Replanting Irises

Late summer-early fall is an ideal time for planting or renovating iris beds. And, while you are at it, plant some hardy bulbs such as tulips for spring flowering.

Most irises need digging and dividing three to five years after planting. Separate rhizomes (fleshy roots) and replant clean, disease-free ones.

New plantings do best in a garden-type soil that is insect-free and well supplied with organic matter. Space plants to suit your needs, but remember the closer rhizomes are planted, the sooner they'll have to be dug and separated.

Treat hardy bulbs likewise. Spring flowering bulbs such as tulips get smaller and less vigorous over the years, so you'll have to dig and separate them periodically or add new ones to keep up desired flowering.

A "rule of thumb" for planting depth is about three times depth of bulb or rhizome, which means four to eight inches for most bulbs.

In areas where ground freezes, mulch bulbs with a few inches of clean straw, pine bark or similar material. At spring bloom, fertilize lightly with a low nitrogen, complete fertilizer such as 5-10-10.

When new growth starts in spring, protect it against thrips and other leaf mining insects. Use a good, broad spectrum insecticide such as Spectracide regularly throughout the growing season.

Right now while you are planting irises and hardy bulbs is a good time to check ornamentals, apple trees, and garden vegetables for spider mites. These tiny fellows, called red spiders, thrive best in dry weather. Spray plants thoroughly to control these pests. With Spectracide you can treat most vegetables up to 10 days of harvest.

1971 4-H Scholarships at Record Level

SPECIAL - Rapidly approaching is an occasion of special significance for nearly 3-million youths. It is the 50th National 4-H Congress, Nov. 28-Dec. 2.

And this Golden Anniversary will turn into actual gold for nearly 300 4-H members who will receive educational scholarships ranging from $300 to $1,600.

Scholarships available to 4-H'ers during the Golden Anniversary year are at an all-time high $179,100. Most of them in the amount of $700 will be presented to the fortunate young people at special events during the Congress.

The funds are provided through the generosity of donors to 4-H through the awards programs supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service and arranged by the National 4-H Service Committee.

6,400 over 40 Years

Scholarships were first offered 4-H members some 40 years ago. Since then donors have provided some 6,400 scholarships valued at more than $2.8 million. And they also have funded an estimated 50,000 expense-paid trips to the National 4-H Congress and other events over the 50-year period.

Besides the scholarships and trips in 1971 nearly 200,000 other 4-H'ers will be recognized for outstanding accomplishments in the form of county medals, U.S. Savings Bonds, watches, plaques and other awards.

Some 60 companies, foundations and civic organizations have contributed this year over $1.4 million to the support of 4-H through the National Committee and several other lent their support throughout the 50 years the committee has been in existence. Others are in their first decade of sponsorship.

Donors Span 50 Years

Armour and Company has allocated funds for advancement of 4-H activities for over half a century. Cities Service Company, Coats and Clark Inc., Allis-Chalmers and Carnation Company also are among long-time sponsors.

Ford Motor Company Fund, Hercules Incorporated, Standard Brands Incorporated and Union Oil Company of California have been contributors over several decades.

John Deere, Eli Lilly and Company and General Foods Corporation joined the 4-H donor ranks more than 10 years ago.

More recently, the list of 4-H supporters has included Allied Mills Foundation, Champion Valley Farms, Inc., Elanco Products Company, The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company and Merck & Co., Inc.

ON TARGET

Many hunters worry about the distance they should lead a flying target but the fact is that lead, without swinging and following through, is doing it the hard way. There are some successful gunners who "spotshoot," picking a predetermined point ahead of the bird and consciously firing at it before the target arrives; but these people are the exception rather than the rule, and they only learn their technique with years of practice. To hit flying targets consistently, say Remington Arms experts, you've got to keep the gun moving, swing past the target, pulling the trigger as you do so, and continue swinging in a follow through motion after you've touched off the shot. Above all, remember that a shotgun is pointed, not aimed. Z

Dining with Imagination

There's nothing as romantic or lovely as dining by candlelight. But unfortunately it can be a darkening experience, since people rarely use enough candles to allow diners to enjoy the food, table setting or each other.

Dining automatically lends itself to imaginative lighting because usual lighting levels are usually not needed. And you can create the effect of candlelight without obviously revealing the source. The chandelier is the traditional source of general illumination in dining areas. It also adds to the focal importance of the table. The base of the chandelier should be 30 inches to 36 inches above the table top, depending on the size of the fixture and the ceiling height. Originally a chandelier meant a candlestick with several branches, and to retain its true character, small flame-like bulbs such as Sylvania's Decor Lites should be used.

To cut down on glare, there should be additional incandescent illumination on the walls. General room lighting must be built up to a level where the contrast between the chandelier lights and other lighting is not objectionable.

Lighting can make your dining experiences more enjoyable, and there's no need to fear losing the charm of candlelight. Subtle lighting will only enhance the setting and add to the charm.

Not all bridges are built. When the sea pounds its relentless waves against a wall of rock . . . when the icy crust of a glacier spans a mountain chasm . . . when a giant of the forest falls across a stream . . . bridges simply happen.

Here perhaps is the parable of God's kind of engineering. Seemingly there are no calculations, no blueprints, no construction equipment. But results man can behold with awe and reverence.

Yet some men are so wrapped up in their human projects they simply forget that God accomplishes anything . . . until their errors begin to show . . . their bridges start to crumble. Then they need someone to stop the collapse.

It makes better sense to work with God in all that we build — and in all that happens. The Church has been man's greatest source of help across the span of centuries.

TURKEY JUNIOR HIGH WINS AGAIN

Thursday night the Paducah girls came to Turkey to play ball. The Turkey girls had won easily over them the week before at Paducah, with A team girls playing the first half only. The game last Thursday night was much more interesting.

The teams both began what looked like a scoring battle as they each scored several quick goals. The Turkey girls began to pull away and led by 21 points, 39-18, at halftime. Coach Scott left his A team in, rotating Suzanne Lane, Dodie Lane, Connie Ferguson, Doris Vivens and Freda Stockton as guards. When the game ended the score was Turkey 66, Paducah 35.

Janna Turner was high scorer with 40 points, Mitchie Lipscomb had 15, Neta Landry had 8 and Joan Turner hit for 3 in the final minute of play.

They had lunch together, then attended the football game between Ruidoso and Clayton. The Whites grandson, Gary White, was playing. Ruidoso won the Regional game, defeating Clayton 25-0. After the football game the families all met and had supper together. Each went their separate ways to their homes. The Whites spent the night in Amarillo with the Grahams and came by Clarendon Sunday to attend the Roberson family reunion, returning home Sunday afternoon.

Another item of interest to the Quitaque area is that Gary White of Ruidoso, a former resident of Quitaque, was crowned Football King at the last home game at Ruidoso. The team will play JAL, New Mexico next Friday at Artesia for the State Championship.

THE LAND is one of man's most valuable assets - we think it is prime collateral. In the past 54 years the Federal Land Bank of Houston has made almost 200,000 loans on Texas farms and ranches.

To call public attention to the quality, economy and availability of Texas Agricultural Products, Governor Preston Smith has designated the months of November and December 1971 as "Texas Agricultural Products Months." Commissioner John C. White is pictured above with Governor Smith.

Special Week Set Aside As Tribute To The State's Agricultural Industry

County Agricultural Agent Jackie Johnson invites the citizens of Briscoe County to pause during the week before Thanksgiving to reflect on the bountiful supply of food and fiber that is available to them.

The week of November 15-21 has been designated as "Texas Food and Fiber Abundance Week" to pay tribute to the state's agricultural industry.

"The people of this county, state and nation have the highest standard of living in the entire world," points out Johnson. "This is due to our country's valuable natural resources and the hard work and dedication of today's agricultural producers."

"The next time you help yourself to that extra helping of potatoes and gravy or reach for another piece of chicken, think about this great land and the hard-working people who produce all of your favorite foods," suggested the agent.

Today, food and fiber products continue to be one of the best bargains at the marketplace. There are two reasons for this: consumer incomes have risen faster than food prices, and agricultural producers continue to become more efficient.

Consumers spend only 16.5 percent of their disposable income for food, the lowest in any country. Ten years ago this figure stood at 19 percent. The present-day agricultural producer provides for himself and 46 others, about 10 of these being in foreign countries. Last year Texas ranked fourth among agricultural exporting states. It led in cotton exports and was second in rice.

"Farming is an honorable occupation which has a direct effect on the livelihood of each of us," contends Johnson. "Let's give our agricultural producers an extra pat on the back during Texas Food and Fiber Abundance Week."

INTENSIVE MANAGEMENT BRINGS ON HIGH BEEF YIELD ON IRRIGATED PASTURE

An inspection of irrigated Midland Bermudagrass pastureland on the Del Wells farm recently made by David Seitz of Memphis Soil Conservation Service reveals that intensive management has brought on high beef yields on 32 acres of grass.

"Mr. Wells said that proper management (consisting of proper irrigation, high levels of fertilization, and regular rotation of cattle) was the key to receiving reported by Mrs. J. R. Adamson, sr. (Note: The Tribune editors asked Mrs. Adamson to let us share their trip with us and with you.)

We left Lubbock August 31 on the Continental Airlines at 2 p.m. our time, arriving in Los Angeles, California, at 3 p.m. their time. We checked in at the International Hotel at 6 p.m., went down to dinner and met our Tour Director, Jim Jenkins, a 24-year-old young man from Long Beach, California, and 14 other people who were going on the "Circle Pacific Tour", all complete strangers to us and to each other. We were from 10 different states: New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Hawaii, California, North Carolina, Florida and Texas.

We made the first stop in Honolulu, viewing the usual tourist points of interest. We left there on Friday at 8:30 a.m. on the Pan American 747, flew across the Pacific Ocean to Tokyo, Japan, a city of 12,000,000 people. We checked into the Palace Hotel at 4:30 p.m. (same day), but it was Saturday afternoon there having lost a day. The typhoon struck Japan the next day, but it hit 150 miles northeast of Tokyo. We had rain for a week as a result of the storm. We visited the Nikko Silver Mines out from Kyoto, and Mikimoto Pearl Island, many shrines, and traveled by train through many cities in Japan, such as Osaka, where the World Fair was held in 1970, Ujiyama, Nagoya, Toha, Kamakura, Hakone. We saw the bronze image of Buddha, cast in 1252, the Enashima, picture-like island, took a boat ride out into the Japan Sea located off the north of the city of Jigato. (Ed. Note: They report the Japanese people very courteous and friendly.)

On September 13, we left Kyoto, Japan for Taipei, Taiwan, riding in Japan Airlines. We arrived at an early hour at the Mandarin Hotel. While there we visited the National Palace Museum, Lingsham Temple and the Taroka Gorge excursion 150 miles long, which took most of the day. The scenery in the Orient is breathtaking. That night we were entertained by Amrital dancers whose authentic feather costumes reminded us of our Indian tribes.

The next day we arrived in Iha, Formosa, a beautiful island. Then on September 15, we reached Hong Kong, China, now that is the city to see. We stayed at the Mandarin Hotel. This is the city for shopping, they have everything. They told us it was woman's paradise and man's headache. Here we were served hot coffee with our cold ice cream. We rode on the Vehicular Ferry across the Victoria Harbor to Kowloon and had dinner on the floating restaurant. When we returned to the mainland, we rode in a sampan. The tour took us through many beautiful gardens, such as the "Tiger Balm Gardens," too many to mention. Kowloon is the luxurious residential section on the Chinese mainland and the new territories, 355 square miles, leased until 1998 from China.

We drove through terraced rice paddies and ancient walled villages to the symbolic Bamboo curtain which separates Red China from Hong Kong colony. Boats of every description and ships from every port in the world crowd into this harbor which provides Hong Kong with its wealth.

September 20 we entered Bangkok, Thailand. We stayed at the Siam-Inter-Continental Hotel. Here is where the largest elephants in the world are found. Bangkok is four feet above sea level, water everywhere, flowers, trees and gardens, all over. A beautiful place to visit and the people are lovely, though they are dark, and they are God's people too. They all seem to be very happy.

We saw the Thai people planting rice, fishing, silk weaving, folk dancing, and even boxing. This city is called "The Venice of the East." We rode a boat down the river 15 miles at an early hour in the morning to see the farmers bringing their products in ready for market. The boats were loaded with all varieties of fruits, even sugar cane, vegetables and produce, also loads of fresh flowers for sale. When the boats were loaded they took them downstream to the city to sell. It was all great to see.

We went by motorcoach through the countryside to the northern part of Thailand to Chiangmai, then proceeded to the wild, Hill Tribe country, and visited the village of the White Korean Tribe, where ancient people still live a simple, very primitive life in the hills near Chiangmai.

We flew back to Bangkok and crossed the Burma Mountains about 150 miles from what is called The Hump, highest place in the mountains. From there we flew to Indonesia, Denpasar, Bali, transferring to the Bali Beach Hotel, a very beautiful place. Our first trip was to Sangeh and Mangivi to visit the Monkey Forest. In the afternoon we went to the wood carving center. This was just out of this world, so many things you would like to purchase, but couldn't bring home. Next we visited the painting colony, and then to the Holy Springs at Tampaksiring. That night we saw the natives dance.

September 30 we went to Singapore, Republic of Singapore. This was one of our favorite countries. They have everything, too. We stayed at the Hyatt Hotel, one of the nicest hotels of all. Singapore is the fourth largest port in the world. Our days and nights were really filled while there. We went to the House of Jade, exhibiting over 1,000 pieces of fine jade in a variety of beautiful colors. We had another big boat ride out 25 miles into the Indian Ocean. We went to the show place of Malaysian culture and handicrafts.

October 3 we landed by plane in Darwin, Australia's northern gateway. We then flew, it seems, thousands of miles before we got to Alice Springs in the central part. We went to Ayers Rock in the Big Red country, and it was, indeed, red and dry. They told us Ayers Rock is the world's largest monolith. From Alice Springs to Melbourne, a beautiful city of three million. Here we saw Captain Cook's Cottage, the koala bears, kangaroos, enus, wombats, and platypus, all in Wild Life Sanctuary. We visited many lovely gardens, one was all orchard with 1,000 different varieties.

We visited the headquarters of the Royal Flying Doctor Service in Alice Springs. We also went into the wilderness 20 miles to see the aborigines colony, the old timers. Canberra is the Federal capital of Australia. We saw the War Memorial. It is famous in Australia. We rode out 70 miles into the sheep country and had a barbecue lunch at Tralee Ranch.

The next city was Sidney, about 3 1/2 million people. This is the most beautiful city we have ever seen. You can never forget it. It has everything, most beautiful beaches in the world, trees, flowers, fruits, vegetables. We had a fantastic cruise of Sidney Harbor, viewing the two million dollar Opera House out in the Bay. We had dinner one night at the revolving restaurant called The Summit, 47 stories high, claimed to be the highest.

October 13 we landed in Christ Church South New Zealand. It is a beautiful city. We went by Mt. Cook Airlines of Mt. Cook, then to Greenstown. Here we visited another sheep ranch, covering 34,000 acres, returning to Christ Church that night. We went to Rotoma and Wellington, the capital of New Zealand. It is on the southern tip of the North Island. All of New Zealand was among our favorite spots, too. The grass so green with no weeds, all the hillside covered with sheep (and cows in some places), but sheep everywhere. They have lovely people. There are 26 big towns and cities in New Zealand. Everyone rides bicycles, and the school children wear uniforms. The North Island is volcanic like the big island in Hawaii and in Yellowstone. From Auckland we flew 1300 miles to the Fiji Islands. There are more people from India living there than there are Fijians.

The next day we flew to the capital, Suna. Their huge open-air market was something to see. The Indian people do most of the business. They are all friendly people, and seemed to welcome us. We were glad when we got to Samoa Islands. At Pago Pago we could get a dollar for an American dollar, the first time since we left Hawaii, and the people also spoke English. Here is where we crossed the DateLine on Saturday, October 23, then arrived in Pago Pago, and it was Friday, October 22, and the next day we had Saturday, October 23, again. We had gained back that last day going over.

We landed in Tahiti Island on October 25, going to the Island of

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1971 THE VALLEY TRIBUNE

Moorea, and to Bora Bora, then back to Papeete, the capital. Leaving Tahiti, we flew 6,000 miles across the Pacific to Los Angeles, landing there at 7:10 p.m., saying farewell to our Director, who told us we had flown 36,000 miles since we left Los Angeles on August 31.

We left for home the next day, arriving in Turkey November 1, 1971. Turkey and Quitaque are the greatest places in the world!

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Davidson and boys spent the weekend with his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davidson and baby, in Amarillo. Mrs. Estelle Davidson joined her sons and families Sunday for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Doc Williams spent the weekend in Amarillo with their son, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Williams and children.

Back To Bicycling

What's the newest solution to the pollution/transportation/recreation crunch? Bicycling! Not that pedal-pushing itself is new, but it hasn't been this popular since pre-horseless carriage days. And the age of the typical "easy riders" has changed: through 1969, 85% of the bikes sold went to kids aged 6-15; 30-35% of 1971 sales were to adults.

Adults started using bikes to commute to work, and now cycling is part of their recreational program. They've pushed for the development of Bikeways - special safe routes for bike riders. From New York City's Central Park (closed to auto traffic during weekends and certain evenings) to Oregon's forests, bikers are everywhere. In fact, Oregon just passed a bill providing $2.4 million for Bikeways construction.

Families all over the country now take day trips via Bikeways. But biking can be strenuous, so it's up to mom to fill the bike baskets with a nutritious lunch - and something to clean up sticky fingers afterwards. Seen in all the best baskets: Jean Naté Towelites... moistened cleaners scented with sparkling Naté... perfect for refreshing mom and washing the kids.

Total one year bike sales jumped from 7,000,000 to 8,500,000 this year. Why? They don't pollute, and you exercise in transit. You don't own a bike? Ask your neighbor - he probably does!

SURPRISE... OF A LIFETIME

As old as childhood itself is the game of surprise.

"Close your eyes, Mommy!" And Jimmy places his precious gift on the table.

"Now, open your eyes, Mommy!" And Jimmy watches rapturously for the flash of surprise on Mother's face.

But surprise isn't always a game. Parents whose eyes were closed to their own and their children's deepest needs have often beheld the shambles which religious indifference can make of promising youth.

The essential duty of parents is to provide thorough religious instruction for their children . . . and its natural ally, parental example.

The Church is enriching the spiritual life of millions of families. But your Jimmy's opportunity for religious training and a Christian home depends on how much you SEE of his soul's need—and yours.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS INVITED TO ATTEND COLLEGE PREVIEW DAY

High school students and sponsors from Texas, New Mexico, Colorado and Oklahoma are expected to attend College Preview Day at Wayland Baptist College on Saturday, November 20, as they attempt to catch a glimpse of what life at the college is really like.

Students from a widespread area attend the activities of the annual affair each year. Festivities of the day this year, sponsored by the office of public relations and student recruitment, are being coordinated by the newly organized Student Foundation.

Activities of the day get underway at 8:30 a.m. when registration begins in the foyer of Gates Hall, administration building. Student hosts and hostesses, representing Student Foundation and the fraternities and sororities on campus, will be assigned to each group of visitors.

Refreshments will be served and entertainment provided in the Student Union Building before the general session gets underway at 9:30 a.m.

NEWS FROM CONGRESSMAN GRAHAM PURCELL

A "wait-and-see" attitude on the Nixon appointment of Earl Butz as Secretary of Agriculture was expressed by U. S. Representative Graham Purcell upon his arrival in Texas Friday night.

"Secretary Hardin and I disagreed on many, many issues. Yet I believe that essentially he was a good man who wanted to do the best job possible to assist farmers in their losing fight for economic strength.

"Unfortunately, his hands were tied by the Nixon White House, which sees farmers as nothing more than a political embarrassment to a campaign promise originally made by candidate Nixon in 1968: Then he said the Johnson Administration's parity ratio of 74% was intolerable. Since then, under the Nixon Administration's farm policies, parity has dropped to 67%—the lowest since the depression, and was at 69% last month.

"As for his replacement, Earl Butz, I will just have to wait and see. I think we need someone who understands real farming: I think we need someone who stands on an equal level with working farmers and can get some help for American Agriculture out of the White House. So far as I can see, all we've got is another college professor, whose sole claim to fame is that he helped Ezra Taft Benson drive American Agriculture down the road to a huge surplus and put farm prices in the cellar."

YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY

by Travis C. Briggs

Q. I am a 66-year-old widow and get social security on my own work record. If I remarry, will that stop my check?

A. No. Just telephone the social security office and we will change your name on the check.

Q. My 20-year-old son is getting social security because he is still in school. If he gets married, can he still get his checks as long as he is a minor?

A. No. Marriage will stop his social security checks. Notify the social security office if he does marry.

Q. I want to stop my social security checks because I am going back to work. How do I go about it?

A. Just telephone your social security office. All this information can be taken by phone and you probably will not have to visit the office personally.

Q. My children and I are getting social security on my husband's record. If we get a divorce, will that stop the children's check?

A. No. It will stop your check but not the children's. Be sure to call the social security office if a divorce is granted.

Q. My son was getting social security because he was a student. He dropped out of school. How do I report this?

A. You should telephone the social security office immediately. If he cashes any more checks, he may be overpaid and a refund may be required.

ATTENTION CALLED TO TEXAS AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS BY GOVERNOR

To call public attention to the quality, economy and availability of Texas Agricultural Products, Governor Preston Smith has designated the months of November and December 1971 as "Texas Agricultural Products Months."

The Governor's designation also marks the beginning of the fourth year of the Texas Department of Agriculture's "Texas Agricultural Products" (TAP) program which Commissioner John C. White initiated in 1968.

"The goal of the TAP program," the Governor reminded Texans, "is improving and expanding the market for Texas-grown food and fibers, including beef, pork, turkey, dairy products, forestry, fruits, vegetables, pecans, peanuts, poultry, eggs, rice, honey, cotton, wool and mohair."

In promotion of Texas agricultural products, the Texas Department of Agriculture uses billboards, newspapers, radio and television, individual mailings and visits of Department personnel to the more than 15,000 food stores in Texas.

Governor Smith urges Texas retailers to exhibit Texas agricultural products and Texas consumers to look for and buy them, especially during the TAP months of November and December.
