LOOKING FOR GOD

Some say you find God just as well in a garden, in the woods, or on a golf course as in a church — that God is everywhere. But be honest about it.

Are you not more apt to think of weeds, or mosquitoes, or a poor shot than you are of God? And after all, you have made this outing to seek pleasure.

But when you go to church, it is with the specific intention of worshipping. Here you engage in prayer, praise and thanksgiving. Here you mingle with people who are seeking God and have come to feel His presence. In the quiet beauty of a church you find few outside distractions, and you know that this place is dedicated to the service of God.

For peace and happiness which comes from really feeling God's presence, worship in the house of the Lord this Sunday — make it a regular practice.

"How can a person call God merciful Father and stern eđ, The answer to this question found in the word "Love." Th father who loves seeks to teach. He seeks to teach through words of wisdom and also through ac-tive example. As he seeks to he example. As he seeks to teach, he remembers that the child does not know a great many things and so his judgement is faulty. As a result, he will make many mistakes. When he makes these mistakes, due to ignorance, the father will not punish him excessively: his discipline will be tempered with mercy. If the child has learned his lesson, it will be well and good. If he has not, the discipline will be more severe each time that he does wrong.

The same thing is true of God. He seeks to teach us the good way of life. He uses the Bible, our way of life. He uses the Bible, our parents, our Sunday School teachers, our pastors, and more experien-ced people. As we learn God's will for us, we are bound to make mis-takes. When we do, God under-stands, and imposes discipline up on us, but it is discipline temper-ed with mercy. God becomes a stern judge when we deliberately disobey Him and do something that we know is wrong. It is then that we have no parents, our Sunday School teach-ers, our public school teachers, our pastors, and more experien-
