Mr and Mrs Dave Guest returned home last week from a trip to Fort Worth where they visited with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Guest. The two families then drove to San Antonio to attend HeimisFair.

The area schools are off and running smoothly, according to superintendents, with enrollments about the same as last year, which is heartening, since many schools are reporting enrollment down from last year.

Superintendent Loran Denton of Turkey reported that first week enrollment there was down from last year, but stated that several more students had enrolled this week and he believed that the total would reach around 220.

Supt. James Norris of Flomot reported to The Tribune this week that 91 had enrolled to date there. He said that it has been reported to him that two or three families were returning to that community that have children in school and he expects their enrollment to be upped by several students. Mr. Norris said that they ended school last spring with over 100 enrolled there but on opening day last year only 82 were registered.

Quitaque enrollment was up a few scholastics over last year when the first week was completed. A total of 226 was reported on the rolls at the end of the first week of school. Thirty-one first graders were on hand and that accounted for a good increase in that enrollment. All three superintendents report that things are going quite well at the present time.

Cotton Insects Threaten Good Crop Prospects

Cotton insects are on the increase in many parts of Briscoe County, according to County Agent Kenneth Cook. Some boll worm damage has been noticed in the southwest and southeast parts of the county, but severe infestations are not evident in any place at this time.

Farmers should be checking their fields every two or three days for boll worms and other destructive insects for the remainder of the growing season. With our recent beneficial rains and cool, damp weather, insect build-ups can come in very sudden and alarming rates as is evident by our recent greenbug situation.

There have been reports of boll weevil infestation here below the Caprock in Briscoe County, in the Turkey area and over in the Flomot area as well.

All of the valley is wet from the rains that fell last week. From an inch and a half to 11 inches was reported last week, the heaviest falling east and northeast of Turkey where the 11 inch downpour was reported. The highway bridge between Turkey and Lakeview was washed out. Turkey received a reported 5 inches in town. In Quitaque, 2½ inches fell Wednesday and another half an inch fell on Saturday afternoon. Everyone reported receiving rain and the valley is very green at this point, with excellent crop prospects.

FARMERS UNION OFFICIAL EXPRESSES CONCERN OVER 'WIDESPREAD MISUNDERSTANDING'

An official in the state Farmers Union office at Waco has expressed concern over what he considers "widespread misunderstanding" by farmers and the general public which confuses National Farmers Union (NFU) with a midwest-based protest movement, because of similarity of names.

The spokesman for the Texas affiliate of the National Farmers Union, its state president, Jay Naman of Waco, issued the following statement:

"Texas Farmers Union is an affiliate of National Farmers Union which has been a spokesman for farm and ranch producers for over sixty years. It is not a secret organization. Both state and national organization is public information.

"Our program objectives are developed by our membership through democratic process at the state and national convention. The officials of the Farmers Union must be responsive to the policies adopted by the membership. Farmers Union is an organization — not a protest movement.

"We do not make any exaggerated claims as to what we accomplish for our members or offer panaceas for the troubles in agriculture.

"We do not offer any quick, simple solutions for the complicated problems of agriculture.

"We do not ask our members to wastefully destroy their commodities or create bitter local disputes that result in violence.

"We do not ask our members to sign contracts committing them to the performances of acts which they might find unwise or undesirable. We do not obligate them for the payment of fees or assessments in the future."

The Farmers Union spokesman warned farmers and ranchers who might be approached to sign contracts or so-called "marketing agreements" to question the content carefully and consult with professional legal counsel before signing. Naman said:

"I am afraid that farmers and ranchers may sign documents that will impose on them certain legal obligations and they might be unaware of the implications involved should they be in violation or anti-trust laws."

HEALTH HINTS National Association of Blue Shield Plans FISHING TRIPS Insure an enjoyable fishing trip or outing by exercising a few simple precautions with your fishing gear. Shield hooks with a small cork over the barb and store lures in the tackle box until needed. Before casting your line, make certain there are no obstacles in the way. If, despite these precautions, a hook becomes imbedded in your hand or finger, have a physician remove it. BACKED-UP SEWERS Backed-up sewers — resulting in flooded basements — can leave infectious germs on basement walls and flooring, in addition to the always-present danger from electricity in the floodwater. Reduce the hazards of germs to your family by washing the basement with a solution containing hot water, a strong detergent and disinfectant. Also, destroy food or food containers exposed to contamination, including fresh fruits and vegetables, foods in cardboard containers, bags, screw top containers and bottles, and meats. Canned food in sealed containers may be salvaged if they are thoroughly washed and disinfected. ALLERGY SUFFERERS Keeping your home as dust-free as possible will afford relief to allergy victims in your family. Other helpful aids include the replacement of dust-collecting cloth curtains with glass-fiber curtains and the use of low-pile or washable rugs. Finished interior walls of the home should help the allergy victim.

Fortifying For Forensic Forays

Collegiate championships are not always determined on a football field, a basketball court or a baseball diamond. The competition can be just as keen when talented students converge to settle the outcome of the National Debating Championships. Finishing 14th out of 158 entries in the forensic finals held recently at Harvard were Marty Koba, 19, sophomore from San Diego, Calif., and Gary Krauss, 20, a junior from Tacoma, Wash. Like their counterparts across the nation, preparation for intercollegiate competition involves long hours and hard work for Marty and Gary, both sociology majors at the California Western campus (San Diego) of United States International University. Mental gymnastics builds youthful appetites like physical exercise, and a quick on-the-spot solution for Cal Western's champion debaters is flavorful, nutritious Carnation instant breakfast — an effective antidote for flagging energy.

A Maestro's TV Debut

In 1928, a young man walked across the stage of Carnegie Hall in New York City, sat down at a nine-foot Steinway concert grand, and proceeded to make music history. The young man was Vladimir Horowitz. The occasion was the Russian-born pianist's American debut, which received unprecedented acclaim by critics and the public. This year the great pianist celebrates the 40th anniversary of that performance with what promises to be another history-making debut. For on Sunday, September 22 at 9 PM (EDT) Vladimir Horowitz will present a one-hour concert over the CBS television network, marking his premiere performance in the medium.

The television special climaxes a sustained celebration in the music world during Horowitz's 40th anniversary year. Tributes to the maestro are many. Steinway & Sons presented him with a perfectly scaled model of the type of concert grand selected by Horowitz for his television concert. The nine-inch model, which took several years to make, is an outstanding example of the cabinetmaker's art, with its precision detail and handwork. Special programs of Horowitz recordings are being presented on radio. And, music store windows across the country are devoted to displays commemorating the pianist's anniversary and television performance.

One music critic wrote prophetically in 1928 that "Horowitz promises to become one of the great figures among the pianists of the day." That Mr. Horowitz has, indeed, exceeded that promise is demonstrated by these extraordinary tributes.

ENCEPHALOMYELITIS OUT BREAK REPORTED

The Texas Veterinary Medical Association, citing findings by a veterinarian in West Texas, reports that equine (horse) encephalomyelitis has been discovered. The cases were reported in West Texas near Seminole by Dr. A. J. Mabry, a large animal practitioner in that area.

The disease, sometimes called sleeping sickness and Blind Staggers, is a virus perpetuated by small birds that carry a high concentration of the virus in their blood. The culex mosquito transmits the disease from the birds to horses and can also transmit it to man. Horses do not transmit the disease the Veterinary Medical Association says. Encephalomyelitis is often fatal

Medical Association spokesman in Austin said.

The disease causes extreme anemia and death, if not detected early. The most effective safeguard against anaplasmosis is immunization with a recently released vaccine. Veterinarians are also able to use medication and blood transfusions for severely affected animals, according to T. V. M. A.

Cattlemen are urged to inspect their herds and immunize all animals since the disease is transmissible from one animal to another and is spread by flies, mosquitoes and ticks. Cattlemen are also warned that the vaccine must be used under completely sterile conditions to prevent spreading the disease.

NEWS from the High Plains Research Foundation

Halfway, Texas — Wheat yields and returns were increased as the rate of seeding was increased in a 1967-68 test at the High Plains Research Foundation. Tascosa wheat was planted November 1, 1967 on land from which soybeans had been harvested at three rates of 40, 70 and 100 pounds of seed per acre. Seeding at 100 pounds per acre produced 45.6 bushels per acre; with 70 pounds per acre the yield was 40.7 bushels, and at the 40 pounds the yield was 34.9 bushels. A severe hail on June 9 seriously damaged the crop from 20 to 30 per cent.

All plots were planted dry and irrigated for germination, irrigated again at jointing, early boot and soft dough stages. Sufficient rainfall was received to permit elimination of head irrigation.

All three seeding rates received a fertilizer level of 120-60-0 applied with anhydrous ammonia and 11-48-0 as the source of nitrogen and phosphorus. Anhydrous ammonia was applied pre-plant with chisels spaced 20 inches apart.

James Valliant, Soil Scientist and Loyd Langford, Associate Agronomist, of the Foundation staff conducted the tests.

TAXES AND "WINDSHIELD FARMERS

Dallas, Texas — One of the most significant changes in our farm life has been the changes in the types of farmers. We still have the farm family who lives on the farm or ranch and makes their livelihood from the produce that they raise. A second but growing group in most rural communities is the folks who live on the farm and work in the city. Some of these folks farm on a part time and weekend basis. Others raise food for their own use and some depend on their salary or wages for their entire livelihood. The new and most rapidly growing group is the "windshield farmer." He lives in town, or more likely the big city. His purpose in farming varies from hobby or weekend lark to a serious well-financed highly commercial farm venture. The 1965 statistics of income show that farmers in the Internal Revenue Service District covering the 143 counties in the Northern half of Texas grossed more than $1 billion in the sale of agricultural products. However, they reported less than $50 million as adjusted gross income on their tax returns. The statistical breakouts reported for the Dallas and Fort Worth metropolitan areas, show that the 18,956 taxpayers (primarily windshield farmers) reported farming losses of $14,784,000 on their form 1040F's. The Secretary of Agriculture recently recommended that Congress review the farm tax loss situation. Internal Revenue people are quick to point out that their objective is fair and equal enforcement of the present laws and that it is not advisable for IRS to comment on proposed legislation. However, IRS does point out that the Farmers Tax Guide spells out clear cut rules covering a part of the farm losses being discussed or questioned. The instructions set out for PERSONAL LIVING AND FARM EXPENSES on Page 33 of the Farmers Tax Guide apply to the farmer who is engaged in farming 100 per cent of his time as well as the man who lives and works elsewhere and considers his part time farming operation as a secondary business. The Farmers Tax Guide reads:

Deduction of certain personal, living, and family expenses is specifically prohibited by law. These include rent and insurance premiums paid on property used as your residence, life insurance premiums on yourself or your family the cost of maintaining automobiles or horses for personal use, allowances to minor children, attorney fees and legal expenses incurred in connection with personal matters, household expenses, and moving expenses of you, your family, and personal effects. Likewise, the cost of purchasing or raising produce or livestock consumed by you or your family is not deductible.

The tax folks have no doubt that personal expenses are not deductible, no matter whether it is cow-feed expense to produce milk for personal farm use, or a carton of milk from the milkman.

World's Largest Camper Enroute To Alaska

CHICAGO—Although the temperature was in the mid-90's, Mrs. Andrew J. Bootz was pretty proud of the "fully automatic gas furnace with six registers" in their new custom-built camper which, she said, is "probably the largest in the world."

"They'll need the furnace, Mrs. Bootz said, when they reach the destination of their vacation trip—Circle, Alaska.

And they need the "world's largest" camper to accommodate their family—herself and husband, their 11 children and a cousin.

"The camper, built on a two-ton truck chassis, "is completely self sufficient," Mrs. Bootz said. In addition to the furnace, the comforts of home include a 6-cubic foot refrigerator, a 10-gallon water heater, lights and a 4-burner kitchen range with broiler and oven—all operated on LP-gas.

There is a shower and bath and 15 fold-away beds.

"This way we are all under one roof," Mrs. Bootz said. "This will be a relaxing vacation."

The family recently left their permanent home in suburban Mount Prospect, on the 15,000 mile trip to Circle and return, via Winnipeg, Calgary, Dawson Creek where they take the Alcan Highway to Alaska.

"We'll be back in about six weeks," Mrs. Bootz said. "It's going to be a tremendous trip."

and may cause permanent brain damage to surviving animals. The T.V.M.A. said horse owners should vaccinate their animals and take mosquito control measures. August and September are especially critical months for the disease in all of Texas since high mosquito population are found during these months. Vaccination of horses now and immediate mosquito control measures will help keep the disease from reaching epidemic proportions as was the case in 1967, the Veterinary Medical Association said.

Anaplasmosis, a severe blood disease in cattle, has been reported in wide-spread areas of Texas by veterinarians. Dr. Milton Risinger of Kaufman, near Dallas, and Dr. Joseph Bitter of Edna, on the Gulf Coast, both reported numerous cases in their area of the state. Other veterinarians are seeing cases of anaplasmosis, including instances in east and central Texas counties, a Texas Veterinary

LET'S CORRECT THE HUMAN ERROR

Mr. Alfred Rehwinkel, writing in the field of Biblican Apologists has given a monumental defense of the validity of THE FLOOD in his book, entitled THE FLOOD, re produces convincing proof of the universal coverage of the flood, and the tremendous changes it brought to our planet. He is not against science of geology when geology speaks the truth. He pays tribute to this science as being a "most fascinating subject." He observes further, that, "When the speculations of geology comes into conflict with God's own revelation concerning the origin of His universe and concerning that great judgement by which the first world was destroyed and the face of the world completely altered, we will correct geology and not God's revelation.

Should this not be our constant attitude when conflicts arise between human learning and God's inerrant pronouncements? Why should God's word have to bend or to infallible human wisdom? If there is any bending to be done, let the human bow to the divine... never the other way around. Let us correct all human error and leave the Divine intact.

There should never be any conflict between MEN in respect to what God has said. He has created all men equal. But He created all men LOWER than himself, and no one has the right to change what God has spoken.

CARD OF THANKS
Dear friends and loved ones: Although our hearts are broken from the loss of our dear loved one, it is hard to find words at this time, but we would like to try in a small way to say "Thank You" for the many things you have done for us in this time of grief. A special "Thanks" for every prayer offered, for all the words of comfort, for flowers, cards, letters, food and every thing you have done. We shall never forget how wonderful you have been. May God richly bless each of you is our prayer.
