The fans, however, did not see a replay of last year's game for Wheeler won that one big, 43-6. Last Friday night the Mustangs, who were last year's state runners-up, were favored to win by 23 points, but had to settle for a one-point, 14-13, victory. The Mustangs had to work for every-thing they got against a scrappy bunch of Patriots and a defense which their coach called the "Killer Bees." The Mustangs had won ten games in a row this season and came into this game averaging over 40 points per game.

Wheeler won the toss and received the game opening kickof, but fumbled on the kick-off and Valley recovered. Valley ran one play and they fumbled and Wheeler recovered deep in Valterritory. The Mustangs, a first down and had to punt.

CHRISTMAS LIGHTING CONTEST SLATED

Everyone is urged to help make Quitaque a festive place this year by putting up your out-door decorations. There will be a prize given for the most tractive home display and to the business with the most unusual and attractive decorations.

This year, those who can, are asked to place luminarios along the sidewalks of your home. These are made by first rolling down the sides of papersacks two or three turns, then filling them with sand about one-third full and placing a candle in the sand. These should be placed about every three or four feet, and when everyone in the community does this, it makes a very attractive sight. You can buy your sacks at Merrell's, and there will also be an example there for you to see. Everyone could light them on the night of the Christmas Parade of Homes on December 16 and again on Christmas Eve. This is an easy, attractive way of decorating around your home.

Quitaque's new industry, Texas Horsepads, Inc., has been in operation for several days, and approximately 100 horsepads are being turned out daily at the new plant.

Texas Horsepads, Inc. is located in the building formerly oc-cupied by Clyde Dudley, and five employees will be working there during the first year of opera

Several different types of horsepads are being made there at this time. A small assembly line-operation begins on the west side of the building, with big rolls of unfinished raw material, and it then continues on through the building until the finished product eventually ends up pack-aged in a plastic cover ready for delivery or shipment.

Troy Skinner of who is manager of Skinner Enterprises, said that other pro-ducts will probably be manufac tured in Quitaque later on, and as markets are further developed, the horsepads will be produc ed in greater quantities. He said there is already a steady market for the quantity of horsepads that will be produced in the Quitaque plant.

The horsepads are being mar-keted primarily through Skinner Enterprises, whose products are sold in all 50 states and in three foreign countries.

HALL VOTERS RECEIVE REGISTRATION CARDS

Mrs. Jo Carmen reminded County Registered Voters they should have received their new voter registration cards through the mail by now.

These cards are to be placed in wallets or billfolds and presented to election officials at the voting polls at each and every election held.

The cards will be stamped with the appropriate party name when voters cast ballots in the party primaries next spring.

Voters should also sign the cards as soon as they arrive. Also, voters should make sure the correct address is listed on the registration because the place of residence determines in voting box the voter will cast his or her ballot.

Mrs. Carmen again reminded voters to keep the cards and if there is any change in address to notify her office so the correct address can be listed.
