THEN & NOW!

by Eunice McFall

School time is here again. Whether we are ready or not rules and regulations are going to have to be enforced again. Time schedules have to be kept. Bedtimes enforced even if the children do fuss about it.

When we think back we realize that all those rules and regulations really helped us even though we put up quite a fuss at the time. This training of following rules is part of the education process, helping train all of us for adulthood and all the rules of life we are expected to follow.

Some of the new students will have lots to learn--new rules, new friends, new teachers, and possibly new eating habits. Students who have already been to school may need a refresher course on old rules, and to learn new rules. They also can renew old friendships, make new friends, learn new subjects, new exercises, meet new teachers, and get back in the groove of meeting classes and buses on time. This is a beautiful time of life--the joy of learning all the skills needed to have a great life. Cementing friendships that will be important all life long. New friends are great but old friends are like our own homes--comfortable. Both are needed, new, for excitement and the thrill of learning about someone or something new, old for the pleasure of being oneself without having to put on an act.

School begins all these processes for us--opening of the books means the opening of minds, flowering friendships, budding scientists, future teachers, growth of self esteem, and the foundation of a lifetime of learning.

Without education life as we know it today could not happen. The more we learn, the more we should want to learn.

For years I've been interested in genealogy--When I trace down one set of great grandparents, I can hardly wait to find out who their parents were, where they lived, how they lived, what they did to make a living--so even though it's been a number of years since I was in a classroom--questions are still around that I want answered--not only in genealogy--but all areas of life is full of curiosity--All we have to do is seek it out.

One of the secrets of always being considered young is to always be open to the learning process--never be too set in a mold that you won't try a new way of doing something. Who knows it might be better than the old way!! Happy learning KIDS!!

Tax Rate, Waste Disposal Topics of City Council Meet

A full agenda was on hand for consideration by the City Council for the City of Quitaque on Tuesday, August 6, 1991. The meeting began with a public hearing concerning the joint application with the City of Silverton to the Texas Department of Commerce for a Texas Community Development Program grant for the development and construction of a solid waste transfer station which would serve both communities. The council voted to support the filing of this application.

The Council also passed an ordinance offering a reward of $250.00 for the arrest and conviction of any person or persons guilty of arson within the City limits. This ordinance meets with the State Board of Insurance guidelines for maintaining a lower key rate.

Setting of the property tax rate for 1991 was then considered. Even with the appraised property values being in excess of $170,000 less than last year's, the tax rate was set at $.4329 per $100.00 evaluation, this being more than $.025 decrease from last year's rate of $.46 per $100.00 evaluation. This decrease in the property tax rate was made possible by the additional 1/2% sales tax that will be in effect October 1, 1991. The total tax levy (property tax and sales tax) will be less than a 3% increase over last year's total tax levy.

Superior Sanitation, Plainview submitted a proposal to the Council for the collection and disposal of the City's solid waste. This proposal calls for the collection and disposal of the City's solid waste. This proposal calls for placing dumpsters in the City and collecting the garbage on a

Council Meets August 19 With Heavy Agenda Slate

The Quitaque City Council met on Monday, August 19 with a heavy agenda. The council elected Jimmy Davidson to serve as Mayor pro-tempore. The Mayor pro-temp serves as mayor at any time the mayor cannot fulfill his duties. The resignation of city administrator David Brunson was read and received.

The council reviewed the job descriptions of city employees and made some amendments. It was felt that the area of public works needs careful attention in the immediate future. Organization and direction in the area of general maintenance and city services take a top priority. Toward this end, the council moved some of the administrative duties of the city administrator to the city secretary's job description and re-named the position City Administrator and Director of Public Works.

As listed on the job description, the primary duty of the office is to "devote all working time to the affairs of the City and be responsible to the city council for the efficient administration of its affairs and be directly responsible for the operation of the services provided by the city." Qualifications for applicants include: administrative experience de-once a week basis. The cost for this service would be $8.00 per month per water meter. The present cost for garbage service in the City is $6.00 per month.

Mayor Conner called for a public hearing to be held Monday, August 26, 1991 at 7:30 p.m., to offer citizens of the city an opportunity to voice their views on this matter.

Caprock Library Searching For Head Librarian

The Caprock Public Library Advisory Board met Tuesday, August 20 at the Library. It was decided to continue receiving applications for the position of Head Librarian. Some interviews were conducted during the meeting. The interviewing process will continue until an applicant is selected. The Board would like to hire a librarian by the first of September. Application forms may be picked up at the Quitaque City Hall.

The new central heating and cooling unit has been installed and was in operation for the board's inspection. A quote from Caprock Home Center for shelving materials was received and approved. Wilburn Leeper will coordinate volunteers in building the shelves.

A large number of the donated books have been catalogued. The board is finalizing the Library's book selection policy. Each area of the library is being reviewed and policies established for selection of books for each category. Response to a grant application which has been submitted for purchase of the balance of the core collection is expected during the month of September.

A work day is scheduled for Thursday, August 22 at the library. There is always something for interested volunteers to do. Interested persons may contact board chairman, Janice Henson for details. Representatives from the Texas Panhandle Library System will be visiting on Friday, August 23. The local library board is working closely with TPLS to make Caprock Public Library a quality library.

Commissioners Tab Votes, Discuss Hogland Erosion

Hall County Commissioners Court met on Monday, August 12, in regular monthly session and canvassed the Special Amendment Election results.

The Commissioners found election tabulations in order. The results of voting on Amendment No. 1, which allows voters of a county education district to adopt certain exemptions from the district's ad valorem taxation for residence homesteads to provide for the taxation of certain tangible personal property, were unfavorable with 165 voters voting against the amendment and 128 voters being for the amendment. Statewide, the amendment carried by 57 percent.

Amendment No. 2 authorizing general obligation bonds to provide educational loans for students failed to carry in Hall County by a vote of 166 against, 119 for. This amendment failed statewide.

The Commissioners denied a request from District Attorney David McCoy that the county increase its portion that Hall County pays for his secretary's wages.

Hall County Judge Kenneth Dale presented a proposed 1991-92 budget. The votes were equally split. The Judge voted in favor of the budget so it carried.

Pamela Nielsen from Panhandle Regional Planning Commission addressed the Court and explained the 9-1-1 network.

The Commissioners adjourned at noon and went back into session at 3:45 p.m.

The Commissioners, after reopening the session, voted to enter into contract with Government Service Automation, Inc. to provide computer services to the County Treasurer with County Clerk's offices. Sick leave policy was tabled until the next regular session of the Commissioners.

Proof of insurance will be needed to get drivers license, license plates or safety inspection

According to Briscoe and Hall County's Tax Assessor/Collector Offices September 1, 1991 will usher in a new state regulation which will effect everyone who drives or owns a motor vehicle.

Tax Assessor/Collectors state, "Effective September 1, 1991, anyone who applies for or renews a drivers license, registers or renews the registration on a motor vehicle or seeks a safety inspection sticker will have to show proof of current insurance on the vehicle."

This means that a document demonstrating current insurance coverage on a vehicle must be presented at the Tax Assessor/Collector's Office when anyone applies for a title on a vehicle or purchases annual license plates for a vehicle. It will also mean that all drivers being tested for the first time must furnish proof of insurance as will anyone renewing their drivers license upon its expiration.

Vehicles needing a safety inspection sticker will be denied one unless the driver or owner can furnish proof of current insurance at the time of inspection.

Briscoe County History Book Hits Final Stages

The Briscoe County Historical Committee reports that the new "Volume II, Footprints of Time in Briscoe County" is in the final stages of preparation and is still scheduled to come off the press early in December, 1991, in time for your special Christmas gifts.
 A volunteer group of women from this committee has worked many, many hours conducting research, collecting and compiling information, pleading for family histories, military records, business, church and civic histories. The History Book Committee is very pleased with the cooperation received from those who have chosen to be included in this volume, and ample material is available to produce a companion edition that all will be proud to own.

Because of the stressed state of the economy in our area, the Committee feels there are some individuals who were unable to meet the pre-publication deadline for buying the book at a reduced price. Therefore, at a recent meeting, it was decided to extend the $60 (plus $4.35 tax) price until December 1, 1991, in hopes that everyone who really wants to order one or more copies can do so before the books come off the press. There is no guarantee that extra books will be available at a later time.

High publication costs prohibit any plans for reprints, which usually cost approximately twice the amount of the initial order, even if the demand were great enough to entice the company to accept a reprint order.

If you have priced books lately, you realize that costs have increased greatly since the first volume of "Footprints Of Time In Briscoe County" was printed in 1976. College students are often required to pay $50 or more for a single textbook to be used only one semester.

Preserving Briscoe County's history was the sole intent of compiling and publishing the book; therefore, no real margin of profit was included in setting the pre-publication price. It was set at just enough to pay the publishers, delivery, and local expenses incurred in advertising and producing the Volume II.

Each person who has worked on the book has made countless long distance telephone calls, written letters, or made out-of-town trips for supplies without being monetarily reimbursed for their efforts. This is a service that they have chosen to perform for the county.

Everyone knows that money is tight, but the Historical Committee urges everyone to make every effort to secure a book for each of their children and grandchildren. Many people have already done this; but others may not fully realize that if they do not purchase books before publication, they may not have an opportunity to do so later-at any price. Funds are simply not available to purchase an excessive amount of extra books to keep on hand for future sales as was done in 1976. Any "extra" books that may be available will definitely sell on a first-come-first-served basis for an increased price after December 1, 1991.

Please, if you have not purchased all of the copies that you desire, dig down deep right now and mail your checks to Briscoe County History Book, Box 299, Silvertown, TX 79257. It might even be a good investment to purchase extra books for sale to people who will be willing to pay you inflated prices after the County supply is exhausted!!!

BACK TO BASICS COOKING

Soup in summer? You bet—especially when it's light and delicious. Made with a colorful bounty of fresh Italian plum tomatoes, green beans, elbow macaroni, kidney beans and tender beef, "Garden Soup Italiano" is ideal for those who want robust flavor, without spending hours in a hot kitchen. The secret is a skillful blend of culinary techniques, ingredients and seasonings. Stir-frying the beef reduces the overall cooking time, while naturally brewed Kikkoman Soy Sauce imparts a richness that couldn't be achieved using this short-cut cooking method. Complement the soup with plenty of crusty bread and enjoy a great taste of summer.

| 1/2 pound boneless tender beef | 1 1/2 pounds fresh Italian plum tomatoes, coarsely chopped |
| 4 tablespoons Kikkoman Soy Sauce, divided | 1/4 pound fresh green beans, trimmed and cut into 1-inch lengths |
| 1 teaspoon cornstarch | 1/2 cup uncooked elbow macaroni |
| 1 large clove garlic, minced | 1 can (8 oz.) kidney beans, rinsed and drained |
| 1 tablespoon vegetable oil | |
| 2 teaspoons chopped fresh oregano | |
| 3/4 teaspoon sugar | |

Cut beef into 1/2-inch cubes. Combine 1 Tbsp. soy sauce, cornstarch and garlic; stir in beef. Heat oil in Dutch oven or large saucapan over high heat. Add beef and stir-fry 1 minute; remove. Stir 2 cups water, remaining soy sauce, oregano, sugar and tomatoes into same pan. Cover and simmer 15 minutes. Add green beans; simmer, covered 10 minutes. Stir in macaroni; simmer, covered 10 minutes longer. Add beef and kidney beans; cook, stirring, just until beans are heated through. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Do Gooders' Enjoy Wood Working At August Meeting

Ms. Vickie Davis of Plainview presented a program on "The Unique Touch" displaying her skill of working with wood at the Do-Gooders' Club meeting Tuesday afternoon, August 13 at the Community Center in Flomot.

Woodcraft designs were shown for a decorative yard and landscape for every occasion. To add beauty during the Christmas holidays outside the home, Ms. Davis had ornamental woodcrafts of a Santa Claus, a snowman, candy canes and a tall Christmas tree with glistening lights. She had attractive animals including cows, ducks and pigs. Other decorative uses were wooden signs with the family name, address and a wooden plaque honoring an individual at a special event.

Hostesses, Mrs. Howard Rogers and Mrs. George Pope presided at a table laid with a white cloth complimented with a blue runner. The centerpiece was a lovely floral arrangement in a Mexican pottery vase. They served party pinwheels, peanut butter bits, cake and peaches with slush punch and iced tea.

Texas Department Of Health Alerts Public To Immunization Changes

The Texas Department of Health (TDH) reminds all parents and school or day care administrators that immunization rules for Texas children recently have been changed. In efforts to stop recent resurgences of so-called childhood diseases, the Texas Board of Health, in both 1990 and 1991, modified existing immunization requirements.

TDH urges parents to ensure that their children's immunization records comply with those rules. Physicians and local health departments can supply detailed information about the requirements. Low-cost or free back-to-school immunizations are offered throughout the year in many Texas communities.

One of the newest immunization rule changes eases restrictions against persons other than a child's parents who seek vaccinations for children in their care. Now, parents and legal guardians may formally delegate authority for signing immunization consent forms to other adults, such as a child's grandparent.

Other recent rule changes include a mandatory second dose of measles vaccine for all Texas school children by age 12. Also, children who are younger than 5 must be vaccinated against Haemophilus influenzae type b (Hib disease), a common cause of meningitis in children, and pertussis (whooping cough).

Wes Hodgson, epidemiology coordinator for the TDH Immunization Division, said, "The continuing measles outbreaks which began in 1988 underscore the tragic results of incomplete vaccinations."

In recent years, some parents failed to protect their children against vaccine-preventable diseases, while some school and day care operators failed to keep adequate records so that inadequately immunized children went unnoticed. The results has been a growing number of insufficiently immunized children and young adults—all of whom are now vulnerable to infection."

Hodgson said that state law requires all children entering Texas schools or day care to show proof of immunizations at certain ages against polio, tetanus, measles, rubella (German or three-day measles), mumps and diphtheria.

Younger children must also give proof of immunity to whooping cough and Hib disease.

"The law allows for some exceptions to these requirements," Hodgson added, "but each case must be considered individually."

He stressed that since a child's age and medical history are factors in which vaccines and "boosters" the child needs, parents should consult their family physicians about the required immunizations for each child.

Hodgson said that, beginning in 1992, college students enrolled in health related course, and medical or dental schools will be required to have certain immunizations against rubella, mumps, measles, tetanus, diphtheria and hepatitis B. Veterinary students will need current vaccinations against rabies.

was held on the same subject, redrawing precinct boundaries.

A Special Called Meeting of the Hall County Commissioners Court and the Lakeview Watershed Directors was held following the commissioners Court regular meeting. Present with the Commissioners were T. U. Hughes, WCID, Kenneth Dale, Co. Judge, Don McMurry, WCID, A.J. Johnson, SWCD, Jerry Smith, Co. Commissioner, U. F. Coker, Co. Commissioner, Bobby Barbee, Co. Commissioner, and these others: Earl Archer, Greg Sokora, Jams Verden, O.E. Simmons and Randy Hargrove.

The minutes of this meeting reveal the following topic discussed:

1. discussion of a request by landowners in the Hogland Flat of Consideration that erosion problems in this area be addressed. The land is directly below Site 106 and the prolonged flow of the principal spillways is considered to be causing most of the problems. This area is intensively managed as irrigation cropland. It has a high natural fertility and is some of the most productive in Hall County. The sponsors agreed to request that the Soil conservation Service consider the feasibility of adding additional flood control measured to the watershed work plan to help treat the problem.

2. The sponsors informed the Soil Conservation Service that they are still interested in getting something done on Bitter Creek channel. They were informed that further investigation is being done to see if a more feasible alternative can be found to complete this project, as well as a re-evaluation of the present planned project.

3. The sponsors were informed of a potential problem on Site 4. A sinkhole has formed at the lower end of the emergency spillway along the fence line. The large hole is approximately 40 feet in diameter and 18 to 20 feet

Tips Offered To Help Ease Back-To-School Shopping

by Sandra Avant

Shopping for children's clothing gets intense twice a year—Christmas and right about now, when clothes for school are in high demand.

"Clothing is probably the most expensive item on parents' school supply list," said Dr. Ann V. Beard, clothing specialist with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service.

A U. S. Department of Agriculture study indicates that middle-income urban families in the South each year spend about $780 on clothing for each child age 15 to 17, $380 per child between 12 and 14, and $500 on each younger school-age child.

Shopping a variety of sources for children's clothes can help reduce back-to-school expenses, Beard said. By planning ahead, consumers can find bargains at outlets, thrift stores, discount stores and garage sales.

When shopping for clothes, she suggests following these steps:

Make a list—look over your child's wardrobe and note the items needed. Consider the garment desired, color and fabric.

Budget spending—Before you go shopping, know exactly how much you can afford and what you can spend on each item.

Take your child shopping—Before you go, prepare the child for what you are looking for, and shop only for him or her, not for the entire family, since young children get tired easily.

Know sizes—Take along your child's measurements and a tape measure. You cannot always depend on sizes to be accurate.

Consider the child's growth patterns—Don't buy more than what's needed. Children grow rapidly and may outgrow what you buy before the school year is over.

Consider purchasing two or three outfits that can be mixed and matched for a more useful wardrobe.

Consider what special clothing will be needed for your child's activities. Decide if parts of these garments could be worn with regular school clothing as a wardrobe extender. Less expensive tops such as brightly colored T-shirts can add variety to a wardrobe.

Choose styles and fabrics that will grow with the child. Raglan sleeves, cuffs on pants, adjustable straps and waistbands, large hems in dresses and tops can add to the wear-life of a garment.

Also, consider the care factors. Knits, especially cotton or cotton/polyester, are easy to care for and stretch for comfort. Choose durable fabrics such as denim and corduroy to withstand children's activities and repeated laundering.

Buying from discount sources can save money, but you need to be careful, Beard said. To make sure you are satisfied with what you buy and getting a good deal, ask yourself these questions before buying the merchandise:

Are all parts of the garment the same size? One sleeve may be smaller than the other.

Are collar and lapel points the same length?

Is the lining the correct size for the garment?

Will wrinkles press out?

Are the top and bottom the same size and color?

Are ties and belts the right size and a good color match?

GOVERNOR'S REPORT

Ann D. Richards

Special session a success

We squeezed state government, passed a lottery, avoided an income tax and cut down a $7 billion budget shortfall. By those measures alone, the special called session of the 72nd Legislature was a success.

While it was sometimes chaotic, often confusing and always difficult, the job turned in by lawmakers during the session ending August 13 was truly remarkable.

Consider that when legislators arrived in January we were told that the state was facing a budget shortfall of over $5 billion. When the additional cost of meeting a Supreme Court ruling to finance public education was added to the mix, the headline writers told us that the Legislature would have to pass a tax bill in the neighborhood of $7 billion.

But that didn't happen. In fact, a lot of the dire predictions we heard did not take place.

We put to rest the talk of a personal income tax in Texas. We were able to address our revenue needs without raising the sales tax rate -- not one cent, or one-half cent, or even a quarter-cent. And we were able to make cuts and consolidations in state government that no one dreamed possible.

Before I review the accomplishments of this special session let me emphasize what an extraordinary session it was.

In this short 30 day period we were able to:

Pass a state lottery. For the first time, Texans will be able to decide on a state lottery at the ballot box in November. With the enabling legislation that has been passed, the lottery will generate nearly $500 million in non-tax revenue for the biennium.

Reformed the franchise tax. Business leaders have asked for years for an overhaul of the franchise tax system. We have done that, and in the process we will add an additional $800 million to the state coffers.

Draw more federal dollars. By using new accounting procedures enacted during this session, Texas will draw down a record of more than $15 billion in federal aid in 1992-93.

Fully funded the education reform package. This commitment will end a decade-long battle to build an equitable system of school finance that will meet the mandates of the Texas constitution.

Reaffirmed our commitment to highways. The five-cent increase in the fuels tax will enable us to draw down more federal highway matching dollars, while preserving our commitment to rural roads. The increase will also help us expand our South Texas network -- a key to benefiting from the Free Trade Agreement.

We were able to accomplish all this with a $1.3 billion tax bill.

That money came from raising fees and taxes in a number of areas where the Legislature was able to reach a consensus. With the additional $500 million to be raised by the franchise tax overhaul, the state passed the smallest tax bill of the last decade.

The last two tax bills enacted by this body have been in the neighborhood of $5 billion. With that in mind, you see how dramatically we were able to squeeze state government.

We were able to accomplish roughly 65 percent of the recommendations made by Comptroller John Sharp in his performance audit reviews.

And we are not finished. The comptroller will continue his audits of state government.

This session was not perfect. We did not get all the cuts that I wanted. But the process is not over. The fact that we came in here facing such a huge shortfall, and pared it down so dramatically is -- quite frankly -- a huge relief.

And we did it without a personal income tax.

LEGAL NOTICE

LEGAL NOTICE: The United States Environmental Protection Agency has adopted requirements that all public water systems notify their customers about lead exposure. This notification is intended to educate and inform consumers on this issue in light of the fact that your drinking water may be a potential source of lead exposure. This is being done even though your water system is not in violation of the current standard. There are also other potential sources of lead contamination in the environment.

The United States Environmental Protection Agency sets drinking water standards and has determined that lead is a health concern at certain levels of exposure. There is currently a standard of 0.050 parts per million. Based on new health information, EPA is likely to lower this standard significantly. Part of the purpose of this notice is to inform you of the potential adverse health effects of lead. This is being done even though your water may not be in violation of the current standard.

EPA and others are concerned about lead in drinking water. Too much lead in the human body can cause serious damage to the brain, kidneys, nervous system, and red blood cells. The greatest risk, even with short-term exposure, is to young children and pregnant women.

Lead levels in your drinking water are likely to be highest:

1. if your home or water system has lead pipes, or
2. if your home has copper pipes with lead solder, and
- if the home is less than five years old, or
- if you have soft or acidic water, or
- if water sits in the pipes for several hours.

Ways to avoid potential lead exposure are to "flush" faucets before use and to use cold water for drinking and cooking. You may wish to have your home tap water tested for lead content by a competent laboratory. You may also wish to check to see if lead pipes, solder, or flux were used in your home plumbing.

For further information you may contact the City of Turkey at City Hall, 423-1033.

Dear hearts and gentle people, They just don't make words that express the feeling in our hearts, especially Sissie's mother. You helped in so many ways before and after her passing, maybe a hand-shake, a word of comfort, or just sit quietly holding my hand (what-ever). We love you for it, all the beautiful flowers, food, cards and letters from far away, the delicious meal at the church, and your prayer (We still need them).

We want to say a special thanks to the ambulance crew that took our baby to the hospital although it was too late.

We want to thank the pallbearers, Brother Lackey and Brother Richey for the beautiful service, Elgin and Patsy for the lovely music and song service. Sissie would have loved that. Special thanks goes to Schooler-Gordon.

Let me say that Quitaque is a wonderful place to be when you need help.

God Bless and keep all of you in my prayer.

HOW GRASSES GROW

95% OF PLANT FOOD IS TAKEN FROM THE AIR

5% OF PLANT FOOD IS TAKEN FROM THE SOIL

LEAVES ARE FOOD FACTORIES

In the presence of sunshine, they combine carbon dioxide from the air and water, nitrates, and minerals from the soil to make plant food.

SHORT TOPS MEAN SHORT ROOTS!

ROOTS gather raw materials; water, nitrates and minerals which are converted into plant food by the leaves. Roots also serve as storehouses for food. This food is essential for regrowth.

SHORT ROOTS MEAN LESS FUTURE GRASS PRODUCTION!

OVERGRAZING WILL DESTROY BOTH THE LEAVES AND THE ROOTS!

Keep Football Fans Cheering With Change-of-Pace Dips

Football season is a great time to take a dip... to the living room, family room or wherever armchair athletes gather to watch the game. Armed with chips and vegetable dippers, they can dip, dunk and munch as they please without missing a bit of the action.

This fall, fuel football fans with two fast and far-from-ho-hum dips created by PACE® picante sauce home economists. Great served hot or at room temperature, both dips take their garden-fresh flavor and spicy jalapeno "heat" from versatile PACE® picante sauce, in the cook's choice of mild, medium or hot.

Black Bean-Bacon Dip is a crowd-pleasing blend of beans, bacon, garlic, cream cheese and picante sauce that's especially good with vegetable dippers such as carrots and bell peppers. Crabby Con Queso is a richly flavored mix of cheese, veggies, picante sauce and imitation crab meat that tastes great with tortilla chips.

Expecting a crowd? No problem! Both recipes are easily doubled.

Black Bean-Bacon Dip

- 6 slices bacon, diced
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 can (16 ounces) black beans, drained
- 2/3 cup PACE® picante sauce
- 1-1/2 ounces cream cheese, cubed
- 1-1/2 teaspoons cumin
- Chopped cilantro

Cook bacon in skillet until crisp; remove and reserve. Pour off all but 1 tablespoon drippings. Add onion and garlic; cook until tender. Transfer to food processor; add beans and process until smooth. Return to skillet; add remaining ingredients. Cook until cheese melts; stir in bacon. Sprinkle with cilantro to serve. Makes 1-3/4 cups.

Crabby Con Queso

- 3/4 cup chopped onion
- 3/4 cup chopped green pepper

- 1 garlic clove, minced
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 1/2 cup PACE® picante sauce
- 1/2 pound process cheese spread, cubed
- 1/4 pound imitation crab meat, finely shredded
- 1/2 cup chopped tomato

Saute onion, green pepper and garlic in oil until tender. Add picante sauce and cheese; cook and stir until cheese melts. Stir in crab and tomato. Makes 2 cups.

FARM & RANCH NEWS

Conservation News

by Donald Gibbons

If we keep down the shoot we kill the root: Green leaves manufacture all the food from which roots grow. In the fall, roots store food that nourishes the new shoots in the spring. This is the shoot which was to have been the food manufacturing apparatus for the year. If the first shoot is grazed, there is usually enough storage in the root to put out another shoot; but if we do this repeatedly during the season we starve the root, we shorten it, reduce its ability to reach nutrients and water. It takes a big factory above ground to manufacture sufficient plant food.

About 50% of the total volume of growth of a grass plant is available for the production of livestock and livestock products. A properly grazed plant produces a chemical compound called ETHENOL which is a growth stimulator. A plant which is overgrazed or not grazed for several years produces a chemical compound called AUXIN, which suppresses growth. Proper grazing is better than no grazing at all since some research indicates that saliva excreted by grazing animals stimulates plant growth. Research shows that many grasses will not reach their maximum vigor and growth when more than half their leaf surface is removed by frequent grazing. The man whose pastures look only half used each fall gets more grazing than the man whose pasture is kept short.

Programs and services of the Soil Conservation Service are offered on a nondiscriminatory basis without regard for race, color, national origin, age, sex, religion, marital status, or handicap.

New Ryegrass Available For Panhandle

A new ryegrass tough enough to survive Texas Panhandle winters also surpasses common varieties in yield, beef production per acre and crown rust resistance has been developed.

"We hope to see 70,000 acres planted this fall," according to Dr. Lloyd Nelson, who developed the variety, TAM 90, at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

About 1.8 million pounds of TAM 90 ryegrass seed are available for planting that will begin in late October. East Texas ranchers annually plant about 1 million acres of ryegrass in pastures for cattle grazing.

TAM 90 was developed over several years. Plants derived from a cross of three parents were selected for the best high forage yield potential and crown rust resistance.

Those plants, grown at Amarillo, were chosen for winter hardiness through natural selection. Seed from those again were selected for best forage yields in subsequent trials.

Plants that eventually became TAM 90 were picked in 1985 and underwent five years of yield, disease resistance and grazing trials before the variety was released for commercial seed production in 1990.

Forage yields averaged almost 8,600 pounds per acre in the past four years, which was more than Gulf, Jackson, Surrey and Tetragold varieties. Marshall averaged more, about 8,900 pounds per acre, but TAM 90 out-yielded that variety in two of the four years.

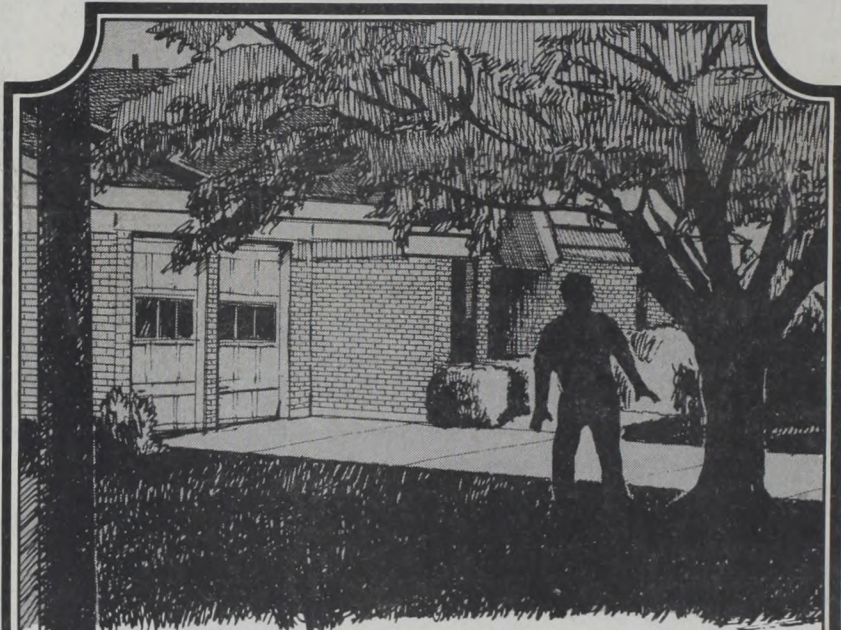

More beef per acre also was produced in grazing trials. In a 1989-90 test, TAM 90 produced a gain of 796 pounds of beef per acre. The result was 141 pounds per acre more than Gulf, the variety currently used by about 80 percent of the ryegrass growers in Texas.

Ranchers interested in planting TAM 90 should contact the Texas Foundation Seed Service, a unit of the Experiment Station, in College Station at 409-845-4051 to find out companies who market the new variety.
