trying to exercise more and it hasn't been an easy task. Seems like just about everybody, except those genetically gifted few, are tryng to some degree to lose some weight or tone up It really makes you stop and think, while you are standing there with the refrigerator door open. Like my daddy always told me, you're not fat, just short for your weight! Here's what I think about the whole mess

* Why do people who eat natural foods die from natural * Why is it that the best balanced diet is a burger in each

* Do people who live dangerously worry about cholesterol?

* If everyone on Earth lost weight at the same time would the Earth change it's

* Isn't resisting temptation usually just a matter of putting it off until no one is looking? * Is it an accident that stressed spelled backward is desserts?

* Why is it every time I lose weight it finds me again? * Isn't the best diet the 'pasta' diet? Just walk pasta bakery.

Walk pasta ice cream shoppe. Walk pasta candy store

* Why is it that when people go on a diet the first thing they lose is their patience?

Sometimes doesn't it seem that the light of your life comes from the bulb in your refrigerator? Why are people blessed with fat storing/survivalist genes

Shouldn't you always only weigh yourself on those days where everything else has already gone wrong? After all, the day's ruined anyway, right? Sometimes, don't you just feel like eating a block of cheese battery?

Is a diet a weigh of life?

* Don't we all do diets very religiously? Don't we eat what we want and pray we don't gain weight?

* Isn't the most fattening thing you can put in an ice cream

* Don't you agree that the toughest part of a diet isn't watching what you eat? It's watching what other people eat, isn't it?
* Isn't dieting just wishful shrinking?

* Isn't a diet just a selection of food that makes other people lose weight?
* Didn't you know that you can't lose weight by talking about

OVERHEARD

The battle over redistrict is in Texas is so divisive. In some ways, it's all about saving the rural lifestyle of our state. Let' hope that Gov. Rick Perry, a small town boy himself, will come to his senses soon and realize that his efforts to redraw the lines of the Texas delegation in the U.S. House have the potential to destroy rural Texas.

1/2 teaspoon salt

cup semisweet chocolate

In a saucepan, bring water, butter, and chocolate to a boil, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat. Mix in flour and 2 cups sugar. Stir in sour cream, baking soda, salt and 2 eggs until smooth. Pour into a greased and floured 15x10x1 inch baking pan. In mixing bowl, beat cream cheese and 1/3 cup sugar until fluffy. Beat in 1 egg. Dollop cream cheese mixture over top a chocolate batter; cut through to create a marbled effect. Sprinkle with chocolate chips. Bake at 375 for 30-35 minutes or until a toothpick comes out clean. Cool. Makes 5 dozen.

You can raise pigs to. If it is a mom you call it a sow. Andrew

Life on the ranch you have to chase cattle with a horse and lasso. You have to feed your horses and cattle. You can go out and ride your horse around in your pasture. You have to take care of your animals. You have to do your chores. You have to wear chaps and a vest. You Have to feed your pigs. Maybe one day you'll be a great cowboy. Then maybe one day you'll be in the PBR. Blake

Life on the ranch is fun. You get to ride horses and rope cattle. You get to seperate calfs and cows. You brand cows. You have to feed them. You have to give them water. It is hard on the ranch. You have to name all the cattle and horses. There are a bunch of lizards. I love lizards. You have to seperate coats and more. I have a fun time on the ranch. They usually wear cowboy hats and boots and spurs. If you live on a ranch you have to do a lot of work I like working on the ranch. Brennan

Life on the ranch is not fun you have to brand cattle but i just like to ride the calves. You have to ride a horse. You have to learn how to rope to. Just incase you haft to catch a cow but most of all you get to ear tortillas, beans, meat and chilly. At first I was not good at yousing a laso or riding a horses I wasint good at any of that stuff but I tried I got into it like the girl that was spending the summer there she tried a lot. Then before she new it she could do it she even new how to heard the horses to. John

Life on the ranch is fun but not all the stuff that you have to do is fun like work hard some of the time but the rest if pretty much fun and it not so loud like the city. I like the life on a ranch. It has things the city like a bunch of grass, trees animals like cows, horses. You have to take care of the animals too you even have to herd animals you have to get up early some day if your a grown up. Usually the kids don't ever have to work maybe only if the grown up have a sale. Sunny Life on the ranch is fun but

Patriots Stumble Against Broncos

The Meadow Broncos took advantage of six Valley turnovers last Friday, beating the Patriots 62-42 and giving Valley only their fourth loss in the past three seasons. The Broncos scored two defensive touchdowns off of fumbles, while committing only one turnover on offense.

Clif Yeary lead the Patriots with 91 of V alley's 130 yards rushing, while Anthony Ortiz pulled in 5 passes for 149 yards. Chase Maynard completed 5 passes for 93 yards and Douglas Payne completed one pass for 63 yards and a touchdown.

"You just can't fumble 8 times and win a ball game," Coach T yler said. "When we score 42 points we should win, but turnovers killed us."

The Patriots fumbled the opening kickoff and Matthew Campos of Meadow scooped up the ball and carried it four yards for the score. Only 8 seconds into the game the Broncos lead 8-0. V alley stormed right back with Yeary scoring from 31 yards out, but after V alley held Meadow on defense, the Patriots failed to control the punt and Meadow was back on offense after recovering the ball.

Meadow scored two straight touchdowns before Yeary sprinted 9 yards to make the first quarter score 24-13. The Broncos scored the first two touchdowns of the second quarter, one on a fumble recovery in the end zone and one on a one yard plunge, before Fidel V aldez ripped off a 47 yard run for the Patriots. A 49 yard touchdown pass for the Broncos left the halftime score at 46-25.

Valley scored their only consecutive touchdowns of the game early in the third quarter when Yeary scored on a 53 yard run and 14 seconds later Payne intercepted a Meadow pass and ran it 29 yards for Douglas Payner recorded 15 tackles to lead the Patriots while Clif Yeary had ten, Anthony Ortiz had nine, Fidel Valdes had eight, and Rodney Fuston had seven.

"They beat us," Tyler said. "We are not going to make excuses, but we are also not going to lay down. We are going back to work and we are going to right this ship."

Life On The Ranch

The third grade has enjoyed studing ranch life. They read "On the Pampas" about a South American ranch. They had a "show and tell" of ranch life in Texas on Friday, September 12th. The children brought spurs, chaps, lassos, and even a horse. Will Bodeker came out and answered questions about cowboy life. The students were very impressed with his lasso tricks and the sound of the whip against the wind. Dusty Hill came and brought Abby's horse Lucy. The third grade really enjoyed dressing up and learning more about being a cowboy or cowgirl. Here are some of the stories they wrote about life on the ranch. The third grade has enjoyed about life on the ranch.

Life on the ranch is dirty but if you want to be a cowgirl or cowboy you have to handle it. You have to learn to run cattle you have to learn how to ride a horse and you have to learn what to feed them and take care of the mane and hooves. You need to learn to rope and you need to learn to rope and you need to be brave also you must learn how to get out there baby's when there pregnet. You have to learn a hole lot to be a cowgirl or cowboy. I gess it's ok to be cowgirls and cowboys. I've never now how much fun it could be me one of these days because I realy like horses I like to ride them to. But Iwould be scared to run caddle. I learned all this stuff from a book we read this week it is called ON THE PAMPAS. Macy Life on the ranch is dirty but

When you work on the ranch you have to separate the calfs from the cows. You have to brand them but first you have to flank an sometimes they kick. You have to put the cows in the shoot. You have to give them ear tags. One time I was on a ranch I rode a calf it was fun to. I wish I could ride a horse and learn how to use a lasso. I wish I could herd cattle to. There can be rattle snakes, lizards, hornedtoods to. When a cow is pregnet you have to nizards, norneatoods to. When a cow is pregnet you have to help them have their babies my dad helps cows have their ba-bies. There can be coyotes somtimes they eat your cattle. Ben Seth

My life on the ranch is so fun. I get to ride horses and there are a lot of cattle, goats, sheep, baby calfs, dogs, cats, chikens, donkeys, You get to rope cows, bulls, wild horses. There are coyotes in the mouitouns. Ther are wagons the horses pull the wagan. Some times donkies pull the wagan. there are all sow pigs, the sow is a momma pig the baby pigs are called pigglits you have to pick up them by the tail. My dad works on the ranch and he has a lot of cattle. We allso have goats, horses, my dad's horse is called Toosie Roll. I love and care for her I give her water. I just love my horse so much. Colleen

Life on the ranch is fun but

My dad ropes on our ranch. I play with my friends Walt and Luke. But once I got kicked by a steer. But I was okay. Than I put the barrals in the ground. The first time I new my dad was a cowboy he helped me use the laso. It was fun roping my dad's pretend steer, I liked to ride with my dad we went to put the steers but this one steer woulder budge. So my dad had to chase him in the gate it was fun hagging out on the ranch because i like hagging out with my dad and friend even my horse. It is fun. Abby.

JV Patriots Rally Against Meadow

The Valley Patriots scored two touchdowns in the last two minutes of the game to pull out a 38-34 victory over the Meadow Broncos. Fernando Regalado intercepted his second pass of the day with less than 20 seconds remaining to seal the win.

"The JV showed a lot of determination and heart in this win,"

Tyler said. "We decided we had to line up and run behind Ruben, and we were able to do it. The line played well."

Sporting a three year winning streak, the Patriots found them-selves down 34-23 with only two minutes left in the game. A fourth quarter touchdown by Matt Whittington gave the Patriots the four oint lead.

Whittington scored twice for the Patriots, while Zack Ramsey caught five passes and scored once. Regalado scored two touchdowns, ran an extra point conversion, and connected on three extra point kicks.

Ramsey's touchdown reception from Derrik Roys cut the Broncos third quarter lead to 26-24, but Meadow came back and scor on their own touchdown pass to make it 34-26.

Regalado scored his second touchdown in the fourth quarter to cut the lead to 34-31. The Broncos attempted to make a time consuming drive to end the game but fumbled on the 30 yard line. Randy Farley recovered the fumble and the Patriots offense turned to Whittington for the game winning score.

"This was a case of refusing to lose," Tyler said. "Credit should be given not just for their win, but for their pride."

PCG Discusses Insurance Issues

Following the direction of the Plains Cotton Growers Board of Directors, PCG Officers Mark Williams, Rickey Bearden and Mike Hughes joined PCG staff at a pair of meetings to discuss insurance issues Sep-

Both meetings involved representatives from Watts & Associates, an insurance consulting firm based in Bozeman, Montana.

Topics discussed included a study that Watts & Associates has been commissioned to perform on behalf of the USDA Risk Management Agency, and to seek ways PCG could assist in the development of a siness Income insurance product for cotton gins.

PCG and Texas Cotton Ginners' Association leaders discussed the concept of a Business Income insurance product with Watts & Associates representatives in order to see what steps might be taken to further development of such a product.

"As an organization Plains Cotton Growers is committed to the s cess of the High Plains cotton industry. One area our membership has identified as being key to that success is maintaining the viability of the support structure that allows our cotton to get from the field to the marketplace," explains PCG involvement in the TCGA's efforts to develop a viable insurance program, Verett notes that PCG's primary motivation is to provide whatever assistance it can and add to the hard work and investment already made by the TCGA.

Executive Vice President Steve Verett.In regard to PCG's increased

During the meeting PCG leaders agreed to support the develop-ment of a 3-county product assessment that will be used to measure the viability of a gin insurance plan.

The second meeting involving PCG and Watts & Associates centered on a study, commissioned by the USDA Risk Management Agency, to look into the current implementation of skip-row factors in nonirrigated cotton.

PCG representatives note that it is important for producers to be active since these types of studies and the recommendations that come from them impact the number of companies willing to write crop in-surance products for this growing region.

Maintaining the availability of affordable insurance products and making sure that those products are providing the coverage producers need is a critical component of PCG's involvement in this and many

Strong Storms Rough Up High Plains Crop

With estimates of affected acreage near the 100,000acre mark, many High Plains producers are busy assessing damage and weighing options following a pair of late-season hail storms that sliced their way through the southern High Plains earlier in the week.

While definitive tallies of the losses are hard to come by, anecdotal evidence suggests that the storms dealt in 150.

evidence suggests that the storms dealt significant damage and left a lasting impression on those who witnessed the devastation first-hand.

Descriptions of the damage appear eerily similar even though the fields being described are often many miles apart.

Several producers have reported having fields left with nothing more than empty and broken cotton stalks that look as if they had been mechanically shredded, where a week ago a crop promising one and even

On the other side of the coin, some producers are still wondering if the partial damage they received will be too much for the crop to recover from and if what remains is enough to justify the added cost of

One thing that is certain is that the heart of the damaged area contained some very promising cotton acreage. On a broader scale, the High Plains crop was downgraded slightly in the last TASS crop report to an expected production level of 2.15 million bales. This is down from the 2.4 million bales projected at the beginning of August.

The drop reflects the severity of the drought conditions that impacted dryland production regions during the July/August growing

Planted acreage for the 1-N and 1-S reporting districts was increased to 3.55 million acres while harvested acreage and yields were also adjusted to derive the 2.15 million bale production estimate.

USDA Livestock Assistance Program Sign-Up Ends October 24th

Hall County livestock producers who have suffered grazing losses aused by natural disasters will find some relief through the Livestock Assistace Program (LAP) offered by the USDA, Farm Service Agency

This program provides additional relief to livestock producers who suffered grazing losses due to severe weather and related causes" satd Billy Foster, County Executive Director.

To date, the Hall County Office has received 11 applications from ucers seeking ielief. The LAP sign-up period began August 6 and ends October 24, 2003.

"LAP is intended to address the needs of producers who were not adequately covered by the Livestock Compensation Program (LCP), but producers cannot receive payments under both programs for the e loss," said Foster.

Foster added, "a producers LAP payment will be reduced by the amount(s) the producer received under 2002 Cattle Feed Program,

Authorized by the Agricultural Assistance Act of 2003. IAP provides $250 million, nationwide, to livestock producers for grazing lo that occurred in 2001,

Under LAP, a producer's grazing land must be located in a county that was declared a primary disaster area under a Presidential or Secretarial declaration. The county must have been approved after Jan, 1, 2001, and a designation requested no later than Feb. 20, 2003, and equently approved-

Contiguous counties are not eligible. A county must have experi-enced an average of 40 percent or greater loss of normal precipitation for four consecutive months and suffered at least a 40 percent grazing

Although LAP is a grazing loss program, payments are based on the lesser of the calculated pasture value or the value of livestock feed allov-nca multiplied by the producer's maximum grazing loss. The eligible amount is 50 percent of the loss amount. A producer must have control of adequate grazing land to support the eligible livestock.

During 2001, a livestock producer must have suffered a 40 percent or greater loss of grazing production for three or more consecutive months due to drought, hot weather, disease, insect infestation, flood, fire, hurricane, earthquake, severe storm or other natural disasters

se funding for LAP is limited, a national factor will apply," said Foster. "This factor will be announced after the sign-up period

The 2003 Act requires that an adjusted gross income (AGI) imitation apply - a change from previous LAP provisions. A $40,000 payment limitation also applies to LAP assistance. The total value of all applications will be determined and, if in excess of $250 million, will be adjusted proportionately.

Observations On Life From A Fellow Texan By Bill Sperry

So Many Things I Want To Remember..

When you look back at where you've been and see how the years have flown by, you wish that by some miracle you had left some significant sign posts along the way for the years and roads you traveled. For the younger people coming down some of the same dusty roads of remembrance, especially for my grandchildren. Just so they don't have to make some of the stumbling mistakes made by their forefathers. You want their travels through life to be error free, somehow learning without the anguish or pain.

Man by his very nature, commits the same errors over and over through each generation. You see and hear of so many bad things that happen and people do that you want to leave some information along the way that will keep them from happening again and again. To nullify the bad things perhaps recanting some of the stories you heard from your forefathers

My father told a story that I think appealed to the most basic instinct of mankind, compassion for a fellow traveler in this realm called life. During the terrible times of the depression, he and a friend of his were bumming across the country by rail. Late at night, they arrived in a large city, I think Kansas City, and found their way to one of the main streets. A cold front had blown in and they were walking up and down the streets, trying to stay warm. He said that he had a quarter and his friend a dime. During that time, that was a lot more money than it is today. They were both hungry and were looking for a place to eat with what money they had. As they rounded one corner, they spotted a guy without legs, sitting on the curb selling pencils. My father said that before he thought about it, he pitched the quarter into the fellow's tin cup. His friend became upset, asking him why would he do that, concerned about trying to find something to eat with only a dime between them. My father told him that he thought that they were certainly more able to scrounge up a meal than that fellow Later that night, they found themselves in a wagon yard, freezing. He said they crawled down in some bran they shook out, trying to get warm. About the middle of the next morning, about half frozen, they caught a freight train headed south They didn't find work but I like to think that they traveled all that way to help that man on the corner.

Sitting in a barbershop, I was reading a magazine and found a story about a great, great, aunt of mine, Olive Oatman. She and her younger sister were captured by a band of Tonto Apache in Arizona who killed her parents and two of her brothers. Another brother was thrown off a cliff but managed to live and crawl back to a settlement, telling the story. This aunt managed to stay alive, working as a slave for ten years and being traded to another tribe of Indians. Her sister was worked to death unfortunately. She was ransomed out by some people and a preacher wrote a book about the incident later. She lived the rest of her life in Sherman, Texas and raised a family, still carrying the tattoos on her chin, put there by the Apach

These are the stories I want to leave for my grandchildren, to show the spiritual side of their forefathers and their desire

GOOD GUY AWARD Billy and Margie would like to nominate Daniel Jenkins and the Travis Kendal Family for the Good Guy Award for their quick response to a shout for help when their grill on their porch caught fire underneath it. Daniel pulled the burning grill away from the house and Travis and his son got the water on and put the fire out. It was quite a scary time for out. It was quite a scary time for fear that the propane tank was going to explode. The grill is gone, but we are thankful no one was hurt.
