Patriots To Host Nazareth In Important District Clash

The Valley Patriots cruised by Sudan with a 19-0 win here Friday of last week, bringing the team's season record to four games won and one lost.

Tim Clardy started the action with an 82-yard run in the first period and then hauled in a 10-yard pass from quarterback Kraig Cox in the second quarter. Clardy rushed for 126 yards and two touchdowns.

Cox nailed Ricky Jeeter with a 71-yard scoring pass in the final stanza to close out the Patriot scoring. Tommy Williams made the score final.

Valley, now 2-0 in district competition, led in total offense 431-83 and 16-7 in first downs.

The Patriot defense was led by senior linebacker Keith Beavers, senior noseguard J. Dale Butler and sophomore tackle Rosendo Silva.

The Patriots made six points to none for Sudan in the first quarter, outscored the Hornets 6-0 in the second, then after a scoreless third period, outscored the opponent 7-0 in the final stanza. This appears to have been the hardest-fought game since the Patriots lost by a close margin to Crosbyton in the first game.

The Patriots rushed for 308 to Sudan's 15 yards, attempted eight passes, completing three, while Sudan attempted nine and completed three. Each team intercepted an opponent pass. The Patriots were penalized 109 yards as compared with the Hornets' 35.

The Nazareth Swifts come to Valley Friday night, with play starting at 7:30. Remember the time change so as not to be late for the start of this important district matchup.

Valley Homecoming Is Big Success

The Valley Homecoming week of activities was centered around the Tuesday evening bonfire.

Mr. and Miss Flame candidates were Lori Clay and J. Dale Butler, seniors; Sarah Hewett and Tim Clardy, juniors; Kay Donna Hancock and Rosendo Silva, sophomores, and Sandy Lipscomb and Lane Myers, freshmen.

The winners were the Junior Class candidates, Sarah Hewett and Tim Clardy. The winners were determined by the class that hauled the most wood for the bonfire.

Another outstanding activity was the Pep Rally held Friday afternoon beginning at 3:00 o'clock. The Homecoming Pep Rally this year was one of the best ever, it is reported. Everyone was really "spirited," and the excitement never faded. The cheerleaders did a routine to "Beat It." There was a cute skit done, "Mr. Coker's Class." It was reported to be enjoyed by all attending.

The highlight of the Pep Rally was when the cheerleaders presented each Pep Squad member with a single red rose.

Each Pep Squad member presented the boy whose locker she decorated with a Spirit Stick at the Pep Rally.

Door prizes were given to grades kindergarten-5, 6-8 and 9-12 for the best decorated door. The winner in k-5 was Mrs. Waldrop's first grade. In the 6-8 grades group, Mrs. Leeper's seventh graders won. In the 9-12 grade group, Mrs. Maupin's door won. It was decorated by the freshmen.

A Spirit Stick was given to the boy and the girl who had been the most spirited all year long. These went to D'anna Smith and Keith Beavers.

Friday evening's activities climaxed the week when the Pep Squad began its formation on the football field.

The Pep Squad Hero candidates were presented. They were Daniel Ortiz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Ortiz, sr., escorted by Corina Munoz; Rickey Jeeter, son of Annie Jeeter, escorted by Tracy Gaddis; Darren Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Edwards, escorted by Sherri Hendrix; Walt Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jarrell Rice, escorted by Mary Dowd; J. Dale Butler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Butler, escorted by Lori Clay; Lee J. Browning, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Browning, and Keith Beavers, son of Kay Beavers, escorted by Tina Ortiz; Kraig Cox, son of Lynn Cox and Tena Weddle, and Rex Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Morgan, escorted by Karen Ramsey; and Tommy Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Williams, escorted by Sandra Brittain. The winner is J. Dale Butler, Pep Squad Hero.

The presentation of the candidates for Football Sweetheart followed the selection of the Pep Squad Hero. The candidates and their escorts were Tina Ortiz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Ortiz, escorted by Steve Price; Lori Clay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ike Clay, escorted by Lee J. Browning; Karen Ramsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ramsey, escorted by Kraig Cox; Kaylene Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Green, escorted by Criss Morrison.

Tina Ortiz is the Football Sweetheart.

During the business session further plans were made for the rummage sale to begin on Saturday, October 8, in the church basement. Plans were also discussed for Mrs. Fuston, Faye Armstrong, Marcella Patterson and Nadine Baisden to attend the annual conference of United Methodist Women to be held at the Polk Street United Methodist Church in Amarillo Friday and Saturday, October 7-8. by Mozelle Eudy

My Bye-Lo doll was given me by my parents for Christmas. She will be sixty years old December 25, 1983. She was purchased from Charlie Payne of City Drug Store in Turkey for $9.98.

I could not find a name quite pretty enough for her until last year when I finally decided to christen her "Angelita" after our granddaughter, Angela Kay Eudy. I made her a new dress, diaper and booties and put her in the curio cabinet Lewis gave me for Christmas so I could display her for others to enjoy.

Angelita's heritage is German by Kestner, copyrighted by Grace S. Putnam. She is made of Bisque, with blue eyes that still open and close, a cloth body, celluloid hands and molded, painted light brown hair. These dolls were produced in 1923 and were called "The Million Dollar Baby Doll." Grace Storey Putnam, the well-known designer, was searching for ideas when she found the perfect-looking baby in a Los Angeles hospital. She took the mold of the head and sculptured the now rare Bye-Lo which was produced and sold for only three years.

My sister, Vera Guest, found an article in 1972 in the Lubbock Avalanche Journal by Tanner Laine, with pictures of Mrs. Larry Doty of Corpus Christi (formerly of Lubbock) and her doll "Butch," and thus the story came to me and I have read books and done research on the dolls.

It is so interesting to me when I realize we still have our City Drug Store, now owned by Reddell and Dollie Irby, C&L Grocery, now owned by Charles and Laverne Hamner, which 60 years ago was Meacham Grocery with the late Joe Meacham and Paul Meacham, who is retired, former owners; Lacy Dry Goods, now owned by Hubert and Delores Price, owned 60 years ago by the late Fred Lacy, and Young's Auto Supply, now owned by Byron and Sybil Young and formerly owned by the late John H. Young. What other small town can match this: four businesses still in operation after sixty years. I'm proud of you all and your integrity!

Hall County Retired Teachers Have Meeting

The Hall County Retired Teachers Association met recently in the Silver Room of First National Bank in Memphis.

Mrs. Audrey Tribble gave an interesting review of the book, "I'd Do It Again," by Sarah Gleason, a teacher who spent 44 years in the classroom in Colorado.

Mrs. Tribble said that Miss Gleason took a state exam and began teaching in 1926 at Upper Lake Gulch District #13 thirteen miles from Castle Rock for a yearly salary of $765. She related many incidents of special interest to teachers who could relate to them personally.

Ethel Hillhouse, president, introduced Glen Cranford and Jerry Pevehouse who gave an overhead projector presentation for an insurance company.

Marjorie Bain gave a brief report on legislative matters. Tops Gilreath, secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting held in April.

Refreshments of dainty sandwiches, cookies, pickles and olives were served with coffee to Lucile Wright, Gertrude Rasco, Pauline Knight, Jeanette Irons, Ross and Ruby Gentry, Carl and Lorean Hulsey, Tops Gilreath, Dorothy Gurley, Audrey Tribble, Carrie Bell King, Beth Lemons, Jerry Gurley, Frances Harrison, Alma Bruce, Valmon Payne, Clara Pyatt, Ethel Hillhouse, and Mrs. Lewis, all of Memphis; Virginia Degan, Marjorie Bain and Marcella Patterson, all of Turkey.

The next meeting will be held on October 20.

State Rep. Mary Polk visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon McCracken, in Quitaque in September, and she and her mother left September 27 to drive to Roston, Texas, to attend the McCracken-Berry family reunion. They had never before attended and decided to make it this year.

They stopped in Wichita Falls to visit an aunt of Mrs. McCracken, Mrs. Lula Jones, 90, who was very pleased to see her.

They drove to Bowie and spent the night, then drove on to Roston the next morning. The affair was held in the community building there and everyone brought food and they report a very good time. The next morning, Mrs. McCracken went to the doctor and returned home, only to be taken back early the next morning by ambulance and she required surgery.

She asked the doctor if the trip caused the surgery and he assured her it did not. She said the trip was worth it anyway.

Mrs. Polk wanted to find the grave of her Grandmother McCracken and the ladies drove about fifty miles to Spanish Fort to look for her grave and they found it.

Mr. and Mrs. Burl Pierce had as guests Tuesday night Mrs. Mamie Askew and Mrs. Irene Splawn of Muleshoe and Mrs. Viva Lewis and Mrs. Dolores Stephens of Medford, Oregon; also local residents, Mr. and Mrs. William Mullin, Leo Bert Mullin, Ottis Mullin, Willie Grace Majors, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Eudy and Mrs. Margureat Lane.

Mrs. James Brunson spent from Friday, September 23, until Thursday, September 29, visiting her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Harrison, in Muleshoe.

CHILDREN SHOULD BE PREPARED TO FUNCTION ON THEIR OWN

"After school self-care beginning at age nine or ten is not necessarily a bad thing, if children are adequately prepared and ready to function on their own," says Diane Welch, a family life education specialist with Texas A&M University's Agricultural Extension Service.

Many working parents feel guilty about having a "latch-key" child, yet fail to realize that all children need to learn coping skills at some point.

Even the children of full-time homemakers must sometimes stay by themselves while their mothers keep appointments, do errands, or attend adults-only activities, she notes. Both employed parents and full-time homemakers should teach coping skills to their children before allowing them to stay by themselves, says the specialist.

These skills include how to use emergency phone numbers, perform first aid for minor home accidents, escape the house or apartment in case of fire, and handle incoming phone calls or strangers coming to the door.

The United States contributes about two and a quarter times as much to the United Nations' budget as does the U.S.S.R.

Desiccating Cotton May Pay Producers

The drought has contributed to much premature opening of cotton bolls, according to County Extension Agent Buddy C. Logsdon. This means that much cotton will be ready for harvest long before the normal freeze date. Producers may wish to preserve both cotton quality and yield by desiccating the crop to allow early stripper harvesting.

"Once unharvested cotton is mature, each time it rains, both yield and grade is reduced," continues Logsdon. In a drought year such as 1983, many of the varieties lose much of their stormproof characteristics. On some fields, bolls are already beginning to exhibit a loss of stormproofness.

Extension and research studies at Lubbock, conducted in recent years, indicate that once cotton is open, with exposure to the weather a 9% loss in lint weight is experienced after four weeks, and a one grade quality reduction occurs after five weeks, even without severe adverse weather conditions.

The decision of whether or not to desiccate must be based on economics. Will it pay? To answer this, costs of desiccation must be weighed against probable yield and grade differences. The most commonly used desiccants in the Rolling Plains are Arsenic Acid, Paraquat and Gramoxone R. At the recommended rates of application of each of these, total cost of application should be from $7.50-$9.00 per acre. At present cotton prices, a savings of 12-15 pounds of lint per acre would be required to pay for the operation.

Desiccants such as Arsenic Acid, Paraquat and Gramoxone kill tissue and stop all growth and development of the plant. This means that desiccation should be delayed until bolls are mature. Arsenic Acid may be applied when 75-80% of the bolls are open. Paraquat and Gramoxone are labeled for use after 85% of the bolls are open. Desiccated plants can usually be stripped and moduled or ginned within seven to ten days following application.

Be sure to follow all label instructions and precautions. These materials can be hazardous if not used properly. "For further information, feel free to contact your County Extension Agent," concluded County Agent Logsdon. "My office is located on the ground floor of the Hall County Courthouse."

Anyone looking for new ways to serve chicken will find more than a hundred different recipes in the latest edition of "The Chicken Cookbook," which made its debut at the 35th National Chicken Cooking Contest on August 3 in Birmingham, Alabama.

Featured in the handy paperback, published by the National Broiler Council, are recipes prepared by all of the 51 contestants —one from each state and the District of Columbia. Among them is the dish that won the $10,000 top prize as this year's best chicken recipe and the $10,000 chicken recipes from past contests.

"The Chicken Cookbook" may be ordered for $1.50 (including postage) by sending a check or money order (no cash) to: Chicken Cookbook, Department NBC, Box 307, Coventry, Connecticut 06238.

A color photograph of Homestead Chicken and Dressing is on the cover. This recipe is included in a special section called "Dark Meat Chicken," which has recipes using thighs and drumsticks.

Another section in the 127-page book is devoted to "Chicken Southern Style," with recipes from local cooks in the state where the Cook-Off was held. Other sections contain recipes for gourmet and low calorie chicken dishes.

Illustrated with color photographs and attractive drawings, the book includes other information for easy reference, such as basic techniques for cooking chicken and diagrams for cutting up and boning chicken. This is also an entry form for the 36th National Chicken Cooking Contest to be held in Spring 1985 in Asheville, North Carolina.

INVENTORY VITAL WHEN SETTling WITH YOUR INSURANCE COMPANY

"A household inventory is important to estimate your need for insurance, and to settle insurance claims quickly and efficiently," says Nancy Granovsky, a specialist in family resource management with Texas A&M's Agricultural Extension Service.

"Your memory may fail you, especially under the stress of a natural disaster or a burglary, but an inventory will have information needed for a claim," she says. An inventory should note when you bought an item or what the purchase price was, says Ms. Granovsky, you can't estimate the replacement cost.

This information can help you specify exactly what was lost and its worth, she explains. It's critical to store your household inventory in a safe deposit box or some other secure place away from your home, notes the specialist.

HORTICULTURAL MEETING SET IN OCTOBER

Some 1,250 members of the American Society for Horticultural Science will gather at McAllen for their 80th annual meeting October 16-21.

The meeting will feature more than 250 oral presentations along with four tours of Rio Grande Valley horticultural production areas and a post-conference three-day tour of Mexico fruit-growing operations.

Nine newly elected Fellows of the society will be honored at a banquet October 20.

FOOD PRICES TO CLIMB

As far as the outlook for food prices is concerned, it's the lull before the storm, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Food prices will be going up before long due to the effects of this summer's drought over much of the nation. The drought has severely reduced corn and soybeans used for feed, causing their prices to jump.

This means higher feed costs which, in turn, push up the cost of producing cattle, hogs, poultry and eggs.

In The Fields, It's Propane To The Rescue

Today, more than half of America's farms rely on propane—that economical and versatile fuel source—to meet many of their energy needs. From providing fuel for grain driers to powering a tractor, propane, also known as LP-gas, is saving farmers time and money.

Clean burning propane gas leaves no deposits to clog engines, cut performance or cause costly downtime.

Grain driers fueled by propane free the farmer from many weather woes. Now they can harvest their crops at maturity, without waiting for them to field dry or risk loss because of bad weather. Once harvested, the grain's moisture content can be reduced to a safe level for long-term storage without fear of spoilage.

Propane fueled irrigation engines, say experts at the National LP-Gas Association, let farmers put the water where it's needed, when it's needed at low, low cost. What's more, farmers can save up to 50 percent on engine overhauls and repairs by using clean-burning propane. It leaves no deposits to clog engines, cut performance or cause costly downtime. That can mean tractors, conveyors, pickups and other farm equipment may have up to three times longer engine life.

FACTS & FIGURES

One simple statistic underscores how much America relies on asphalt. According to the National Asphalt Pavement Association, 96 percent of all roads and highways in the country are paved with asphalt. The transportation industry uses those roadways to deliver the majority of American goods to our shops and stores.

Hot Mix Asphalt has become an important ingredient in many other areas of transportation. As an airport runway, a loading dock, or a railroad track bed, asphalt has earned a reputation as the least expensive and most durable alternative.

Asphalt, it seems, is the foundation of our transportation system. More than ever, America is on the go—on asphalt. It's good for our transportation system...and it's good for America.

CARDS OF THANKS

To me, "what I have and what I do should be the best I can," and I think we have the best little town and people who live. They are a special people.

I want to say a "thank you" for each one that had a part in taking me to the hospital and for always being there when needed.

Thanks to my son and my daughter who put aside their work and came and helped out while I was sick.

Thanks to the ones (I won't name names because I might skip someone) who sat with Leon and Son while I was in surgery. Thanks to Elene who stayed with me two nights after surgery.

Thanks for all the cards (one day I got nine), flowers, phone calls and other gifts and for each visit. They meant a lot to me. Thanks to the Lord for good doctors and nurses who took care of me and for all the food, visits, phone calls since I have been home. It is good to be home without pain.

I thank God for our churches and pastors who are so good to all of us. Thanks for the super ambulance service. Thanks for being my friend. May God bless each and every one of you is my prayer.

Lockwood McCracken

We would like to take this means of thanking our many friends for all the kindnesses shown to us during the illness and death of our loved one. Your calls, cards, visits, flowers, food, prayers and all words of comfort were appreciated so much. May God bless each of you, is our prayer.

Kellison is touched by actuarial science. There are about 10,000 actuaries in the United States today—people who use mathematics to make financial predictions for insurance companies, the government and industry. Here are some more facts you may not know about actuaries:

- Actuaries rely heavily on past experience in evaluating the current and future financial implications of events. They use calculus, probability, statistics, accounting and finance to design financially sound insurance and benefit programs.

- Actuaries may devise health insurance programs that help control health care costs or study the effects of a person's build, weight and blood pressure on the probable length of his life.
- Actuaries work in both the public and private sectors, with over 80 percent represented by the American Academy of Actuaries.

The profession is changing, says Academy Executive Director Stephen G. Kellison: "No longer simply the in-house math expert, today's actuary is influencing major corporate and government decisions."
