Mixed Drink Taxes Returned To Cities

State Comptroller Bob Bullock recently sent checks totaling $11.8 million to 222 counties and 426 cities as their share of the state's 10 percent mixed drink tax collected during the second quarter of 1984.

Bullock said the state collected a total $40.9 million in taxes on the sale of mixed drinks during the quarter, up 5.5 percent over the same period in 1983.

Texas cities and counties each receive a 15 percent rebate on the tax collected on mixed drinks sold within their boundaries under the law that legalized the sale of mixed drinks in the state.

The state's general revenue fund receives the balance—$29.1 million—of the tax money collected.

The mixed drink tax is collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission and city-county rebates are sent out quarterly by the Comptroller's office.

Bullock said the mixed drink tax has brought in $80 million so far during 1984.

The Texas Legislature recently increased the mixed drink tax from 10 to 12 percent, and decreased the city and county share of the tax from 15 to 12.5 percent, effective October 2, 1984, but the actual amount returned to cities and counties will not change, and the state will get the entire gain from the tax increase, Bullock said.

Silverton's total city tax revenue totaled $1,323.04 and the city's 15 percent remittance amounted to $198.46. Quitaque's total city tax revenue was $1,289.25, with $193.39 going to the city.

IT'S A FACT!

Smokers who want to quit now have an effective aid—a chewing gum which contains nicotine obtained from tobacco.

The only effective pharmacologic aid to help smokers quit—Nicorette® (nicotine resin complex) from Merrell Dow Pharmaceuticals Inc.—has demonstrated long-term success rates of 40 percent or more—better than twice the record of other methods. Nicorette provides relatively constant blood levels of nicotine via absorption through the lining of the mouth, reducing nicotine withdrawal symptoms, yet avoiding the other dangers of cigarette smoke inhalation: carbon monoxide, irritating gases and carcinogenic tars. It's available by prescription only. Doctors have been provided with detailed information about this new and effective way to help you stop smoking.

The first rhubarb plants found their way to America from England when they were shipped in 1770 by Benjamin Franklin to John Bartram in Philadelphia.

HIGHTOWER ATTENDS
WHITE HOUSE CEREMONY

Congressman Jack Hightower recently attended a White House ceremony to observe the 30th anniversary of the Food for Peace Program which is important to the nation's farmers and U. S. foreign policy. President Reagan asked Hightower to attend the special East Room ceremony as part of a select group of national leaders recognized as promoters of U. S. agricultural exports.

"This program is really unique in the nation's history, and it's very important to food producers in our district because it helps move our farm commodities out into the world to hungry nations," Hightower said. "This program helps move our district's wheat and wheat products, cornmeal, dairy products and other commodities. It's an important program for economic, foreign policy and humanitarian reasons," Hightower said.

The Food for Peace Program, a part of the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954, has been the basic food assistance vehicle of the United States. During the history of the program, almost 653 million pounds of U. S. farm products, worth over $33 billion, have been moved out to more than 1.8 billion hungry people in over 100 countries. The program is aimed at opening new overseas markets for American farm products, helping nations develop into good trading partners for the U. S., and also providing important help to some of the poorest U. S. allies faced with domestic problems of drought, famine and malnutrition.

Hightower, a member of the House Select Committee on Hunger, is also a member of the Agriculture Subcommittee of Appropriations which has jurisdiction over the program. Hightower has been an advocate of expanded agricultural exports, and has had representatives of both Japan and South Korea in his Washington office to urge them to purchase more farm commodities and lower their import barriers.

"Rather than embargoing agricultural products, we need expanded exports to more and more trading partners," Hightower said. "This program helps us get a foot in the door market-wise, it promotes goodwill, lowers U. S. storage costs and helps reduce farm surpluses that tend to depress market prices."

America's first ice cream wholesaler was Jacob Fussel, a Baltimore milk dealer. He started making ice cream in 1851 to use up surplus cream. The price: 60¢ a quart.

SHOULD CHILD BE ALLOWED TO EAT PEANUT BUTTER SANDWICH FOR BREAKFAST MEAL?

Should a child who refuses to eat his breakfast cereal be given a peanut butter sandwich instead?

Children's nutrition experts at Baylor College of Medicine say why not; it's not important what a child eats for breakfast, as long as it's something nutritious, like a peanut butter sandwich.

Good nutrition is vital during the growing years, but parents are often exasperated because children have special tastes which usually don't include vegetables or fish.

A new pamphlet from Baylor College of Medicine helps parents choose the right foods and teach their children about nutrition.

A child's nutritional requirements change as he grows, the experts said.

An infant needs plenty of calories and nutrients from breastmilk or commercially prepared solutions because more physical and mental development occurs during the first year than at any other time.

A toddler sometimes doesn't want or need three full meals a day because he has a slower growth rate.

A school age child needs three nutritional meals a day because he is very active. But he is also choosing his own foods, so he needs to understand good nutrition. What he learns will carry over into adulthood, and bad nutrition can lead to heart disease, obesity, high blood pressure and dental problems.

Other suggestions the Baylor experts had were:

- Don't make a child clean his plate. Serve small portions, and then let the child ask for more.
- Don't serve small children

New Law Releases FmHA Housing Funds

A bill signed by President Reagan July 2 enhances the use of funds for the single-family housing program operated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's single-family housing program operated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Farmers Home Administration, J. Lynn Futch, FmHA State Director said. No additional funds are involved.

The new law clears up the division of loan funds that must be allotted to "very" low-income applicants and to those in the next higher bracket, low-income.

The earlier congressional requirement that FmHA housing loans must be made so that 40 percent were constantly going to very-low-income people has been replaced so that now up to 40 percent of the funds available will be used for very-low-income families, Futch said. "This means that loan applications from both low and very-low-income rural applicants can be processed at the same time without regard to some arbitrary relationship between the two groups."

The new law divides available loan funds into two amounts, up to 40 percent for the very-low-income and the remainder for low-income borrowers.

"That will revive our program substantially," Futch said. "We will now be able to process applications for both very-low and low-income people."

Very low-income is defined as not more than 50 percent of an area's median income. The low-income ceiling is 80 percent of the same income base.

Skin Cancer Promoted By Exposure To The Sun

The fisherman, the farmer and the bathing beauty have something in common—the danger of skin cancer from prolonged over-exposure to the sun.

"It's that time of year when we must remind people to use sense in the sun to avoid over-exposure which can cause skin cancer. Cancer of the skin is diagnosed in over 400,000 Americans each year," said Mary Ann Sarchet of the Briscoe County unit of the American Cancer Society.

She explained, "Most skin cancer is caused by excessive exposure to the sun. People whose occupation places their work outdoors—for example a lifeguard or construction worker—should be very careful. So should fair-skinned, fair-haired people. Senior citizens form another group advised to take care in the sun."

Since skin cancer occurs more frequently than any other type of cancer, it is important to know its early warning signals: a sore that does not heal; change in size or color of a wart or mole. "If a symptom appears, the person should not try to wish it away or 'doctor' it himself," Mrs. Sarchet stated. "See your physician as soon as possible. Skin cancer is highly curable if detected and treated in time."

"That's why it is so tragic that about 7,000 people are expected to die of skin cancer this year," Mrs. Sarchet added. "They will be victims of a disease that is largely preventable and highly curable."

The American Cancer Society has available skin cancer leaflets and an educational film entitled, "Sense in the Sun." For further information contact the ACS office at 353-4306 in Amarillo.

Mrs. Sarchet said, "At this time of year the ACS advises people in Briscoe County to: Take sunshine in small doses; Wear a broad-brimmed hat and long-sleeved shirt; Use a beach umbrella; Apply a screening lotion or cream."

NEW REFORMS IMPROVE EDUCATION

AUSTIN — As a result of the new education reforms passed by the recent Special Session of the Legislature, the State of Texas has moved into the forefront of the nation in providing a quality education for our children. Upon final implementation of these reforms, Texas will no longer stand at risk alongside our sister states, but rather will be an example for the remaining states to model their educational systems after.

The backbone of these new reforms is undoubtedly the approved increase in teacher salaries. Beginning teachers will now receive a base pay of $15,200 per year. Experienced teachers will receive an increase of at least $170/month. To ensure teacher quality, all current teachers will be required to complete an examination to test both basic skills in reading and writing and subject area knowledge. Teachers that have already taken an exit exam from teacher education programs or the Graduate Record Exam will be exempted. We believe that these two provisions will serve to attract the best and brightest pupils into the teaching profession by ensuring better salary and respect among the community.

A great portion of the reforms passed by the Legislature seek to strengthen the academic curriculum by ensuring that the primary part of the school day is used to instruct students in the basics of a solid education. One new reform instructs local school districts to adopt and strictly enforce a policy which limits interruptions during the school day for nonacademic activities (such as announcements and sales promotions). Another provision states that a student may not receive course credit for any class in which they have more than five unexcused absences during a semester.

The new law will also provide for prekindergarten classes for disadvantaged children, as well as requiring schools to offer half-day kindergarten classes. Attendance for these programs would remain voluntary on the part of the students. Class sizes will be reduced for kindergarten through grade 4 in order to assure that each child has the maximum opportunity for individualized instruction by the teacher.

State funding of our education programs will be increased to help meet the anticipated costs of these reforms. School districts in the Panhandle will receive approximately $29 million in new State aid. This represents an increase of approximately 24% in new State aid over the current level of Senatorial District 31.

We hope that this new law will help to provide our children with the quality education they deserve, as they represent the future of our State. In working to pass these much needed reforms, we found many instances where the proposed reform created an undue burden upon the students and the local school district, such as provisions for a longer school year and extremely restrictive rules regarding extracurricular activities. Fortunately, these proposals were changed to meet our objections: the school year will not be lengthened, and proposed rules regarding practice and participation in extracurricular activities will be left up to the State Board of Education.

Small college gets big gift

A tiny southwest Virginia community college conducts an instrumentation technology program considered to be a giant in its field.

Recognizing the importance of this program, R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. recently gave $55,000 to New River Community College. It was the largest single gift of cash and equipment the college has received from the private sector.

The school will use the funds to purchase approximately 20 pieces of modern equipment for use in its instrumentation technology program.

More than 95 percent of the instrument technicians employed by Reynolds Tobacco are graduates of New River. The technicians ensure that various processes in the manufacture of cigarettes are calibrated and operating properly. ▲

Your Community's

Health Centers Reduce Infant Deaths
 More babies are living because of the network of community health centers across the country, according to a study released in 1983 by the National Center for Health Services Research.

Since the 1960's, infant death rates have improved greatly in this country. But in Black and Hispanic communities, the infant death rate is estimated to be twice as high as the national average.

The study found that community health centers (CHC's) have played an important role in reducing infant deaths in America, which is especially good news for minorities. The study showed that CHC's contributed about 12% of the observed decline in infant death rates in the Black community between 1970 and 1978. It appears that Hispanics and other minority populations also made similar gains.

Study findings also suggest a substantial payoff to counties that have actively invested in community health centers. In fact, counties with four or more CHC's actually reduced infant death rates by an additional 10%, when compared to counties without them.

The National Association of Community Health Centers in Washington, D.C. reports that CHC's serve approximately 6 million people each year. These centers, with the help of U.S. Public Health Service funding, offer quality health care for families, regardless of ability to pay, including special health services for women during and after pregnancy, and for their babies. CHC's are helping mothers and babies live healthier lives.

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

AUSTIN — There are probably a large number of Texans who don't realize that the Legislature took steps to protect the lives of Texas children during the Special Session which ended in early July.

Most everything we have heard or read concerns the sweeping reforms in education or the implementation of the tax bill to pay for education and to upgrade our highways. However, two pieces of legislation passed which could prove lifesavers for children.

A bill passed which makes child safety seats or restraints mandatory in automobiles belonging to Texas drivers. It requires the use of safety seats or seat belts for children age four and under. Failure to comply could result in a fine of $25 to $50, which could be dismissed if the driver purchases a safety seat within 10 days of receiving a ticket. The new law takes effect on October 31st, 1984, however, the penalty provisions do not become effective until January 1, 1985.

Studies show that as many as 90 percent of the children who have died in traffic accidents could have been saved if they had been in safety seats. Last year in Texas 78 children under age four died in auto crashes and 6,603 were injured. Texas has been one of three states without a child restraint law.

The second measure provides criminal penalties for persons who leave a child unattended in an automobile or truck. A fine of up to $200 could be levied.

A number of Texas children have been killed in accidents associated with being left alone in an auto. While it is unfortunate that the Legislature must take such action in order to get the attention of adults, who often thoughtlessly forget about the health and safety of the children involved, it is the duty of the State to devise methods to help save the lives of our children.
