort.

By systematically using the mass media, making community talks, neighborhood visits, and on premise inspections, the anti-crime drive is striking at the heart of residential and commercial burglary opportunity. Governor Briscoe commented on the state's staggering burglary rate when he formally approved project funding. He said, "Most burglaries are due to the oversight of a few simple security measures. Targets of opportunity in burglary are easy to recognize and eliminate: a door left unlocked, an open window, an open garage door, or a yard strewn with newspapers—an indication that a family is gone and their home unattended.

"Statewide emphasis on the prevention of this type of costly crime should make a significant impact on disabling the fast moving cycle of crime.

"The success of any program of this nature, which is totally dedicated to crime prevention, is the ability of the police to encourage citizen involvement plus the citizens' genuine

Safety is for All Seasons, Say 4-H'sers

For 370,000 boys and girls, nationwide, safety first is an important part of their lives all year round. Whether its winter, spring, summer or fall, youths involved in the national 4-H safety program, sponsored by General Motors, make "safety first" their goal.

Supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service, these safety-minded 4-H'sers work at school, at home, when they play, and elsewhere spreading the safety message. Working on their own, or with their family, their club or other community groups, 4-H'sers in the program participate in a wide range of activities designed to promote and encourage good safety habits and awareness.

Encouraging these safety-oriented youths with incentives and recognition is General Motors, program donor. GM provides a full schedule of awards for both outstanding individuals and groups.

A maximum of four medals of honor are offered county winners and one safety minded member from each state receives an expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Dec. 1-5. At the annual 4-H event, eight national winners are announced with each receiving a $1,000 scholarship.

It pays to be safe, whether on a bike, using a lawn mower, skiing or working around the house. Youths in the 4-H safety program learn to avoid the safety hazards pictured above along with many others as they practice "safety for all seasons" with the assistance of the Cooperative Extension Service and General Motors, program donor.

In addition, four certificates of merit are offered 4-H clubs having outstanding safety programs in each county. And ten clubs, statewide, can be similarly honored. The top safety county in each state receives a $25 cash award.

Creating a "Safety Village" in her hometown of Ocala, Fla., where safety practices could be shown to children was just one of the 4-H safety activities of Ann Randles. A 1973 national winner in the program, the 17 year old girl inspected neighbors homes for safety hazards, conducted seminars, visited schools and distributed literature promoting proper safety habits.

A 4-H club in Rock Island County, Ill. kept a tally on dump trucks that were littering a highway in the county, creating a safety hazard to drivers and pedestrians. Armed with the evidence, the 4-H'sers wrote county and state officials and even met with the Governor. As a result of their efforts, dump trucks in the county are now required to be covered when hauling refuse.

For more information on the 4-H safety program contact the county extension office.

South Plains Association of Governments Receives Grants for Law Enforcement

Governor Dolph Briscoe has approved four grants totaling $87,159 to the area served by the South Plains Association of Governments, Lubbock, for im-willingness to protect themselves. "If Texans will take the common sense approach of securing their homes at all times, we can witness a great decrease in burglary victimization."

The campaign utilizes a concept relatively new in the United States. In this country, police have neglected the area of security, relying solely on apprehension after the fact.

Crime prevention, on the other hand, involves anticipation, recognition and appraisal of the crime risk, plus action to remove or make that risk less attractive.

The stated goal of the program is to reduce the incidence of burglary by 18 percent the first year and 30 percent in the fifth year.

Largest of the action grants, $25,713, goes to SPAG for fourth-year funding of the regional law enforcement teletype network. The network permits communication with other agencies and provides access to computerized data from state and national information centers.

Garza County will receive $11,859 for second-year funding of adult and juvenile probation services.

Crosby County has been awarded a grant of $11,687 for second-year funding of a project providing social and personal rehabilitative services to juvenile and adult misdemeanant probationers.

A grant of $37,900 will go to SPAG for criminal-justice planning in the counties of Bailey, Cochran, Crosby, Dickens, Floyd, Garza, Hale, Hockley, King, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Motley, Terry and Yoakum.

The money comes from the Criminal Justice Division of the Governor's Office. CJD administers the state's block grant from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration under the Crime Control Act of 1973.

The local grants were among 50 approved by the governor totaling $7.2 million.

4-H Has Lasting Effect—The success of former 4-H members is living proof that the 4-H program can and does make a big difference in the lives of young people, contends a 4-H and youth specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Many former 4-Hers today are successful in business and civic and community affairs. They all joined in learning experiences that they have been able to apply to everyday living.
