Shirttail Sermon

David exclaimed, "O, how love I thy law! It is my meditation all the day" (Ps. 119:97). In this same psalm he cried, "Thy testimonies are my delight and my counselors." "How sweet are thy words unto my taste! Yea, sweeter than honey to my mouth." "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path."

When a young lady finished reading the last page of a book she commented, "That is the dullest story I ever read." Sometime later she became engaged to a young man. One evening she remarked, "I have a book in my library whose author's name and initials are exactly like yours. Isn't that a coincidence?" "I don't think so," the young man answered, "for I wrote the book." That night the girl sat up until two o'clock rereading the volume. This time it seemed the most interesting story she had ever read. The once dull book was now most fascinating because she knew and loved the author.

The child of God does not find the message of his Father dull and uninteresting. He does not consider its study a dreadful task because he knows and loves the Author. The more he reads and meditates upon it, the more he comes to love this Author.

The Word is God's self-communication. It is not simply a word about God but the Word of God. It is not just a message sent to us by him, merely a book written by him. He is present in it speaking to us. Let us meditate on the Word of God so that we may better know and love its author.

The new thing in sewing is trim! A visit to a piece goods or fabric department will establish this fact.

Trims for fabrics from burlap to satin can be found. Others are especially made to coordinate the fabric.

Embroidery or ruffling has been done for you on matching narrow widths. These can be inserted into the garment wherever your whim or pattern decides. Matching trims are often displayed with the fabrics to give you ideas on how to use them.

Other trims include braids, tassels and fringe. They can be applied to the garment or used as the belt or part of the decorative trim of the belt.

Some present day styles of tunics, vests and weskits are held together with frogs, buttons and loops, and buttons and chains.

For a more feminine look, there are laces, beading, sequins and paillettes. Use imagination when trimming a dress or ball gown. Search until you find the right trim. An inexpensive fabric can be dressed up with the perfect bit of trim. Delicate beading can serve as shoulder straps. Wide braid or jeweled trim can emphasize a tiny waistline. Jeweled buttons can accent tabs or closings.

When selecting trims, keep in mind the textures and colors should harmonize. Heavy braids would be unsuitable for chiffons or voiles. Metallic trims would be out of place on piques. Check the care instructions on the trim. Make sure you can care for it as you would the rest of the garment. If you have to give the trim special care be sure you know before you buy.

Be creative in your sewing and use a special trim to make your next garment "out of the ordinary."
