Work Has Begun At Site Of Valley High School

Work has finally gotten underway on the new Valley High School plant as earth moving equipment moved onto the site and started ground leveling process.

And now the many months and untold hours of planning by the two boards of trustees of the two communities, the vote to consolidate the schools, the bond approval of the residents of the districts, the election of a board of trustees for the new district, many more hours of planning by the board and superintendents of the schools, letting of a contract to construct the plant—finally now, the plans should begin to take actual shape. Although a new school term is only five or six weeks away and the new school will begin in old buildings, the builders have promised a brand-spanking new plant to be completed in time to move into by mid-term.

The time has come now for the residents of Valley High School District to begin a new train of thinking, for there is no more Quitaque High School or Turkey High School and the people of the two communities, both adults and young people, must begin to think in terms of "our" school, meaning Turkey's and Quitaque's school, and working together to make the new project a success. It very definitely can work, for it has worked and is working in other communities that have consolidated their schools. But the two communities must work together to make it work. Now this isn't to say that the two towns shouldn't be competitive in a business manner. There should be, and there is, competition between merchants and businesses in the same town because when a firm or a merchant doesn't have any competition, that business sometimes becomes overbearing and complacent. The cities are competing for the Quitaque and Turkey business through advertising in the daily newspapers and through radio and television advertising. However, as far as the interest of the school is concerned, there should be no rivalry or competition for the interests are the same for each community.

THE VALLEY HIGH SCHOOL CHEERLEADERS, reading from the top: Kim Ham, Janna Turner, Jane Duncan and Jana Driskill, attended the Texas Tech Cheerleading School last week. The girls report they learned many yells, pom-pom routines and tumbling. The group won two honorable mentions, one outstanding and one superior ribbons in competition.

Keith Greens Attend Family Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Green, Jerry Wayne, James Royce and Kaylene attended the reunion of Mrs. Green's father's family at the Yokaum County Park at Plains.

Mrs. Green's father, Robert Chambliss, is well known in this area. He has been ill for the past three months but is on the road to recovery now. Mr. Chambliss has seven living brothers and two living sisters. All but three of the brothers and sisters attended the reunion, also their families. Mr. Chambliss has two brothers and one sister who live in California and they called to greet the father and family. They were unable to attend. One of the brothers in California is Woodrow Chambliss, who is an actor and plays the general storekeeper on the TV series, Gunsmoke.

There were 68 members of the Chambliss family at the reunion. One brother came from as far as El Paso; one sister came from Clovis, New Mexico, and a nephew and his family attended from Houston. Everyone reports a good time.

Mrs. Belle Smith of Lemore, California visited Mrs. W. E. Morrison and other friends and relatives here. Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Setliff and Mr. and Mrs. Birt Lane and family of Plainview visited Mrs. W. E. Morrison Tuesday.

July 17 and 18 under the coaches, Harley J. Redin of Plainview and Ron Butler of Ranger, for Texas, and Charles Heatly, Lindsay and Ben Sasser, Piedmont, for Oklahoma.

During the practice week any high school team who wishes to visit is welcome, according to Redin, who is the host coach.

Seating for 3,000 spectators is available at $2.00 each. Advance tickets are on sale now by mail at the Wayland Ticket Office, Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, Texas 79072.

Excitement Mounts For Big Shoot-Out

Excitement mounts among Texas and Oklahoma women's basketball fans as time for the two-state Girls' All-Star Basketball game is now only about a week away. The annual event in its third year will take place in Hutcherson Physical Education Center on the Wayland Baptist College Campus in Plainview on July 22 at 8:30 p.m.

The bout promises to be a challenge for both teams, each of which have advantages in different areas.

Texas will face a 5.1 advantage in scoring with Oklahoma claiming a point average of all members at 31.3. An average of individual points per game for the Texas girls places the team at 26.2.

Peggy Provence of Choctaw High School, Choctaw, leads the Sooner state girls to this high average with her medium of 39.7, and next in line is Sharon Williams of Tushka High School, Tushka, with 36.6.

Topping the Lone Star States with 29.7, Karen Spain from Hockaday High School in Stephenville slightly overreaches her teammate Rosemary Brown who averaged 28.5 at Rivercrest High School in Talco.

An average of individual rebounds of each of the All-Star teams also points to Oklahoma as the leader. Rush Springs, Oklahoma sends Vicki Sizemore from Rush Springs High School to contribute a 15.5 rebounding average to her state's players. She is followed by Mangum High School's Mary Jane McDaniel of Mangum, Oklahoma. Miss McDaniel rebounds at 12.8 per game. Combined averages of the team reach 9.3.

From Tuloso Midway High School in Corpus Christi, round-baller Betsy Williamson hits a norm of ten rebounds, and Cindy Payton brings a nine-per-game average to the Texas players. Hailing from Lubbock, Miss Payton represents Cooper High School. The team stands at 7.8.

Looking from another angle, however, the Texans have an advantage over the Oklahoma fem netters in height. Ranging from 5'7" to 6'2", Texas overshadows the Sooners who have heights as low as 5'3" and as high as 6'2".

The two teams will begin workouts in the Hutcherson Center on

After careful study and consultation with various authorities, the Texas Veterinary Medical Association and the Texas Animal Health Commission now recommend that all horses vaccinated in the 1971 epidemic of Venezuelan Equine Encephalomyelitis be revaccinated. This is not a compulsory vaccination. It is just an extra precaution for the horses in the state. There are several good reasons why this is a valid recommendation:

1. Not all horses in the state were vaccinated.
2. Baccination during the epidemic last year was done under poor conditions due to the confusion and urgency with which it was performed.
3. Mexico reportedly has experienced outbreaks in the Durango area about 450 miles south of the Texas border.
4. VEE antibodies have been discovered in a coyote in Tarrant County and a dog in the pound in Lubbock.

This indicates that the virus is present and this coupled with ample mosquito population this time of year makes transmission to susceptible animals quite possible. Revaccination will not hurt the horse and it is pretty cheap insurance to make doubly sure that the horses are adequately protected against this very lethal disease.

If farmers in Briscoe County are not already familiar with the new safety standards required by the new Williams-Steiger Occupational Safety and Health Act

(OSHA) of 1972, they should become acquainted with the act as soon as possible.

The OSHA has special implications to the farmer who employs anyone at any time outside of his own family. In this case the farmer must display a 10x16 inch safety poster from the U. S. Department of Labor and must comply with four standards that apply to agriculture.

These four standards cover (1) temporary labor camps, (2) storage and handling of anhydrous ammonia, (3) pulpwood logging, and (4) slow-moving vehicle emblem.

The new law also requires farmers to have available for inspection and keep a "Log of Occupational Injuries and Illnesses" even though none have occurred.

Both the record form and safety poster are in the Department of Labor booklet, "Recordkeeping Requirements." Each farmer in the county should have received a copy of the booklet. If it has been lost or misplaced, another free copy is available from the Occupational Safety and Health Administration Regional Office, Room 730-C, Mayflower Building, 411 North Akard Street, Dallas, Texas 75201.

A copy of "Safety and Health Standards for Agriculture" is also available from the Dallas office. This publication contains detailed standards applicable to agriculture.

The new act requires all farmers employing people outside their immediate family to maintain accurate records of work-related illnesses and injuries and to report deaths within 48 hours to the regional OSHA office. Employers are also required to be able to supply an annual summary of occupational injuries and illnesses upon request from the Labor Department.

The OSHA provides for mandatory penalties of up to $1,000 for each serious violation and for optional penalties of up to $1,000 for each non-serious violation. Records must be maintained for at least five years following the end of the calendar year to which they relate.

Heavy rainfall can damage or kill some landscape plants. In many cases, too much water is more harmful than too little. The major problem is not so much the amount of rainfall as the soil's ability to absorb it.

This problem usually exists in areas where there is heavy clay soil or where there is a shallow topsoil over a clay "hard pan". If water does not move easily through the soil, it may accumulate around the plant's root system. This causes a condition called "wet feet" and may prevent the plant from carrying on normal respiration.

"Wet feet" is not tolerated by many landscape plants. The first symptoms often are yellowing of the plant's leaves, followed by browning and withering. Losses are frequent with highly sensitive plants. These include cherry laurel, ligustrum, dogwood, roses, pittosporum, photinas, azaleas and camellias.

Plants which tolerate varying degrees of poor drainage include many members of the holly family, some viburnums, wax myrtles, native red maples, cypress and mayhaws.

HEAVY RAINS CAN DAMAGE PLANTS

If local soils are subject to poor drainage, the homeowner has two options. He must either use plant species that are tolerant to poor drainage or else plant in raised beds that will artificially provide good drainage. Although raised beds are often used for such plants as the rose, they are usually impractical for trees and larger plants.

Since native plants seldom suffer this type of damage, they are good to use in landscape development.

FLOMOT HAS HOMECOMING

The Ex-Students and Teachers of Flomot met for a get-together on July 1 on the occasion of their Seventh Homecoming. The principal speaker was Red Amonett, a graduate of Flomot High School. He began his speech with a discussion of football. He was on the first Flomot Longhorn football team. He said the football program was started there in 1935 because other schools (Matador, Turkey and Quitaque) were getting the eligible players.

"I had seen only one game of football played," he said, "and most of the boys didn't know what it was about. We actually did not know how to put on the uniforms—but we had 13 men on the squad and played the full season, winning five games and losing five." The Flomot Longhorns were famous in their day, being known as the hardest in the district and winning regional their second year of play.

Thayne (Red) Amonett liked to play football and he liked coaching. His first coaching job was at Matador and after one year at Ralls, he went to Crowell to coach the famous Crowell Wildcats for 18 years. He is now superintendent of schools at Wellington.

He paid high tribute to his home community, and to his teachers. He cited his first coaches, Bill McWilliams and Leo Jackson, as well as the late S. D. Rattan, who was superintendent of schools.

"The people of this community had a great influence on my life," he declared. "Kids are good today, regardless of the reports we hear. They are not much different than we were—they need encouragement and that is one purpose of teaching." He was introduced by M. C. (Salty) Jones, president of the Homecoming Association.

Miss Anita Hunter, Texas Tech student and a former Flomot student, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hunter of Flomot, was crowned Homecoming Queen in a ceremony following the welcoming address by Jimmy Ross of Flomot. Her attendants were Miss Jannine Pigg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pigg, and Miss Jackie Stark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stark.

All former Homecoming Queens were present, and they were given special recognition. They were Mrs. Bob (Frances Jones) Hambricht, 1954 queen; Mrs. Clayton (Bernice Tanner) Bond, 1957 queen; Mrs. Dean (Nova Dale Martin) Turner, 1960 queen; Mrs. Leeland (Judy Gilbert) Heiskell, 1963 queen; Mrs. Sam (Frances Jones) Tibbetts, 1966 queen; Mrs. Clois (Kathy Martin) Shorter, 1969 queen, and the 1972 Homecoming Queen, Miss Anita Hunter.

Odell Washington of Lakeland, Florida, was named as the Ex-Student traveling the furthest distance to the Homecoming. He was accompanied by his family, having traveled over 1500 miles to attend the Homecoming and to visit his mother, "Aunt Kit" Washington.

Others traveling a distance to attend the two-day Homecoming were Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn Martin of Fremont, California; Fay Tibbetts of Tullia, California; Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Gates of Sepulveda, California; BeBe Gates of El Centro, California; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Gilbert and family, Jacksonville, Alabama; Bill Gates and Iran Gates of Oklahoma.

A total of 517 persons registered for the two-day Homecoming activities. A community worship service was held Sunday morning in the High School Gym, with the Rev. Don Kidd, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Flomot, delivering the message. The Morris family presented special music which was especially enjoyed by all present.

The invocation was given by Rev. Dean Harris, pastor of the Fairmont Baptist Church, and the benediction was by Eldon Martin, of the Church of Christ.

In a business session Saturday night following the program, Malcolm Turner, chairman of the nominating committee, named the new officers for the next Homecoming.
