Valley FFA Boys Enter District Contests

The students from Valley High School represented themselves in fine fashion last Saturday by winning the first district championship for the new school.

Alvin Ivory, Steve Eudy and Kim Coker were on the Radio Broadcasting team that won the District Championship over Memphis and third-place Clarendon.

The Valley Junior Chapter Conducting team composed of Bruce Patrick, Jimmy Don Davidson, Ross Case, Pepper Jones, Brian Wheeler, Ernie Lucero and Reggie Cathey, placed second. The winning team was Clarendon, with Paducah coming in third.

The Valley Senior Chapter Conducting team composed of Scott Eudy, Norman Mullin, Smitty Lane, Brent Guest, Randy Green, Robert Grason and Gene Payne, placed third in their contest.

The FFA Quiz team, made up of Joey Barefield, Scotty Settiff, Reggie Cathey and Bruce Patrick, placed fifth.

The Valley School is in the Greenbelt District along with 10 other schools, so all our teams were in the upper half. We feel our Senior Chapter Conducting team is far better than the showing they made Saturday and will be looking forward to next year when we can again compete.

Today's 4-H'ers Learn Oldest Art — Public Speaking

SPECIAL — Public speaking is one of the oldest arts in the world. Since ancient times orators have aroused, reassured and informed audiences through their public speaking skills. Today, the art of public speaking is more alive than ever. Especially among the 183,000 young boys and girls who participate in the national 4-H public speaking program.

The program, sponsored nationally by Union Oil Company of California, helps 4-H'ers develop speaking skills that improve their self-confidence and their ability to communicate in all forms of media.

Alan Synar, of Muskogee, Okla., claims he overcame a speech defect and gained self-confidence through the 4-H public speaking program. A national winner of $700 scholarship from Union Oil, in 1971, young Synar remembers the first time he started in 4-H public speaking. "I had an extreme stutter, complicated by an unusually fast-talking speech with no knowledge of expression for emphasis."

Synar overcame his difficulties through coaching and hard work. He earned more than 30 trophies and honors for his speaking skills, plus trips and other awards.

Along with the satisfaction of having built self-assurance and ability to communicate with others, 4-H'ers who participate in the public speaking program receive incentive and recognition awards. Union Oil, which has sponsored the program for over 23 years, gives four medals of honor to winners in each county. Fifty dollar U.S. Savings Bonds are awarded to the winning boy and girl public speaker in each state. The Cooperative Extension Service then selects 18 sectional winners from among the state winners. Each of them receives an expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 26-30.

At that event six $700 scholarships are awarded national winners by the oil company.

For more information about the 4-H public speaking program, contact the county extension office.
