SCENE FROM THE DEVASTATING FIRE WEDNESDAY SOUTH OF QUITAQUE.

Raging Wildfire Burns Estimated 7,000 Acres In Briscoe and Floyd

by Vince Taylor

A raging wildfire that burned an estimated near 7,000 acres in the Quitaque area started from an undetermined source, John Warner, a Texas Forest Service fire unit team leader said. The fire, which began about 10 miles south of Quitaque Wednesday evening, threatened a number of homes in the area, and did burn one vacant building. Firefighters surrounded the fire with dirt to keep it from spreading, but high winds swept it across the lines to cover several square miles of rough rangeland. Although other sources had reported only 3,000 acres, the Quitaque fire department said the fire burned closer to 7,000.

Volunteer firefighters from Quitaque were joined by fire departments from Floydada, Lockney, Matador, Turkey, Flomot, and Abernathy, and Dougherty in trying to protect the structures, and gain some kind of control of the blaze. TxDOT sent equipment, and Ropesville sent a crew of five to help. There were eleven different groups helping, a spokesman said.

Texas Forestry Service sent fire crews and a Sikorsky Skycrane helicopter assisted the ground crews with 1,000-gallon water drops and fire-retardant drops.

Twelve Quitaque volunteer firemen, using their new 15,000-gallon tanker truck, and 4 rural trucks, spent almost 30 hours of continuous fire-fighting in the blistering heat. Area farmers furnished their own water tank trailers, about 12 of them, to help out, and there were five ambulances at the scene. Although there were no injuries reported, several firemen were treated for heat stress.

On Thursday evening, three Quitaque units and six firemen went back to the fire for two more hours.

Numerous area residents brought food and water and other help for the firemen, some of it coming from as far away as Plainview. Those spectators who only come out of curiosity however, were discouraged from coming to the fires, as their presence as bystanders creates problems and dangerous situations for themselves and for the volunteers.

The City of Quitaque gives the Fire Department $2,000, starting this year and Briscoe County gives them $5,000 per year. In addition, the city pays for fuel for the firetrucks, but the department buys their own insurance, which costs $2700 annually. It costs about $1000 to outfit each fireman.

Singing Trio To Perform At First Baptist

"Michael, James & John" will present a concert at First Baptist Church in Quitaque Sunday evening at 6:00 o'clock.

This is a return engagement for the singing group who performed five years ago in Quitaque.

Mike Turner is a businessman from Eden, John Stephens teaches VoAg in Eden, and is the son-in-law of Willis and Petite Winters; Wes James is a full-time music evangelist, who leads revivals, performs for civic events, as well as presenting concerts.

The group sings a wide variety of music from country to gospel to blues, and there will be something everyone can relate to.

They emphasize their primary purpose is to present Jesus Christ through music, and everyone is invited to First Baptist Church in Quitaque this Sunday for a real blessing in music.

Immunizations Available In Quitaque Second Thursday Of Month

The Texas Department of Health will be in Quitaque at the First National Bank in the Community Room every Second Thursday of the month from 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. to provide all immunizations for your convenience. If you wish to take advantage of this clinic, there will be a charge of $5.00 or less based on ability to pay. We will give shots free to those individuals who are unable to pay. If your child gets more than one shot on the same day, (for example, an MMR and a Hepatitis B shot) There is no added charge for the second one.

Medicaid pays for shots. Please bring your shot record if possible. Please bring your card if your child is on Medicaid. On March 1, 1998 the Texas Department of Health approved all children from birth through 20 years of age to be vaccinated against hepatitis B. It is no longer necessary for the child to be in a specific age group or a high risk group to be eligible if they are under 20 years of age.

All children are eligible to receive the hepatitis B vaccine series.

Hepatitis B is a serious disease. The first stages of hepatitis B may lead to loss of desire to eat, pains in muscles, joints, or stomach, diarrhea or vomiting, yellow skin or eyes and even death. Long-lasting infection with hepatitis B may destroy the liver (cirrhosis), lead to liver cancer and cause death.

Hepatitis B virus is carried in the blood and body fluids of an infected person. It can pass through tiny breaks in the skin. People can spread hepatitis B without even knowing they have it. A person can get infected in several ways, such as during birth when the infected mother passes the virus to her baby; by having sex with an infected person; by being stuck with a used needle; or by sharing personal items, such as a razor or toothbrush.

WATER MAIN LINE REPLACED AT RANCH ROAD 1065 AND JONES STREET SATURDAY.

Water Main Breaks in Town

Saturday, Quitaque was without water for most of the day. An eight inch main line at Jones and Ranch Road 1065 split seven inches causing the water to have to be turned off all over town.

It took the City Water Department several hours to get the water flowing to the homes in town.

Residents are cautioned when driving near the break as the hole is still open so the break can be observed to be sure all is well before recovering it.

THEN & NOW!

by Eunice McFall

Fires, fires, fires, all around us and what can be done about it? Who do we turn to to help out when homes, property and lives are at stake? Who do we call? And most important who will respond to our plea for help when there is danger in the air?

Our volunteer firemen is who! They leave their jobs, homes, sleep and families and try to protect us when we can no longer do the protecting ourselves. We should thank them every time we meet them on the street for doing a job that we, the ordinary citizen is not equipped to do. (Right now they are not fully equipped to do the job either but they are still trying to do a good job with the equipment they have!)

Of course, we do appreciate all that they do for us and all the time that they take out of their lives to give help to their fellow man. But do we ever show it to them in a monetary way? It does take money to make a fire department efficient and able to perform their job. It also takes man power to do the job right. If we are not able to be a part of the volunteer fire department, we should at least support them with donations to help keep the equipment up in tip top shape. Who knows the next fire might be in your back yard (as it was in ours on Sunday morning.)

The volunteers came to quench the flames that were licking the grass and dead weeds in the fence in their church clothes, work clothes and in minutes had the fire put out. True, there was no major damage done but this was due to the quick response of the volunteers when the 911 call came in.

We do not realize how important our volunteers are until we have a major fire such as we had on Wednesday of last week. Several homes were in danger of being burned but with the quick thinking of individuals, the expert help of the forestry service, the gracious help of local individuals and area volunteer fire department, no lives or homes were ruined.

Stop and think a moment of all the irreplaceable items you have in your home. These brave men and women keep these items safe for us when they lay their lives on the line to keep us safe night and day. Yes, they are on call 24 hours a day to help each one of us who is in need. And their only pay for this service is a pat on the back and the upgrading of their equipment so that they can do a good job and risk their lives when fires do break out. And just ask anyone of the families whose houses were in danger last week and you will get the answer that they are not paid enough!

Think of what would happen to us if we had no fire department to help out in time of need? Now it is our time to help them--they need our help to upgrade equipment, so let's open our pocket-books and give generously to help keep our families safe in the future.

One lady who gets the paper in Ft. Worth sent a donation to the fire department in honor of her husband--can we who live here do less? After all it concerns us daily!

WIDE OPEN

By Vince Taylor

FIRE! When someone says the word you know what they are talking about, are do you? If you are one of the volunteer firemen I know you do. As for the rest of you, you don't have a clue as to what it is. Fire is all consuming, unpredictable and in the case of range fires or grass fires very dangerous. It takes a good plan of action, with a good escape route always in mind. When the weather is as hot and dry as it has been fires can start just about anywhere, anytime. Our volunteers are working with a limited budget, and limited experience. They are not professionals and need all of us to cooperate with them in the event that something does happen. I am a volunteer fireman and understand a little about the problems encountered at a fire. One of the things that we all need to realize is that it is against the law to chase fire trucks to the scene of a fire. Then to stay on as a spectator once at the fire is not helping at all. Sure everyone wants to know what's going on, who's land is burning, who's house is on fire, where is it located, but you are only making it more difficult for our volunteers to do their job. When at a fire, the volunteers are not thinking about you, they are thinking about the best way to attack the fire and the quickest way out in case of emergency. If you are blocking their escape route it could mean a fiery death for one of our volunteers. As for those of you that did come to the fire to help by bringing food or drinks, extra water trailers ect. your help is needed and greatly appreciated, as for the rest of you, just stay home out of the way until the fire is out then you can go look all you want. Save a volunteer stay out of the way.

Low-Income Families Can Receive Help On Energy Bills

provided by Johnny Raymond, Executive Director

The Clinton Administration last Thursday authorized the release of $100 million in funding to help low-income families pay for soaring home energy bills due to the extreme heat wave. This money came through the Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs, and for the Panhandle area will be administered by Panhandle Community Services.

Eligible low-income citizens include the elderly, disabled, families with very young children, and households with the lowest incomes and highest energy costs. Target population is households with incomes at or below 125 percent of the federal poverty guidelines. A family of four, for example, must have a family income not exceeding $20,563 to be eligible for payment assistance. An individual must have an income not exceeding $10,063 to be eligible.

In addition to utility payment assistance, Panhandle Community services will assess the need for an air conditioning unit. ## Matter of Fact

Rick Perry

Texas Agriculture Commissioner

It wasn't that long ago that buying organic foods meant shopping at a small specialty store where the selection was modest and quality inconsistent. But over the last eight years, organic foods have gone from "trendy" to "mainstream" with organic products now increasingly available in conventional supermarkets.

It's not hard to find examples of growth in this sector of agriculture. All you have to do is walk past the produce aisle, the frozen food section and the deli counter to see a new array of organic items now available to consumers. And according to the National Restaurant Association, almost 60 percent of all full-service restaurants in the country now serve organic items.

If you need further proof of this surge, consider that sales of organic items have more than doubled since 1990. And during this time of tremendous growth, it's been Texas' agricultural producers leading the charge both in our state and across the nation.

With more than 20,000 organic acres certified in our state, Texas is considered the national leader in the organics industry. Our growers have set the standard for quality with a continuous commitment to the consumer. I don't call that trendy. I call that triumph for agriculture.

Senate Passes Hutchison Bill For Emergency Farm Relief

The U.S. Senate has passed emergency legislation co-sponsored by Senator Kay Bailey Hutchison that allows drought-stricken farmers to receive their transition subsidy payments earlier than scheduled. The measure was approved unanimously Thursday evening.

"At this late hour, as we are leaving for a month, do not fail to let us have this relief," Senator Hutchison urged her Senate colleagues before the vote to pass the measure.

After it passed, she said, "I am vastly relieved this bill was enacted so swiftly. The Senate was about to recess and the situation on Texas farms and ranches is desperate."

"This bill is, literally, a matter of survival for many hard-pressed farmers and ranchers," Hutchison said. "It is a linchpin of several initiatives we are working on to provide the agriculture sector with some relief from this year's devastating heat and drought."

The bill, Emergency Farm Financial Relief Act, gives farmers the opportunity to receive their Agricultural Market Transition Act subsidy payments for fiscal year 1999 after October 1 of this year, instead of in January and September of 1999, as scheduled. Rather than receiving two payments in 1999, farmers who are already hurting could elect to get their entire subsidy anytime after October 1, 1998.

"This allows farmers to use their payments as collateral for loans, or to buy seed for next year or to pay their living expenses, because the drought killed this year's crops," the Senator said.

Similar legislation is pending in the House of Representatives, which is expected to pass it early next week.

Area Eye Bank Links with Non-Profit Network

The Lions Eye Bank of District 2-T One, Amarillo's only eye bank, has recently become a member of the non-profit eye and tissue banking network, TBI/Tissue Banks International. The Lions of District 2-T-1 has supported eye banking and eye donations for over 25 years.

The cornea is the clear tissue at the front of the eye. About the size and thickness of a dime, this tissue is the window of sight. When the cornea becomes damaged because of trauma, disease or inherited conditions, visual impairment or blindness can result. Corneal blindness is one of the few irreversible kinds of blindness. The surgeon removes the damaged cornea and replaces it with a healthy cornea donated by a deceased donor and retrieved by the eye bank.

In joining the TBI network, the Lions Eye Bank of District 2-T-1 benefits from such services as tissue distribution, administrative management, and public information and fund raising assistance. TBI's national network also provides tissue from its other eye banks to meet local needs when insufficient amounts of tissue are recovered locally. "Our ultimate objective is to virtually eliminate patient waiting lists for corneal transplant surgery in this area," says Diana Martinez, the eye bank's new Executive Director. "We will be intensifying our efforts to inform the public about the benefits of donation and transplantation and strengthen our tissue recovery efforts in the area. We anticipate that our relationship with TBI will enhance the services of the Eye Bank to patients and their surgeons."

Last year more than 40,000 men, women and children underwent sight restoring corneal transplant surgery in the U. S. Under optimum circumstances, this transplant procedure has a higher than 90 percent success rate.

For more information, contact Diana Martinez, Lions Eye Bank of District 2-T-1, phone (806) 359-5101.

What does it take to crumble the largest rocks? A rootless plant called a lichen is pretty effective. Rocks begin to crumble when lichens spread over them and produce an acid that dissolves parts of rock. Bits of rock then mix with decayed matter, forming soil.

Social Security Trustees Predict the Future of Fund

by Patty Brandt, Representative

The latest report of the Board of Trustees of the Social Security Trust Funds shows little change in earlier predictions, which has the retirement trust fund needing additional income by the year 2029 to continue to pay benefits on time. At that time, the annual rate of tax income is projected to cover the cost of about three-fourths of benefits payable.

Behind the prediction, however, is a sometimes complex, sometimes simple, series of assumptions, calculations and computations. The result is a report that gives us a view of the income and outgo for the Social Security program into the future.

Shot-range estimates are reported for 10 years, and long-range estimates are reported for 75 years. These estimates are based on assumptions about all of the factors that affect the income and outgo of each trust fund. They include economic growth, wage growth, inflation, unemployment, fertility, immigration, and mortality, as well as specific factors relating to disability incidence and the cost of hospital and medical services.

Because the future cannot be predicted with certainty, three alternative sets of economic and demographic assumptions are used to show a range of possibilities. The intermediate assumptions reflect the trustee's best estimate of future developments. The low cost assumptions are more optimistic about these developments and the high cost assumptions are more pessimistic.

The assumptions are reexamined each year in light of recent experience and new information about future trends are revised if warranted. In general, greater confidence can be placed in the assumptions and estimates for earlier years than in later years.

While estimates of income and expenditures usually have been close to actual experience, any estimates for as long as 75 years into the future are inherently uncertain. Nonetheless, careful review and updating on an annual basis provides an indication of the range of future possibilities.

The retirement and survivors, and disability trust funds are expected to be able to pay benefits for about the next 32 years.

Although the Board does not see an immediate crisis, it is urging the Congress to address the problem in a timely manner. It recommended that the proposals in the recent Advisory Council Report and others being advanced by public officials and private organizations should be carefully evaluated by the government and the public.

While we continue to believe that there is time to discuss and evaluate alternative solutions with deliberation and care, we also recognize that the impact of any required changes will be less disruptive the sooner they are enacted," the Board stated.

Caprock Public Library News

by Arlene Hinkle

WOW! What a great reading program! We had 17 children entered and they read a total of 932 books during a five week period. The reading was fast and furious; and especially so, between contenders for the 1st and 2nd grades. Callie Helms read 260 books and Dalton Allen came in with 200 books. Autumn Phillips read 111 books and Landon Allen was right on her heels with 101.

In the 3 to 4 year olds, Sunny Helms read 43 and Ballard Saul read 36. The 4th grade and up have books that are by circumstance, longer and harder to read. Sarah McClellan read 20 and Will Boedeker read 7.

The other entries were Shelby Saul; Alyssa Pointer; Ryan Hinkle; Sierra Burleson; Colton Barclay; Brennan Allen; Lauren Young; Jacy Proctor; and Chancy Campbell.

Each first place winner received a Furry Tails, Funny Tales T-shirt and second place winner received a Furry Tails, Funny Tales sports bottle. All entries received a book bag and other little rewards. It was a great summer for reading with so many HOT days. The parents are to be commended for their efforts and their patience and the children were a wonderful group of youngsters who really worked hard.

Protecting Our Drinking Water Source

(Second in Series)

The Turkey Municipal Water System has a safe water supply. If our water is good, why do we need a special program to protect it? The reason is that the situation has been changing dramatically during recent decades. New chemicals or micro-biological contaminants are endangering our sources of water supply, both surface and ground water.

Concurrently, our ability to detect contaminants has been improving. Modern science can now identify specific chemicals in terms of one part contaminant in one billion parts of water. One part per billion is equivalent to one kernel of corn in 12,500 bags of seed corn or one second in 32 years. In case you think such small amounts can't be very significant, keep in mind that you can get sick from a single microscopic virus.

Although we currently know a great deal about the health impacts of drinking water contamination, many questions remain. Ongoing research will no doubt provide new information, which will answer some old questions and generate some new ones. Meanwhile, we as Turkey Municipal Water System citizens can take steps to reduce the risks to our health.

Most of us would agree that a vaccination to prevent illness is well worth the time, expense, and inconvenience. Similarly, many communities are using protection methods to prevent drinking water supply contamination. Communities have found that the less polluted their water is before it reaches the treatment plant, the less extensive - and expensive - the efforts to safeguard the public's health.

A Source Water Protection Program is designed to prevent the pollution of the groundwater that serves as sources of drinking water. The management of land around a well site, such as Turkey Municipal Water System water wells, is an example of source water protection. Source Water Protection Program typically includes delineation of the protection area, identifying potential sources of contamination that may impact the delineated area, implementation measures to manage these sources, and planning for the future.

Source Water Protection helps safeguard community water supplies. It is a program, which belongs to and is managed by the local community. Unquestionably, communities are the key stakeholders in source water protection. It is people living and working in communities who have the most to gain or lose from the quality of their drinking water.

The benefits to communities protecting their groundwater might be best understood by describing the costs of failing to protect the source of groundwater. Easily quantifiable costs of groundwater contamination include treatment, remediation, finding and establishing new supplies or providing bottled water, consulting services and staff time, legal costs of litigating against responsible parties, and conducting public information campaigns as a result of public and media interest in groundwater pollution incidents.

Although seldom done, it is relatively easy to estimate the value of a drinking water supply abandoned due to contamination. Such costs can be high when the quantity of water rendered undrinkable is large or the supply of potential drinking water is small.

Communities with effective groundwater protection programs may also enjoy substantial savings in the costs of complying with Safe Drinking Water Act regulations. This is because cleaner sources of groundwater require less disinfection, which means reduced requirements for removing disinfection by-products. Water suppliers with Source Water Protection programs may be eligible for waivers from monitoring requirements that reduce their monitoring costs. Texas water systems, which have received these waivers, have already saved $49 million in two and a half years.

Other benefits of source water protection that can be expressed in economic terms are helping to maintain real estate values in areas served by protected water supplies and avoiding loss of potential tax revenues and jobs because businesses refuse to locate or remain near places with known or suspected problems. A survey of 21 Minnesota cities found that five cities collectively lost more than $8 million in tax revenues because of real estate devaluation as a result of ground water pollution. Ask yourself the question, "Who wants to move a business or industry to a town where they can look to pay tax toward a multimillion-dollar bond issue to clean up the drinking water?"

Source water protection can have important secondary benefits. The protection of groundwater sources is obviously beneficial to fish, wildlife, and recreation. We also must include the reductions in risk to human health, which result from cleaner ground water.

Source water protection can be effective only if every citizen and business in the area joins in. A partnership must be formed between the Turkey Municipal Water System customers, farmers and ranchers of the area, and local businesses to assure that the supply of water remains safe. In the next article, we'll discuss what potential sources of contamination may exist in the Turkey Municipal Water System area that could affect our drinking water and what we can do as individual citizens to protect our valuable drinking water.

The Disappearance of Home Health Care

by Doris Spicak

The tragedy that was written in the remote halls of Congress last summer has begun to unfold with frightening clarity in the homes of thousands of elderly and disabled Texans. However well-intentioned its decisions, Congress' passage of the Balanced Budget Act (BBA) of 1997 - and the drastic cuts to Medicare home health care benefits that attended it - now are beginning to ravage the lives of thousands upon thousands of Texas' most vulnerable population.

The so-called "money-saving" measure now is becoming a devastating reality to patients who are finding that their home health benefits are being cut off. Up until this point, home health care has enabled these patients to maintain their dignity and independence - precious commodities that they now are losing, as they are forced into hospitals and nursing homes.

Do the cuts really save money? Hardly. Home care is a far more cost-effective way to care for the elderly and sick than institutional care. In fact, largely because Texas has more elderly living below the poverty level than any other state, the Medicare home health cuts will actually cost Texas taxpayers $81 million per year in additional state taxes to cover the cost of alternative care for our elderly.

I doubt that most members of Congress realized the severity of the cuts they made last summer, but the fact is that Congress went far beyond cutting the "fat" from the system. The BBA imposes a new reimbursement system for Medicare home health care called the Interim Payment System (IPS). The payment for each visit to a patient's home has always been capped in order to hold down costs, but the IPS puts a cap - an absolute maximum - on the total that Medicare will reimburse the agency for each of its patients. And it sets that cap at less than the average patient cost in 1993 - five years ago.

For most Texas home health agencies, that means they are limited to an aggregate payment of from $2,600 to $3,400 per patient. When you consider that the average cost of annual care per patient in Texas in 1996 was $8,200, you begin to see why about 60% of home health care agencies in Texas will be forced to close their doors, prematurely forcing patients into hospitals or nursing homes.

Those agencies that do manage to stay in business will be unable to afford any patients with severe or chronic needs; they will be forced to accept only those who can be treated and dismissed quickly and inexpensively. Home care agencies can tighten their belts, but they cannot deliver quality services and adequate care at only 30% to 40% of 1996 costs.

Another problem with the IPS is that it gives no consideration to patient needs - the severity of their illness or how long their projected recovery period. That's like telling a hospital, "We'll pay you the same amount to treat a broken arm as to perform a quadruple bypass." Ridiculous! The outlook is frightening for the elderly and disabled across the nation, as well as for Texas taxpayers and the more than three thousand home health care agencies in Texas.

In a last-ditch effort to avert this crisis, on March 31, 1998, the Texas Association for Home Care (TAHC) filed suit in federal district court seeking an injunction to stop the federal Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA) from implementing the Interim Payment System. In June, the Court rejected our plea, allowing the IPS to go forward. In his ruling, Judge Barefoot Sanders made it clear that the issue is Congress' problem and that he did not have the authority to nullify the law, even if it is "unwise."

All of us believe in fiscal responsibility with federal taxpayer dollars, and Congress can fix the problem without breaking the bank. Home health care grew only 4% in 1997, rather than the 14% growth anticipated by Congress when it passed the BBA, therefore, less severe cuts are needed to accomplish the same savings. In order to help keep expenses down even more, Congress should repeal the IPS and direct HCFA to move quickly to implement a payment system for home health care similar to the reimbursement system for hospitals - a system that sets strict limits, but recognizes the varying needs of patients.

The most important thing that all of us can do now is to make sure our U. S. Senators and Representatives are keenly aware that Texans value home health care and want it to be an accessible part of their health care system. Congress needs to hear from the folks back home that they demand the opportunity to maintain their dignity, independence and quality of care with home health care.

(Doris Spicak is President of the Texas Association for Home Care and Owner of Crossroads Home Health Care in Victoria, Texas.)

Aggressive Driving Is Still Around

provided by Calley Payne
CEA-FCS

Newspapers, radio and television news are hitting the topic of aggressive driving again. It seemed that for a while, the problem was getting better. Were drivers being more courteous or were we just not hearing about their aggression?

Everyone has committed a faux pas or social blunder, but did you ever stop to consider the magnitude of a faux pas committed with a two-ton vehicle? Not a pretty sight and yet it is happening daily on roads in Texas. The reasons for aggressive driving are varied and usually are pretty trivial but they do add up and become cumulative and folks just blow. The AAA foundation defines aggressive driving as an angry motorist attempting to intentionally injure or kill another driver because of a traffic dispute. Maybe it is not a conscience thought but does "man, I will show them a thing or two sound familiar?"

Marlene Albers, educator with the Texas Agricultural Extension service, makes the following safety suggestions for drivers of all ages, vehicles, and roadways.

Slow down if driving too fast for the road conditions or the posted speed. Don't drive too slow, poking along aggravates others and is dangerous. Don't tailgate, following too close to the vehicle ahead is a dangerous habit. Pass only on the left.

Passing on the right is against the law.

Use turn signals and once you have used them, don't forget to turn them off. Remember to stay in your lane. Don't ride the center line, drift from side to side, zig-zag through traffic.

Allow a merge. When it is the other driver's time to merge, let him or her in. Yield! That triangular sign means what it says. Yield to the car on your right. Always pull over for an emergency vehicle when its lights are flashing or siren is on.

Motorists should always yield to pedestrians, even if there is no crosswalk. Do not ignore red lights and stop signs. This is like forgetting to breathe. Stopping for red lights and stop signs is the most basic rule of driving.

Bad driving manners at the wheel of a vehicle includes - cursing, obscene gestures, excessive horn honking, loud stereo, refusing to merge, littering (including cigarette butts) and just about any other act of rudeness or selfishness that contributes to aggressive driving. A little more courtesy and consideration by all of us could make driving safer and more pleasurable.

Each driver can do a lot to reduce aggressive driving incidents. Review the safety suggestions and check your good driving manners. If you have a thorough knowledge of traffic laws, signs and markings coupled with good driving manners, you have done your part to reduce aggressive driving in your community.

There are world wide web sites devoted to the topic of aggressive driving. Information includes research, how to spot an aggressive driver, tips on coping, how to report the offender and personal accounts as a victim or as a perpetrator.

New Permanent Skating Rink Opens In Turkey

Mr. and Mrs. Don Masterson, assisted by his brothers James and Lamar, opened their new skating rink in Turkey last Friday night with a high crowd.

The rink is located in the old J. C. Woodridge lumber yard building, has all-new skates, a solid pine floor covered with masonite board. This makes a fast and excellent floor for skating and reduces the sound to a minimum.

Many ladies have requested the management to set a period during the afternoon for ladies only, and Don has complied by setting next Tuesday afternoon Aug. 10, when ladies only will be permitted to use the floor.

Upon opening the new permanent rink, the portable affair which had been operating here for several weeks, "folded its tent like an Arab and silently crept away." They were nice folks, however, and made many friends while in Turkey. ##

Keeping an eye on Texas

Rainfall in Texas lower than normal

Most weather stations across the state have reported below average rainfall for the first six months of 1998. Although 1997 was an unusually wet year during the same time period, 1996 was especially dry. The drought in 1996 was quite severe, and trends for the current year have been similar.

Turkey Happenings

by j Guest
 Jo Ann Blythe was in town for the ordination of her dad, Louis Randall, as elder of the Turkey Church of Christ. She also brought a group of praise singers from Amarillo South Church of Christ that filled the building with wonderful messages in song.

In addition to Jo Ann, her husband and daughter Courtney and Jeffrey were in attendance and sang with the group.

Rex and Charmaine Adamson, along with their son Aaron who is talking to the teens, were here visiting with Wilda and James Fuston.

Foy Lane was excited about having her daughters Nita and Gail here for the weekend along with three of Gail's grown daughters. They were here for multiple reasons, one of which was Bob Lane's birthday - I don't dare tell which one. Happy Birthday, Bob! Dona Browning and Tommie Jo Cruse also celebrated Bob's birthday.

We're glad to report that Gladys Hanna did not have to have surgery and is doing better.

Ida Farley is still in the hospital having treatment, and then will possibly have surgery.

Norman Gipson who was recently visiting here in Turkey has had by-pass surgery. He is still recuperating.

Harvey Mullin has been wanting to go to the Caprock Jamboree for a long time with his parents, Hoss and Lillian Mullin. He arrived on Friday night from Louisiana all primed for his first attendance. He, Lillian, Hoss and Joyce certainly enjoyed all of the performers, especially a long time friend of the family, Oleta Randall.

It seems the Jamboree just continues to grow and grow. A core group of people have always been there, but now more are coming. Could it be that the House Band is outdoing itself? I would say so. Their sounds blend so well, they know what each is going to do and do it - well.

Keith Green said Bettie was better and might even be able to work some in the office this month. For that we are thankful.

Jim and Willie Majors had as guests Friday night their grandson Brandon and his friend. They had a good time visiting and eating steaks.

Even though we didn't get much rain, the cooling off felt soooooo good. I just worked out in the rain for about an hour. Happiness is the feeling of raindrops as they wet your hair, skin, clothes, etc. I even transplanted and divided some iris, moved some plants.....oh,oh,oh, then the sun will probably rise.

U.F. and Ann coker met their daughter and family, Linda and Mark Hamilton and sons Zach and Josh in Lubbock last Sunday. Zach and Josh returned home with them for a visit.

Visiting with Virginia Degan recently were Lisa McKnight and children of Amarillo. Lisa was staying with her grandmother while she was recuperating after her stay in the hospital.

Lola Eudy of Joshua, Texas, and her great-granddaughter-Breana Jacobson of Burleson visited Cloie Hamilton from Sunday until Wednesday last week. They also visited Jane Hamilton and Butch and Dean Hamilton. Kay Myers visited with them also.

Marie Cruse had the pleasure of seeing the Broadway musical Phantom of the Opera at the Ft. Worth Convention Center. She and friends Betty Stewart and daughter Jo Ann of Hobbs, NM, and another friend Martha of Farmers Branch, had a dinner out, and then the show.

It seems everyone thinks Turkey is a great place to visit. Audrey and Ray Whitaker's granddaughters loved every minute of their visit recently. On their way here Bill Rosser and family satyed a couple of days in the Carlsbad Caverns area enjoying the sights, and visited Cloudercroft and White Sands.

Ying Lyles is back from Hong Kong, and is currently trying to conquer jet lag. She left Los Angeles July 10, and arrived in Hong Kong on July 12, where she visited with her husband Loyd's English friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bockburn. She visited the Temple, her mother's buial place, and with several friends until the 19th.

Her trip included shopping, and sightseeing in Chian Guangzhou, the Xiangjiang Safari Park, Space Flight Spectacle, and Sea World; a four-day cruise up the Yangtze River to Chonging, but a rising wall of water cut the trip short. She headed back to Amarillo on the 24th.

Mayor Susie Johnson attended the Panhandle Conference of Mayors held Thursday July 23 in Amarillo.

The topic was Conducting Council Business, and touched on business operations of the City Council and compliance with open government laws of Texas.

Eudy Reunion

The descendants of Jim and Ethel Eudy met in Turkey on July 24th, 25th & 26.

Friday evening Tom and Wilma and their daughters, Laura Moser and Karen Phillips and grandchildren Lindsey and Karli Fields and Bristen and Cqin Phillips hosted the evening meal in the Church of Christ Fellowship Hall. They served Mexican Stack which everyone seemed to enjoy. J.T. and Tootsie Mullin also ate with us.

After the meal, time was spent visiting and looking at photographs both new and old. Some of the young people brought their musical instruments. They took over J.T. and Tootsie's basement and had jam sessions Saturday afternoon and night. They had a great time.

Saturday morning most everyone had breakfast at Hotel Turkey. More visiting, picture taking, etc. After lunch everyone met at the Fellowship Hall to view a videotape of most of the Eudys. Linda Eudy had this put together from pictures Hugh and Juanita had. Ottis and Rita Mullin and a grandson joined the group. Jack Case also came by. That evening we had a wonderful meal served by Gary and Suzie at the hotel. Some of the group had to go home that night. Sunday morning we had breakfast at the hotel and some had to leave then. Several stayed and went to church. Due to the hot weather Lewis and Mozelle didn't get out, however, the group drifted in and out of their house so they got to visit with everyone. There were others who had planned to come, but couldn't because of illness in the family. We had a wonderful time, got in a lot of visiting and got to know the younger generation. Lola Mae and great granddaughter stayed a few days with her sister-in-law, Cloie Hamilton. Hugh and Juanita stayed until Tuesday.

Those who attended were: Karen Phillips, Bristen and Colin, Crandall, TX; Laura Moser, Lindsey and Karli Fieldsd, Claude, TX.; Hugh and Juanita Eudy, Donnie and Linda Eudy, Larry and Jeannie Eudy, Lindsey and friend, all from Midland, TX; Ken Eudy, James and Janna, Tahoka, TX; Barry and Tina Hillmer, Carlsbad, NM; Bill and Cleo Green, Slaton,.; Ottis and Rita Mullin and grandson, Graham, TX; Tom and Wilma, Turkey, TX.

A Trip to Remember

During their visit, they enjoyed many fun activities, including a visit to Rochell's old alma mater, Wichita Falls High School, known as "Old High."

The most exciting part of the trip was their visit to the Dallas Cowboys training camp at MSU.

As they waited (for about 1 1/2 hours) with camcorder in hand, and the kids in the autograph line, the Cowobys finally arrived on the field. After watching as Troy Aikman, Deion Sanders, and others stretched, and stretched, then started practicing, Rochelle filmed several plays.

After the four hour practice, Emmitt Smith signed Kimber and Kortni's Cowboy's caps, and shook Danny's hand (he said he will never wash that hand again), and Jennifer has the pen Smith used to autograph.

It was a trip to remember.

Economic Injury Disaster Loans Available From SBA

Is your business having trouble paying bills because of the recently declared disaster for the entire state of Texas? If you answered yes, you may be able to get a low-interest, long-term loan from the U. S. Small Business Administration (SBA). These loans are for small businesses that cannot meet normal operating expenses through other sources.

The ripple effect of their losses has now harmed businesses depending on the farmers and ranchers for much of their trade.

If you business is hurting, you can now apply for a federal loan. For an application or more information call the SBA toll-free at 800-366-6303 or 817-267-4688 for the hearing impaired. In addition, nurseries harmed by the drought can also apply.

These loans are for businesses in all Texas counties affected by drought which occurred June 1, 1997 through July 8, 1998 and continuing. You have until March 23, 1999 to file for the economic injury disaster loan. ## ISSUE UPDATE

with Mac Thornberry

Slain Capitol Police Officers were Heroes Who Made the Ultimate Sacrifice

I think it goes without saying that most Americans feel a tremendous sense of loss as a result of last week's shootings at the Capitol. These were clearly good men who were killed. They were heroes, who made the ultimate sacrifice by giving their lives to save others.

In the weeks ahead, some people will try to use this tragedy to push for their own favorite cause. I think we have to be careful. We live in a free and open society-- few of us would have it any other way. And while there may be some structural changes that could be made at the Capitol to further improve the building's security, the fact remains that in a society such as ours there may always be dangerous people who pose a threat to others.

New laws will never completely eliminate this threat. Nor will more metal detectors in our doors. Which is why our last, best line of defense remains the men and women who protect us every day -- the police.

It's easy to take them for granted, and it's easy to forget that they're there. But day in and day out, they put their lives on the line making sure we're safe. Before last Friday, 79 police officers had been killed in the line of duty nationwide this year. Add the names of Officers Jacob Chestnut and John Gibson, and that number is now over 80.

For these fallen officers and the families they've left behind, we should all say a prayer. For those still in the line of fire -- whether it's guarding our Capitol or patrolling our streets, we should ask God to watch over them, and give thanks that they are there.

For more information on this or any other issue before Congress, please write Mac Thornberry at 412 Cannon Building, Washington, DC 20515.
