Relief Probe Veers to Charge of WTCC Member Drive

WILL INVITE MANAGERS OF THREE GROUPS

AUSTIN, Sept. 26.—The senate's relief investigation swung into a new tack today in an effort to compare administration of relief funds under present and past governors.

Senator Martin, of Hillsboro, by cross-examination and introduction of letters in evidence sought to show two things:

- 1.—That former Gov. Ross Sterling had not fully complied with the senate's request for a detailed report on expenditure of relief funds under his administration.
- 2.—That the West Texas chamber of commerce combined a membership drive with their distribution of relief funds.

Sterling and the managers of the three regional chambers of commerce will be invited to appear before the senate committee and testify on these matters.

An affidavit by J. T. Webster, manager of the chamber of commerce at Cleburne, declared he had been told by WTCC Manager D. A. Bandeen that the amount of relief funds received by Johnson county in the future depended upon "what he did for the WTCC."

Other evidence was introduced in an effort to show the West Texas chamber asked membership contributions in return for relief fund allotments.

SMALL BILL SETS UP NEW AGENCY

AUSTIN, Sept. 26 — Sen. Clint Small, Amarillo, today introduced a bill limiting issuance of $20,000,000 in bread bonds authorized by Texas voters to $7,500,000.

His bill would allow issuance of $5,000,000 immediately, $2,500,000 after January 1, 1934.

The funds would be expended by a Texas employment commission created by the bill to be composed of the chairman of the state highway commission, state board of control, state board of water engineers, the industrial accident board and the state health officer.

Fatal Road Crash Is Investigated

TERRELL, Sept. 26 — Official inquiry was under way here today into a highway smashup near Cobb, 11 miles east of here, in which Whit Fried, Burkburnett truck driver, was killed.

Fried received his fatal injuries in a car driven by his employer, B. Otis, also of Burkburnett, collided late yesterday with a machine driven by Dick Slaughter, Willis Point.

Otis and Slaughter were slightly injured.

HIGHWAY WILL PASS THROUGH KENEDY COUNTY

CORPUS CHRISTI, Sept. 26 — The "walled kingdom of Kenedy" at last will be penetrated by a state highway, thanks to the hurricane which recently devastated the lower Rio Grande valley.

The "walled kingdom of Kenedy" is Kenedy county, in the valley, which in its entirety is owned by five families of wealthy cattle barons. John Kenedy is the largest landowner. The county has but one road, a dirt road leading to Kenedy's paternal ranchera.

Desiring to build a highway from Corpus Christi to Brownsville, the state was faced with the choice of two possible routes. The shortest was directly through Kenedy county. The other, 50 miles longer, would have to be built along the length of Padre Island.

Padre Island is a narrow, rattlesnake-infested strip of land stretching for 120 miles from Corpus Christi to Brownsville, the state was faced with the choice of two possible routes. The shortest was directly through Kenedy county. The other, 50 miles longer, would have to be built along the length of Padre Island.

The Kenedys and others of the county's cattle barons, including Rep. Richard J. Kleberg, declined to permit the state to build a road through the county. The state was unwilling to build one on the island, because of storm danger.

Meantime, motorists seeking to traverse the distance were forced to detour 50 miles around Kenedy county. The county is surrounded entirely by a barbed-wire fence, with occasional locked gates.

The 43rd legislature at its special session, however, decided that through Kenedy county would be the best route for the proposed Corpus Christi-Brownsville highway.

CAMP KEPT BUSY

PENDLETON, Ore., Sept. 26 — Twenty-four miles of mountain road, 151 miles of telephone line, 15 miles of horse trails, three miles of drift fence, two dwellings and considerable miscellaneous work are among the accomplishments of the C. C. C. camp at Frog Heaven, in the Umatilla National Forest, so far this year.

C. of C. Directors To Meet Tonight

The board of directors of the Cisco chamber of commerce will meet in regular session tonight at 8 o'clock at the chamber of commerce offices.

STORM WRECKS TAMPICO, DEAD LITTER STREETS

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 26 — Tampico, Mexico's principal northern port was shattered today with the bodies of scores of its citizens piled in the streets, after a hurricane that ravaged an area extending 70 miles inland.

No authentic estimates of casualties or damage were available. Reports from Tampico said that the known death list was reaching into the hundreds with rescue parties still digging in the ruins of buildings, searching for dead and injured.

Railway officials further inland reported that the casualty list probably would total 5,000 killed and injured.

From the German steamship Kiel in Tampico harbor came this radio message: "It is impossible to imagine the extent of the tragedy. Parts of the city not destroyed by the wind are 10 to 15 feet under water."

WOMAN UPON RELIEF STAFF IS AUTHORITY

By RAYMOND BROOKS
Capitol Correspondent.

AUSTIN, Sept. 26. — Miss Marie Dresden, second highest-paid member of the state relief staff, is a nationally-recognized authority on sociology and one of the most highly-trained social welfare workers in the country, records of the commission show.

Col. Lawrence Westbrook, relief director, testified before the senate Miss Dresden is paid $300 per month as a special service worker in the relief commission. His own $6,000 annually is the only one that exceeds hers.

Miss Dresden received her degree as bachelor of philosophy from the University of Wisconsin in 1922.

She worked for one year in social service in Chicago. Then for four years she was district secretary of the Milwaukee, Wis., Family Welfare association. For four years she was director of social service for the juvenile department of the Wisconsin state board of control.

She then served for two years as director of social service for the Wisconsin unemployment relief administration. She has been instructor in case work at institutes in Iowa and summer sessions of the University of Chicago, and lecturer at national conferences of social workers.

Miss Dresden is a member of the American association of Welfare Workers, and a member of Alpha Kappa Delta, national honorary sociological society.

Col. Westbrook told the senate the Texas relief commission had been fortunate in getting the benefit of her specialized training in the welfare phase of its work.

Sentence Passed On David Lamson

BROTHER WILL SUCCEED LATE COLLEGE HEAD

Acceptance this morning by Dr. David F. Tyndall, Savannah, Ga., of the presidency of Randolph college removed all doubt that the institution would proceed upon the ambitious program mapped out for it by the late brother of the new president, Dr. John W. Tyndall, whose tragic death in a highway accident near Altus, Oklahoma, September 4, was one of the severest blows the institution has sustained.

Dr. David Tyndall, who will also serve temporarily as pastor of the First Christian church here, was elected by the board of trustees of the college yesterday. He made known his acceptance of the place in a public statement at chapel exercises this morning, after which he met students, faculty members and friends of the school at an informal reception.

"Every person who went by me pledged 100 per cent loyalty and cooperation," he said.

Pastor 8 Years.

The new president, who will move his family to Cisco and assume his duties with the school after about a month, leaves the pastorate of one of the larger churches of the denomination to take the place of his late brother. He has been pastor of the Savannah, Ga., Second Christian church for eight successive years.

Somewhat younger than his late brother, Dr. David Tyndall is himself a noted Bible scholar and a teacher of experience. He has the degree of doctor of sacred theology and will have charge of the Bible department of Randolph as Dr. John Tyndall did.

The new president was drawn to Cisco by a desire to carry out the ideals of his brother in regard to the local school, and the program that was mapped out by Dr. John W. Tyndall will be generally followed under the new leadership, it was announced.

Unanimous Approval.

"We feel," said college authorities this morning, "that a very auspicious choice has been made in the selection of a president who will not only reflect credit upon the institution, but who has ties that will enable him to carry on the interrupted program in the same ideals and spirit of his brother. There never was a more generally approved choice of a leader than the selection of Dr. David Tyndall."

Mrs. John W. Tyndall, widow of the late president of the school, remains in Cisco where she is giving full cooperation to the college program, and assisting in working out the plans that her husband had in mind, college authorities said.

The board met yesterday morning at 8 o'clock and yesterday afternoon at 2.

Hunter Russell, 35, held in the county jail here on a robbery charge, today was charged with burglary in connection with the Gordon robberies.

COAST HOTEL CLOSED

SEATTLE, Sept. 26.—Memories of the days when Dr. Frederick Cook, William Jennings Bryan, James J. Hill, Admiral Togo and other world figures visited Seattle were recalled here with the closing of the Butler hotel. The Butler closed after years of fame. The city moved away from the waterfront and business was not sufficient to keep the property open.

DESPERADO AND HIS WIFE ARE APPREHENDED IN APARTMENT HOUSE EARLY THIS MORNING

MEMPHIS, Sept. 26.—George (Machine Gun) Kelly, boasting southwest outlaw captured here today, threatened to break from the Memphis jail.

"Tell the world I'll be out of here," he said. "They have got me, but keeping me is another matter," Kelly told newspapermen.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 26.—George (Machine Gun) Kelly and his wife, Katherine, widely sought members of the Harvey Bailey-Kelly gang of southwestern desperadoes, were captured here today.

Two others apprehended with Kelly and his wife in an early morning raid were identified by Chief of Police Lee as J. R. Tichnor, owner of the apartment house in which the fugitives were staying, and F. E. Travis, brother-in-law of Tichnor.

All doubt of their identity was swept aside by the announcement of W. A. Rorer, U. S. government agent, who declared: "They admit their identity."

Kelly not only is wanted in connection with the Charles Urschel kidnaping case but also in connection with the spectacular robbery at Chicago last week.

The four were captured in a rooming-house in the suburbs of Memphis. A cordon of police surrounded the dwelling at 6 a. m. and a detail of heavily armed detectives and patrolmen made their way to the entrance.

"Drop It, Kelly!"

A patrolman faced Kelly's door with a poised sawed-off shotgun and rapped. The door swung open and Kelly stood there with a 45 automatic in his hand.

"Drop it, Kelly," the patrolman snapped, "or you'll die right here."

The weapon dropped to the floor and Kelly's hands went up quickly. Mrs. Kelly announced after her arrest that she was "through" with Kelly.

She was going back to Oklahoma City and gave herself up," Mrs. Kelly said, "but he told me he would kill me if I did. I don't care about myself. I'm thinking about my parents who are on trial in the Urschel kidnaping case."

More than a dozen machine guns and riot guns were found in the apartment.

Benefit Dance for Storm Sufferers

RISING STAR, Sept. 26. — The Bishop post of the American Legion of this city will sponsor a benefit dance in the Bucy building in Rising Star Friday night, Sept. 29, beginning at 8 o'clock and lasting until midnight. The purpose of the dance is to raise funds for the valley storm sufferers. Texas is behind on its quota of funds promised for relief work in the valley, and the American Legion is active throughout the state in sponsoring this movement.

The Bucy building here is the same building in which the dances were held during the Rising Star free fall two weeks ago. A good orchestra will furnish music.

Barrow Identified As Store Robber

FORT WORTH, Sept. 26 — Three witnesses of a grocery store robbery here September 15 today identified a picture of Clyde Barrow, widely sought southwestern fugitive, as the robber who escaped with $100 in the holdup.

Justice agents picked up his trail at San Antonio, prior to September 15, Blake said. News of the find leaked out and Kelly fled.

The agents traced him to Fort Worth. Then the trail led to Cleburne and then to Dallas. Agents have been watching the house in Memphis four or five days, Blake said.

Runyan was finding the fishing in Lewis River poor when suddenly a 14-pound silver salmon jumped ashore at his feet. He retrieved it.

Justice agents picked up his trail at San Antonio, prior to September 15, Blake said. News of the find leaked out and Kelly fled.

MRS. SHANNON PLEADS FEAR

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 26. — Mrs. Ora Shannon, accused of harboring criminals and taking part in the $200,000 Urschel kidnaping, appeared as a witness for herself in the sensational trial today.

Charles F. Urschel, the multi-millionaire oil man who was abandoned, sat on the front row of the spectators' section. There was a broad smile of relief on his face after the capture of George Kelly at Memphis. Kelly had threatened to kill him.

Mrs. Shannon began a story to the jury that she, like her husband, was afraid she would be killed if she did not permit Urschel to remain a kidnaped captive on their farm near Paradise, Texas. Harvey Bailey was waiting to testify after the Shannons, claiming he and they were victims of a "dirty trick" played by Kelly and Albert Bates.

HAZING ULTIMATUM.

Hazing, to judge from the announced policy of President Pat Neff, will be a decidedly unpopular student avocation at Baylor university this year. The former Texas governor head of the great Baptist institution has issued warning that any student found guilty of hazing another student would be suspended without privilege of return, and, what is more, that the president would himself appear in court against the student as special prosecutor representing the university.

But, the wrong element has crept into the ancient good and corrupted it, made it a crime. The smart of correction has become a torture made ingenious by invention as cunning as that which fathered the dread Spanish inquisition of the dark ages.

TAKING OVER "NO-MAN'S-LAND."

Early morning reports of the capture of George (Machine Gun) Kelly and his wife, the almost equally notorious Catherine, purchaser of machine guns for the gang, at Memphis, Tenn., reflects the efficiency and the dogged persistence of the federal government's drive to stamp out racketeers.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

lesser element feeds. Racketeering and its resultant crimes have developed to a point that demands drastic action. A similar situation preceded the organization of now famous Scotland Yard in England. America has been goaded enough by the breed of Capone, Bailey, Kelly, et al. There has been too much of excellent "no man's land" for crooks between the authorities of the states. In that area of neglected regulation the federal government can and is interposing itself very effectively.

NEW HIGHWAY POLICY.

First Texas highways were built by counties progressive enough to furnish the money, aided by federal funds. Then, in counties that matched state aid. Until about two years ago, no county could get a highway without putting up money to match state and federal funds on a 50 per cent or one-third basis. Now, the requirement of county participation has been dropped. Now the highway department is free to build roads of the type demanded by the traffic, rather than be subject to the limitations and the conditions of county participation.

Width and standards of highways now can be adjusted fully to the traffic requirements, and within recent times the first exact traffic counts have been made. This will be important as some of the main paved thoroughfares, built of narrow, semi-permanent type, full of crooks and turns and hazardous narrow bridges, are being reconstructed to modern standards. These roads can now have just treatment, as compared with the many miles of fine highway through unpopulated stretches and on little-traveled routes.

Through the Editor's Spectacles

Bill McMahon, who in one newspaper account of the Cisco-Gorman football game here last week, was given all the blame for the touchdowns that the Lobos should and didn't make, has an entire week to meditate over the rewards of fame. As a matter of fact, Bill played as good as any player on the field, fumbling a time or two, of course, but otherwise holding up his end of the log in excellent fashion. The team is green and bad snags shouldn't be blamed on the ball carrier.

The trouble is that Bill has made a reputation too early. Having inscribed name across the golfing sky of this part of the world, the mere mention of his notoriety in that sport makes him a marked goal for whatever ails the football team on which he plays. I offer Bill my congratulations. It is a sign of something when the critics start cussing you. There is a lot in store that you're not entitled to, but being a convenient object of criticism is one way to keep the folks knowing you are around.

Skippers, in the definition of Wm. (Bill) Reagan, is a thing that feeds on green cheese. He failed to state to what division of the biological world this particular genus, breed or species belongs. The term arises from a wild yarn that Reagan tells of climbing upon the moon as it came over a tall mountain; of digging beneath the crust and finding, as the legend claims, that it is made of green cheese, and then, when he sees the earth fast falling out of reach, of skinning skippers in a desperate hurry, tying the skins together and making a rope that he couldn't make as fast as the earth slipped away; of dropping off the end of the skin rope, splitting a rock with his head, going for a pickax to dig his head out of the rock; of returning to find a wolf nibbling on the head and hurling the pickax with the result that he split the creature in halves and laughed so at the predicament of each half as it wrapped itself around a tree in flight that he woke up.

I'll wager the above sentence cannot be read without pausing for breath. The term skipper always pleasantly affected me with a vision of sails and ships and a swelling sea. But salty and honest a term as it is, its association with a moon and green cheese conjures something with six legs and the horrid aspect of a cockroach crossed with a grasshopper. I shall never forgive Reagan for writing another good English word by destroying its wholesome mental associations.

group has been termed an "administration man," and that was in respect to his sponsoring the Ferguson sales tax bill this year. The members are not of any particular political faction. All are democrats.

The legislature holding the whip-hand of saying whether the state bonds shall be issued, hasn't been so far worried in the lease over a possible executive vote of any bill it might pass to create a new machinery for handling the expenditure of bond money.

Its complacency lies in the fact that the machinery will be set up if it decides to create a new organization, in the same bill issuing the bonds, so that a veto would prevent the disbursement of any of the authorized state relief money — would block further operation of the present agency just as effectively as abolishing it.

Lawmakers have taken note that at least four separate statewide set-ups, or seven, if the federal side is included, have dealt with relief and public works in the past 11-12 months. Many of them feel like the business of organizing relief agencies should give way now to permit more attention to the reaching of the final beneficiaries.

But they are going ahead in all confidence that if they decide to create a sort of ex-officio administrative body, as proposed in pending bills, and to have the money spent in counties through the commissioners courts, they are secure from a veto. If a majority of both houses decided on this form of administration, and found the bill vetoed, they either would push the bill across over the veto, or would withhold the issuance of any of the bonds.

And that, even though drastic, would involve the calling of another special session, and a new series of efforts to get the state's part of the relief program into operation.

Told Her Daughter To Take CARDUI

"I took Cardui for a weak, run-down condition," writes Mrs. John Behrens of New Madrid, Mo. "My back ached, also my sides. I did not feel good, so did not feel like doing my work, and there is a lot to do on a farm. I read about Cardui and decided to take it. Cardui helped me. It is the best tonic I have found. I told my daughter to take it, too, and it helps her, too. Used by women for over 50 years."

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, Sept. 26 — Texas, with 59 flood control civilian corps applications pending, bobbled its chance to get any of them considered by the national government, and now will start over in trying to get them reviewed and approved.

A letter from Washington, addressed to a state office that didn't exist, gave notice that an army officer would be in Dalhart, several days, up through Sept. 19, to receive applications for reconnaissance of these flood control projects. The letter was transmitted to the proper state authorities Sept. 21. Meantime, the army officer had sat around Dalhart until his deadline; nobody had come to see him because nobody concerned in the matter knew he was there. He did not communicate with the state officials in charge of the projects, nor come to Austin.

A Texas official poet laureate will be selected by a joint legislative committee, no member of which ever wrote a hexameter or even a pentameter. Only two members of the joint committee have any direct relations to letters. This is expected to assure a disinterested, impartial view of the part of the committee. Sen. Arthur Duggan, business man of Littlefield, is chairman of the joint committee. Sen. Margie Neal and Rep. George W. Winningham have experience as newspaper editors.

There is one medicine that does these two things and that is Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic! The tasteless quinine in Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic destroys the malarial infection in the blood while the iron builds up the blood. For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

"BEGIN HERE TODAY" EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bixby's department store, marries DICK RADER, a construction superintendent. Dick is intent to take charge of a construction job in the Adirondacks. It will require at least a year to complete but Eve refuses to do so. ARLENE ALLEN, copy writer, dislikes Eve and is constantly causing trouble. She is responsible for several mistakes for which Dick left in the lurch. ARLENE SMITH, stenographer in the Bixby office, becomes engaged to SAM HOLDRIDGE, advertising man employed by another store. Following a misunderstanding at Christmas, several weeks pass before Eve and Dick are reconciled. Eve works harder at the office trying to forget her troubles. Tired and lonely, she returns to her apartment one night to find her mother there. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLIV EVE awakened next morning to a accustomed sound. Her mother was beating something in a bowl. Sleepily Eve roused herself. "Sleepily she began to play the guessing game that she and Esther had played when they heard that familiar sound on mornings long ago. The force was to guess what particular treat was in store for them and the winner always received the first serving of waffles or muffins or whatever it was their mother had prepared. "Waffles," Eve guessed, because her mother knew how much she liked them. Then, as a faint fragrance of bacon and coffee came to her, she jumped out of bed, awakened herself thoroughly with a hasty shower and dressed quickly for the office. Her mother, she remembered, thought it slovenly to appear at the breakfast table in pajamas or negligee. Eve left a little later with the understanding that her mother was to meet her at noon at a fashionable tea room. After a leisurely luncheon they went to the art museum. When Kate Bayless protested at Eve's devoting so much time to her entertainment her daughter explained, "I had to go to the museum some time this week to take notes for my column so I asked Mr. Barnes if I could do it today. Usually I go in the evening, though there's no real reason why I should. It's office work and I'm within my rights to do it in office hours. "Why of course, if that's it," her mother agreed. "Now you just attend to your notes and I'll take care of myself. I've always wanted to take my time at a place like this instead of hurrying through and not getting more than a glimpse of anything. When I've seen enough for one time I'll do a little shopping. There are some things Esther wanted me to get for the baby." Eve took her mother to dinner

HAWAIIAN ISLANDS OWE THEIR EXISTENCE TO OLD DEPRESSION

Editor's Note: This is the fifth and last article of a series on Hawaii—"The Land of No Depression."

By DAN CAMPBELL United Press Staff Correspondent HONOLULU, Sept. 26.

Hawaii owes her very existence today to a "depression," or more properly a number of them, the most famous of which is that great lady-like volcano Kilauea, known to the Hawaiians as Madame Pele and introduced to the nation in the "Bird of Paradise."

The last to remain active is Kilauea. To those fiery outbursts Hawaii owes her productive soil. In no small measure are they responsible for her rugged beauty and Madame Pele is a charmer who has brought much tourist business to these islands.

Third Largest "Industry"

The tourist business, Hawaii's third largest "industry," has made a surprising stand against the depression. More than 10,000 tourists paid revenue to steamship companies in 1932 to live at island hotels, tour the islands by land and air, purchase souvenirs and in many other ways pour gold into the territory.

Some observers believe that the depression itself was responsible for Hawaii's sustained tourist business. A world weary of night clubs, jazz bands, silk hose and rich food possibly turned to this primitive playground.

Climb Through Clouds You can climb through the clouds to peaks that are snow-capped; ride "Kona Nightingales" (mules) over ancient trails to old Hawaiian temples, but you won't find a floor show in Hawaii.

You can laze on the beach at Waikiki, ride a surf board, or paddle an outrigger canoe, but you never will see a bathing beauty contest, and there are no boardwalks for fashion parades.

You can visit a quaint Japanese tea house and hear Geisha girls play the samisen, or party at a Luau (feast), where roast pork cooked in underground ovens, raw squid, baked bananas, seaweed and other delicacies are served, or dance under the moon at the Royal Hawaiian hotel.

Lunar Rainbows

You can see lunar rainbows and night blooming cereus, waterfalls that fall upward, ludicrous Mynah birds that battle in war-like formations, giant Algaroba trees under which Mark Twain was received by royalty, see breathless vistas from the great Pali, or cliffs, hear sands bark or land shells sing, but there are no gambling casinos, horse racing or dog racing.

Until recently islanders have been satisfied to have these simple pleasures as the lure for a class of tourist, satisfied to rest. Hawaii's death rate per thousand was 9.59 per cent in 1933, a steadily declining figure which lured to the islands a privileged class of tourists who came for health and rest.

Recently, however, a movement has been under way to liberalize the laws to bring Hawaii into competition with Agua Caliente, Florida and the south of France. Bills designed to permit pari-mutuel betting on horse and dog races and possibly gambling casinos at Waikiki will be introduced at the next session of the legislature.

Three New Liners

Meanwhile Hawaii feels herself secure in her present attractions. In several years past when retrenchment was the order elsewhere the Matson Navigation company built three new palatial liners, Mariposa, Monterey and Lurline, to ply between California and the South Seas.

These for the tourist who is content to stroll through the harbor districts on days when ships arrive and depart, and watch fat lei women string their flowers with merry ripples of their triple chine; to hear the native band play island music that leaves departing visitors conquered and in tears; to watch brown diving boys plunge to the harbor floor for pennies and to sense no feeling of depression here.

Stroll along Waikiki's softly murmuring beach under a starlit tropic sky or sit on your own screened lanai and for less than the price of a motion picture show listen to the magic music of strolling minstrels hour on end.

And if you haven't before you will probably paraphrase like this: An ukelele strummed beneath a hough.

A bowl of poi, some real okolehao, A hula dancer out at Waikiki And moonlight, that were Paradise enow.

GREAT ADVANCE IN DEPT. STORE SALES SHOWN

AUSTIN, Sept. 26 — Department and clothing store sales during August showed by far the greatest percentage improvement of any August since the records of the University of Texas bureau of business research began in 1927, according to the bureau's report on these sales.

"Whereas since 1929 each succeeding August showed an average decline from that of the year before of about 19 per cent, sales in August this year were almost 25 per cent greater than in August, 1932," the report said. "Moreover, the percentage increase in dollar sales in August over July of 26 per cent, was more than double the average increase between these two months in the previous three years.

good showing in retail sales may have been partly the result of the "buy now" propaganda in connection with the launching of the NRA program. Anticipation of higher retail prices may also have influenced the consumer to make his purchases earlier in the season than usual. Even more important, however, was the substantial improvement which has taken place in employment and payrolls throughout the state and the higher prices which are being received for a number of the most important products of the state, especially cotton, oil, wool, and mohair. Added to the foregoing factors was doubtless a considerable deferred demand which awaited only enlarged buying power to assert itself.

Greater Dollar Sales

"Five cities—Abilene, Houston, Fort Arthur, San Angelo, and Wichita Falls—had greater dollar sales during the first eight months of the year than in the corresponding period of 1932. Moreover, total sales for the 90 stores reporting to the bureau in August for the year to date were 5.6 per cent below those for the first eight months in 1932. If the rate of improvement which has prevailed during the past few months continues during the remainder of the year, department store dollar sales in 1933 will surpass those of last year by a considerable margin.

"In general the group containing the department stores with annual sales of more than $500,000 made a better showing than the one with sales below this amount. Women's specialty shops showed up well. "Ratio of collections to outstanding accounts of 27 per cent has considerably better than the 24 per cent in August, 1932, a fact which taken in conjunction with the materially increased sales is another very favorable indication."

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON R. WAITE Shawnee, Oklahoma.

R. B. Kennedy, editor of the Whittier (California) News, says: "If advertising didn't pay there would be no advertising. "If your advertising appropriation isn't bringing in the results that your competitor's appropriation is, there must be a reason. "Newspaper advertising is primarily for the purpose of creating in the minds of those who read the desire to own your merchandise. Only a limited number of things can be sold by merely naming the articles and the price. "Attention to copy for your newspaper space pays real dividends upon which you do not need to pay the federal excise tax of 5 per centum. "A good selling talk, plus good values, plus service will move goods from the shelves. The space you pay for in the newspapers is of little value unless your copy supplies the selling talk and you are ready to back it up with values and service. "Newspaper advertising does pay and there is advertising because of that fact."

CANDY AIDED DANCER. RED OAK, Ia., Sept. 26.—Many local residents, although unaware of it, have invested in the future of Betty Lee Redmon, 13. When Betty decided to become a dancer and entertainer, she was at the age when most small girls think of nothing but dolls and candy, much less the perplexities of a life vocation. To finance her lessons, she sold ice cream and candy bars throughout the business district. She now is a feature entertainer at hundreds of events each year in southwestern Iowa.

PARKS DISPUTE INVOLVES TREE ARMY IN TEXAS

By VERNON A. MCGEE
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 AUSTIN, Sept. 26.—The "tree army" is forbidden by federal regulations to chop away at forested areas, but it may have to clear some political debris in Texas as its first major task.

The question of who shall direct the work of the civilian conservation corps in state parks apparently has set the relief commission at odds with the state parks board.

The attorney general's department ruled the relief commission cannot legally assume the duties of the parks board in the improvement of state parks under the federal reforestation bill.

Despite the ruling, the relief commission assumed the job of directing the "tree army" in park improvement work. Relief Director Lawrence Westbrook declared the commission will continue to do so for the present.

The legal opinion had been asked by D. E. Colp, chairman of the state parks board. He attached to his request of correspondence with federal authorities. One exhibit showed as early as May 6 he had advised that "state park authorities will be in actual charge of all work" done on park improvement projects.

Three Phases.

Emergency conservation work in Texas is divided into three phases: forestry work, soil work, and park work.

Direction of the "tree army's" forestry work was assigned Forester E. O. Sieche. Dr. O. B. Martin, of the Texas A. and M. extension service, has directed the soil erosion work.

In the case of park work, however, Col. Westbrook declared the state parks board had no set-up for directing conservation projects. The relief commission assumed the job "in order that the state might receive the benefit of the public work involved in the establishment of 15 camps in different sections of the state."

Col. Westbrook declared until the parks board has sufficient funds appropriated to give it a competent administrative set up, the relief commission will continue to direct such conservation work.

Despite the squabble, unemployed men who enlist in President Roosevelt's conservation corps may rest secure in the knowledge they have one general whose leadership is unquestioned.

The U. S. army established the conservation camps, and operates them so far as housing, subsistence, sanitation, recreation, discipline and general supervision are concerned.

Only during working hours is the "tree army" under the direction of a state agency, whether it be the relief commission or the parks board.

Monument Honors Texans Who Lost Lives In Two Tragic Events of State's History

By STUART E. JONES
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 LA GRANGE, Sept. 26 — A tall granite column stands in this town to honor the memory of the 53 Texans, who lost their lives in two of the most tragic events in Lone Star state history.

Recently unveiled, the monument commemorates the men who fell in the ill-fated Mier expedition of 1842, and recalls the story of the 17 black beans that spelled death for as many men at Hacienda Salado.

Fund Raising Took 100 Years

It was erected after nearly 100 years of fund-raising.

It was in 1848 that the bones of the 17 martyrs of Mier together with those of 36 other Texans massacred in the battle of Salado Creek, were returned to Fayette county soil and buried near here.

Citizens of La Grange at once began efforts to raise money for a suitable marker, according to Houston Wade, postal clerk, whose history of the expedition was published with the monument's unveiling.

In the summer of 1842 the Republic of Texas still was at war with Mexico, though the decisive battle of San Jacinto had been fought and won by Gen. Sam Houston's army six years before.

On Sept. 11 a force of 1,200 Mexicans under Gen. Adrian Woll invaded the village of San Antonio, taking captive the district judge, the grand jury and the attorneys attending the court then in session.

Ordered to Attack

The Texas militia west of the Brazos river was ordered to attack the Mexicans. Capt. Matthew Caldwell of Gonzales led a company of 80 men against Woll and defeated the Mexicans at Salado creek.

Through a misunderstanding of positions, however, Capt. Nicholas Dawson, La Grange, leading a company of 53 men to join Caldwell, found himself surrounded and cut off by the retreating Mexicans.

The Mexicans slaughtered the Texans with grape-shot. Thirty-two were killed and a number of others captured.

Brig-Gen. Somervell led a force of Texans in pursuit of the enemy, who retreated across the Rio Grande. A force under Capt. William S. Fisher doubled and pursued the enemy across the river.

On Christmas night, 1842, the Texans attacked the Mexican village of Mier. Fisher was wounded and the Texans surrendered.

They were marched toward Mexico City, but at Hacienda Salado, 100 miles from Saltillo, they escaped. After wandering for days in the mountains they were recaptured by a Mexican cavalry squad.

One in Ten Executed

Gen. Santa Anna ordered one in each ten of the prisoners to be shot. On March 25 they were made to draw beans from a pitcher held by an officer. It contained 17 black beans and 159 white ones.

That night the unlucky 17 were shot as they sat on a log.

The rest of the band, with the exception of Capt. Ewing Cameron, who was shot at a later date, were taken to Mexico City and kept at hard labor for years. Eventually all were given their liberty.

Later, during the war with Mexico, Texas members of Gen. Zach Taylor's army got an order on the surrender the remains of the 17 Texans who were shot there.

They were brought to La Grange, center of the district from which most of the Texans had come. A few years later the remains of the 36 killed at Salado Creek also were returned here.

GOLD AGAIN IS ISSUE VITAL TO ENTIRE WORLD

By ELMER C. WALZER
 United Press Financial Editor
 NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Gold, that precious metal which has been hoarded and fought for since written records are available, is again a paramount subject of world importance.

It has taken an additional significance in the United States since President Roosevelt issued an executive order permitting gold miners to sell gold at prices prevailing in world markets. Previously they were forced to sell gold to the treasury department at the price fixed by the law of Jan. 18, 1837—$20.67 per fine ounce. Now they can realize a premium over that figure of more than 40 per cent.

Significance of the Roosevelt order has world-wide scope. First of all, it is official recognition of a depreciated dollar. As gold rises the dollar drops in proportion. Second, it aids the gold miners; third, it is a handicap to the makers of jewelry and other users of gold, who now must pay a higher price—something

World Supply

There is $11,000,000,000 in gold in the world. It would weigh in one lump about 12,000 tons and could be carried on one ship.

A cube of gold 17 inches on each side weighs a ton.

A soup can about 3 1-2 inches in diameter by 4 1-2 inches high would contain about $10,000 in gold.

over $30 per fine ounce, against $20.67 previously; fourth, it will tend to increase gold production, and thus probably hasten return to gold standards by the world's principal nations.

Watch Quotations

Americans eagerly watch the day-to-day quotations on gold set by the treasury department, for they reflect the world's rating of all depreciated currencies, of most interest, our dollar. The treasury gold price is fixed about 10 cents under the equivalent of the London price. When gold rises, the dollar declines. When gold is at $20.67 per fine ounce, the gold dollar contains theoretically 23.22 grains of fine gold. If the gold price should double, the dollar would be worth only 50 gold cents and contain 11.61 grains of fine gold. Recently the dollar has been at a discount of more than 30 per cent, or at a value under 70 cents in terms of gold.

As gold rises and the dollar declines, the tendency of commodity prices is upward. Stocks follow, and so do bonds, to certain limits. A depreciated dollar is a result of inflation. The United States has inflated only moderately, but its leaving the gold standard had the same effect and the dollar depreciated sharply in terms of gold and foreign currencies.

Parallels

The course of gold and the markets is closely paralleled in inflation. As a matter of fact, commodity prices as measured by the United Press daily commodity price index compiled by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., showed but little change at the beginning of September as compared with the beginning of 1933 when calculated in gold.

Stocks and commodities rose after the banking holiday ended because they made up for dollar depreciation. The table below indicates that, when the commodity and stock averages reached their highs on July 18, gold also reached its high. Then gold declined as the dollar recovered and prices of stocks and commodities declined correspondingly.

NEGLECT OF COMMON CONSTIPATION IS A SERIOUS MATTER

Prevent This Condition With Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

The first question your doctor asks is whether you are constipated or not. He knows that this condition may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness. It is often the starting point of serious disease.

You can prevent and relieve common constipation so easily. Just eat a delicious cereal once a day. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regular habits. ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that found in leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

Isn't this "cereal way" safer and far more pleasant than taking patent medicines—so often harmful? Two tablespoonsfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in serious cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

THE SOUTH AMERICAN CICADA

IMITATES A THORN AND ESCAPES DETECTION BY ITS ENEMIES!
