Building Fund Raising Started For Quitaque Senior Citizens

If you have driven down Main Street in Quitaque lately, you have probably noticed much work being done on one of the older two-story buildings. The Quitaque Senior Citizens have purchased the building and have been remodeling and refurbishing their new home.

The Quitaque Senior Citizens Association has begun a drive to raise money for their building by a simple method of drafting a bank account by a signed draft authorization. This may be done at your convenience whether it be monthly, semi-annually or an annual payment. The goal of this organization is to raise $12,000, which will pay for the building and remodeling. Most of the contributions that have been made are for $10.00 per month on a monthly bank draft for a period of one year. At this rate it will take 100 donors giving $10.00 per month for one year to accomplish this goal.

Rev. Armstrong Spending Month In Indonesia

Rev. W. L. Armstrong, pastor of Turkey United Methodist Church, left by plane from Lubbock for Indonesia Sunday afternoon. He will spend the month of February there helping with mission work and will assist at a baptismal service where some 3,000 persons will be baptized.

Rev. Armstrong and his wife spent 12 years serving as missionaries in Indonesia, coming back to the States in 1975.

Jack Gregory, a layman from Floydada, will speak Sunday, February 3, and he and his wife will bring special music. Rev. Roy Patterson, retired pastor, will have charge of the Communion Service. Faye Armstrong will be in charge of securing speakers for evening services.

Other speakers include February 10, Rev. Wolfe, Chaplain at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock; February 17, Rev. Bruce Parks, District Superintendent, and February 24, Johnny Turner, a layman from Matador.

CARD SHOWER REQUESTED

On February 2, 1985, Mrs. Ethmel Hawkins will celebrate her 100th birthday anniversary. It has been requested by relatives that a card shower from her friends in the Quitaque area would be nice. Her address is Ethmel Hawkins, c/o Retirement Ranch, Clovis, New Mexico 88101.

BIBLE STUDY TO BEGIN FEBRUARY 6

The Quitaque United Methodist Church will begin a ten-week study of the Old Testament minor prophets on Wednesday, February 6, 1985, to be held in the Fellowship Hall at 7:00 p.m. This will be the exciting conclusion of the Trinity Bible Study series of the Bible.

Everyone is invited to attend regardless of whether you have attended any previous sessions. The cost is only $5.00 per person for the entire study. We hope you will make plans to join us for an in-depth look at God's Word next Wednesday at 7:00 p.m.

HIGHER EDUCATION F

AUSTIN — Almost everyone here agrees with the spirit of Gov. Mark White's call for state agencies to go on a fiscal diet. We question, however, the extent to which Texas' colleges and universities are being asked to reduce their dollar intake.

A quick glance at the Legislative Budget Board's proposed 1986-87 budget indicates a coming crisis in higher education funding. While many state agencies are being asked to live with modest funding reductions, or, in some cases, slight funding increases, our institutions of higher learning are facing funding cuts of almost 35 percent.

The numbers tell all: West Texas State is facing a 24.4 percent cutback from current funding levels; Texas Tech, a 28 percent cut; the University of Texas at Austin, a 33.5 percent reduction; Texas A&M, a 23.4 percent drop; and the University of Houston, a 33.6 percent cutback.

In addition, the Texas State Technical Institute campus in Amarillo is facing a 15.1 percent decrease while the TSTI system as a whole faces a cut of only 6.1 percent.

The LBB isn't prescribing a diet for our colleges and universities; it's proposing starvation.

We understand the severity of the state's budget crunch. We have pointed out before that revenues for the 1986-87 biennium are more than $1 billion shy of what is needed for a no-growth budget. We acknowledge some services must be cut back and taxes kept at current levels. We suggest every reasonable alternative be pursued, though, before mortgaging a generation's education in the process.

A number of solutions already are being bandied about the Capitol. Some, such as a plan to combine many of the state's 35 colleges and universities are geared toward the long run. Proponents of the plan say it would reduce administrative costs and avoid duplication of services. Opponents slated for elimination would oppose the plan bitterly, making it a political "hot potato" for the Legislature.

Regardless of the proposal's merits, it would take a number of years to implement and is not a viable solution for the short-term problem.

HIGHER EDUCATION FUNDING IN TROUBLE

AUSTIN — Almost everyone here agrees with the spirit of Gov. Mark White's call for state agencies to go on a fiscal diet. We question, however, the extent to which Texas' colleges and universities are being asked to reduce their dollar intake.

A quick glance at the Legislative Budget Board's proposed 1986-87 budget indicates a coming crisis in higher education funding. While many state agencies are being asked to live with modest funding reductions, or, in some cases, slight funding increases, our institutions of higher learning are facing funding cuts of almost 35 percent.

The numbers tell all: West Texas State is facing a 24.4 percent cutback from current funding levels; Texas Tech, a 28 percent cut; the University of Texas at Austin, a 33.5 percent reduction; Texas A&M, a 23.4 percent drop; and the University of Houston, a 33.6 percent cutback.

In addition, the Texas State Technical Institute campus in Amarillo is facing a 15.1 percent decrease while the TSTI system as a whole faces a cut of only 6.1 percent.

The LBB isn't prescribing a diet for our colleges and universities; it's proposing starvation.

We understand the severity of the state's budget crunch. We have pointed out before that revenues for the 1986-87 biennium are more than $1 billion shy of what is needed for a no-growth budget. We acknowledge some services must be cut back and taxes kept at current levels. We suggest every reasonable alternative be pursued, though, before mortgaging a generation's education in the process.

A number of solutions already are being bandied about the Capitol. Some, such as a plan to combine many of the state's 35 colleges and universities, are geared toward the long run. Proponents of the plan say it would reduce administrative costs and avoid duplication of services. Opponents point out that the schools slated for elimination would oppose the plan bitterly, making it a political "hot potato" for the Legislature.

Regardless of the proposal's merits, it would take a number of years to implement and is not a viable solution for the short-term problem.

The most likely way to carry higher education through the next biennium instead will come through a combination of spending cuts and tuition increases. Gov. White has proposed increasing tuition for foreign and out-of-state students. Rep. Wilhelmina Delco, chairman of the House Higher Education Committee, suggests a gradual, across-the-board tuition increase.

Both plans have merit, but neither is sufficient to cover the funding losses that would result from adoption of the LBB report. There must be some compromise reached, a compromise that would restore some funding for colleges and universities as well as raising student contributions to the cost of education.

Regardless of what form that compromise takes, we will remain vigilant in assuring no West Texas school receives an unfair cut. If something is cut from the budget of Texas Tech, West Texas State or the TSTI campus in Amarillo, a similar cut should be made from the budget of a downstate school. If we must suffer, we will all suffer together.

If you have any further suggestions concerning the higher education funding crisis, please write to Sen. Bill Sarpalius, P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Tx, 78711.

Early or Late Appointments Welcome

Mrs. Walker Hosts Luncheon For Nuevo Study Club Thursday

Mrs. Willis Walker was hostess at a luncheon for all 14 members of Nuevo Study Club on Thursday, January 24, in her home. Each one brought a salad or other dish for the meal. Mrs. Walker served coffee, tea, juice and pie for dessert. Guests were seated at small tables beautifully appointed with linen covers and napkins and vases of flowers.

Following the meal, Mrs. W. L. Armstrong, president, conducted a business meeting. During the roll call, which was "My Heritage," Mrs. John Adamson gave the most humorous one. She said when she started to school her father told the teacher her name was Sue May. Mrs. Adamson found out that the teacher's name was Mamie, and she thought that was the prettiest name she had ever heard, so she told her cousin and another child to call her Mamie and all the children did. The teacher was puzzled and said, "Your father said your name was Sue May." Mrs. Adamson then said, "Oh, he doesn't know what my name is; it's Mamie." So she has been Mamie ever since, but later in life changed the spelling to Mayme. (Your Turkey reporter had a similar experience, but didn't get away with it. She wanted to change her name to Mossie Anna Lucille (can you believe it) when she was about five or six years old.)

Mrs. Walker brought an interesting program from TEXAS

MAGAZINE concerning a place in Texas called Cranfill Gap, which was entitled "A Little Bit of Norway." It is near the towns of Comanche, Hamilton and Clifton. She said there is a museum there and a Texas Safari, the world's largest wild animal safari, which is very interesting to visit. There is an old, old church also where they have fund-raising dinners on the second Wednesday and Thursday of November each year to help keep the church up and carry on their traditions of Norway.

Bristen Phillips, son of Karen and Doug Phillips of Canyon, is spending the week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Eudy.

Kevin Carter, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Clinton, is walking on crutches and getting around real well. He first had surgery on his left foot in November at the Scottish Rite Childrens' Hospital in Dallas. On January 9, he went back for more surgery. His grandfather reported that he would go back again February 20, to have his cast changed, and would probably be in a cast until April. Rev. and Mr. Melvin Clinton are grandparents of Kevin.

Camera Club To Meet February 14

The Caprock Camera Club will meet February 14, at 7:30 p.m. in the First National Bank Community Room in Quitaque. The club will view a slide presentation from Kodak, entitled, "Basic Picture-Taking Techniques." The show explains some of the methods used by professional photographers that you can use in your everyday photography to make better pictures. Some photographs are placed side-by-side in split screen format to show the results of different techniques.

Look through your pictures and bring some sports shots to this meeting. Sports pictures include any family, group, or church games or activities. By comparing our pictures everyone should get ideas for better pictures. You don't have to bring pictures to come and look over the bunch for ideas.

After each meeting we have a hands-on time to help everyone become more familiar with their camera and equipment. During this time you have an opportunity to study other cameras and equipment. So, be sure to bring your camera, flash and other equipment to the meetings.

The March 14 meeting will feature a slide show entitled "Using Flash Effectively." If you have any questions about some of your pictures where you used a flash, or about how your flash operates or what it can do, bring the pictures and your camera and flash to the February or March meeting.

Kids To Get Price Break At Six Flags Over Texas

For the first time since 1975, small children will be able to visit Six Flags Over Texas at a reduced price this year.

When the Arlington theme park begins its 1985 season on March 2, guests who are less than 42 inches tall will be admitted for $7.95. Taller visitors will pay $14.95 for a day's entertainment.

The prices include the state sales tax which was levied by last year's special legislative session.

At the close of the 1984 season all Six Flags tickets were priced at $14.66 including the tax.

The park's general manager, Bob Bennett, said the new pricing policy is a direct result of suggestions from park visitors. "Our guests have been telling us, through surveys and letters, that they felt we should offer a lower price to persons who are not tall enough to take advantage of some of our larger thrill rides such as the Shock Wave double-loop roller coaster. Our own safety regulations require that guests be at least 42 inches tall in order to board such rides."

Bennett said, "We feel the $7.95 price will make the park an exceptional value for families with small children. It's what our guests have said they wanted."

From 1961 through 1975 Six Flags offered separate, lower-priced tickets for children. In recent years, however, a single price has been charged. Children two and under have always been admitted free.

Bennett said the new policy will be monitored through height indicators at all ticket booths and at the park's entrance turnstiles. The measurement will include shoes which are required as a matter of safety.

WITH THE SICK

Mrs. R. R. (Ellen) Skinner returned home from Central Plains Hospital in Plainview Sunday where she had undergone surgery.

Jake Merrell was taken to Swisher Memorial Hospital Sunday afternoon where it was determined he was suffering with heart problems.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Carter drove to Canyon Saturday morning to the home of their daughter, Mrs. Larry Hedrick, where they were met by their son, Mel, and his daughter, Melanie. The group, including Mrs. Hedrick, then went on to Sunray where they attended the wedding of Miss Joy Annette Broxson and Brent Walter Brown. The wedding was at 4:00 p.m. Saturday at the First Baptist Church in Sunray. Joy Annette is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Broxson and the granddaughter of Mrs. Opal Broxson and the late L. A. Broxson. She is a great-niece of Mrs. Carter.

TEXAS WINTER VEGETABLES IS FAVORITE OF POPEYE

Popeye might be smarter than you think. He knows about vegetable that tastes good and good for you—spinach. When you hear the word "spinach" memories and visions of a likable overcooked vegetable come to mind? Perhaps, as a child, this was the way spinach was served to you. Well, there are other ways of preparing spinach. It is popular green when served in casseroles, egg and Italian dishes. In fact the term "flor-tin" in a recipe indicates that dish contains spinach.

Texas produces 40% of nation's total spinach crop. 95% of our spinach comes from five counties in the Winter Garden area in South Texas. Spinach is such an important part of the economy in the Winter Garden area that Crystal City erected a larger than life statue of Popeye in front of the city hall in 1937 and invited Popeye's cartoon creator to the statue's unveiling. Production of spinach in Texas is from mid-October to mid-March. Texas currently has the market corner on fresh pre-packed spinach. The 10 ounce cello pack which is available to consumers in the supermarket. Bulk spinach is usually shipped in from California.

Spinach is a highly nutritious vegetable. It has eight times the amount of vitamin A, almost twice the potassium, three times the vitamin C and a third the amount of calcium and phosphorus of lettuce. Spinach also has a longer shelf life than lettuce and contains only 20-25 calories per half cup.

After purchasing spinach rinse well in cool water. If using in salads or as a fresh vegetable tear the leaves into bite-sized pieces, removing stems. If serving the vegetable cooked, steam or prepare by very quick cooking to a slightly crisp tenderness with only the water which clings to the leaves after washing.

Spinach pasta or "green noodles" are also popular in health food stores and grocery stores that sell in bulk commodity. Substituting spinach pasta for regular pasta in a recipe is another way of introducing spinach, in a new form, to your family. In addition, it increases the nutritional value of a dish.

If spinach is a newcomer or an old favorite at your meals, enjoy these recipes from the Texas Department of Agriculture. For more information write the Texas Department of Agriculture, 5501 West I-40, Suite C, Amarillo, Texas 79106.

SPINACH SALAD

- 3 tablespoons wine vinegar
- 6 tablespoons salad oil
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1 clove garlic, cut in half
- 1/2 pound (5 to 6 cups) fresh

- spinach leaves
- 1/2 cauliflower, cut into flower-ets
- 1 avocado, peeled and sliced
- 1/2 red onion, sliced and separated into rings

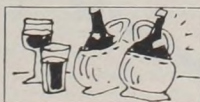

Mix together wine vinegar, oil, salt, pepper, dry mustard, parsley and garlic; let stand for 30 minutes. Remove garlic. While dressing is standing, wash the spinach and remove stems. Dry well and combine with cauliflower-ets, avocado and red onion in salad bowl. Add dressing and toss lightly to mix well. Makes six servings.

SPINACH - GROUND
BEEF CASSEROLE

- 2 lbs. ground round
- 1 cup thinly sliced mushrooms
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1/2 teaspoon ground oregano
- 1 (10 oz.) pkg. fresh cooked spinach
- 1 (10 1/2 oz.) can condensed cream of mushroom soup

- 2 cups sour cream
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 cup shredded Mozzarella cheese

Brown meat in large skillet over medium heat. Add mushrooms, garlic powder and oregano. Stir fry until mushrooms are lightly browned. Add spinach, cooking until almost all juice is cooked away. Stir in soup, sour cream, salt and pepper. Spoon into lightly greased, shallow 2 1/2-3 quart casserole. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake at 350°F. for 30 minutes. Serves 6-8.

More wine is drunk in Italy than any other country in the world.

MRS. JAMES

Pletcher-Green Perryton First C

On December 29, 1984, Tamara Marie Pletcher of Farnsworth became the bride of James Royce Green of Turkey at 7:00 p.m. at the First Christian Church in Perryton. Rev. James Willborn of Shallowater performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Pletcher of Farnsworth, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Green of Turkey.

Red poinsettias marked the pews, and greenery decorated the altar. Three candelabra adorned with greenery graced the front of the church.

Clay Jenkins of LaCrescenta, California, played the trumpet and Steve Houghton of Glendale, California, played the piano, both cousins of the bride, for the ceremony. As the mothers were seated they played "Green-sleeves," then the processional. During the lighting of the unity candle, Malinda Martinez of San Antonio accompanied herself on the guitar and sang "The Wedding Song." The recessional was played by Houghton on the piano and Jenkins played the flugelhorn.

Danielle and Judson Pletcher, sisters of the bride, of Canadian, were maids of honor, and bridal attendants were Kayla Pletcher, sister-in-law of the bride, of Farnsworth, Debbie Ewton of Canyon, Terri Sultor of Perryton and Kaylene Green of Turkey, sister of the groom.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Jerry Green of Lake Sam Rayburn. Groomsmen were Don Johnson of Canyon, Johnny Pletcher of Farnsworth, brother of the bride, Danny Slaughter of Dal-

During the lighting of the unity candle, Malinda Martinez of San Antonio accompanied herself on the guitar and sang "The Wedding Song." The recessional was played by Houghton on the piano and Jenkins played the flugelhorn.

Danielle and Judean Pletcher, sisters of the bride, of Canadian, were maids of honor, and bridal attendants were Kayla Pletcher, sister-in-law of the bride, of Farnsworth, Debbie Ewton of Canyon, Terri Sutor of Perryton and Kaylene Green of Turkey, sister of the groom.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Jerry Green of Lake Sam Rayburn. Groomsmen were Don Johnson of Canyon, Johnny Pletcher of Farnsworth, brother of the bride, Danny Slaughter of Dallas, Bruce Setliff of Canyon and Luis Morales of Amarillo.

Ushers for the ceremony were Clayton McGarraugh of Perryton and Doug Setliff of Turkey. Miniature bride was Kyley Bearden of Tokio, cousin of the groom, and miniature groom was Justen Green of Lake Sam Rayburn, nephew of the groom. Whitney Phipps of Welch, cousin of the groom, was flower girl, and Dustin Sutor of Perryton was ringbearer.

The bride wore a formal gown of white satin and organza with a portrait neckline. The fitted bodice was covered with seed pearls, sequins and alencon lace. The large mutton sleeves featured appliques of lace and clusters of pearls. The front of the long skirt was adorned with appliques of alencon lace, and the hem of the gown was also edged with alencon lace. The skirt flowed into a chapel-length train.

Her bridal veil was edged with lace and attached to a cap of alencon lace. She carried a cascading bouquet of blue gladiolas, white lily-of-the-valley and red roses, accented with baby's breath and tied with navy blue ribbon.

In carrying out tradition, something old was a silk handkerchief of the bride's great uncle, Silas Pletcher; something new was her dress; something borrowed was a Bible from Margaret Thompson carried under her bouquet; and something blue was her garter. She wore a sixpence in her shoe, a gift from her uncle, James Quigley of Galveston.

The bridal attendants and flower girl wore navy blue taffeta tea-length dresses which featured a rounded neckline, princess waistline, full skirt and accented with navy roses at the waist and sleeves. They wore short white lace gloves and baby's breath in their hair. The attendants carried long-stemmed blue gladiolas and lily-of-the-valley accented with baby's breath and tied with navy ribbon. The flower girl carried a white basket filled with fresh daisies.

The miniature bride wore a long white tiered dress with a train, and a lace veil in her hair. She carried a miniature bouquet identical to the bride's bouquet. The groom and miniature groom wore white tuxedos with tails and lily-of-the-valley boutonnieres.

The mother of the bride was attired in a full-length rose-colored chiffon dress. The groom's mother wore a dusty blue full-length dress with a lace overlay top. Both mothers wore corsages of red roses and baby's breath.

RECEPTION HELD

A reception was held at the Expo Center following the ceremony. The bridal bouquet centered the bride's table. A greenery garland was draped around the table, which held the four-tiered wedding cake. The cake featured a fountain underneath with navy net and blue water. It was topped with a miniature bride and groom. Serving at the bride's table were Arlene Bern and Anita Laminack, both of Amarillo.

The groom's table was also draped with a greenery garland, and was centered with an octagonal chocolate cake with a "G" in the center. Attending the groom's table were Jobie Conner of Perryton and Stephanie Phillips of Pampa, cousins of the bride.

The food table held a navy and white centerpiece of blue gladiolas, blue and white carnations and baby's breath.

After a honeymoon trip to New Orleans, the couple is at home in Farnsworth, where the groom is employed as a chemist for Foster Testing.

Ms. Sophie Cook of Amarillo spent from Friday until the following Thursday in Quitaque visiting her sister, Mrs. Estelle Davidson. On Wednesday, the ladies drove to Memphis and spent the night with another sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Orcutt.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Davidson, Mrs. Estelle Davidson and Mrs. Floye McCracken drove to Tulia last Sunday and had lunch with Mr. and Mrs. Stewart McCracken.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Hamilton and Butch Hamilton flew down to Roanoke and spent the weekend with their son and brother and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Verlon Hamilton and children. When they started to fly home Sunday evening, the weather was so bad they had to borrow Verlon's car and drive home. Mrs. Hamilton says it was raining and the visibility ceiling was so low they couldn't think about flying home.

CORRECTION

Striving to Serve You Better

1984 Texas Agriculture—

by Bill Braden
Communications Specialist
Texas Agricultural Extension Service

What kind of year was it?
Ask most Texas farmers or ranchers and they'll likely tell you it was one of those years in which things went from bad to worse.

A whole passel of things hurt Texas' farmers and ranchers in 1984, but the one that most will recall for years to come can be spelled out in one word—drought.

It was a relentless drought that affected virtually all of Texas except for the South Plains and part of the Panhandle. In much of south and west Texas it was a continuation of dry conditions that had plagued farmers and ranchers a year earlier. It became progressively worse as spring turned into summer and early fall. Many likened the drought to the mid-50s.

LITTLE ESCAPES DROUGHT

Few in agricultural circles were spared the miseries dealt by the '84 drought. Crops in many areas were planted on "a hope and a prayer." There wasn't enough spring moisture to sustain growth and, in many cases, little moisture was to follow. Many crops literally "ran out of gas" midway through their growth cycle. Grain sorghum heads and ears of corn shriveled up or failed to develop due to lack of moisture. Some corn and grain sorghum was cut and baled for hay because of dismal crop prospects and the fact that livestock needed something to eat because hay supplies were exhausted.

Oh, yes, the poor livestock—how they suffered through this ordeal. Hundreds starved or died of thirst. Thousands went to market before their time because there was no grass and water.

Others were kept alive on water that had to be hauled from wells and hay that eventually had to be shipped in from other states since the drought limited Texas production.

Texas wildlife also suffered from the long drought, with the '84 fawn crop light and quail and turkey hatches extremely poor.

Many ranchers threw up their arms in despair as the drought continued its relentless grip past mid-year. Summer rains did come to parts of Far West Texas, but elsewhere total herds of livestock were liquidated as once flourishing pastures and ranges yielded nothing but bare earth. Livestock went to market in record numbers in July and August, leaving inventories at 60 to 70 percent below normal. And as markets became overloaded, prices plunged. Ranchers had little choice but to cull their herds sharply. Then, finally came October and the rains—sweet, beautiful, heaven-sent rains! However, parts of South and Southwest Texas still lacked sufficient rains for runoff to fill stock tanks and lakes for city water supplies.

FALL RAINS TOO LATE

While the rains put some green back into pastures and ranges to provide some late-season grazing for livestock, they came too late to help summer crops. Yields suffered in many areas with the exceptions being the Rio Grande Valley, parts of the Coastal Bend and Upper Coast, the South Plains and irrigated areas of Southwest Texas. The cotton crop in the Rolling Plains and West Central Texas suffered severely. Many acres were not planted. For example, the normal crop of about 20,000 acres in Taylor County was down to almost 5,000 acres. In some counties it took eight to ten acres to make one bale where normally one to two acres would do the job.

Yields of peanuts, soybeans, hay crops and pecans also suffered from the season-long drought. Hay production was only 50 to 60 percent of normal in generally high-producing eastern counties. The state's pecan crop was only about a fourth of last year's production of well over 70 million pounds.

COLD WEATHER HURT AG

Although the drought captured the bulk of the attention in 1984, it was the devastating cold—a rarity for Texas—that got farmers and ranchers off to a bad start. Sub-freezing weather that lingered over the entire state for almost a week during the 1983 Christmas season dealt a killing blow to citrus and vegetable crops in the Rio Grande Valley and other southern counties, inflicting losses of well over $100 million. That not only brought an end to the '83-84 citrus crop (about 70 percent of the crop was lost) but will have serious repercussions for several years to come since at least 30 percent of the trees were killed and new orchards take four to five years to reach full production. Limited production is expected from citrus trees in 1985.

The severe cold also caused numerous losses to the livestock industry, with many lambs and calves as well as other unprotected livestock freezing to death. Numerous animals were lost to frozen ponds for water.

Small grains (wheat and oats) that normally provide green grazing for many livestock during the winter months also were decimated by the record-setting cold weather. This resulted in poor weight gains for stocker cattle, with many being shipped to feedlots at lighter than normal weights.

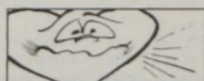

OTHER PROBLEMS

In addition to the drought of 1984, farmers also were beset by a host of other problems. Major culprits were high interest rates, increased production costs, and low prices for their commodities. A strong U. S. dollar abroad kept exports under pressure and boosted foreign production, further squeezing markets for American farm commodities. All of this caused estimated 1984 net farm income to remain at only about half of what it was in 1979 for the third year in a row. In fact, the adjusted farm income for inflation nationwide in 1984 is expected to be the lowest since the Great Depression.

LOOKING TO 1985

With that kind of a year, farmers and ranchers appear more than willing to leave the old behind and look forward to 1985. Already there are some pluses. So far the winter weather has been mild. And much of the state has good soil moisture, which should help in getting crops, pastures and ranges off to a good start in the spring. Yet, many of the problems that have plagued agricultural producers in the past are continuing, particularly low prices and high interest rates. A large number of producers will again succumb to overwhelming debts—a trend that has forced many full-time family farmers out of business in recent years. But most will endure and press onward, lured by their independence, love of the land, and the conviction that they have the highest calling of all—providing food and fiber for all the people of the world.

During a lifetime, the average human heart beats 2.5 billion times.

Motorists/Service Station Dealers Can Be Assessed Fine For Misfueling

AUSTIN, Texas — Motorists who pump leaded gasoline in an automobile designed for unleaded products have two problems in Texas: They are damaging their cars and violating the law.

Motorists guilty of this infraction may be assessed a $1,000 fine under a ruling by the Texas Air Control Board. Penalties of up to $10,000 a day can be levied by the Environmental Protection Agency against the owner of the station where the violation occurs.

The practice, called "misfueling," has been illegal under federal law for a number of years, according to Homer McGinnis, president of the Texas Oil Marketers Association and Pride of Texas Distributing Company in Arlington. The Environmental Protection Agency, concerned about a nationwide increase in misfueling, is now beginning to put teeth into that old law.

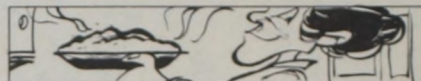

"A gasoline seller would have to be crazy to risk a $10,000 fine to make a $10 sale of regular gas," McGinnis notes. "Therefore, many people who have been filling their cars with leaded gasoline shouldn't be surprised if the dealer now comes out to the pump and says 'no.'"

As a result of EPA enforcement of the law and the new TACB rule, service station owners are schooling their employees on the types of automobiles that require unleaded gasoline and instructing them not to pump or allow the customer to pump leaded gasoline into these vehicles. McGinnis notes that vehicles built before 1975 can legally use leaded gasoline; most vehicles built after 1975 require unleaded, and all vehicles built after 1979 require unleaded fuel.

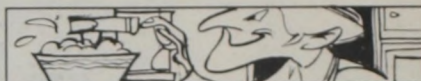

Unleaded gasoline was introduced in the early 1970s when federal regulations required catalytic converters to be installed on new cars. Lead in gasoline will clog the converters, which were designed to clean up exhaust emissions and reduce smog in the air.

There have also been contentions that lead is a health threat when released in the atmosphere as a part of automobile exhaust. EPA has already reduced the allowable levels of lead manufacturers can add to gasoline, and in 1984 the agency proposed plans to cut the allowable lead content back drastically, to less than 10 percent of current levels by 1986.

"EPA is serious about reducing lead emissions," McGinnis says. "They can't ban it altogether yet, because older vehicles actually require some lead in the gas they burn. But they're going to do everything they can to keep the people who shouldn't be using it from doing so. They've said that they might require marketers to sell leaded gas at full-serve pumps only, or even require them to raise the price higher than unleaded."

Some large cities, such as Chicago, are now trying to totally ban leaded gasoline. Significant health problems among children have surfaced there; the problems are more frequent and more serious in housing areas adjacent to busy freeways and lessen proportionately in areas farther away from the freeways.

"Not only does unnecessary use of leaded gasoline create environmental problems as a result of increased pollution," McGinnis says, "but it costs the misfueler more money in the long run than is actually saved. An average driver might save $25 to $50 a year by filling up at the leaded pump. But it will cost much more than that in spark plugs, tune-ups and engine wear. Also, misfueling can void most new car warranties," McGinnis adds.

Texas became the first state in the nation to make the consumer liable for misfueling. The agency implemented a rule that prohibits the owner of a vehicle from making inoperable any system or device used to control emissions from a motor vehicle.

TACB rules make it illegal to remove the part in an automobile tank fill pipe that prevents an unleaded nozzle from entering it, to disconnect the catalytic converter, to sell an automobile on which an emission system is not properly operating, to pump leaded product into a car designed for unleaded or to sell a device that will circumvent emission control devices. Violators are subject to a penalty of up to $1,000. The TACB rule is statewide, but warning signs are only required in Harris County.

The agency has also developed an annual automobile inspection and maintenance program in Harris County that requires cars to have emission checks to determine if leaded product has been used in unleaded vehicles. These rules were necessary to help Harris County and the state reduce pollution levels established by the EPA.

"TACB is to be commended for its efforts in the misfueling area," McGinnis notes. "The rules should result in the reduction of emission of hydrocarbons and other pollutants because of the large number of emissions control systems operating properly."

The Texas Oil Marketers Association represents more than 750 companies that own, supply or operate chains of branded and unbranded service stations and convenience stores in Texas and the Southwest. The organization is assisting its members in communicating to the public the penalties both consumers and station operators face for misfueling.

Many businesses and individuals donated to the Briscoe County Livestock Show Saturday at the County Show Barn. The donations made possible for 4-H and FFA youth to have trophies, belt buckles and prize money for exhibiting their livestock projects.

Century Club members gave those giving $100.00 or more.

The Briscoe County Livestock Show Board, 4-H and FFA exhibitors, Extension Agent, and ag teacher would like to thank the businesses and individuals who donated to the show. Donors include: Silverton, Quitaque and Turley and the surrounding area gave so generously to the County Livestock Show; the show supporters, John Schott, Jim Burson, Warren Merrell, S. Fogerson, Doug Forbes; A. Younger for announcing; Jean Baird, show secretary; Silverton Young Farmers; the 4-H parents who provided food and worked the concession stand; and to those who attended the show to support Briscoe County youth.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE

capitol comments

Little has happened in the legislature up to this time. The fireworks are about to start. On Thursday, the Natural Resources Committee began taking testimony on the State Water Bill. This issue is moving much slower than some would like. An effort is being made to quickly pass the bill through the House and Senate and get it out of the way before other very pressing matters are taken up for debate.

There is a great deal of apprehension from West Texas legislators about the bill. The bill is being pushed by the Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Speaker, all of whom are from down state. The Lower Colorado River Authority, which is Responsible for blocking the Stacy Dam project in this West Texas area, has been unyielding to those in West Texas.

I am fortunate to have as my desk mate, Rep. J. W. Buchanan of Dumas, Texas. Buck is recognized as the most knowledgeable person in the state on matters pertaining to water. I will be relying on his good judgment and advice as we proceed in this issue. If passed with 100 votes in the House and 21 votes in the Senate, and then finally passed by the voters of Texas, this will be the most historic legislation Texas has ever enacted affecting all aspects of water.

I often do not agree with the Sierra Club on many of its positions, but I do agree with them that conservation of water should have the highest priority of any water plan for Texas. Over half of Texas is very arid. Chances of a water importation plan from another state is more of a pipe dream than a remote possibility. Available sites for building dams to retain water are relatively few. As the water issue becomes more acute, growing cities down state will have more political power than West Texas. The people from down state will be successful in blocking efforts to build or enlarge reservoirs up state.

There will come a time when we in West Texas will not turn our faucets on full force as we wash our teeth. We will sod or plant buffalo grass for our lawns. We will add several bricks to the water closet in our commodes. There will be no tail water in our bar ditches. Deep irrigation wells will be silenced. Many will return to dryland farming. Crops and varieties of crops will be planted that are drought-resistant. Total yields will be greatly reduced. Prices will be much higher. There could be talk of moving underground water (held so sacred in West Texas) down state to cities having pressing domestic water needs.

The 60th Legislature convened Tuesday, January 8, 1985, and will adjourn May 28, 1985. This will be the most hard-fought session in decades. Comptroller Bob Bullock predicted a $1 billion shortfall in revenue. Each time oil prices drop $1 a barrel, it costs the state $40 million in taxes. With oil prices dropping daily, it appears Bullock will be coming out with another projection that will be lowered. This means an austerity program for the first time in well over a decade.

The special session created a $4.6 billion tax bill and an education bill with which many people disagree. Twenty-two Democrats were defeated in the primary and general elections. All 22 of the defeated candidates voted for the education bill. All but four voted for the tax bill. The Republicans now have 52 state representatives instead of 36 as in the past session. During the special session some of the representatives couldn't seem to read what the folks back home were trying to tell them. Their addition is improving when they add up the score on defeats. I'm very happy with my NO vote on both the tax and education bills.

None of the 29 (21 Republicans and eight Democrats) were defeated who voted against the education bill. I stood with the eight Democrats who voted NO.

What are the issues in the legislative session in addition to money?

- Pari-mutuel gambling on the ponies
- Deregulation of the trucking industry
- Elimination of the Blue Law
- Damaging the Homestead Law
- Indigent Health Care—who pays and how much?
- Agricultural pesticide regulations

I'll be covering these issues in future articles. Our toll-free WATTS number is 1-800-692-1389. The number did terminate in my Pampa office, but during the legislative session, it terminates in my Capitol office.

The legislative session is getting off to a slow start. We have just received committee assignments after two weeks.

I was placed back on the Appropriations Committee and the County Affairs Committee. This was my request. There will be some tough battles fought on both of these committees.

From the underground, I'm told there have been tens of thousands of dollars spent with lobbyists representing certain financial institutions trying to destroy Texas homestead laws. No bill has been filed on this subject yet. The rumor is they can't get anyone in either House to carry the legislation. This is a high compliment to this legislature. These certain lending institutions are looking at owners' $269 billion of equity in homes like a hungry buzzard would a dead cow.

Several bills have been introduced that speak to the education reform bill that was passed last summer. The Governor has threatened a veto of any bill that supposedly weakens H.B. 72. There is some talk of cutting out the funds for certain areas such as Teacher Testing—$17 million—and the tens of millions on the controversial pre-kindergarten baby-sitting program. One school superintendent called from a small rural school and said in some cases they would have 24 or 25 students in a class. Because of the strict requirement of no more than 22 students per class, it could cost this school district from $75,000-$100,000 to accommodate just five or six extra students. This is the fruit of taking too much control from local government.

PESTICIDE PROBLEMS

Last week I introduced a bill that would place the authority for writing pesticide regulations in the hands of three entomologists and three weed control specialists. The tenth member of the board would be the director of the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center Laboratory in San Benito.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Carter and Mrs. Floye McCracken drove to Lubbock and spent Friday night and Saturday. The Carters spent the night with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Carter and Melanie. The Carters took Melanie to a basketball game at the Estacado School. On Saturday morning, they took the granddaughter, Melanie, to see the Shrine Circus.

Mrs. McCracken spent the night and Saturday with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Monk.

They all returned to Quitaque to their homes Saturday evening.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Ramsey this weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Chadwick, Shane and Bradley of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Jameson, Kevin and Michelle of Claytonville, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ramsey, Russell and Kristin, and Jana Boyles, Quitaque.

WITH THE SICK

Ray Payne was taken by Quitaque Ambulance Service to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock Saturday where he remains. He has improved some, according to reports from members of the family.

Mrs. Buster (Sue) Chadwick was taken to Central Plains Hospital Saturday afternoon by Quitaque Ambulance Service. It is reported she is some improved.

HERE ARE THREE GOOD REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD PRE-PLAN YOUR FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS

- 1. YOUR FAMILY. Spare your family from the difficult decisions during a difficult time.
- 2. SAVING MONEY. Although not a requirement for pre-arrangement, pre-payment safeguards your arrangements from costly inflation.
- 3. PEACE OF MIND. Planning ahead provides the satisfaction of knowing everything is taken care of according to your wishes.

To receive further information, please call us and ask for our informative brochure, "A FACT OF LIFE," and receive a handy organizer as seen in our television advertisement.
