Morgan To Play In Greenbelt Bowl Game At Childress

John Morgan, a 1983 Valley High School graduate, will be playing on the East Team in the 34th Annual Greenbelt Bowl Football Game next week. The game is scheduled for 8:00 p.m. Friday, August 5, at Childress Fair Park Stadium.

Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Morgan of Turkey, feels that it is an honor to be asked to play and says he is looking forward to the game. He played football all four years in high school, lettering three years, and also played during his junior high years. He had the misfortune to suffer a knee injury in the game with Motley County at the first part of the season his senior year and was out of the lineup a lot of the time, but he says his knee is fine now. He plans to attend Clarendon College.

He will report at 1:00 p.m. Sunday, July 31, and will have workouts and other activities throughout the week.

Melody Cruse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Cruse of Turkey and also a member of the 1983 graduating class at Valley High School, will accompany Morgan and will participate in the Queen's Contest. She will register at 1:00 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church in Childress Thursday, August 4. At 6:00 p.m. the contestants, players and their families will have a hospitality picnic, and at 8:30 the Queen's Pageant will be held in the Portico of the First National Bank in Childress.

On Friday, there will be a coffee and style show for the Queen nominees at the church, and the queen and her court will arrive at the football stadium at 7:00 p.m.

Roy Davidson Has Surgery

The Rev. Roy Davidson, missionary to Africa and former pastor of First Baptist Church in Quitaque, underwent major surgery at St. Vincent Infirmary in Little Rock, Arkansas Thursday of last week. The Rev. and Mrs. Davidson were in the states on leave and to visit their children, two of whom are in school in Arkansas. They were to leave to return to Africa when Rev. Davidson began having ear trouble and decided to see a doctor about it. The doctor discovered a tumor of the inner ear canal.

Rev. Davidson went into surgery under the advisement that the surgery would probably take six hours since it was such a delicate surgery, near the brain. Mrs. Davidson reported to friends in Quitaque that she was delighted to report that the surgery went well and it took only three hours. It is not known at present how long he will be in the hospital, but if he improves satisfactorily, the couple will be delayed for approximately two months on their return to Africa, it has been reported.

The Senior Citizens took care of this, for which the family is grateful.)

Some of the group took a hike into the canyons at the Observation Point. They had planned a longer trip but it was too late in the evening when they started.

FCC Reemphasizes Broadcasting Policy

Despite persistent rumors to the contrary, the Federal Communications Commission is not considering a petition to ban the broadcast of religious programming.

Several times a year these unfounded rumors surface, and the Commission is inundated with letters and telephone calls from concerned leaders of the religious community and the general public. The Commission has received more than one million calls and letters on this subject with those contacting the FCC often erroneously referring to "a petition by Madelyn Murray O'Hair" or "Rulemaking 2493."

There is no petition to ban religious programming currently before the Commission, nor has there been. Furthermore, the FCC is prohibited by law from ruling on the content of broadcast programming—religious or otherwise.

It is possible that the rumor began circulating in response to a 1974 petition by Jeremy D. Lansman and Lorenzo W. Milam, two broadcast consultants from Los Gatos, California. Lansman and Milam had filed a petition with the FCC asking the agency, among other things, to stop accepting applications by religious institutions for television and FM channels which had been reserved for educational use. (Their petition was routinely assigned a rulemaking number—RM 2493).

Although more than 700,000 comments were received in response to that petition, the majority of the comments were premised on the mistaken view that the petition proposed to ban all religious broadcasting which was not the case. The case did not involve religious programming on any commercial network or station, nor did O'Hair have anything to do with it. The case involved only FM and TV channels set aside for educational use.

On August 1, 1975, the FCC unanimously denied the petition declaring that the First Amendment to the Constitution requires the Commission "to observe a stance of neutrality toward religion, acting neither to promote nor to inhibit religion." It concluded that "a religiously affiliated educational organization, like any other, may become an educational broadcast licensee ..."

Once again it is emphasized that the Commission is not considering taking religious programming off the air, nor has a petition making such a suggestion ever been filed with the agency.

Stretch Grocery Budget With Zesty Mexican Pie

Stretch your grocery budget while adding zest to the dinner menu with Mexican Pie, a tasty entree created from leftover roast.

To prepare this savory yet economical fare all you need is a little imagination and a few basic ingredients. An onion, some leftover beef or pork, zucchini, beans, tomato sauce and cornmeal are the fundamentals for an entree with the full flavor that's made Mexican food the fastest-growing ethnic cuisine.

In addition to saving money by using leftovers, this recipe delivers delicious flavor by calling for new Butter Flavor Crisco to make both its filling and topping.

Economical to use, Butter Flavor Crisco is also sodium- and cholesterol-free, yet gives foods that rich buttery flavor at less cost than if butter or most margarines were used.

To complete the south-of-the-border theme when serving Mexican Pie, grace the table with brightly-colored red and green napkins and place mats.

MEXICAN PIE

1/4 cup Butter Flavor Crisco
1 large onion, finely chopped

- 1 medium zucchini, chopped
- 2 cups leftover roast (pork or beef)

- 1 can corn, drained
- 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
- 1 cup chopped, ripe olives
- 1 teaspoon chili powder
- 2 cups cold water
- 3/4 cup yellow cornmeal
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon Butter Flavor Crisco
- 1/2 cup paprika (optional)

2. Melt 1/4 cup Butter Flavor Crisco in large oven-proof frying pan. Stir in onion and zucchini; saute 3-4 minutes. Remove from heat.

she delivered materials about the Bob Wills Celebration to the office of Senator Lloyd Bentsen. She also saw Senator John Tower of Texas present a resolution on the floor of the U. S. Senate.

Mrs. Lane and her family sat in the family section of the Senate Gallery at the invitation of Senator Bingaman of New Mexico. They also ate lunch in the Senate Dining Room with Senator Bingaman's secretary, who is from Silver City, New Mexico, Clinton Lane's hometown.

A highlight of the tour was a visit to the White House where they viewed the Blue Room, the Gold Room and the Green Room, as well as the living quarters of President and Mrs. Ronald Reagan. Zona was given a special tour of Nancy Reagan's kitchen, which was interesting because Zona loves to cook and spends a lot of time in her kitchen.

While in Illinois they observed the locks on the Missouri River. Later in New Orleans they went through the locks on the Mississippi River.

At Annapolis, Maryland they were joined by Zona's granddaughter, Bimi, and her friend, Madge Mileski. The group toured Williamsburg, Virginia, and took a ferry from Jamestown.

The group celebrated July 4 by visiting the Statue of Liberty and touring New York City. Zona said she enjoyed going into the Statue of Liberty so much and also seeing Niagara Falls and the beautiful rainbow there.

Upon returning to Turkey, after a month's absence, Zona is busy in her kitchen and telling her friends about her trip. She is also looking forward to her 85th birthday July 29.

Local Folk Vacation In Central States

Mrs. Ann Jones and Candy, Mrs. Deloy Myers and Robin returned Monday of last week from an eight-day trip through Tennessee. They left Quitaque July 10 and returned Monday, July 18.

They stopped at Opryland in Nashville and that night toured the Stars' homes.

On Wednesday, they drove to Gatlinburg, located in the Smokely Mountains. Mrs. Myers states that was scary, driving up the mountain at night at the speed of ten miles an hour. They remained there for three days. While there, they drove to Cherokee, North Carolina, and attended an outdoor drama similar in style to the drama "Texas." The drama was entitled, "Unto These Hills," and was founded on the Cherokee Indian Nations. They report enjoying it very much.

They took another route home and stopped in Vicksburg, Mississippi. Here they took a steamboat ride up the muddy Mississippi. They also toured an old mansion there which was very interesting, they report.

They stopped in Eustace, near Dallas, and had lunch with Ann's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Burton.

They drove about 2500 miles and report they saw much beautiful country.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Young spent the past week in Tres Ritos, New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Smitty Guest and granddaughter, Tracy Guest, spent several days recently in Ruidoso, New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bain visited his sister, Mary Helen Boston, in Pampa Sunday.

WITH THE SICK

Arthur Smith of Quitaque spent a week in Lockney General Hospital. His brother, Clyde Smith of Wichita Falls, has been up to see about him three times this summer.

Arthur is out of the hospital and in the Lockney Care Center at present. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith have been here over the weekend to see about him and to care for the house and yard. They returned to their home Thursday morning (after renewing their Valley Tribune for another two years. They report they really enjoy the Tribune.)

Mr. and Mrs. Smith visited Richard Lanham, Lewis Roberts and Mary Ellen McCracken and enjoyed renewing acquaintances.

MRS. JON DAVID DAVIDSON

Fuston-Davidson Vows Exchanged Saturday Afternoon

Laura Lynn Fuston and Jon David Davidson were united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony July 24 at 3:00 p.m. at the Church of Christ in Turkey. Performing the ceremony was Wayne Norman, minister of the First United Methodist Church in Quitaque.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. James L. Fuston of Turkey, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James M. Davidson of Quitaque.

The ceremony was performed before an arch trimmed with greenery adorned with red and white roses flanked by brass candelabra holding red tapers decorated with English ivy and salal leaves. Garlands of greenery accented the background which included baskets of Arbo-cola, weeping figs and selom. Plant stands on each side of the altar held large baskets of Swedish ivy. A brass urn of red silk roses rested on the organ.

Placed down the aisles on the pews were bows of red and white ribbon. Wedding guests were registered by Susan Ramsey of Quitaque. Lesia Fuston, cousin of the bride from Clarendon, presented flowers to each aunt, uncle and members of the houseparty as they registered.

Patsy Herrington provided organ music which included "Laura's Theme," "Charriots of Fire," "My Own True Love," "As Time Goes By," theme from "Love Story," "A Time For Us," theme from "Man From Snowy River," and "Whither Thou Goest."

Donna and Alton Hurley of Amarillo presented the vocal selections. Alton sang "Let It Be Me," Donna sang "The Wedding Prayer," and both sang "You've Got A Friend" and "For Baby, For Bobbie," accompanied by Alton on the guitar.

Candlelighters were Johnny Taylor of Matador, wearing a tuxedo like the groomsmen, and Bonnie Davidson of Amarillo, who was attired in a white dress designed like the bridesmaids' dresses. Both Johnny and Bonnie are cousins of the groom.

Best man was Jimmy Don Davidson of Sterling City, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Darrell Dowd, Lex Herrington and Kenny Chandler, all of Quitaque. They wore black tuxedos with red cummerbunds and red bow ties. The groom's coat was white.

Attending the bride were Charmaine Adamson, Odessa, matron of honor, and Lana Fuston, Turkey, maid of honor. Both are sisters of the bride. Bridesmaids were Lisa Fuston, Del Norte, Colorado, sister-in-law of the bride, and Susie Davidson, Sterling City, sister-in-law of the groom. Their floor-length gowns of chiffon over taffeta were in the bride's chosen color of Forever Yours Red.

Ring bearers were Jamie Fuston, Del Norte, Colorado, and Aaron Adamson, Odessa, niece and nephew of the bride. Jamie's white dress was made identical to the bridesmaids and Aaron's tux was identical to those worn by the groomsmen.

Claudia Crowell of Turkey, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She was dressed in a white dress fashioned like those worn by the bridesmaids. Her basket was filled with red and white silk flowers.

Escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a chiffon gown designed by Alfred Angelo. The high neckline was embroidered with silk with a pearl and embroidered "V" yoke accented with a lace and chiffon double flounce. The moulded bodice was covered with Chantilly lace and featured a natural waistline. The bouffant skirt fell to floor length and swept to back fullness. The front skirt featured Chantilly lace appliques and alternating tiers of Chantilly lace and chiffon ruffles. The back skirt was accented by Chantilly lace appliques and tiers of ruffles extending to the cathedral train.

To complete her ensemble, the bride chose a white hat designed by Priscilla of Boston. The large brim was accented with embroidery and re-embroidered lace with a self-fabric flower and illusion falling to the back of the crown. She carried out bridal tradition by carrying a handkerchief carried by her mother when she was married, her wedding gown as something new, borrowed a garter that belongs to Joan Fuston that has been around the world, and for something blue added a garter made by the groom's Grandmother Woods.

The ushers were Keith Davis, Wellington; Bryan Burson, Silvertown; Kirk Proctor, Floydada; Greg Ramsey, Quitaque; Don Douglas and Jeff Crump, both of Lubbock.

RECEPTION

Serving at the reception in Fellowship Hall were Joan Crowell of Turkey, cousin of the bride; Jayne Adams, Olton, cousin of the groom; Peggy Woods, Dumas; Renda Hargrove, cousin of the bride from Garland; Amy Emerson, Odessa, and Lori Chambliss, Fort Worth.

A white lace cloth over white underlay covered the bride's serving table which held crystal and silver appointments. A silver container held red and white handmade silk flowers. Red and white bell-shaped mints were served with punch and the wedding cake which was made of four heart-shaped tiers topped with five petal-shaped tiers. Lily-of-the-Valley, vines, leaves and roses cascaded from the handmade sugar bells atop each cake. The cake was made by the groom's cousin, Mrs. Cheryl Cooper.

The groom's table was covered with red and brass and gold appointments were used. It was centered with red and white handmade silk flowers and held three crystal candlesticks with eternal wicks. Strawberries covered with white chocolate, melon balls, smoked turkey, an assortment of cheese and crackers, red velvet cake and iced tea was served.

Rice bags were presented to the guests by Ronda, Sherry and Emily Fuston, Hereford; Ashley Adamson, Odessa, and Jarrod Crowell, Turkey.

Members of the houseparty were Mrs. Billy Shannon, Mrs. Linda Ferguson, Mrs. Homer Hawkins, Mrs. Frank Lane, Mrs. Riekey Fuston, Mrs. J. R. Adamson, jr., Mrs. Bonnie Hill, Mrs. Doyle Proctor and Mrs. Billy Pinkerton.

The bride and groom are graduates of Valley High School and Texas Tech University. The groom is employed as a vocational agriculture teacher at Dimmitt, where they will make their home.

The honeymoon includes a trip to Disneyland and Hawaii.

REHEARSAL DINNER

On Friday night a rehearsal dinner was enjoyed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Davidson.

Approximately 80 people were present for the delicious meal of brisket, Polish sausage, beans, potato salad, homemade bread and cobbler. James Brunson prepared the meat and others who assisted Mrs. Davidson with the meal were Mrs. Sophia Cook, Amarillo; Mrs. Merrill Shackelford, Amarillo, and Mrs. Estelle Davidson. Mrs. Cook and Mrs. Shackelford are sisters of Mrs. Estelle Davidson.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Eudy were in Lubbock Monday for Lewis' eye checkup. While there they visited Angela Eudy, who is attending Texas Tech University.

Estimated Cost Of Power Station Reduced

The estimated cost of West Texas Utilities Company's Oklaunion Power Station, now under construction in North Texas, has been reduced by $127 million.

The announcement was made Friday by Durwood Chalker of Dallas, chairman and chief executive officer of Central and South West Corporation, WTU's parent company, at a presentation before the Utility and Telecommunications Securities Club of Chicago.

The reduced cost estimate results primarily from being able to negotiate better contracts in today's market with manufacturers and suppliers for practically all of the equipment needed for Oklaunion, Chalker said. The cost had been estimated at $525 million a year ago, but now is estimated at $398 million.

The Oklaunion Power Station will have a net generating capacity of 640 megawatts and will be the first power plant in WTU's system to burn coal as a boiler fuel. The plant is scheduled for completion in December 1986 and will be in full operation before the summer of 1987.

It will be owned jointly by WTU and two other CSW subsidiaries, Public Service Company of Oklahoma and Central Power and Light Company. WTU will own 55 percent of the plant and will be the operating partner.

MAURO ISSUES ORDER FOR SALE NOTICE ON TRACTS

Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro has issued an order for sale notice on approximately 120 tracts of land that had previously been ordered forfeited by the Veterans Land Board. The owners of the delinquent tracts failed to comply with a July 22 deadline to bring payments current for reinstatement. The action was taken at the monthly meeting of the Veterans Land Board.

Mauro, who serves as Chairman of the Veterans Land Board, said, "The sale is in keeping with my commitment to run the Veterans Land Program in a sound, efficient business-like manner."

"In order for the Veterans Land Board to continue offering generous terms to our veterans, a strong delinquent collection policy must be maintained. Some loans on this list were as old as four years with no payments made. If we are going to continue to close loans in this program in 90 days, payments will have to be made on time," Mauro stated.

Delinquent contract holders have until August 15 to vacate the land.

"The Veterans Land Program has never cost the taxpayers a single penny. By running the program on a sound, business-like basis, I intend to insure that it never will."

The September 30 sale will be by sealed bid only with a minimum bid set by the Board. A bid form, the list of forfeited tracts, bidding instructions and directions as to how to reach each tract for inspection will be available August 31 from the Veterans Land Board, 1700

North Congress, Austin, Texas 78701.

Mauro said that reducing the number of delinquent accounts will provide additional money for new loans to Texas veterans who have applied to the Veterans Land Program.

"My commitment to a closely-monitored collection policy on delinquencies will insure that not a single tax-dollar is wasted on this program. I believe this policy will best serve the needs of the state and our Texas veterans," Mauro said.

Approximately 40 of the more than 250 contract holders that received delinquent account forfeiture notices from the Board on July 1 brought their accounts up to date and were reinstated. An additional 65 contract holders have brought their accounts up to date but are pending reinstatement based on receipt by the Veterans Land Board of tax certificates showing proof of tax payments.

HIGHTOWER VOTES TO CENSURE CONGRESSMEN IN PAGE SCANDAL

Congressman Jack Hightower said today although he felt the House should expel two congressmen charged with sexual improprieties involving House pages, he voted for the censure motion rather than the milder reprimand suggested by the House Ethics Committee. The two members, Rep. Dan Crane (R-Ill.) and Rep. Gerry Studds (D-Mass.), were officially censured on Wednesday for their conduct involving two 17-year-old pages in separate, unrelated incidents in 1980 and 1973 respectively.

"I believe that the report of the Ethics Committee with its recommendation of reprimand for the admitted offenses was not strong enough," Hightower said. "There is no question but what there exists a special responsibility between Members of Congress and the young people they employ through 'patronage' to perform services as messengers. We are in the position of 'special guardians.'

"It is precisely for this reason that I believe the House should have taken an even tougher position in regard to such conduct," Hightower said. "I voted for censure rather than reprimand as it was the harsher of the two options available under the floor procedures being followed. We didn't have an opportunity to vote on expulsion but I think that third course would have been more appropriate than censure under the circumstances."

The conduct of the congressional page program has come under recent scrutiny because of allegations of drug use and sexual activity between some pages and some Members of Congress. Hightower, an advocate of significant changes in the page program, has refused to sponsor pages while in Congress because of his view that proper supervision of young people this age living away from home is very difficult in their work environment.

Fire Prevention and Safety in the 80's

A NEW PRODUCT THAT COULD SAVE YOUR LIFE

You awaken with a start—it's two o'clock in the morning and smoke is drifting from the hallway into your bedroom. What should you do first?

Alert everyone in the home to the fire and get them to safety, say officials at the U.S. Fire Administration. Life comes first—putting out a fire to save your property is secondary.

The loss of life and massive destruction of property each year as a result of fire in the United States is of staggering magnitude. A U.S. Fire Administration study reported in 1981 a total of 2,828,000 fire incidents, 31,000 injuries, 7,600 deaths and $6.5 billion in property losses from fire.

Residential fires are the number one fatal fire in the United States and because many fire deaths occur during the sleeping hours, these deaths could be prevented if an alarm system woke the sleepers before they became victims. A recent study conducted by the U.S. Fire Administration reported that when a fire occurs, the risk of dying in a home where detectors are not installed is over twice the risk in homes where they are in operation.

The National Bureau of Standards estimates that 3,000 lives per year could be saved, or approximately 37.5% of the number of fire deaths in the U.S. could be reduced annually if smoke detectors were in use.

Now, Emergency Call System by American Bell completes the smoke detector function by not only alerting occupants to the danger of fire but also by automatically placing the call for help. This new smoke/fire alert, when triggered by a smoke detector, automatically dials any pre-programmed number including the fire department, answering or alarm bureau. The message, programmed by the owner, reports the fire, address, phone number and other pertinent information. This automatic call for help allows people to leave their homes quickly and reach safety.

The system operates via a transmitter, which is placed within four inches of each smoke detector in a home. When a smoke detector sounds a warning, the Emergency Call System transmitter signals a console, which activates a voice synthesized message—"Fire, Fire, Fire"—which is repeated for 30 seconds. If within that 30 seconds, the "cancel" button is not pushed, the console will automatically dial the pre-programmed emergency number of the owner's selection. If that call is not acknowledged, the console will dial a second pre-programmed number, alternating between the two numbers until it has gone through the process four times or until someone signals the machine to shut down by pushing the "3" button on a Touch-Tone® telephone. The units are available at American Bell PhoneCenters with a suggested retail price of $199.95 for the console and $29.95 for the transmitter.

Emergency Call System has been endorsed by the Fireman's Fund Insurance Companies, and they are offering a 5% credit to policy holders who purchase and install the system.

This country's record for fire suppression is the highest in the industrialized world but only our awareness of safety and the life-saving products available can prevent fire's cause and spread.

NEW LIFE FOR ONE PATIENT

Until a few months ago, 64-year-old Geraldine Broadbent of Shamrock, Texas, was virtually a prisoner in her own home. The reason: an embarrassing condition called fecal incontinence, which affects thousands, perhaps even millions, of Americans. Today, Mrs. Broadbent, like many others with the same problem is living a normal and healthy life, thanks to a new medical treatment.

People with fecal incontinence cannot control their anal sphincter muscles and the result is an uncontrollable diarrhea-like predicament. It's been called "the great unvoiced symptom" because its victims often are too embarrassed to go to a doctor and complain about it.

Mrs. Broadbent's medical condition goes back seven years, when she had hemorrhoid surgery twice. Because the rectal area contains so many sensitive nerves, surgery can damage key areas associated with anal sphincter functioning. Since there's a preponderance of women who are incontinent, some doctors think that childbirth may also cause the condition after pudendal-nerve compression.

Mrs. Broadbent's condition got worse and worse. She couldn't go out shopping or for a visit without knowing where the bathroom was located. She lost weight. Through it all, she tried to cope and sought medical advice.

Finally, she received a ray of hope. In May, 1982, she was referred to Dr. William Orr at Presbyterian Hospital in Oklahoma City. Dr. Orr, head of the clinical physiology department at Presbyterian, was trying a new, special type of treatment for fecal incontinence—using biofeedback to "retrain" the muscles in the anal canal to control the release of fecal material.

In Mrs. Broadbent's case, the technique worked.

Mrs. Broadbent rested on a hospital bed while a small tube was placed in her anal canal to monitor the functioning of the sphincter muscles. At the end of the tube was a rectal balloon. As she watched her muscle pressure being recorded on an oscilloscope in front of her, the balloon inflated at varying intervals and varying pressures. When the pressure was applied, she was told to squeeze and clamp down hard on her sphincter muscles. She also practiced these training sessions at home, before each meal, squeezing and relaxing 15 times.

Today, Geraldine Broadbent has complete muscle control in her anal area. Studies have shown that the biofeedback technique improves rectal muscle response by about 60 to 80 percent in most patients.

Says Mrs. Broadbent, "I can go where I want to go, and stay for as long as I want to." Her daughter-in-law Betty adds, "She is like a different person. She's got her color back. She's happy. I'm just glad they had this type of procedure for her."

TIME-SAVING SHORTCUTS

DISHWASHERS
One of the most monotonous, repetitive, time-consuming kitchen tasks has to be doing the dishes. Automatic dishwashers are great worksavers. It has been estimated that a dishwasher can save as much as 16.2 hours per month.

According to home economists from Whirlpool Corporation, modern dishwashers are quieter, more efficient and energy-conserving and they also provide more space for dishes than earlier models. In order to get the most satisfactory performance, it is important to read the manufacturer's instruction manual and keep it handy for quick future reference. Here are some tips the home economists offer to help you save time when using your dishwasher:

- Try to make sure the dishwasher is emptied before a meal is served. When it is empty it is then ready for loading as soon as soiled items begin to accumulate.
- Organize a family do-it-yourself table clearing. Let each person bring his dirty dishes to the kitchen, scrape and load them in the dishwasher.
- Store your most often washed tableware close to the dishwasher.
- If you only have a small load, but still want to clean them, take a look in your cupboard and add less frequently used items to fill it up. It's a handy way to keep china, glassware and silverware constantly clean and saves on cabinet-cleaning later.

Merrell Family Reunion Held

by Melba Merrell

The annual Merrell family reunion was held Saturday, July 23, the third Saturday in July, at the Merrell home place located south of Quitaque.

Several began arriving on Friday evening to get the meat ready to cook and the picnic grounds cleared. Eldon Merrell, a son, Johnny, and a daughter, Mrs. Pat Cannon, and a grandson, Jonah Merrell of Bohm, Washington, arrived Friday evening and camped out for the entire weekend. Jonah is now nine years old and hadn't been to the reunion since he was five years old. He made a statement I thought very cute—speaking of a hill you go up and down several times a day during the reunion time—"that hill isn't near as big as it was when I was five years old."

The Eddlemans brought their chuck wagon Saturday morning, along with a batch of sour-dough bread ready to cook. The main meal was served Saturday evening, consisting of barbecue, cowboy stew, sour dough bread, salad and dessert in abundance.

SURPRISE DINNER HELD FOR THE DAVID SETLIFF'S 25th ANNIVERSARY

Bruce Doug and Craig Setliff, assisted by their grandmother, Mrs. George Setliff, had a surprise dinner for their parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Setliff, on the occasion of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Setliff.

An unusual feature of the celebration was that the original wedding party was present, including the bride's sister, who was maid of honor, Mrs. Vertie Jane Brunson; the groom's brother, Allen Setliff, who was best man, and the officiating minister, Hubert Setliff, George Setliff's brother, all of Plainview.

The dining table was covered with a white cloth and centered with a beautiful white three-tiered wedding cake decorated with blue roses and topped with the numeral "25." The cake was on a white milk glass stand. The cloth and napkins were decorated with silver bells. A huge blue satin bow with streamers was used at the base of the cake. The streamers had David's and Cathryn's names and the date of their wedding in silver letters.

The honored couple received many nice and useful gifts. There were 45 present for the gala occasion, including all of Cathryn's and David's families.

The Mel Carters returned home with his parents and spent the night, Saturday and Sunday night. They attended the wedding of Jon Davidson and Laura Fuston in Turkey Saturday afternoon.

SENIOR CITIZENS ATTEND REGIONAL MEETING IN SILVERTON MONDAY

A group of eight Senior Citizens from Quitaque drove to Silverton Monday morning to attend the regional programs for the elderly discussion brought by Mike McQueen of Amarillo. The meeting began at 10:00 a.m. and was dismissed at 12:00 noon, with the Silverton Senior Citizens serving refreshments of sandwiches, cake, coffee and tea to the guests.

The program was one of five being held in area Panhandle towns to acquaint the citizens with the agency's operating plans for 1984. The Federal government has stopped so many social help programs that the Panhandle Area Agency on Aging is limited in its help to local organizations.

The group who attended report they received much good information which can be put to use in the local organization. Those attending were Vice-President Bill Griffin, Lolla Belle Harmon, Director, Margie Boyles, Anna Mae Smith, Minnie Roberson, Gladys Stroup, Lockwood McCracken and Cora Gragson.

A&M officials report all imported macaws are alive and well

COLLEGE STATION—Veterinary doctors have reported to Texas A&M University President Frank Vandiver that not a single Bolivian macaw parrot has died or become ill since more than 150 of the birds were shipped here for study at the university's veterinary school several months ago.

After attending a special briefing and touring bird-holding facilities, Vandiver said he was pleased and impressed with the way Texas A&M's veterinary school is conducting the privately funded program, which would improve the way jungle birds are captured, handled and transported and cut down on the number of deaths.

Dr. Vandiver said he wished all concerned conservationists could see the macaw activity. "I believe they would regard it as a model program," the Texas A&M president declared.

The research program does not increase in any way the number of parrots and other exotic birds that would be shipped from Bolivia otherwise, officials explained.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

The serious economic problems Mexico is experiencing have affected Texas, particularly areas along the border, in a number of ways. One of the most serious is the steady increase in the number of illegal aliens crossing Texas' 899 mile border with Mexico.

This problem has created a burden for border area school districts, which already had been responsible for providing free public education to thousands of alien children in the United States legally and illegally. During a two-year period, for example, Brownsville alone experienced a 4,000-student increase in enrollment, primarily from alien children.

The Texas lieutenant governor's office estimates there are currently about 29,000 illegal alien children enrolled in Texas schools, an increase from about 25,000 last year. Because of the difficulty in counting illegal alien residents, the actual number could well be higher. Additionally, many alien children who reside in this country legally also attend Texas public schools.

The rising number of illegal alien children is of particular concern, since school districts must provide not only teachers, books and materials for these students, but also buildings and other facilities as well. An increase in enrollment caused by additional alien children, then, may make it necessary for a district to build new facilities.

Since most school districts along the border already have relatively high property tax rates, this additional burden is difficult to absorb with the local tax base.

The number of alien children enrolled in our schools is an effect of federal immigration policy -- and the government's inability to enforce its immigration laws. Therefore, the federal government has a responsibility to help affected school districts.

I am sponsoring legislation to provide federal assistance to school districts with large concentrations of alien students. My bill would provide up to $1,000 per alien child for school districts in which these children account for 500 students or 5 percent of the student body, whichever number is lower.

The federal government already provides similar assistance to school districts with large concentrations of children from military families, because we have always believed that local school districts should not have to bear sole responsibility for educating children whose parents work on federal reservations.

Certainly, the federal responsibility for alien children, particularly those here illegally, is comparable to that for military families.

I strongly believe my legislation is of tremendous importance to all border states, and the nation as a whole. At my request, the Senate Education Subcommittee will hold a hearing on my bill during the coming week. I will participate in this hearing, as will Texas state and local school officials.

It is my hope that my colleagues will understand the federal responsibility to these school districts and pass this important legislation.
