A QUICK READ OF THE NEWS

I got you Babe

Bailey County farmer Wilcy Moore likes to tell a story about his uncle, who bought a pair of mules with the money he won on a bet with baseball immortal Babe Ruth.

His uncle, also named Wilcy Moore, was a rookie pitcher when he played with Ruth with the 1927 World Series champion Yankees.

During the season, he won a $300 bet with Ruth on how many hits Moore would get during the season.

A farmer near Hollis, Okla. during the off-season, Moore spent the money on a pair of mules, which he named Babe and Ruth.

Moore bounced around the minor leagues for several years and was 29 years old when he joined the Yankees, finishing with a 19-7 record, according to newspaper accounts.

He pitched several more seasons in the majors for the Boston Red Sox and Kansas City Blues, going 15-5 with 15 saves in 1935.

Muleshoe PD busy in July

The Muleshoe Police Department made 33 arrests, issued 150 citations and worked six accidents in July.

According to police records, more than half of the arrests were for alcohol or drug-related offenses, including 13 for public intoxication and four for driving while intoxicated.

Muleshoe Police issued 30 speeding tickets and cited 43 others for driving without insurance.

Ag Dept. predictions

WASHINGTON — U.S. farmers this year will produce a record soybean crop and the nation's fourth largest corn harvest ever, the Agriculture Department predicted Tuesday.

Combined with record per-acre wheat yields, America's three biggest crops are all headed for excellent seasons barring bad weather and other unforeseen problems.

6-man schools preparing for promising seasons

Ten returning seniors should make Lazbuddie High School one of the top six-man teams in the South Plains while at Three Way the rebuilding continues under second-year coach Danny James.

Both six-man squads and District 3-1A rivals are in their second week of practice.

"We're probably as deep as anybody we'll play," said Lazbuddie coach Mark Scisson. "I'm real excited."

Lazbuddie has 22 players in the program, including five returning starters on offense and defense. They lost to Chillicothe 36-35 in the regional finals and finished with a 10-2 record last year.

Numbers are up at Three Way. James now has 20 players in the program, up four from last year.

The team surprised some by finishing third in the district and 7-3 overall.

"We're tickled," said James about the turnout. "Right now, we're a little stronger and quicker than last year."

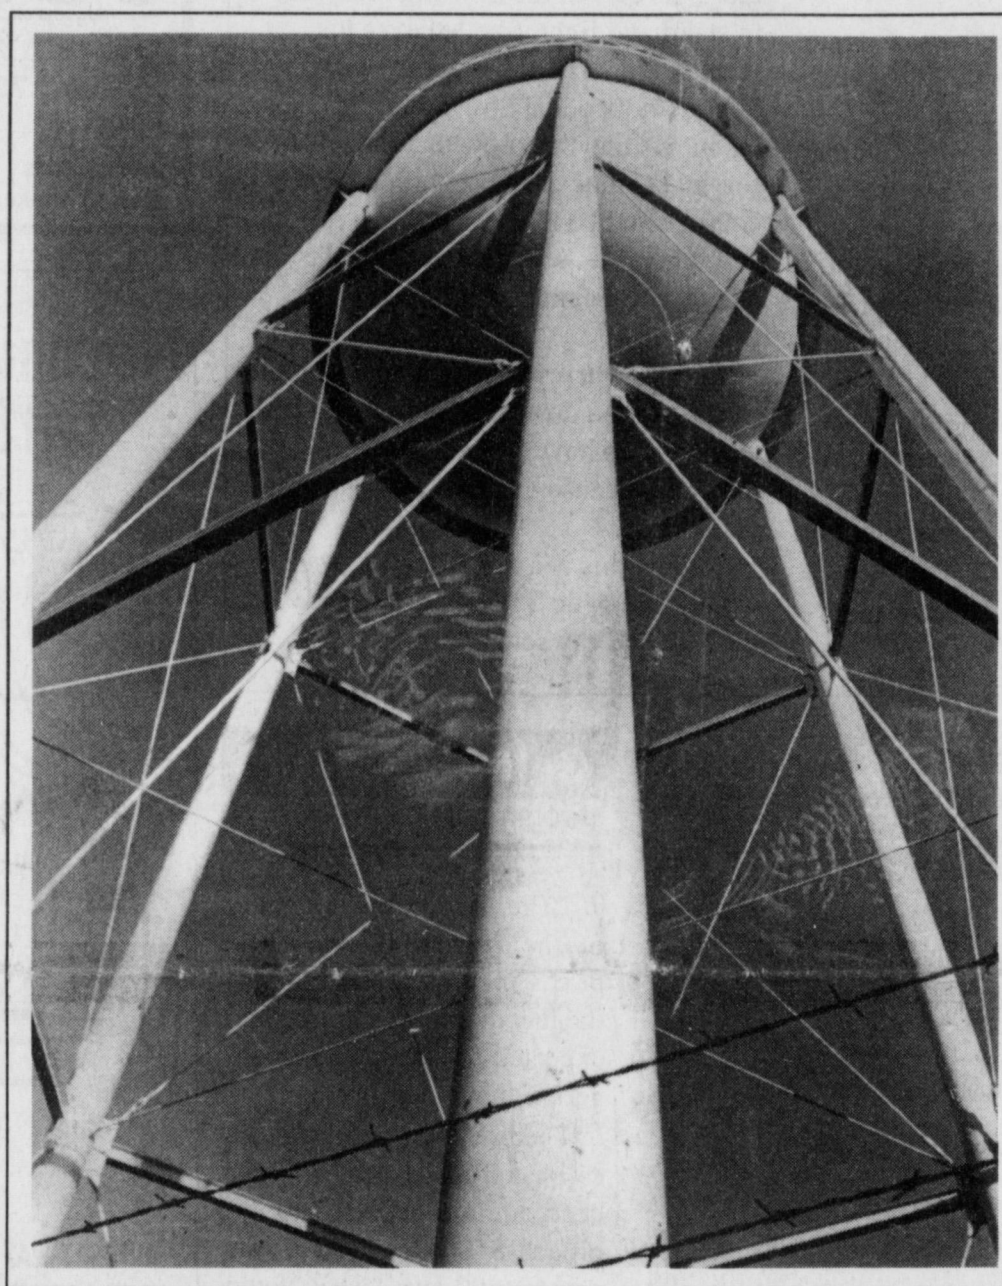

Both teams have scrimmages scheduled for next Friday.

Lazbuddie plays Groom at Silverton and Three Way scrimmages at Cotton Center.

Towering problems

Painting the city's water towers is one of several major capital outlay projects facing the City Of Muleshoe in the next five years.

City facing major budget decisions

By RICK WHITE
Managing Editor

Facing $4.2 million in sorely needed capital outlay projects over the next five years, the City of Muleshoe is at a financial crossroad, according to City Manager James Fisher.

"It's not a panic situation," Fisher said. "We just need to do some planning. But we've got to make the right choices. If we don't, we could be facing a financial crisis in a couple of years."

Some of the major projects include replacing a leaking ground water tank that serves as a reservoir; increasing the capacity of the sewer treatment facility, replacing the 47-year-old city pool, painting both watertowers, upgrading equipment in the public works

The following are some of the $4.2 million in capital outlay projects the City of Muleshoe faces in the next 5 years and the estimated cost.

- Replacing a leaking above-ground water storage tank. Cost: $1 million.
- Increasing capacity of sewer plant. Cost: $300,000.
- Painting the city watertowers. Cost: $500,000.
- Public works equipment purchases. Cost: $200,000.
- Building new city pool. Cost: $300,000.

Experts caution beef producers

USDA releases midyear cattle inventory report

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's midyear cattle inventory is out, and many market analysts are advising beef producers to proceed with caution — fed prices could tumble.

All cattle and calves in the United States as of July 1 totaled 108.8 million head, 2 percent below the 111.5 million on July 1, 1996.

The national beef cow count is 2.2 million head more than the number needed to maintain the current strong price, says

Dr. Ernie Davis, Extension economist in livestock marketing with Texas A & M University. Beef calves are selling for $40 more per hundred weight than they were a year ago.

USDA estimates that output this year will be 25.2 billion carcass pounds. Davis says anything over 24 billion could cause prices to tumble because of oversupply unless there's a sudden turn in beef demand.

"If we don't have a liquidation, we'll have tremendous increase in prices in 1997, and in 1998, the first half will be good," David says. "But then those prices will really collapse in the last half of 1998."

Chuck Lambert, chief economist for the National Cattlemen's Beef Association, thinks any excess supplies can be exported. Demand for beef is growing in Britain and Japan since the BSE and E. coli scares have subsided, and there is a huge potential for growth in exports to China, Lambert explains.

Dr. Derrell Peel, Oklahoma State University Extension livestock marketing specialist, says, "Shocks as severe as the one-two punch of the feed prices and cattle liquidation of 1996 happen so rarely that we have little experience in analyzing them or dealing with the effects."

One-time Journal correspondent writes book at 87

By THERESA STONE
Journal staff writer

Former Bailey County Billie Davis Jones offers a glimpse of the history and culture of the early 1900's in her first book, "The Flowering of a Family."

In her new book, the 87-year-old West Monroe, La. grandmother records her family's genealogy. But, the book is more than a listing of ancestors.

"It is a positive look at life. It paints a picture of day to day life in the early 1900's, how hard it was in the Texas Plains and how survival was not guaranteed from one day to the next," said Lora Willis Jones, the author's daughter in law.

Jones had always been interested in her family's history.

As a young child, she remembers her grandmother reading letters from the Civil War battle fields. Letters her great-grandfather wrote to his wife and daughter.

Throughout the book, Jones captures people's emotions and reactions to historical and social changes.

For example, about World War I, the author wrote, "never, as long as I live, will I forget 11 November 1918. It dawned cold and clear. My brothers and I trudged the mile and a half to school to find everyone excited. The war was over! At 11 a.m. we pupils were told to march out of school rooms to the flagpole. Every man, woman, and child in Satillo, for miles around, gathered there. As the flag pole raised, we sang the 'America' and 'The Star Spangled Banner.'

Dad's plea follows beginner to school

Editor's note: The following article was submitted by Victor Leal, whose oldest son Roman, 5, begins kindergarten Tuesday at Dillman.

By REV. W.L. TRUMAN
Copley News Service

Dear World:
Today my son starts to school. . . It is going to be cold and strange to him for a while. Please treat him gently. You see, up to now, he has been the king of the roost. You know, boss of the backyard. His mother has always been there to bind up his wounds and to soothe his feelings.

But now things are not going to be like that. That is part of growing up. This morning he is going to walk down the front steps, wave his hand, and start on a whole new adventure . . . an adventure which will last for years, take him across continents, may include wars, tragedy and no doubt sorrow.

To live out beyond his backyard will take faith, love and a great deal more courage than he knows. So what I am asking world, is that you take him by his young hand, and teach him the things he will have to know, but as you teach him, be gentle if you can.

He will have to learn that all men are not just, honest or true. But let him learn that for every scoundrel he meets, he will also meet the quiet heroes. Let him know that for every crooked politician there is also a dedicated leader . . . Show him that for every man who will call him enemy, there are those who will call him friend.

It will take some time, I know, but world, will you teach him that a nickel earned is of far more value than a dollar found. . . and also the lesson that to lose is a part of life, but let him enjoy winning, and being a winner?

Steer him away from envy if you can, and teach him the secret of quiet laughter. Let him learn early that the bullies are the easiest people to kick. Let him discover the wonder of books . . . but also give him the quiet time to ponder the poetry of a bird in flight and contemplate the beauty of flowers on a green hill.

In school, world, teach him it is far more honorable to fail than to cheat. . .

and also let him have faith in his own ideas, even if everyone tells him they are wrong. Let him be gentle with gentle people and tough with the hard people.

Try to give my son the strength not to follow the crowd when everyone else is getting on the bandwagon . . . to listen to all men, but to filter all he hears on a screen of truth and how that truth will affect others.

World, teach him the hard lesson of how to laugh when he is sad, and that there is no shame in tears, that there can be glory in failure if he is honest, and despair in success if he is dishonest.

Help him to scoff at cynics, and to beware of too much sweetness. Teach him to sell his brawn and brains to the highest bidders but to never put a price tag on his heart and soul. Teach him to close his ears to the howling mob, and to stand and fight if he believes his idea is right. Treat him gently world . . . but do not coddle him, but as he takes his blows may he know that the test of fire makes fine steel. Let him have the courage and be impatient with wrong and injustice. . . but to also have the patience to be thoughtful with the weak.

World, wherever this path takes him he has started down this morning, teach him to have sublime faith in himself, because then he can believe in mankind.

I know this is a big order, but see what you can do . . . He is such a nice little guy, . . . my son.

Budget

City Council, minus any funding for capital outlay expenditures, Monday during a budget workshop.

Outlay projects will be added later after further Council discussions, the city manager said.

The city will have to tighten its fiscal belt because he does not plan on increasing the city property tax, Fisher said. The city also gets revenue from municipal services like water, sewer and waste disposal, plus state sales tax rebates.

Last year's budget was $2.9 million.

Councilors took a guided tour of municipal facilities and buildings with Fisher and other city employees Wednesday to get a clearer picture of the problems the city faces.

"Now you can see how far behind we are and how far we have to go," Fisher said.

Fisher wouldn't blame former city manager Dave Marr for the current situation. Marr ran the city for 22 years before retiring last June.

Fisher promises to adhere to the budget and is involving department heads in budget discussions. Things Marr had not done in the past.

The City is also considering selling several parcels of city-owned land, including a 5,000 acre tract near the municipal airport that the city bought for $1 million in 1994.

"There's a lot of big ticket items that can be really scary," Fisher said. "But when you put them up on a board, they're things that we can do. It's just that they're way past due."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Reader agrees with mother

I am writing in support of Charlie Hank's letter to the editor published in the Thursday, Aug. 14th edition.

I strongly agree with her action of letting you know how the article you wrote, concerning Gary's death, upset her.

I also want you to realize, it upset me and the rest of my family.

We all felt the article was unnecessary, when a simple obituary would have been, in our opinion, in much better taste.

My hope, along with Charlie's, is that you will have more regard for other people's feelings in the future, and realize that this is not just felt by a grieving mother, but also by the rest of the family and friends.

Sue Bessire

News story just adds to pain

I am writing to you in regards to the article which was published in your paper on Aug. 3.

It was about the death of my brother-in-law.

I have been in the family six years. It was bad enough to have to deal with his death, and to see my mom in such pain. Then when published what you did we more unnecessary pain added to it.

I can't believe that a paper could be so unthoughtful and unfeeling.

I hope in the future that you think of your readers instead of just headlines for your paper.

The pain you bestowed on my family will never be forgotten.

Cattle

"The apparent irrationality of the current feeder cattle prices may be a reflection of the fact that it takes longer than expected for cattle markets to get back into equilibrium."

Feedlot losses in July are estimated to be near $50 per head and are expected to approach $100 per head in the next 60 to 90 days. "That should stop some of the high stakes bidding on feeder cattle and pull feeder prices back, putting them more in line." Peel says.

Prioritizing key to student success

Whether you are a college bound freshman or returning to school after a hiatus, national trends show that more people are balancing classes and work than ever before.

Going back to school this fall can mean having less time for home and work obligations. Organization experts say that many people are aware of some popular organizing techniques, but are not effective at using them.

The challenge, they point out, is also the first tip for getting organized when going back to school — prioritize, don't procrastinate.

Here are some organizing techniques to help you balance school, work and home activities.

■ Prioritize by making a list. Staying focused on top-priority jobs and getting them done is critical to helping you balance school, work and home activities. Avoid a panic attack by doing what is most important first, like writing your term paper, instead of cleaning out your closet.

■ Write down your "to dos." Class schedules, homework, errands, bills to pay, research assignments. There is so much to do. How do you remember it all? Write it down, and use one "to do" list, is the recommendation of Jeffrey L. Mayer, author of "Time Management for Dummies." Mayer suggests that students write everything down on a master list, and while you are at it, remove the sticky notes from the wall. Electronic organizers are a simple way to help keep "to do" items in one place and list actions by date or completion status, Mayer adds.

■ Get rid of unnecessary paper. Eliminate all those documents that you think you will need someday - but really do not. Keep school information separate from bills, work documents and personal notes.

First, file all paperwork immediately. This will help you find papers you need right away. Adopt a simple rule to manage paperwork: file it, toss it, or read it.

Jones

The preachers, teachers and all the prominent townspeople gave speeches. They said, "This is the end of the war to end all wars."... I was eight and so happy that I was and so happy that Papa would not have to go to war... My heart was so filled with that even now, 78 years later when I see the flag floating in the air, I want to shout "God bless America!"

Jones also tells of a time when life was much different than today. A time when even making coffee could be a community issue.

"I first became aware of coffee because the sound of the old mill grinding beans would wake me up... Back then, coffee was only sold as green beans and everyone had to roast and grind their own. Mama and Papa held the opinion that the beans should be roasted to a light brown for the best flavor... I remember how women in the community were judged socially on whether they cooked their beans too little or too much. Roasting beans too long or at too high a temperature gave the coffee a scorched flavor. That really set the local gossip."

Jones worked as the Circle Back correspondent for Muleshoe Journal throughout 1926 and 1927. She reported on marriages, visitors, school news, anything exciting that happened in Circle Back.

Growing up in Bailey County in the late 1920s, Jones remembers hitching up a team of horses, going to a different friend's house each weekend for lunch, spending the day singing and playing croquette.

But times were not always so easy. Jones recalls the 1926 sand storm that destroyed their crops.

"It was the best cotton crop ever for my father. The fields were a blanket of white. But, right before harvest came a three day sandstorm."

After the storm was over, Jones recalls the crop being completely covered like "graves of cotton."

The next spring Jones father sent her and her siblings out to the fields with sticks to uncover and pick the remaining cotton.

After all of their hard work, Jones recalls selling the cotton for only five cents a pound.

"Those were hard times. We had plenty to eat. We didn't know the difference us kids. We were happy," says Jones.

Jones grandfather, William C.C. Elmore, was a Bailey County Sherriff and commissioner of precinct four between 1922-1926.

In 1927, Jones married Gerald Dean Jones from Baileyboro. Before the birth of their first child they moved away.

Recently, Jones is spending time taking care of her husband who has been sick for the past three years.

"Bailey County has a special place in my heart, it is a good place to live, a good place to raise a family, everything except those sandstorms," Jones said.

Texas firm introduces soybean crayons

DALLAS — You may not have thought of them as a colorful lot before, but Texas' soybean growers have branched out into an artistic most would have never dreamed of before.

That's because the state's growers are participating with Dixon Ticonderoga Co. in the launch of a soybean crayon that the company calls "the first major advance in how crayons are made in more than a hundred years."

Dixon, perhaps best known for its No. 2 Ticonderoga Pencil, is one of the nation's oldest consumer product companies and has introduced the crayon made from soybean oil nationwide under its Prang Fun Pro art products line.

"The soybean crayon started out to be a nice novelty idea," said Dixon President Rick Joyce, "but once we began developing it, we discovered the

Record corn, peanuts crops predicted

AUSTIN — Record production of corn and peanuts is evident in the first forecast of spring-planted crops released by the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service.

Corn production is forecast at a record 243 million bushels, up 21 percent from last year and 2 percent above the record set in 1994. Based on Aug. 1 condition, statewide yield is expected to average a record 135 bushels per acre, 23 bushels more than 1996, while harvested acreage is expected to be the same as last year.

Texas peanut production is expected to increase 18 percent from last year to a record 811.3 million pounds. The statewide yield of 2,750 pounds per acre is up 150 pounds from last year, while harvested acreage increased 11 percent to 295 thousand acres.

Irrigated peanuts have made good progress across the state this year. Dryland peanuts would benefit from moisture.

The 1997 Texas Upland cotton crop is expected to total 5 million bales, 15 percent above 1996.

"Harvested acreage is estimated at 5.3 million acres, 29 percent more than last year when significant acreage was lost to drought and poor stands," according to Dennis Finley, state statistician. Yield is expected to average 453 pounds per acre, compared with 509 pounds last year.

Sorghum production is forecast at 104.1 million hundred-weight (cwt), 2 percent above last year. Harvested acreage is estimated at 3.15 million acres, down 17 percent, as sorghum replaced some lost cotton acreage last year. Yield, at 3,304 pounds per acre, is expected to be 616 pounds above last year.

The 1997 Texas soybean crop is forecast at 10.8 million bushels, up 54 percent from last year's production. Harvested acreage jumped 48 percent and yield is expected to average 27 bushels per acre, one more bushel per acre than last year.

United States corn production is forecast at 9.28 million bushels, virtually unchanged from last year's crop.

proverbial 'better mousetrap.' It's brighter, smoother, and doesn't flake."

The Prang Fun Pro Soybean Crayons are the first and only crayons to be made from soybean oil rather than petroleum-based paraffin wax. The crayons are completely natural and non-toxic oil base.

The crayons were initially developed by students at Purdue University as part of an annual contest to develop new uses for soybeans.

"The results from this competition benefit everyone: the environment, education, the economy and consumers," said Bernie Tao, professor of biochemical and food process engineering at the department of agricultural and biological engineering at Purdue University. "This product is an example of how the soybean and crayon industries help students learn to use their technical education to innovate, create, and benefit society."

Joyce said the company initially embraced the product "because it is American as apple pie."

Dixon Ticonderoga is working with 26 state soybean organizations, including the Texas Soybean Board, to introduce the crayons.

1997 Property Tax Rates in Lazbuddie ISD

This notice concerns 1997 property tax rates for Lazbuddie ISD. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the school district used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the school district can set before it must hold a rollback election. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes and state funds by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:
Last year's operating taxes	$ 639,675.00
Last year's debt taxes	$ 52,378.00
Last year's total taxes	$ 692,053.00
Last year's tax base	$ 47,400,893
Last year's total tax rate	$ 1.4600 /$100

This year's effective tax rate:
Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$ 662,718.44
+ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$ 47,929,198
= This year's effective tax rate	$ 1.3827 /$100
x 1.03 = maximum rate unless the school district publishes notices and holds hearing	$ 1.4241 /$100

This year's rollback tax rate:
Amount of local taxes needed based on state funding formulas and 1997-98 student enrollment	$ 647,229.00
+ This year's adjusted tax base	$ 47,929,198
= This year's local maintenance and operation rate OR 1996 maintenance and operation rate	$ 1.3503 /$100
= This year's maintenance and operation rate (use greater of 2 rates above)	$ 1.3495 /$100
+ $0.08	$ 1.4303 /$100
+ This year's debt rate	$ 1.246 /$100
+ Rate to recoup loss certified by commissioner of education	$ -0- /$100
= This year's rollback rate	$ 1.5549 /$100

For a school district with additional rollback rate for pollution control, insert the following lines:

+ Additional rate for pollution control	$ -0- /$100
= Rollback tax rate	$ -0- /$100

Schedule A

Unencumbered Fund Balances

The following estimated balances will be left in the unit's property tax accounts at the end of the fiscal year. These balances are not encumbered by a corresponding debt obligation.

Type of Property Tax Fund	Balance
	$ 149,055

Schedule B

1997 Debt Service

The unit plans to pay the following amounts for long-term debts that are secured by property taxes. These amounts will be paid from property tax revenues (or additional sales tax revenues, if applicable).

Description of Debt	Principal or Contract Payment to be Paid from Property Taxes	Interest to be Paid from Property Taxes	Other Amounts to be Paid	Total Payment
Capital Acquisition	$ 55,000	$ 11,672	$ -0-	$ 66,672
(expand as needed)
Total required for 1997 debt service			$ 66,672
- Amount (if any) paid from funds listed in Schedule A			$ -0-
- Excess collections last year			$ 9,900
- Total to be paid from taxes in 1997			$ 56,772
- State aid for facilities			$ -0-
+ Amount added in anticipation that the unit will collect only 95% of its taxes in 1997			$ 2,988
= Total Debt Levy			$ 59,760

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

OPEN WIDE!

NO MENTION IS MADE IN THE BIBLE OF THAT SCOURGE OF MANKIND, THE TOOTHACHE! BUT AN ANCIENT SAYING PUT IT, "ONE CAN BUY ANYTHING IN THE MARKETS OF JERUSALEM FROM A CAMEL TO A FALSE TOOTH!" MODERN ARCHEOLOGICAL FINDINGS HAVE REVEALED SKULLS WITH EVIDENCE OF DENTAL TREATMENT AND REPAIRS, AND SOME EGYPTIAN MUMMIES HAVE BEEN EXCAVATED COMPLETE WITH GOLD-FILLED MOLARS. IN FACT, EGYPTIAN DESCRIPTIONS OF DENTISTRY METHODS ARE IN THEIR RECORDS DATING AS FAR BACK AS 3700 B.C.!

ABOUT 500 B.C., HERODOTUS MENTIONED ANIMAL TEETH BEING FILED DOWN TO FILL A GAP IN THE HUMAN MOUTH. THESE SUBSTITUTE TEETH, HOWEVER, WERE CEMENTED IN BETWEEN TWO OTHER TEETH AND NOT USED IN BRIDGES, BUT BY EARLY ETRUSCAN TIMES, ETRUSCAN SKELETONS REVEAL TEETH HOOKED TOGETHER WITH GOLD BANDS, THE EARLY FORERUNNER OF THE MODERN DENTAL BRIDGE. SO OUR ANCIENT SAYING WAS, IN ALL PROBABILITY, TRUE—ONE COULD BUY DENTURES IN THE MARKET PLACES AND BAZAARS OF ANCIENT JERUSALEM!

NURSING HOME NEWS

By JOY STANCELL

Thursday, Aug. 7, David McIntire, Clara Lou Jones and Karen Cook, directed the memorial service for H.T. Toten.

Friday was homemade bread baking day. From early morning to late evening our home gave off the aroma fresh baked bread. We enjoyed the fruits of our labor by feasting on bread, butter and jam.

Thanks to Terri Brown, Ruth Kitchens and Bruce and Iris Hinchey for lending and making bread in their bread machines. This is the 90's!

Saturday morning, Karen Cook and her daughter Katie came to have coffee and brought doughnuts. Kate read parts of "Hank the Cowdog" to every one attending.

Saturday afternoon, Melvin and Wanda Griffin, just back from a trip to the mountains, directed the weekly Bingo Bonaza game.

Sunday morning, Buster

Kittrell taught the Sunday school class.

Sunday afternoon, the Muleshoe Singers came for gospel singing and music.

Tuesday afternoon, Lanell Stancell, Pat Watson, Claudine Embry, Chickie, Ozell and Joy shampooed and set the ladies hair and gave manicures. Velta Fyie and Ruby Garner, our encouragers, came by to visit.

Tuesday was also Pie Day, which was hosted by ladies from The Muleshoe Church of Christ

Jewel Darling, Freida Locker and Jean Woodson stayed and served each and every resident and employees.

Wednesday morning, Buster and Wanda Kittrell, Jane Reeder and Loyce Killingsworth served doughnuts and coffee to residents and visitors. Buster, Loyce and Jim Clauch lead our singspiration time. Guests attending were Alen Clements, Jim Clauch and Jean O'Brien.

Wednesday afternoon, our Sing-a-long lead by Glenda Jennings gave up all a "lift."

Christ Still Promises "The Crown of Life"

We are assured in God's word that those who suffer persecution for Christ's sake will receive a blessing. Peter tells us, "If you are insulted because of the name of Christ, you are blessed..." (1 Peter 4:14). And John writes about those who have undergone the ultimate in suffering for the Lord, "They have conquered him [Satan] by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony, for they loved not their lives even unto death" (Rev. 12:11).

Those to whom Peter and John wrote these words in the first-century world had a fearful blessing. Many of them were actually called on to bear the marks of chains and whips for Christ. And Christ has children today, too, who understand suffering of that sort from firsthand experience.

But what about us? How do we share in Christ's suffering?

First, we must understand that we are called to bear the cross of Christ just as surely as were our first-century brethren.

Would we die for Christ? I hope so. But the truth is that sometimes dying for Christ might be easier than living for him, bearing temptations, resisting selfishness, daily dying to self-will. Dying to sin always involves some suffering—even in modern America.

And, yes, all of us will at times suffer in this world physically and emotionally. We may suffer from cancer and not Roman whips. Maybe the lions we face are called heart disease or depression or MS, none of which we got because we followed Christ. Is there a blessing in bearing this sort of pain with faith?

Yes! If you face a jeering mob sent by Satan and you hold fast to your faith, Christ will reward you. But isn't it also true that if you face disease (and all disease is ultimately spawned by Satan's visit to the world in Eden), or if you face sorrow (and death is Satan's "gift" to mankind), or if you face any suffering and bear it with faith in Christ, that you will be blessed?

Christ still says to those who suffer, "Do not fear what you are about to suffer.... Be faithful unto death and I will give you the crown of life" (Rev. 2:10).

Curtis Shelburne is minister of the 16th & Avenue D Church of Christ in Muleshoe.

In the life of our loved one
Richard S. Turner

We again extend our warmest appreciation for the many kindness shown to him during his lengthy and often times lonely, but courageous battle against genetic heart disease. Words of encouragement, keeping in touch, or maybe just a few moments to reminisce.

The many bedside prayers, cards of encouragement, personal visits, phone calls of concern during his long and most traumatic confinement and death.

We returned home to be greeted by an overwhelming out pouring of love with food, personal visits, flowers, memorial contributions, and so many cards of encouragement.

We are blessed daily by the offer of a helping hand, a simple "how are you doing," or maybe just a pleasant smile. They all mean so much, and the memory of your kindness will live forever in our hearts.

God knows your every care, and loves you, and so do we.
