THEN & NOW!

by Eunice McFall

It's that time of the year again. Spring has arrived. Easter has come and gone. The early spring flowers are fading while the iris are in full bloom.

Work has been going on for months in preparation for the big week end. Many local improvements are timed to be finished for the big day.

Lots of behind the scene work has taken a toll on the time of the people who are preparing the different aspects of the celebration-the barbecue crew, breakfast crew, dance committee, arts and crafts division, the souvenir group, old fiddlers contest and the parade.

Another aspect of the big day we need to remember is the safety of everyone. When our small towns have an influx of people, the danger of accidents increases tenfold.

Local lawmen and the DPS troopers will be available to assist anyone with a problem during the week end. The troopers are in town for everyone's safety and protection.

So while you are in Turkey and the surrounding area this weekend please be careful whether you are driving or walking or riding. With so many visitors, we must be on our toes so there will be no accidents.

Drive safely, walk carefully and arrive home with lots of good memories of the 1992 Bob Wills Celebration. Enjoy a good time.

Farris Martin Named Ginner Of the Year

The Texas Agricultural Cooperative Council recently honored state cooperative leaders at the organization's annual meeting in Houston, Texas.

TACC's Cooperator of the year is Farris Martin, manager of Inadale Cooperative Gin.

Farris Martin, a native of Flomot, Texas has been involved in the ginning industry for 54 years, beginning in 1937 when he was hired as a gin hand at the Tom Spear Gin.

Said the Inadale Coop Gin Board in its nomination of Martin, "During his tenure as manager of our gin, the number of patrons has doubled. The 1990-91 ginning season was the largest in our history. He has always operated and managed the gin in the most economical way he could, returning the highest dividends possible to our patrons."

Martin has also worked at the H. E. Wilson Grain Co. and Briscoe County Coop Gin while living in Silverton, Texas.

Martin and his wife, Jean, have six children, 12 grandchildren and three great grandchildren. Two of their daughters are Brenda Smith and Ginger Mullin of Turkey, Texas.

Foundation To Sell Bob Wills Souvenirs

The Bob Wills Foundation will be selling souvenirs and memorabilia at the annual Bob Wills celebration. There is a wide variety of merchandise to choose from. We have 5 different VHS video cassettes. During the year we have been adding to the collections of records and cassettes.

There are some limited edition gold plated belt buckles left. These are definitely collectors' items, as there will only be 24 of these ever made and each is stamped and numbered. Brass belt buckles are also available.

Each year a new T-shirt is designed and printed for our celebration. 21st Annual Bob Wills Day, April 25, 1992 is printed on some of this year's shirts, which will be a treat for the people who collect them. The new design and colors are especially attractive this year.

Embroidered golf caps, along with printed golf and baseball caps, will also be available. Numerous other items are available: ashtrays, totebags, postcards, sunglasses, visors, keychains, glass etchings, hat pins, buttons, pictures, posters, glass mugs, koozies, and bumper stickers.

The Bob Wills Foundation encourages and appreciates your interest. Your continued support makes this annual celebration possible.

Tour, Campout To Be Hosted By Caprock Canyons Park

Caprock Canyons State Park will host a guided tour with an overnight camp out May 13 and 14, 1992. Caprock's Conservation and Recreation Specialist, Rusty Sargent will serve as guide to all Texas Conservation Passport holders interested in getting an up close and personal insight to the wonders of Caprock Canyons State Park.

Each adventurer must be able to walk in rugged terrain for approximately 10 miles per day. For those not wishing to carry their camping equipment, transportation will be provided and several options are available for meals. Each member of the group will be required to be a Texas Conservation Passport holder and regular camping fees will be in effect. Reservations are a must.

Tours like this one will attract even more visitors to our area. We could have many more of these adventures to be enjoyed by visitors to the Quitaque area if the park had a few volunteer guides. If you think you would like to guide a day tour or one overnight, contact the park superintendent for more details.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Eunice,
I should have written to you when I first received my diagnosis. In February I was diagnosed as having cancer of the upper right lung and thorax. I am in my fourth week of radiation treatment. I have to go to the radiation center at St. Anthony's Hospital in Louisville five days a week. It has been very tiring and somedays I didn't think I would make it. But I have found if one has the will, God will find the way. Will be evaluated around the 15th and will know about how many more treatments will be required.
My family and friends have been very supportive with their prayers and love. It is most appreciated and helpful.
Will keep you informed on my progress.
Thanks very much.
Sincerely yours,
Onale Grundy

There's a better way to stay cool...

Call your cooling and heating dealer instead

The best way to stay cool this summer is to have your cooling system serviced now. A checkup by a cooling and heating dealer could help prevent a costly, uncomfortable breakdown during the heat of summer. Proper maintenance can also help reduce operating cost and extend the life of cooling equipment.

And if your present system has seen too many summers, replace it with an all season electric heat pump. Ask your dealer or WTU for details.

Born March 6, 1905 in Limestone County, Texas, Jim Rob Wills was the oldest of ten children born to Emmaline Foley Wills and John Tompkins Wills. Bob was named for his great uncle James Robert Wills.

He was the third generation of his family to be born in Texas. Both of Jim Rob's grandfathers were fiddle players. His father, nine uncles and four aunts also played the fiddle.

Dr. Saladin H. Wills, Bob's great grandfather came to East Texas in 1845 along with three brothers. They were of English and Irish ancestry.

The Wills family moved to Hall County in 1913. Bob was eight years old. The trip was 500 miles. On the way to Hall County they pulled cotton all the way from Limestone County. This was the beginning of the negro influence on his music, the rhythm that he used later in life to pay with more feeling than formal training.

During the winter of 1913 and 1914 the Wills family lived in a dugout. But in the spring of 1914, a farm was rented from the Ogden Ranch. The house even had a phone. Bob attended Newlin School that year. After renting another farm in 1916 the children went to Friendship School.

Bob's family wanted him to grow up and cherish music but never did they intend for him to grow up and become a professional musician.

Ranch dances that the Wills family played for were a great influence on Bob's music. This was the main social life of people living on ranches at this time. Bob played the mandolin and backup guitar for his dad.

The first time Bob played in public was in 1915. At 15 years old he played the 6 tunes he knew over and over at a ranch dance until 2 a.m. because his father failed to show up on time for the dance. He continued to play for dances until 1969.

The family then bought a farm between the Big Red River and the Little Red River which was about midway between Turkey and Lakeview near the Oxbow Crossing. About 1922 they built a three bedroom home here and painted it bright yellow.

The first night in the new house a group of riders came by and asked the family to play. One of these was I. D. House of Turkey who later married Eloise Wills.

The Middle Years

One of his first jobs in the early '20s was as a construction worker in Amarillo. While in Amarillo he made his radio debut at two early radio stations, KGRS and WDAG.

In 1925 Bob returned to the farm once again and began playing for local dances but was soon roaming again.

Bob began selling insurance in 1927. He also entered barber college in Amarillo in 1927 and took music lessons in his spare time.

The end of 1927 saw Bob barbering for the natives of Roy, New Mexico. While there he organized a band made up of Mexicans. Bob often played the drums with this band. This is where he began to play with the Spanish Two Step to his fiddle music. He not only had the southwest beat to his music but the negro spiritual and Texas ranch dance music also influenced the beat and rhythm of his music.

While in Roy, New Mexico Bob composed the "Spanish Two Step" which he rearranged in 1930 to make the hit song "San Antonio Rose."

Early in the spring of the following year he and his wife returned to Turkey. He began to earn $35 to $40 per week. The problem was that Saturday was his busiest day and therefore he was not able to play for the dances that he loved.

Jim Rob took the fourth chair at Ham's barber shop. He lived at Turkey over a year this time in a little rented two room house. He and his wife, Edna liked living in Turkey and called it his hometown. On January 15, 1929, his daughter Robbie Jo was born in Turkey. By this time he was one of the best known fiddlers in West Texas. Only his father, John Wills was better known.

The History of The Bob Wills Foundation

by Patti Whittington

In 1971, a group of Turkey men consisting of Lee Vardy, Harold Ham and Ronnie Eudy went to Oklahoma City and met with Tex Brown, President of Oklahoma Bob Wills Memorial Fund and Cimmaron Valley Historical Society. Mrs. Betty Wills, Bob's wife and other family members also attended the meeting. This group of volunteers from Turkey was seeking permission to establish a Bob Wills Day in their town and to erect a monument in Bob's honor. Fort Worth and Tulsa organizations were both trying to establish memorials, but with the help of Betty Wills and Bob himself, Turkey residents were first to meet the goal.

Many community meetings were held and councilmen for the Bob Wills Foundation were selected, Lee Vardy, Jim Majors, Ronnie Eudy, H. W. House, Doc Williams, David Guest and Byron Young. Committee chairmen were chosen and preparations for the first annual Bob Wills Day were under way. Organization began for a general clean up of the streets, vacant lots and the city of Turkey. The Turkey School granted permission to the Foundation to use the school cafeteria for its barbecue. The first dance was to be held outdoors, but due to rain, was moved to the Memphis Compress.

In 1972, the Bob Wills Foundation purchased the old Turkey school buildings. That was the year that Turkey and Quitaque schools consolidated to form Valley School. Because of this purchase by the Foundation, these buildings were put to good use, housing not only the Bob Wills Museum but city offices as well.

The football field west of the old Turkey High School building belonged to Reddell and Dollie Irby and they granted permission to the foundation to use the field each year during the celebration.

The Bob Wills Foundation also secured the land for the building of the Bob Wills Monument and Bob Wills himself dedicated the monument in 1972.

City of Turkey History

In the southwest corner of Hall County sits the city of Turkey, Texas. The little community was originally called Turkey Roost because of the wild turkey roosts along Turkey Creek.

In 1893 the establishment of the post office shortened the name to Turkey, although the city was not officially incorporated until 1926.

Settlers began moving into the Turkey area in the 1890's. The W. M. Coopers settled in this area at this time. In 1890 W. M. Cooper gave several acres of his land for a town site which was named Turkey.

Mr. Cooper's daughter married another early settler, David Lane, and their daughter, Lura, was the first child born in the Turkey community.

On June 13, 1906, the Turkey School District No. 19T was created. This district was abolished in 1973 when Turkey and Quitaque schools consolidated.

In 1927 the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad built a branch through Turkey from Estelline to Lubbock increasing business and population.

The Turkey Chamber of Commerce was established in 1928. The Turkey Volunteer Fire Department was also organized that year after two disastrous fires destroyed most of the business district.

The Peoples State Bank of Turkey opened in October of 1943.

For a number of years the City of Turkey thrived and grew. The farm land was rich and times for the people of Turkey were good. Between 1927 and 1929 the population of Turkey swelled to 1,200 people.

But times got hard and the little town began to dwindle. Today, Turkey has a population of 505 and still has many businesses and activities for its residents. On the last Saturday in April, the population of Turkey increases to something over 8,000 people. All are there to celebrate the life and times of a former Turkey resident, Bob Wills.

At the place where you worship the sermons compel
That you contemplate mending your ways;
After which you are told to remember this well,
For the week has another six days.
You consider that service an hour well-spent,
Where the guidance of God will abound;
And with all good intentions you try to repent,
For temptations are always around.
But those wonderful lessons you're apt to ignore
For the rest of the week, as we know;
So just carry them with you right out of the door.
And apply them wherever you go.

The first time he rented a garage in Turkey and had his own dance, his part of the take was $190.00, more money than he had ever had in his life at once.

In 1929, Bob left Turkey for good. Bob was considered an impetuous and impulsive person who failed to consider how his decisions and actions would affect other people, often bringing misery and unhappiness to himself and often to those closest to him.

In Fort Worth he got a job with a medicine show. He hocked his barber tools and paid $3 down on a fiddle. He got a band together and showed up at WBAP Radio Station where he had talked to the manager the day before. He and his band began to play a 15 minute show that day for "nothing." Bob and his band worked at the flour mill 10 hours a day and played at 7 a.m. in the morning for $7.50 per day.

He fiddled in a band with W. Lee O'Daniel. In 1929 W. Lee (Pappy) O'Daniel was the announcer for the Light Crust Dough Boys. He, O'Daniel, was to become governor of Texas in 1938.

From Fort Worth Bob traveled to Waco to try his luck. Problems followed him to Waco and he decided to try out Oklahoma City. He finally arrived in Tulsa in 1934 and remained there to play his special type of music until 1942 on KVOO.

and on the west coast, a founding father of country-western music in Nashville, a transitional figure in rock and roll, an idol of musicians in Bakersville and now an influence on country rock in Austin," states Charles R. Townsend, author of "San Antonio Rose, The Life and Music of Bob Wills and Texas Playboys."

Al Strickland pianist said "Bob was a musical rebel. You didn't build a fence around his music. It was as uninhibited as he was."

The Last Years

In 1968, he was inducted into the Country Music Hall of Fame. Bob was described by the late Tex Ritter as "The man who originated the Nashville Music."

The Texas Legislature and the Texas Governor honored Bob Wills for his contribution to American Music in 1969. This was the day before Bob suffered the first of several strokes and was partially paralyzed.

On the November 10, 1973 Bob received the American Society of Composers, authors and publishers award.

Bob purchased his first fiddle for $1.50. Later in life he paid $12,000 for a fiddle. At one time in Hollywood more than 8,000 people showed up to dance to the fiddle music of Bob Wills at the Venice Pier Ballroom. This is quite a contrast to his beginning tours for dances in a seven passenger Lincoln limousine with two jump seats. Bob's trademark was the white Stetson hat, a cigar and a fiddle.

Later Years

Bob made his first recording in 1935. In 1940 he recorded "San Antonio Rose" which brought him national fame. His first movie was also made in 1940. This was the year that he switched from the string band style music to the big band style.

A lunch honoring Bob was held in Tulsa on February 14, 1941 by the Chamber of Commerce, one of many such honors during his lifetime.

"Take Me Back to Oklahoma" film was made in 1940 with Tex Ritter. He appeared in 26 movies over the years.

Jim Rob Wills joined the army in 1942 to serve his country during World War II.

During his lifetime he composed 500 songs. Bob was a creator of Western Swing in the southwest

In 1972, Turkey, Texas had their first Bob Wills Celebration. Since beginning they have erected a eight foot tall red granite monument. The base of the monument is etched with figures of Bob, fiddle, cigar, war record, movie career and a list of his musical hits. mouth, it was the encouragement of my kinfolks. They used to come get me to stay with them for two or three days when I was little. Every place I'd go there'd be a fiddle."

Jim Rob Will, King of Western Swing died in May of 1975. There is a fiddle and a bow engraved on his headstone with the epitaph "Within My Heart Lies a Melody."

In 1986 at the outdoor concert Leon McAuliffe began the afternoon concert with these words. "We've had by-passes, hearing aids, new teeth, dyed hair, and laser eye operations but Bob wrote a song about us--Time Changes Everything--then the band began the swing concert."
