A QUICK READ OF THE NEWS

Strictly by the numbers

Insurance rates slashed

AUSTIN — Texans will save nearly $700 million on their insurance premiums next year, Insurance Commissioner Elton Bomer said in approving the rate cuts Friday.

The rate cuts are part of a mandate from lawmakers that insurance companies lower their rates in return for lawsuit reforms that presumably save the companies money.

Insurance loophole leads to cash crop for some

Some West Texas farmers profited from the drought through a loophole in the federal crop insurance program, according to a story this week in the Texas Journal section of the Wall Street Journal.

An estimated 200 producers in Glasscock, Reagan, Upton and Midland Counties planted 70,000 acres of pima cotton, a crop so rarely grown that the nearest gin for pima is about 100 miles away. Meanwhile, farmers in Tom Green County planted more than 16,000 acres of dryland corn, of which they planted fewer than 100 acres in each of the previous five years because of the region's unpredictable rain.

In both cases, nearly none of the acreage produced salvageable crops, allowing farmers to collect $15.7 million thanks to federal loopholes that raised crop benchmarks so high that farmers were guaranteed a payout, according to the Journal. It was at least $6 million more than they would have collected had they stuck with their traditional crops of upland cotton and grain sorghum, federal regulators told the Texas Journal.

Kim Hanlin, executive director of the Bailey County Farm Service Agency, heard about the huge insurance claims. He said what the farmers did wasn't illegal, but he didn't endorse the practice either. "Nobody around here plants for insurance," Hanlin said. "They plant whatever crop they think will make them money."

In Bailey County, only traditional crops like corn, upland cotton and grain sorghum are insurable.

Pima is a much more valuable crop compared to the traditional upland cotton grown in most of Texas.

■ Second half rally halts seven-game winning streak

By RICK WHITE
Managing Editor

Dimmitt stopped more streaks than Windex.

The Bobcats ended Muleshoe's shutout string less than four minutes into the game and then rallied past the previously unbeaten Mules 28-21 Friday before a homecoming crowd of 3,100 at Benny Douglass Stadium.

Dimmitt (4-1) converted two Muleshoe turnovers into 14 points and dominated the second half to wipe clean the Mules' seven-game winning streak.

Muleshoe (4-1) had shutout its first four opponents. The Mules played without four players, including three starters, who were suspended for one game for violating team rules.

"Before the game, I told the kids whoever made the fewest mistakes would win the game, and that's what happened," Muleshoe coach David Wood said.

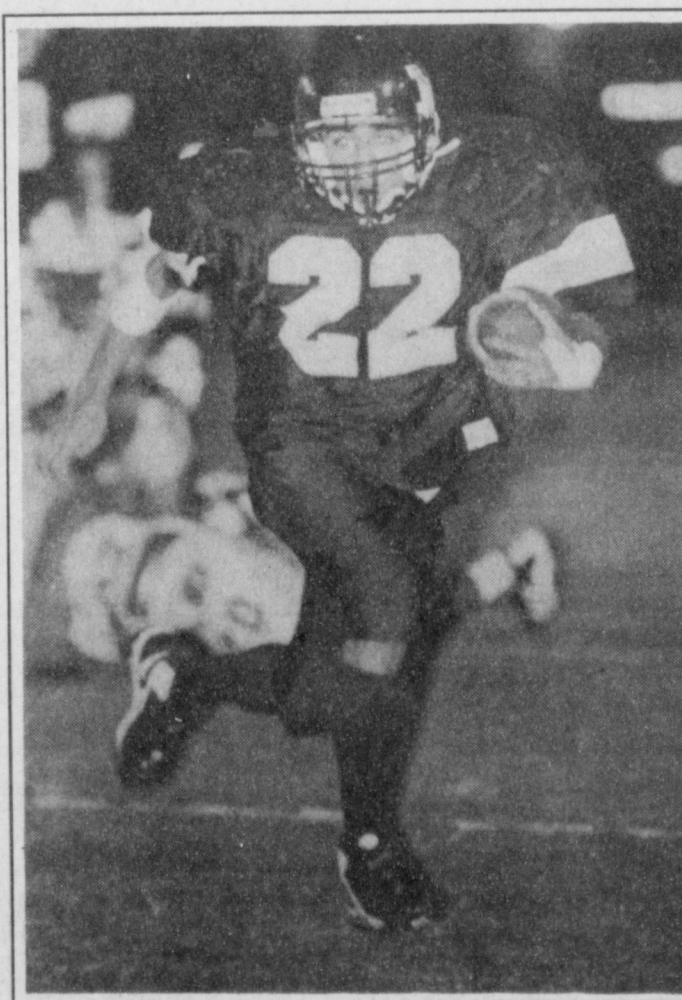

Bruising Dimmitt fullback Beau Hill rushed for 124 yards and scored on four short runs, but the see-saw game was decided by big plays and turnovers.

Hill scored the winning touchdown on a two-yard dive early in the fourth quarter after Dimmitt pounced on a Matt McClanahan at the Muleshoe 18.

Muleshoe, which trailed 14-0 in the first quarter, had grabbed a lead 21-14 early in the second half on Dustin Cleavinger's 18-yard interception return.

Dimmitt hardly folded, driving 56 yards in nine plays to tie the game at 21 on Hill's one-yard run. Muleshoe appeared to have Dimmitt in a hole, but Derek Buckley hooked up with wide receiver Daniel Flores for a 35-yard pass on third-and-14. Flores outfought two defenders and came down with the ball at the Muleshoe 24.

"We knew to be a good team we had to rise to the occasion," Dimmitt coach Bruce Dollar said. "And we proved we are a good team."

Breaking free

Muleshoe's Gilbert Vela looks to get outside during a second-quarter run Friday at Benny Douglass Stadium. Dimmitt beat Muleshoe 28-21.

Dollar said his team didn't panic when they fell behind. "These kids have a lot of poise. They just kept playing."

With a little halftime tinkering, Dimmitt's lightning-quick defense dominated the second half.

The Bobcats allowed just 62 yards in the second half

Home Health taking big hit

By RICK WHITE
Managing Editor

Changes in the Medicare reimbursement system are crippling the home health industry, according to local officials.

Muleshoe Area Home Health Agency has seen a 60 percent drop in revenues for the first six months of this year compared to 1996 figures, according to Muleshoe hospital district administrator Jim Bone.

"We're probably going through a valley right now," Bone said. "Things will get better when everybody gets in sync and better understands how the program operates."

Home health agencies in Texas and across the nation are experiencing a similar drop off, according to Muleshoe Area Home Health Agency director Margaret Heathington.

"It's down everywhere," Heathington said.

More than 570 home health agencies have closed since Jan. 1, according to the Texas Department of Health.

"We believe the home health agency is an important part of the hospital district, and as long as it continues to be perceived as a need, we will take care of that need," Bone said.

Faced with ballooning health care costs, the federal Health Care Financing Administration placed national reimbursement limits on home health agencies last year.

Previously, charges were cost-based, which led to widespread abuse, according to Bone.

The new guidelines put a yearly cap on the number of visits and the total amount that can be charged for services.

Until just recently, home health agencies operating under a system known as the Interim Payment System weren't even sure what the reimbursement rates were going to be.

"We were operating in the dark," Heathington said.

Feds expect cattle prices to rise next year

Fed cattle prices likely hit their lows this summer averaging slightly below $60 per hundred weight in July, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Economic Research Service reported in its Aug. 18 livestock outlook.

ERS estimates that prices will remain under pressure through mid-fall, but expectations of reduce production by late fall and throughout the next several years should cause fourth-quarter prices to reach the mid-$60s, up from near $61 This summer.

Fed cattle prices are expected to rise to the low-to mid-$70s in 1999. A slowing economy and still large total meat supplies will hold down price strength says ERS. Highest prices are likely to occur in late spring to mid-summer as the summer barbecue season has to deal with the tightest supplies since 1993. Reduced world beef supplies will lead to a resurgence of prices for beef trimmings from a lower supply of somewhat lighter-weight fed cattle slaughter.

Stocker-feeder cattle prices are expected to rise fairly sharply over the next few years as supplies plummet. Prices for lighter weight stocker cattle will show the sharpest gains as even normal grazing conditions would generate excess forage supplies given the declining cattle inventories.

Prices for yearling cattle will show less strength, says ERS. Feedlot operators will have to buy these cattle at prices, that even with lower feed costs, will face large supplies of competing meats at lower prices.

Cattle feeders will find it difficult to outbid the stocker operators for the reduced supply of lighter weight cattle. Feedlot inventories are expected to decline in late 1998 throughout the next few years, but placement weights will remain relatively heavy.

MISD Board notes

The district has once again undertaken a study to determine the facility needs for the next five years. This study began with a review of the current five-year plan developed with the assistance of Adling & Associates, an architectural firm from Lubbock. The current plan was developed and approved in 1995. Since that time, a number of projects have been completed ahead of the forecasted time schedule.

Superintendent Bill Moore said, "It is really exciting to look back over the last few years and see that so many of the facilities needs that were identified have been met. The property insurance certainly accelerated the completion of the roofing of the schools, but many other projects have also been done ahead of schedule. Sam Whalin (facilities coordinator) and his staff certainly deserve a lot of credit for their fine work."

Muleshoe ISD pays for all facility improvements with local funds. The district has no

Other business

The Muleshoe ISD Board of Trustees met in regular session at noon, Oct. 1.

They began their meeting with a discussion of the supplementary materials for the High School Health textbooks. The Trustees approved all of the workbooks except for the ones on AIDS and sexuality. Those workbooks will be available to parents if they want to check them out for their own use.

The second item of business for the Trustees was to review and approve an interlocal agreement and memorandum of understanding for the Region 17 Information Network. This agreement will make Muleshoe ISD a part of the region-wide network when it is up and running. There will be no cost to the district for this service and we will receive no direct benefit from it until the ITV classrooms are in operation. At that time, this agreement will facilitate access to any other district in Region 17.

Following the business portion of the meeting, the Trustees heard reports from the administrative staff members regarding various activities throughout the district. The meeting adjourned at 12:57 p.m.

The next meeting of the Trustees will be held on Oct. 12.

debt and, as a result, receives no state aid to assist in construction or renovation of facilities.

"When you're on a pay-as-you-go program as we are, we need to plan our work carefully to prioritize the work that needs to be done so we can plan on providing the necessary funds to pay for it," Moore said.

Throughout the remainder of the semester Adling and Associates will be meeting with groups from the various campuses and departments to determine the needs anticipated for the next five years. A preliminary report is expected in January, and the final report will be received by the Board of Trustees in February. The final document will serve as the schedule for improvements for the next five years.

Muleville awarded education grant

DeShazo Elementary School was one of five schools in Texas that received an Innovative Public School Award from the Today Foundation for its Muleville student-run business.

State Sen. Teel Bivins of Amarillo will present the $1,000 check to DeShazo Elementary on behalf of the Today Foundation on Dec. 1.

"Muleville offers students an excellent opportunity to use skills they learn in school to run real businesses," according to a Today Foundation press release.

"We think it's a privilege to receive an honor like this," DeShazo principal Barbara Finney said. "We think Muleville is something special."

Now in its fourth year, Muleville includes a post office, bank and school supply store. Students not only operate the businesses, but also make-up the Muleville board of directors.

Finney said the $1,000 Today Foundation grant would be used to build a snack bar that would be open for special occasions. The board of directors have already named it the Mule Barn.

The Innovative School Award is given to schools or districts for creative endeavors to improve education.

The Today Foundation is a non-profit organization based in the Dallas area. Projects of the Today Foundation include Associated Texans Against Crime and the Children's Education Fund.

The President, the Prosecutor, and the "Disease of Arrogance"

Please indulge me a few more late words about the Clinton mess.

It doesn't surprise me that White House spin doctors would try to blame Kenneth Starr for the problems created by their boss. It just surprises me that so many folks would believe them. If Clinton and company don't want to see lurid details in a report, perhaps Clinton and company should consider not behaving, well, luridly. (Had those

Baker, Can a Good Christian Be a Good Lawyer? Starr writes that the antidote to the "deadly disease of arrogance" that often afflicts the legal profession is contained in the wisdom literature of the Bible. He says, "The antidote is like a vitamin pill. It needs to be taken daily."

I don't know Kenneth Starr any better than I know Bill Clinton. I believe we should be praying for both of them. But I'd rather go to lunch with Kenneth Starr. From what I know about him and from what I know about the sharks he's been thrown into the tank with, praying for him is a lot easier for me than praying for our president, though I firmly believe we should pray for both and for our nation.

I've said little from the pulpit about this situation because I see far too many ways this mess can bring out what is most fleshly and arrogant in all of us. I'm not sure I'm as wise as some who have handled this well and in a balanced way.

I am quite sure, though, that neither the president nor we should think that repentance means escaping very practical and legal consequences. It seems clear to me that if any school administrator was caught engaging in such acts in his office with a student teacher, he would most certainly be fired. Even if his repentance and desire for forgiveness were quite real. I hope he would repent. I firmly believe that God could, through Christ, forgive his erring son. But he would have to repent and be forgiven under different employment.

Even if he blamed the custodian who caught him and reported the misbehavior.

A longtime family friend retired recently as an English professor and, later, graduate dean at Texas Tech. He and his wife spent a number of months in Washington as he was at Georgetown University doing doctoral research. During that time, they worshiped at the small church Kenneth Starr was also attending. Starr even loaned them a car for a few weeks while theirs was being repaired. Though they have not maintained a close relationship with the Starr family, they say that Kenneth Starr was a committed, genuine, and kind Christian man. Starr, by the way, is also the author of an essay, "Christian Life in the Law" which appears in a new book edited by Timothy W. Floyd and Thomas E.

JV Mules still unbeaten; frosh suffer first loss

DIMMITT — Muleshoe overcame the loss of its top two quarterbacks and remained undefeated with a 12-6 win Thursday in a junior varsity game.

Sophomore Darrell Lewis scored the winning touchdown for the Mules (5-0) in the third quarter on a 12-yard run.

Emergency quarterback Delwyn Latham took over in the second quarter for Danny Ramirez, who was tossed from the game for unsportsmanlike conduct. Regular starting quarterback James Barrett was moved up to the varsity this week.

Dimmitt scored in the second quarter after recovering a fumble at the Muleshoe 3.

The touchdown was the first points the Mules had allowed in three games.

On the next play from scrimmage following Dimmitt's touchdown, Chris Vela bolted 60 yards to tie the score at 6-6.

The Muleshoe JV hosts Littlefield next week in its District 2-3A opener.

Muleshoe junior defensive back Jeff Bruns lays a lick on Dimmitt's Eric Gamez during Friday's Homecoming game at Benny Douglass Stadium. Dimmitt rallied to beat Muleshoe 28-21, handing the Mules' their first loss of the season.

for the Mules (1-2), who were shutout the first two weeks.

Fumble recoveries by Tatom Heathington and Chase Winkler set up the scores.

MULES

and came up with a big defensive stop inside their own 15 after a third-quarter turnover. After Muleshoe lost three yards on three plays, Dimmitt blocked Ryan Hodge's 33-yard field goal attempt that would have put the Mules ahead 24-21.

Dimmitt's pass rush terrorized McClanahan in the second half, including back-to-back sacks late in the game. McClanahan was sacked four times and finished with minus 30 yards rushing.

Gilbert Vela returned to form for Muleshoe with 165 yards and two touchdowns on 27 carries. Muleshoe finished with 192 yards, a little more than half of its season average.

Meanwhile, Dimmitt dented Muleshoe's top-ranked defense for 319 yards.

Justin Sutton gave the Bobcats two 100-yard rushers with 115 yards on 18 carries, mostly on quick pitches to the left side of the Mules' defense. Sutton also completed a 24-yard throwback pass to Buckley that helped the Bobcats eat up precious time late in the game.

Dimmitt jumped on Muleshoe early, taking the opening kickoff and marching 56 yards in eight plays for the first score against Muleshoe this season. Hill capped the drive with the first of his four touchdowns by scoring from a yard out.

After the teams traded punts, Hill scored again on a three-yard following a Muleshoe turnover. The gimme score made it 14-0 less than 10 minutes into the game. The drive started at the Muleshoe 11-yard line after Jerry Thomas recovered on a McClanahan fumble.

Vela got Muleshoe jump-started on its next drive, ripping off a 29-yard run to the Dimmitt 27.

Vela kept the drive alive with a three-yard run to the Dimmitt four on fourth-and-two. The diminutive senior with the huge heart scored on the next play to shave Dimmitt's lead to 14-7 one minute into the second quarter.

Muleshoe dominated the rest of the half, scoring with 27 seconds left in the second quarter.

In a near picture-perfect drive, the Mules marched 70 yards in 14 plays. McClanahan shook loose for a 17-yard run and later kept the drive alive by picking up a first down on a quarterback sneak on fourth-and-short at the Dimmitt 10. Vela scored from two yards out to tie the game at 14-14.

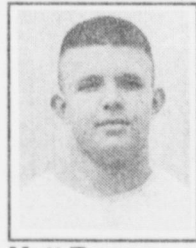

Muleshoe clearly had the momentum at the start of the second half when Cleavinger intercepted Buckley's hurried pass and returned it for a touchdown.

Blitzing linebacker Greg Pena hit Buckley just as he threw the ball. The ball hit a leaping Cleavinger squarely in the chest as he attempted to knock the pass down and the senior defensive end raced untouched into the end zone.

"We weren't able to sustain anything in the second half," Wood said. "They were more physical than we were, and that's something the kids have to understand is that they have to get more physical in tough games."

MHS awards

Muleshoe offensive lineman Matt Turney would be a good spokesman for I-Hop after recording 14 pancake blocks in the Mules' 28-0 win against Tulia last week.

Matt Turney

Turney, a 6-4, 290-pound senior, also had 10 tackles to earn Muleshoe Player of the Week honors.

Roger Whipple

Junior defensive end Roger Whipple also had a big week for the Mules. The 5-11, 190-pound junior earned the McDonald's Sportsmanship Award and the Slobberknocker Award for the biggest hit against Tulia.

The Slobberknocker Award is voted on by Muleshoe Athletic Booster Club during its weekly meetings.

CORRECTION

BAILEY COUNTY ELECTRIC CO-OP COMMUNITY MEETING

HOW WILL YOU BE PURCHASING ELECTRICITY IN THE FUTURE?

- October 5, 1998 Springlake-Earth Auditorium 9:30 a.m.
- October 5, 1998 Lazbuddie School Cafeteria 1:30 p.m.
- October 6, 1998 Bailey County Coliseum 9:30 a.m.
- October 6, 1998 Morton Activity Building 1:30 p.m.

The movement through the Federal and State Government is toward electric industry deregulation. There very well could be a bill passed with some kind of deregulation in the next legislative session. We will be discussing the pros and cons of purchasing electricity and the effect on the electric utility.

What will you be giving up?

We are concerned that people need to understand the way they will purchase electricity. Please make a point to join us for this very important meeting.

health industry has also been the target of a Department of Justice investigation into compliance abuse.

The Office of the Inspector General believes that many home health agencies failed to properly screen their clients and provided and billed for services that weren't needed.

Muleshoe Home Health stringently followed the guidelines even before the federal investigation began, according to Bone and Heathington.

"A lot of agencies are not as rigid in the application of the criteria," Bone said.

A by-product of the investigation is that doctor referrals have fallen off considerably.

In July of 1996, Muleshoe Area Home Health had patient referrals from 29 physicians. This past July, that number had shrunk to just six.

The result of rule changes and stricter enforcement procedures has made home health care an extremely competitive business.

By law, patients have the right to choose their health provider, according to Heathington.

"The main thing we want people in the area to know is they do have a choice," Heathington said. "And we will be here for the long run."

Muleshoe received just under two inches of rain Thursday night, most from a series of strong late-night thunderstorms that turned city roads into rivers temporarily.

Agriculture's Risk Management agency, which oversees the insurance program, have made four trips to West Texas to investigate. So far, they have concluded no rules were broken.

But they virtually outlawed pima and dry-land corn insurance for the area next year.

Wall-area farmer Doyle Schiers planted 3,500 acres of dryland corn even though he had never grown it before. While he's likely to break even on the 4,700 acres of cotton he planted, he expects a profit of $22 an acre — or $77,000 — on the corn, thanks to the program, according to the Texas Journal story.

Rocky King, a Midkiff farmer, had a similar experience with pima cotton. He says he lost money on his 900 acres of irrigated upland cotton but made a profit of as much as $44 an acre on the 340 acres of pima he planted.

Slick the Super horse

I sat on a piece of art work. It had a beating heart. A ripple ran between my legs, a tremor at the start. No more than a one on the richter scale. A glacier calving at the limits of my sonar.

BAXTER BLACK
ON THE EDGE OF COMMON SENSE

"What do I do?" I asked the artist. "Ride him," he said.

Sure. Just climb in Apollo 13 here, and take her for a spin. But I can ride, can't I? I'm supposed to be a horseman.

I tensed in the saddle. No perceptible movement, just a rush of electrical charges to my extremities in preparation. Lighter than the flutter of a fly's wing hitting a spider web. He felt it. He was instantly alert.

I clucked and shook the reins. He stepped out. Neck arched, feet placed perfectly, smooth as a glass slipper on ice. His skin shown - his mane shimmered - his stride measured - his strength apparent - his superiority unquestioned.

I became larger than life. I raised my imaginary sword. I was General Lee, King Arthur, Hernan Cortes. I was the last conquistador riding into history on a bronze horse.

A firm pressure on the throttle. An immediate response from the engine room. We kicked into a lope. I had complete confidence that he could bank, maybe even roll but I held the horizon steady.

Then laying the reins gently to his neck I signaled left. He actually turned his head back to the right and looked up at me with his big whale eye. A quick glance of irritation, a snap of impatience. "You're oversteering," said the artist, "Just the slightest touch and he'll turn. Matter of fact, just think about turning and he will."

Back into the gallop. I could hear calliope music. It is hard to ride something so majestic, so outrageous without imagining that the whole world is watching. Like escorting Lady Godiva down the aisle. You worry, 'Do I look okay? Is my hat on backwards? Will I act a fool'? But, of course no one is looking at you.

In my preflight check, landing instructions were simple: just say whoa. "Even running?" I asked. "Just say whoa." In the time it would take a dally to tighten, he had gone from a gallop to a dead stop. Without even touching the brakes. The depth of training to achieve this feat is profound in my mind. Just say whoa. Try that in your BMW.

How is a piece of artwork like this accomplished. Once I asked a woodcarver about a statue he'd made of a dog, "How do you do it?" He said, "I just carve away everything that doesn't look like a dog."

I strikes me that training horses is like that.

I have ridden many horses. This horse was another dimension. As true a piece of artwork as a Remington painting.

I don't know if I'll ever ride a horse that good again. It was an unexpected gift that will satisfy many longings. See, I've also never ridden in a Lamborghini... but now I don't have to.

Volunteers backbone of 4-H program

COLLEGE STATION — According to Texas 4-H and Youth Development statistics, slightly more than 54,000 volunteers support a program that includes 624,000 young people. As National 4-H Week approaches Oct. 4-10, specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service hope to entice more volunteers to join the ranks.

"In Extension, our programs could not exist without volunteers," said Carroll Bonn, Extension 4-H and youth development specialist at Texas A&M University.

Today's 4-H's are involved in a variety of projects. Steer and heifer projects, food shows, fashion shows, bicycle safety and county fairs are just a few. They also are learning about public speaking, photography, financial planning, community service and veterinary medicine, to name a few.

From a variety of projects that combine education with hands-on experience to capture the minds of young people, 4-H members learn to make decisions, solve problems, set goals, get along with other people and deal with failures and setbacks through positive and productive activities.

But none of these projects are possible without volunteer help, Bonn said.

"What boys and girls receive from a 4-H volunteer is a role model that is willing to listen and help them be the best they can be," she said.

Bonn, who has also worked for Extension in Missouri and Illinois, said that Texas Extension is famous for the quality of its volunteers.

Volunteerism is also rewarding for the volunteers, Bonn said. She recalled some of her own volunteer experiences to illustrate her point.

"In my personal life, I've been able to be a resource to help people understand our environment and appreciate the natural gifts we've been given through nature. It's also a selfish thing. I got so much from 4-H and church as a young person that this is a way for me to give back."

Volunteering is also a good way to make a difference, Bonn added. "I think it's important as a volunteer and parent that we establish a sense of community building through volunteerism."

One thing I always tell young people is that volunteerism looks good on a resume," Bonn said.

"4-H volunteers are making blue ribbon kids, not just blue ribbon projects," she said.

If you're interested in finding out more about the 4-H program or volunteerism, please call your local county Extension service or call (888) 77-YOUTH.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

HIS WATCHMEN ARE BLIND!

"HIS WATCHMEN ARE BLIND, THEY ARE ALL IGNORANT, THEY ARE ALL DUMB DOGS. THEY CANNOT BARK, SLEEPING, LYING DOWN, LOVING TO SLUMBER." (ISA. 56:10) ISAIAH WROTE THIS ADMONITION TO WARN THE PEOPLE THAT THEY MUST BE VIGILANT IN DEALING WITH THEIR POWERFUL NEIGHBORS. THIS PROPHET KNEW IT WAS NOT THE STRENGTH OF ALLIES BUT RATHER THE SPIRIT OF GOD THAT WOULD KEEP THEM FROM ALL HARM. SO AS A WATCHFUL SENTRY IN THE NIGHT GUARDS A SLEEPING ARMY, THEY HAD TO BE ALERT TO THE DANGER OF A CRAFTY ENEMY. COUNTLESS BATTLES HAVE BEEN LOST, NOT THROUGH LACK OF MANPOWER OR ARMAMENT BUT, BECAUSE THE WATCHMAN WAS ASLEEP! ISAIAH KNEW THIS BUT, UNFORTUNATELY, THE KING AND HIS ADVISORS DID NOT SEEK GOD'S GUIDANCE.

AUSTIN — An anticipated state budget surplus of $6.3 billion inspired the chairman of the Senate Economic Development Committee to speak last week on the virtues of saving, as an alternative to spending.

"The line to get a piece of that extra money... is already forming at the door of the Capitol and will soon stretch from the Rio Grande Valley to Texarkana," said Sen. David Sibley, R-Waco.

He called on fellow lawmakers to resist the natural tendency to spend and instead set aside some of the largest budget surplus in state history.

"It is tempting to spend the projected windfall on new initiatives and numerous state programs that have been seriously underfunded for years.

"But what happens to these programs in the next few years if the economy slows and state tax collections decline?"

"We are in the unique position of being able to plan for future years," said Sibley.

He proposed depositing some of the windfall into Texas' Rainy Day Fund, an account created by constitutional amendment in 1988.

Though the fund presently has a balance of $58 billion, it is dwarfed by the state budget, which tilts the scalers at $87 billion.

Blue Cross to pursue merger
Blue Cross of Texas may pursue a merger with Blue Cross of Illinois while the state of Texas seeds an appellate court decision declaring the company a charity, Texas Attorney General Dan Morales announced last week.

State District Judge Joseph H. Hart of Travis County decided in February that Blue Cross was not a charity and therefore was not prohibited by Texas law from merging with Blue Cross of Illinois.

If the state wins its appeal,

Blue Cross will pay the state $560 million over the next 20 years.

If the state loses and Blue Cross of Texas is not determined to be a charity and the merger fails, the company will give the Texas Healthy Kids Corporation $1 million per year for 10 years.

Texas Healthy Kids Corporation was created by the Texas Legislature in 1997 to provide health insurance for children in low-income families.

Environmental violations cost
The Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission says it levied more than $4.6 million in fines for environmental violations during fiscal year 1998.

That's an increase of about $600,000 over the previous year. Last week, the TNRCC announced its first-ever estimate of the cost to Texas businesses and local governments that have violated environmental laws to come back into compliance: an estimated $74 million for fiscal year 1998.

Meanwhile, on Sept. 23, the agency adopted rules regulation industrial and residential runoff in the vast Edwards Aquifer recharge zone filtering the primary source of water for 1.75 million Central Texas residents.

The rules, which become effective June 1, 1999, put stricter run-off-curbings requirements on large construction sites and residential developments.

Ex-Lottery chief drops suit
Nora Linares, former director of the Texas Lottery, received $435,000 in a settlement with Gtech Holdings Corp., the state lottery operator.

Linares accused Gtech of prompting her January 1997 dismissal. She alleged the firm put her boyfriend Mike Moeller on the payroll without her knowledge, in efforts to have her fired.

Moeller, a former deputy agriculture commissioner, was under federal indictment when Gtech hired him. He later was convicted and served prison time on charges of conspiring to divert state funds for political use while working for the state agriculture department.

Texas Stock Index dips
A downturn in the U.S. and world stock markets has affected the Texas Stock Index, an economic indicator to gauge investor confidence in Texas-based businesses.

Compiled monthly by the Texas Comptroller's office, the index ended August at 525.1, down 107.3 points, or 17 percent, from its July close.

Although the index was down for August, it has gained 18.8 percent since its August 1997 close of 441.9, State Comptroller John Sharp said.

LEGAL MATTERS

BY ATTORNEY GENERAL DAN MORALES

Retirement choices

As people grow older they begin to consider options for retirement. Many older citizens do not want the continued expense and burden of caring for their own homes. Many want to live in a community that provides security, good neighbors and health care options. Independent living and continuing care retirement communities offer senior citizens a choice in how they will spend their retirement years.

My office often receives calls about retirement or continuing care centers. While the Office of the Attorney General does not regulate these types of facilities, I am pleased to offer some information on options that are available and what to look for when considering one.

What is the difference?

There are major differences between independent living and continuing care retirement centers.

Independent living retirement centers are often individual apartments, condominiums or homes in planned communities that offer security and amenities such as social events, common dining rooms, transportation and recreational facilities. Living quarters in these communities are available for rent or purchase, depending on the facility.

Often, independent living retirement communities require a certain level of physical and mental health as they do not offer nursing or assisted living care for the residents. Some are affiliated with a local nursing home or assisted-living center.

Continuing care centers offer residents a wide range of services and residential options from independent housing to full nursing home facilities.

Most residents move to these facilities while they are still able to lead active, independent lives, secure in the knowledge that as they grow older their health care needs will be taken care of.

Continuing care centers vary widely in the type of financial arrangements they require. Most require a large down payment in addition to monthly fees for services.

Some offer all-inclusive contracts that cover all of the services available. Others offer month-to-month arrangements that allow for changes in residents' needs. Finally, some centers offer fee-for-services arrangements, allowing residents to pay for only those services they use.

Are there drawbacks?

As with any financial dealing, you should always be careful with what you agree to pay for. Before signing any contract or paying any fees, have someone you trust, a family member or a lawyer, review all contracts and financial arrangements. Often these facilities accept assignment of social security or medicaid benefits to cover monthly fees. Additionally some facilities do not offer refunds of down payments upon a resident's death.

What to look for?

When deciding on a retirement community, evaluate your needs in the coming years. When looking at an independent living community, find out what affiliations it has with local nursing homes or hospitals. If you are considering a continuing care center, carefully review your financial situation and future needs.

You should spend time at the facility. Spend the night if possible; eat a meal there; talk to the other residents. Pay attention to what goes on around you, including how the staff treats the residents and what activities are offered. Request copies of brochures and meet with the management staff.

Most importantly, consider whether you will enjoy living there during your retirement years.

Lariat pastor to be honored with retirement service Oct. 4

By TERESA MESSMAN
 State Line Tribune

There was a small plaque that sat atop Rev. Dick Greenthaler's desk that read "May God do great things through you."

The plaque is now packed away in a box, ready to be moved next week. Pastor Dick and Arlene Greenthaler are moving to Tucson, Ariz.

St. John Lutheran Church of Lariat and the surrounding communities are losing two dynamic people that will be sorely missed. God surely did great things for the rural church and the surrounding communities through the Greenthalers.

"We've enjoyed living here and getting to know many people in the area, but we're ready for retirement and looking forward to being closer to some of our family," said Pastor Greenthaler.

A retirement service is planned for Pastor Greenthaler at 4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 4. A light supper will follow and all friends and colleagues are invited to celebrate Pastor Greenthaler's 32 years of service to the church.

Rev. Greenthaler was born Oct. 1, 1933 in Lockport, New York, and moved to Roswell, NM in 1946. He attended Concordia Lutheran College in Austin. He enlisted in the Marine Corps in 1953 and served as a helicopter pilot until 1959. He returned to Roswell after his military service and served as a bank officer until 1964, when he entered the Lutheran Lay Training Institute in Milwaukee, Wis., graduating in 1966.

He received a call from the LCMS Board of Missions to serve as a missionary and evangelist to Papua, New Guinea where he and his family lived and served until 1975.

He then served as a lay minister and mission developer for the Nebraska District, starting new congregations in Lincoln (2), Getna and Palmyra.

In March 1964, he entered Concordia Seminary, St. Louis and graduated in 1987. He served his vicarage at St. John Lutheran Church in Evansville, Mo. He received a call through the Board of Assignments to again serve as a mission developer. In March 1988, Christ Chapel Lutheran Church of Evansville, Mo. held its first service. He served as pastor there until Dec. 1991, when he accepted a call to St. John Lutheran Church of Lariat.

While at Lariat, he has furthered his education in the areas of rural ministry, conflict resolution and evangelism. He was nominated for a position on the Synod's Board of Missions and ran for that position at the 1995 Synodical Convention. He served the Texas District and the local circuit as circuit counselor, and a conflict resolution specialist, assisting churches in conflict. Most recently, he established a mentoring program for six rural congregations in Texas. The mentors are members of St. John Lutheran Church of Lariat and they assist the various churches in giving advice, helping with ideas and other topics.

During his six and a half years at St. John, the congregation helped begin a new congregation in Portales, NM. This congregation has now called a pastor and is having regular worship services.

Pastor Greenthaler has been active in many civic organizations and projects throughout his time in the community. He has been an involved member of the Farwell Chamber of Commerce and has been a constant fan at most Farwell Schools football and basketball games. He was the engineer for the Border Town Express mini-train in every Border Town Days parade since the train was built four years ago.

Arlene Greenthaler has been a constant source of support for her husband throughout their missionary work and ministry. She was actively involved in the Lutheran Women's Missionary League, was a teacher for Mid-Week School at the church and was also a Sunday School teacher.

Pastor and Arlene are the parents of three grown children that, with their families, are in some very interesting places. Their eldest son David, is an engineer for NASA and is currently living in Moscow. Son Mark is also a Lutheran minister and lives in Australia. Daughter Elizabeth now lives in Tucson, Ariz. with her husband John and their two children.

The fact that at least on of their children lives in the states is one of the reasons for the Greenthalers' move to Tucson.

"We have been very happy to be used by God during our years here," Pastor Greenthaler said. "We pray that God will continue to do great things through the people of Lariat, Farwell, Oklahoma Lane and the surrounding areas. God doesn't perform many 'zapping miracles' that just instantly happen. God works through people and I'm sure that he'll continue to work through the people of St. John Lutheran Church of Lariat and the area."

Happy 50th Anniversary Don and Laura Seales

The former Laura Jane Marberry wed Don Seales on Sunday, September 19, 1948 at the Baptist parsonage in the West Camp community. Minister Loyd Garrison performed the nuptials at 10 am.

The Seales' celebrated their golden anniversary at The Lubbock Club with family. The event was hosted by their children and spouses: Larry & Donava Seales of Anton and Robert & Liz Bentley of Amarillo.

The couple has seven grandchildren: Lisa Sanmann, Jason Seales, Jarrad, Ryan & Lauren Seales, Cory & Britt Bentley, and two great grandchildren: Kayla Sanmann and Marc Seales.

Don is a farmer and Laura is a homemaker. They are lifetime residents of Bailey County.

Lennon, Pitcock married At Richland Hills Baptist

Elizabeth Barbra-Ayne Lennon of Wellington and Dink Isaac Pitcock of Muleshoe were united in marriage July 31, 1998.

The double ring ceremony was held at Richland Hills Baptist Church in Muleshoe, with Bro. George Malis presiding.

The bride is the daughter of Richard and Beth Ellis of Wellington and the late Joe Lennon. Her grandparents are the late T.E. and Loren Lennon of Dodson and Audie Buchanan of Wellington.

The bridegroom is the son of David Pitcock and Sheila Pitcock of Muleshoe. He is the grandson of Jimmy and Allene Pitcock and Ike and Gail Wilcox, all of Muleshoe.

Guests were greeted by Ginni Metcalf, the bridegroom's cousin. The registration table was covered with white lace over a white linen cloth and was accented with a vase holding purple roses with baby's breath.

Ryan Roberson, the bride's cousin, and Chad Metcalf, the bridegroom's cousin, seated the guests.

Jonathon Lennon, nephew of the bride, and Autumn Remington, friend of both the bride and groom, lit the candles. "Great Is Thy Faithfulness" a recording by the bride's late father, David Joe Lennon, was played while the candles were being lit.

A single purple candle was placed to the side of the altar and was also lit by Jonathon Lennon in memory of the bride's father and the bridegroom's cousin, Aaron Wilcox, and other loved ones who could only be there in spirit.

The bride's maids wore a straight purple crepe dress accented with little purple and green flowers around a scoop neck line. Each of them carried a single long stem white rose, decorated with purple and green ribbon. "I Will Be Here" by Steven Curtis Chapman was played while the bride's maids walked down the aisle. Other attendants of the bride wore hunter green full length gowns similar to the others.

The groom's attendants wore short black tuxedo jackets with white shirts and black cross ties. They also wore black wrangler jeans and black boots.

Amy Derrick and Trishelle Miller, both friends of the bride, and Dakota Pitcock, sister of the groom and matron of honor, served as the bride's court.

Randy Nall of Lubbock served as best man, with Brian Gruntmyer of Lubbock and Michael Thompson of Muleshoe serving as groomsmen.

Bradley Lennon, nephew of the bride, and Joshua Metcalf, cousin of the bridegroom, both served as ringbearers. Brooke Lennon, niece of the bride, served as the flower girl.

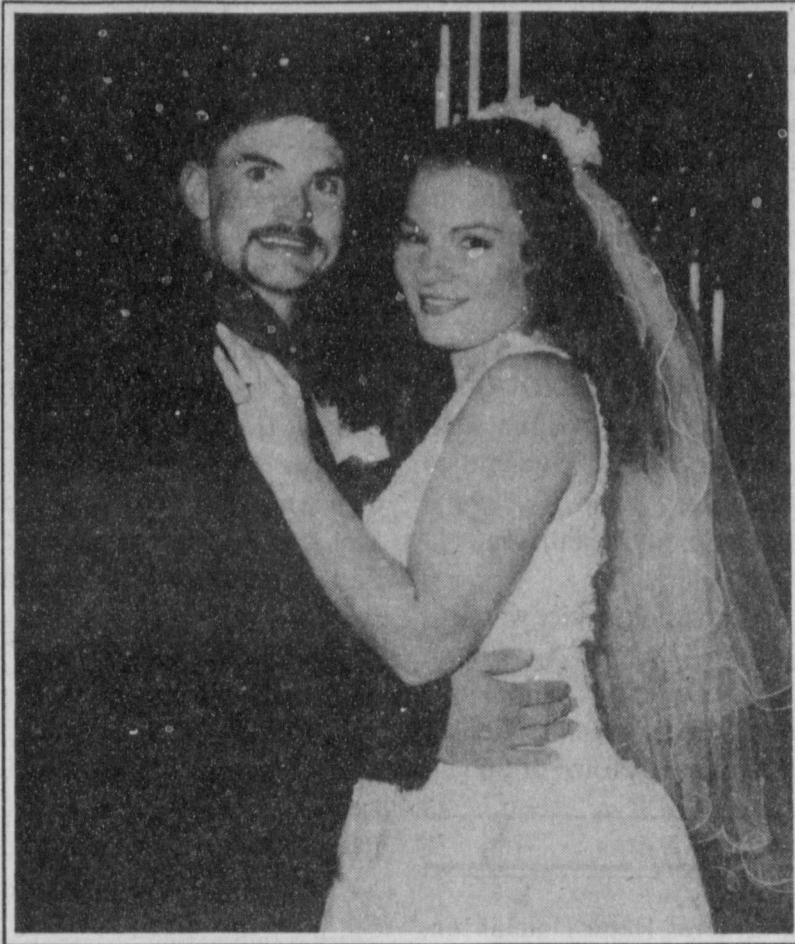

Lannell Skaggs played the traditional wedding march as the bride walked down the aisle on the arm of her brother, David Jack Lennon. Other selections of music were "When You Say Nothing At All" sung by Tandra Parker, Coleen Haley and Missy Royal. Jana Skaggs sang "The Wedding Prayer" as the bride and groom lit the unity candle.

The aisles of the church were marked with candelabras holding lighted purple candles accented with purple roses, baby's breath, white satin, and purple satin bows.

The alter featured two spiral candelabras holding white tapers which were entwined with ivy and baby's breath that stood at each side of a heart shaped archway. The archway was accented with white satin bows and greenery entwined with miniature lights.

The unity candle was decorated with purple and white flowers and purple, green, and white ribbons. Two purple candles stood on either side of the candle for the bride and groom to light the unity candle with.

Barbra chose as her gown, a sleeveless white satin gown, fashioned with a fitted bodice that was covered with Alencon lace, which extended to a high rise neckline. The bodice was decorated with medallions of seed pearls and sequins that fell below the waistline. The groom chose as his attire a short black western tuxedo jacket with a black shirt and a hunter green cross tie. He also wore black Wranglers and black boots.

The bride's veil was held in place by a band of satin roses with seed pearls and sequins. Dainty spiraling strings of flowers fell from the head band to complete the veil decorations. She carried a bouquet of cascading white roses with baby's breath accented with ivy.

"Something old" was the pennies the bride carried in her shoe of the birth year of she and the groom; "something new" was the bride's new gown. "Something borrowed and blue" was the blue garter that had been worn by her mother when she got married.

Following the wedding, the couple was driven in a horse-drawn carriage to the Bailey County Coliseum where they and their guests were hosted with a reception by the bride's parents.

A background of lattice work was placed behind the bride's table, decorated in swags of greenery and white flowers. The table was laid with white satin and crepe that was edged in scalloped greenery and tied with white bows. Purple tapers in silver holders flanked an arrangement of white roses accented with purple. The four-tiered white cake was accented with purple bows and roses and was topped with a cowboy bridegroom and bride figurine. An antique sterling silver punch bowl with silver cups, belonging to the grooms great aunt, Ruby McCormick, was used to serve the fruit punch from.

The bridegroom's table carried out a rustic cowboy theme. It was centered by wooden posts in the fashion of a gate. A chocolate cake was fashioned into a cowboy hat, with lighted candles in silver holders accented with greenery served as the centerpiece. An old milk pail was used to complete the table with "trail mix" served out of it.

After the reception, the couple headed off to their honeymoon in Dallas. They now reside in Muleshoe. The bride is a student at Amarillo College and will complete her degree as a medical laboratory technologist in the spring of 1999. The bridegroom is a student at West Texas A&M University. He plans to complete his degree in secondary education as a biology teacher. He is presently engaged in farming and ranching in the Muleshoe area.
