Cisco Junior High Choir To Perform Tuesday At 7

A most spectacular salute to America will be made here in Cisco during the next week. Scheduled at 7:00 p.m. Tuesday, November 11, in the Cisco High School auditorium will be a concert burst of words, music and song featuring the Cisco Junior High choir, directed by Mrs. Sheila Blackburn.

The 21 girls that make up the choir have been assisting as modern day Betsy Rosses in the making of a gigantic replica of "Old Glory" to be displayed at their concert. The girls have been working on the flag approximately six weeks. On Fridays during their activity period at school, they worked in the

Fifth Grade Students To Present Musical

The fifth grade students of Cisco Intermediate School will have a musical, "Tall Tom Jefferson'' Monday, November 10, at 7:00 p.m. at the Intermediate School gym. The musical is about the third president and the writing of the Declaration of Independence.

Every child has a part. Admission is free.

Homemaking lab. Mrs. Nita Kent and Mrs. Jerry Stephenson, homemaking teachers, helped the girls tremendously in the sewing of their Texas size flag, which measures six feet by 12 feet. Some stirring patriotic selections will be performed by the choir, including such songs as "Yankee Doodle Dandy," "God Bless America," and "Anchors Aweigh" which will be performed by seven choir members wearing authentic WWII sailor uniforms. The gaint "Old Glory" will serve as a backdrop for the choir. A mother and son team will serve as accompanists for the choir. Mrs. Carolyn Sipe will play the piano and her son, Greg, a high school student, will accompany on drums. Greg will be featured in a solo performance on his drums during the concert.

Admission to the choir program is free, and the Cisco Junior High choir and their director invite everyone to attend.

One area the Centennial Committee would really like to expand on this year is the parade. Olin Odom III is the parade director along with the Chamber of Commerce. After talking with him, one area we think is important are the floats.

As most of you know, the Centennial float representing Cisco in the West Texas Fair Parade won first place. It was a beautiful float worked on by many people in town especially - Elaine Dixon, chairman, Brad Kimbrough, Steve Cozart, Joe Wheatley and their families. Many other devoted float makers helped also in contributions and time.

Floats are an extra in parades that makes the children's eyes light up and makes the dream of a storybook life come out in adults.

Mr. Brad Kimbrough grew up in Henrietta, Texas, where their floats and parades are like the halftime celebration of the Orange Bowl. They are spectacular! Several of our townspeople attended Henrietta's parade this year. They were very impressed and gained valuable information on floats which they will be willing to share with anyone. Brad has generously agreed to talk with anyone concerning the construction or what goes into a float.

Now don't let me scare you off by thinking it is too hard to have a float. They can be as hard or simple as you make them. The following companies and clubs have volunteered to have a float already! Otis Engineering, Chamber of Commerce, Cisco Lumber, Thornton Feed Mill, Cisco Service Club, Softball Association, Cisco Civic League and J.C. Penney's.

We are urging all the businesses in town to share in the community activities and gain valuable advertising by entering a float. Clubs can have the joy of working together on a project. Trophies will be awarded to the most outstanding floats in different categories. So get your thinking caps on and plan a float representing your group. April 25, 1981, will be here before you know it. When you decide to enter, please let me know or leave a message at the Chamber of Commerce.

Airport Work Inspected By TAC Engineer

Dirt work in a new runway construction program at the Cisco Municipal Airport was given a final inspection Friday by Glen A. Strube, engineer for the Texas Aeronautics Commission.

City Manager R.J. Turpin, who accompanied Mr. Strube on the airport inspection tour, reported that plans call for base work as the next phase. A contract for this was awarded recently to Bontke Bros. of Abilene.

The dirt work was done by the EnRe Corporation and the city with Bob Moore Transport contributing water hauling, Mr. Turpin said. "Mr. Strube has worked closely with us, making a number of trips here as the dirt work progressed," Mr. Turpin said. "His supervision plus the good work of EnRe, Moore and others will result in an airport runway that will be a real credit to our community."

Teacher In-Service Day

November 3,

Monday, November 3, was a holiday for Cisco students, but the teachers and administrators worked diligently in a workshop. The title of the workshop was Developing Scope and Sequence in Mathematics/Developing Essential Learner Objectives." The workshop was conducted by the Region 14

Educational Service Center located in Abilene, Texas. Those Region 14 people who helped and conducted the workshop were Theresa Allen and Sonja Clayton.

The Cisco teachers were divided into three groups. The Mathematics group spent their day developing a first draft of a scope and sequence plan (K-12) which incorporated the following elements: Essential Objectives, Important Objectives and Desirable Objectives.

The Language Arts group worked all day on identifying in writing a minimum of five (5) Essential Learner Objectives per grade level in accordance with the following criteria: Realistic and attainable, Stated as Learner Outcomes, Measurable and Arranged sequentially by grade level/level of difficulty. They also completed an ELO (Essential Learner Objectives) Map for levels K-12.

The third group worked identifying in writing a minimum of five (5) Essential Learner Objectives for each teacher's areas of assignment in accordance with the following criteria: Realistic and attainable, Stated as learner outcomes, Measurable, Arranged sequentially by grade level/level of difficulty and completed an ELO Map for each department by courses, 7-12.

The workshop proved to be interesting and the teachers feel that the in-service was something which was of benefit to each one.

And if you like peace and quite, Moeller said you can reduce the intensity of the noise from the surrounding neighborhood by as much as 25 percent by planting a fourfoot-wide row of trees around your home.

"Of course the region of the country where you live and your specific needs will influence the type of trees you plant in your yard," said Moeller. "Before you buy, check with your local nursery operator or country extension agent to make sure you're purchasing the right tree for your needs."

'Most state forestry departments have urban foresters on their staffs who can provide expert advice on how you can use trees for beautifying your home and community," he said. "For cost-conscious consumers, there's probably no better investment than trees. Not only can trees cut down on energy expenses and provide a healthy environment, they also can provide a lifetime of beauty.

fit the needs of a changing and see" but positive attitude about working with the Reagan Administration, said on general issues such as defense and the economy "we are not that far apart philosophically. Where we may differ is in how to best answer those needs, but the seriousness of the problems through my voting record for facing our country dictates the past two years. The the necessity for putting aside political differences this country returned to a and putting forth a united effort. Any partisan interests must be left behind with yesterday's newspapers." Stenholm applauded the record voter turnout nationwide, saying "no one can cry about voter apathy. The system worked the way the system was designed to work. Now it's time for those of us elected to do our part."

Pipelines... make good neighbors

America has over 220,000 miles of petroleum pipelines carrying crude oil and products to refineries and storage terminals across the United States. Each day, more than 1.5 billion ton miles of crude oil and products move through this network. These pipelines have a safety record second to none in the transportation industry . . . and we want you to help us keep it that way.

liquids on or a mist above the ground in the area of a pipeline.

- Flames originating from an opening in the ground.
- If you become aware of a pipeline leak LEAVE THE LEAK AREA
- IMMEDIATELY
- Avoid driving into vapor clouds.
- Avoid direct contact with the escaping liquids.

When you see signs like those shown above, they tell you that there's a pipeline nearby. If it's underground, you can't see it, of course. But it's there, working quietly to provide energy for you and other consumers throughout this nation.

Some of these signs list the commodity transported in the pipeline, the name of the operator, and a telephone number where the operator's representative can be reached at all times

Although pipelines have an exceptionally good safety record, once in a while a leak can occur. Indications of a leak might include: A strange or unusual odor in the vicinity of a pipeline. A hissing or roaring sound (caused)

- Avoid creating sparks or sources of heat which could cause the liquids or vapor to ignite and burn. If you find yourself in a suspected vapor area, do not light a match, start an engine or even switch on an electric light.
- Notify the pipeline operator as soon as you reach a safe area Call collect. Give your name, a description of the leak and its location. If you do not know who the pipeline operator is, call your local fire, police or sheriff's department, or the state police. Advise them of the nature and location of the emergency

If you see someone digging near a pipeline or doing other construction work . . . or if you plan to do such by petroleum or product escaping work near a pipeline yourself . . please call the telephone number shown on the sign and let the pipeline company know so damage can be avoided. It's in your interest ... and the nation's.

The Bellbird lives deep in the jungle of the tropics. He makes a beautiful bell like sound. The natives and those who hear the lovely bell sound have a compelling urge to go to the source of the melodious bell tones. It is as if it has a magical pull to those who hear its sounds.

Many natives have stopped their work, left the safety of the place where their forefathers spent many years hewing out a safe place in the jungle in which to live. As they seek to find the Bellbird they many times find themselves trapped in the darkness of the jungle swamps and the snake infested jungle. They often lose their way and perish in the jungle. The Bellbird eludes them and flights from one tangled branch to another sounding its appealing deceitful calls.

Because many of the natives have lost their life trying to find the Bellbird others who have become aware of its false enticement have warmed them not to follow the bell like sound for

Eastland County Voted

A whopping 7,038 voters went to the polls Tuesday in Eastland County and joined the state and the nation is choosing Reagan for president, and reversed the state on amendments.

Reagan carried each of the nine voting precincts in the county except Ranger, Desdemona, Gorman, Carbon, and Rising.

Countians voted for Temple, Nugent, Wallace and Ray in the Railroad Commission and State Sujpreme Court races, provind that the . inclination to the stay in the Democratic column exists, but that countians will vote 'out of party' in certain instances, as they did this county roadwork and martial property ownership. Only 96 votes seperated Carter and Reagan countywide. The county voted for Glasgow over Brummet as voters did throughout State Senate District 22 which will send Democrat Glasgow in Austin in January to take the seat vacated by Sen. Tom Creighton.

Unopposed candidates recieved the following totals: Cong. Charles W. Stenholm, 5,139. State Rep. Joe C. Hanna, 4,954, Judge Wright, 5.271, Sheriff John Morren, 5,050, County Tax Assessor- Collector, 5,369 and Constable Bill Hunter. 1,276.

Lines were long at voting sites throughout the county all day and election workers, and employees in the County Clerk's office and Tax Collector's office were busy all day.

Instrumental in recieving and reporting returns into the night were: Clerk, Joann Johnson, and employees, Rita Reijd, Jeannie Storey, Jane O'Pry and Debbie Yancey.

Liquor-And Its Legislation By Viola M. Payne

The Texas State Legislature, to the citizens "back home", is a mysterious place where they send Representatives who often suffer a strange sense of dislocation with their origin and purpose in life. Many of these voters shrug their shoulders helplessly over any attempt to understand the complexity of turning a Bill into Law. Even Governor Clements, it might be noted, failed to get most of his Proposals through the 66th Legislature, in 1979.

He asked for Initiative and Referendum, wire-tapping authority for Police, and a ban on State Income Taxes. He got little more than increased budgeting authority. The Legislature, while by-mendations,

passing most of his recompassed measures concerned with taxation and re-evaluation of property, new interest ceilings, manufacturers liability for defective products, plus Sunset laws, plus school finance, revision of stripmining laws, and laws concerning sales of liquor, which tend to undercut local options.

"Killer Bees" the Legislators, who evidentally are not totally sold on government by any orderly process.

As always, only an inform-

Then of course there were Yet the quality of daily life in Texas will probably be decided in Austin by Legislators we know far less about than Jimmy Carter and Ronald Reagan.

ed, educated and ethical citizenry can demand the same in their Representatives. The outcome of various Bills is too important to be left to "someone else". Each voter should inform his State Congressman and Senator how he feels concerning the multitude of Proposals which appear on the floor of the Legislature. The 67th Texas Legislature will convene in January 1981 to work on many serious problems confronting our State. No doubt one of the first questions will be: "Who should be elected Speaker of the House of Representatives?" For the Lt. Governor in the Senate and the Speaker of the House wield awesome power in the political processes. They have more to do with the outcome of a Bill than any other single member of the Senate or House.

Bill Clayton has been

Speaker of the House during the last two sessions, and there is a strong possibility that he will be elected again this coming January. He has been acquitted in the Brilab case, and announced this week that he would be a candidate for his old post.

It is common knowledge that at least four other Representatives are in the running if Clayton is not reelected. They are: Gibson D. Lewis of Ft. Worth, John Bryant of Dallas, Lynn Nabers of Brownwood, and Tim Von Dohlen of Goliad. There has been a great deal of recent interest in how these men stand on the alcohol issues. In 1975 John Bryant introduced one Bill which did not pass. It was H.B. 846: No private Club could serve an alcoholic beverage of any type unless that type or alcoholic content had been legalized by local option elections. (It exempted fraternal and veterans organizations).

IUMIDER OF STREET

Another Bill exempted liquor and wine wholesalers and local distributors from obtaining a resale certificate covering sales and to a resale licensee.

In 1979 the 66th Legislature - in addition to a multitude of other considerations - had the Liquor Interests to contend with again. House Bill 369 would change the method of collecting the gross receipt tax on alcoholic beverages. It failed to pass, but Bryant, Lewis, and Von Dolen voted "Yes" on it. Nabers had an excused absence. House Bill 1547 passed, with Bryant, Lewis and Von Dohlen voting "Yes" again. Nabers had another excused absence. This Bill permits a licensee who has purchased beer at the site of a festival or civic celebration (which has been held annually for at least fifteen years) to be authorized for 24 hours following the official close of a celebration to sell the remaining beer to remain in their presence. Bryant and Nabors voted "No" on this one.

and the second se

Gib Lewis intoduced another Bill in the House which failed to pass. It would have permitted brewers to sell beer in small 7 or 8 oz. containers. it also would have given beer distributors a monopoly on distributing their products. These Bills make one wonder what will be introduced in the next Legislature. But there can be little doubt as to how these Representatives will vote! And, in the meanwhile, alcoholism is on the increase, and the multitude of social problems caused by alcoholic consumption seem to never end.

It would be nice to conclude that things would be better if Billy Clayton were simply reelected as Speaker of the House. But his favorite after-hours Club is reported to be "The Broken Spoke", "Lobbyists, where legislatures and staff people....are sloshing Lone Stars and sliding over the dance floors ... ' Quoted from (The Texas Monthly, June, 1979.)

Obviously this type of legislative climate will continue, until the people back home get tired of paying for it and the Bills which come

Trying To Capture A Bottled Sunbeam

ANNIE RENDALL Viola M. Payne It is a week day in Cisco, and in the Corral Room of the Laguna Hotel about 150 Senior Citizens attending the Nutrition Program Luncheon are settled back for a tasty meal and visiting with friends. The atmosphere is pleasant and relaxed, like that of any good cafeteria. Director Ruth Cartee is making a wide circle somewhere among volunteers, serving trays, and long tables. The voices begin to fade as a dark haired woman heads for the stage at a lively pace. She positions the mike near the piano, radiating good cheer while fixing things. The audience knows that Program Director Annie Rendall has something good lined up.

Describing Annie Rendall is like trying to capture and bottle up a sunbeam. So you simply bask in her warm smile, notice how her brown eyes light up, and listen to her up-beat contralto voice. First there are the announcements, ranging from happy to sad. (We're all family here," she says, "We care what happens to our people.")

And then this hearty suggestion: "Now listen here, folks, let's make these musicians welcome! You know they love us, or they wouldn't come out and give their time and music here!"

As the program continues, it is evident that Annie is ab-meeting new friends, taking more interest in life, and participating in the community more. And for me this Program has been one of the most rewarding experiences of my life."

The experiences of Annie strong again, his wish was Rendall's life, rewarding granted. And if he could see and otherwise, have encomthe list of his children and passed many things. Now she spends Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at the Laguna Hotel. In between times she does a lot of telephoning from her home, lining up programs at least a month ahead. There are special occasions, birthday parties, and speakers with information. "The reason the programs have been successful," she declares, "Is the great amount of talent around. And the people are so good about giving their time! Musicians come from the College, the Shcools, and the public. "Sure I love music," she says. People and music those are the things I love most. Along with my Church, of course."

People and music make a winning combination in this work. For Annie coordinates not only musicians - usually an individualistic lot - but the work of about 150 other devoted volunteers. Around 30 of these public-spirited folk are used each day, and Annie praises them highly.

"Those wonderful people it does me good just to associate with them. And Ruth Cartee - she is one of the most remarkable women I have ever met. When C.J.C. started this Program, only about fifty people came. Now there are 150 regular participants, with more than 200 on special days. A number of disabled people are coming, and about 50 who are unable to carry their trays are served at a table by volunteers.

MRS. CLARENCE DAVID ROOP

Lacy Dinsmoor Becomes Bride Of David Roop November 1 In Midland

Lacy Dinsmoor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Henderson Dinsmoor of Midland, became the bride of Clarence David Roop, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Parks of Cisco and the late Clarence A. Roop Saturday evening, November 1, in the Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity in Midland.

The Reverend Sam B. Hulsey read the double ring ceremony. Mr. Robert Poer, organist, played a short pro-their arms. The bridegroom's attendants were his brother, Robert S. Roop of Abilene, best man, Grant D. Robinson of San Saba and Floyd R. Smith of Abilene. John Staples and Dan Wilson, both of Fort Worth and cousins of the bride, served as ushers.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the Petroleum Club of Midland. The bride's table featured a four-tiered wedding cake in shades of maroon, pink and red with ivory. The groom's table featured a chocolate cake with trimmings of fruit in various shades in harmony with the bride's colors. The bride is a graduate of

Mr. and Mrs. Odell Rains, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Fields, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Sentell. Great-grandparents are Mrs. Emma Fields, Mr. and Mrs. Eston Anderson and Floyd Rains, all of Cisco.

REX ERIC CHEEK Mr. and Mrs. Rex Cheek of Cisco are proud to announce the birth of their son, Rex Eric, born November 5 at E.L. Graham Memorial Hospital. He weighed seven pounds and six ounces, and was 191/2 inches long. He has two brothers, Walter Lee, 6, and Curtis Dwayne, 4. Grandparents are Dean Threet of Cisco, Dona Marsh of Stratford, Calif. and Chock Ingram of Cisco.

gram of prenuptial music. He accompanied Mrs. George Harley as she sang "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore her mother's wedding dress, an original model by Cahill, of candlelight Skinner satin. It was designed with a small Peter-Pan collar edged in imported lace, long crushed satin sleeves that came to petal points over her hands and a long fitted bodice. A crushed polenaise of satin and lace draped over her hips and folded into a bustle in the back. Her full flared skirt fell in folds to a formal length train. Her veil was of ivory imported French illusion that fell to the floor from a coronet of Chantilly lace embroidered in seed pearls. Her bouquet was a cascade arrangement of roses, stephanotis, lillies of the valley and showered with English ivy.

Attending the bride were Mrs. Raun Stoltz of Midland, sister of the bride and matron of honor, Miss Sarah Olin of Fort Worth, and Miss Carla Olin of Fort Collins, Colorado, cousins of the bride. They were identically gowned in cherry red faille and carried pink gladiolus in Assistance Group (MAAG) in Iran was the largest such presence in the free world. Paid for in full, including all personnel expenses of every nature whatsoever by the Imperial Government of Iran, it was quite an impressive force. Purely advisory, mind you. Their sole function was that of advisors to the Supreme Commander's General Staff, and to such field units as said Staff should require.

As is the custom within the U.S. Armed Forces, such a military presence called for an Officers' Club and an Enlisted Men's Club. The latter was commonly referred to the NCO Club. The clubs provided a touch of the atmosphere of home for armed forces personnel on tours of duty generally lasting for thirty months.

Master Sergeant Wayne Dickey was the Senior Non-Commissioned Officer and Assistant to the Club Officer of the Officers' Club in Teheran. Now M.Sgt. Dickey was something esle. A native of El Paso, Sgt. Dickey was a totally unreconstructed Texan. The sound of his voice carried with it the faint trace of the aroma of a branding fire. In the background, when Dickey was talking, one could almost hear the accompaniment of creaking saddles and jangling spurs. Oh, Wayne Dickey was a fullblown Texan, all right. And one of the finest men it has been my pleasure to have known. Completely straightforward.

Now Sgt. Dickey was quite the hunter. And there was plenty of good hunting in Iran, for those fortunate enough to possess a permit to keep firearms. And that was not difficult for members of the MAAG. And one of Dickey's favorite sports was "pig hunting". Pig? Known throughout the world as the "Russian Wild Boar", the wild "pigs" look more like cattle when viewed from a distance. Full-grown, they range in weight up to around 650 pounds, and stand a good four feet tall at the withers. Quite a pig.

Pigs are a nemesis to the Iranian farmer, in areas where the pigs thrive. Usually, this is around the headwaters of small streams, in the foothills. Farmers use water from those streams for irrigation of their crops, ergo; good feeding for the pigs.

Sgt. Dickey confided in me once that the Club, of which we were members, was planning a barbecue and a brunch. He had heard that I mixed my own pork sausage from meat purchased from a local Armenian-owned firm. And could I help him prepare some sausage mix? I could, and would be happy to. He was planning to go pig hunting, and to use the game for both the sausage and for a part of the barbecue. The flesh of the pig is quite tasty, incidentally. Not at all "porky", as one would suspect.

And just how much sausage did Dickey plan to make? "Oh,

THE UNUSUAL lineup of the moon and planets on the skyline before sunrise last Tuesday didn't go unnoticed in Cisco. And it was a beautiful sight to see, reports Mr. Jim Graham of 500 West 4th Street. Mr. and Mrs. Graham and his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Graham, were up early and saw the phenomenon.

As Jim described it, the planet Venus was visible below the crescent moon. Saturn was visible between them and to the right. Further to the right, you could see Jupiter. Jim said he understands this lineup of planets and the moon won't happen again until the year 2000.

The Bob Grahams live up in New Hampshire and are enjoying a visit in our town. THE FOOTBALL business is pretty good over at Strawn. That's a report from Mrs. Joe Don (Peggy) Gibson who was in town the other day with her mother, Mrs. George Gafford, of Cisco. Mr. JDG is the junior high football coach and Strawn's junior six-man team won their district last Tuesday night with an impressive victory.

Football is pretty much in the family picture at the Gibson home, Mrs. JDG reported. There's Monday night television football, Tuesday night Strawn junior games, Friday senior games, Saturday college games on television and radio, and, of course, the Cowboys on Sunday television. And sometimes there's a Thursday night television game.

Mrs. JDG attends the checkup ... Mrs. Jessie Pipjunior games and watches is an oil sand that's from two to 10 feet thick at about 1,600 feet. The oil bearing sand lies immediately under a 12-foot thick section of limestone, and several wells in the sand are yielding up to 80 barrels of oil per day. Danny's grandfather is Mr. Conrad Schaefer who lives at his farm home south of Cisco. Danny also lives in a rural home south of town. MR. CATS Ingram, the Lake Cisco patrolman, tells us that catfishing has been pretty good out there lately. They're not catching real big ones but quite a lot of two to eight pound catfish, which are real good to eat. They're biting mostly on trotlines, he added. Bass fishing has also picked up a bit with the cooler nights and warm days.

MR. TED HALE of our town got home last Monday from an Abilene hospital where he underwent eve surgery Oct. 30. He was due to return on Friday for a pen, one of our town's lady

Anita Webb

Dear Editor: First of all I want you to know that my name is Anita Webb, and I am proud of what I stand for, and I am not ashamed for people to know what I say.

Cisco is my home town. I am proud of it. It made me very sad the other day to pick up a piece of paper that said "City News." As I read

WORD of GOD

Thank the Lord!

At that time Jesus answered and said. I thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes.

the Cowboys. Her business is pretty good for they have two boys, ages two and four. Mrs. JDG grew up here and has a big sister Cindy who lives at Lubbock.

CISCO VOTERS very probably set a record for the big turnout in last Tuesday's general election. That's the feeling of old-timers and election officials. A total of 1,893 ballots were cast at the Corral Room down at the Laguna Hotel. In addition, 64 people voted absentee for a total turnout of 1,957.

Election Judge J.V. Heyser and his staff did a fine job. They finished with the counting by a little after the polls closed at 7 p.m. Voting was brisk all day but there wasn't much waiting time as there was in big cities.

THE J.V. Heysers, by the way, are getting things started toward arranging for a Thanksgiving reunion of their four children at the Heyser home out on the Rising Star Highway.

Two of the four Heyser children are seniors in college. Sicily Heyser is a senior at the University of Texas in Houston where she is due to receive an R.N. degree next spring. Understand she is considering an opportunity to go into the U.S. Air Force as a nurse after graduation.

Out at Lubbock, Joe Heyser is a senior at Texas Tech where he is studying the agriculture and ranching business while working full time to keep things running at a big apartment complex. His parents are planning to go out there next weekend for the Texas Tech homecoming. The Red Raiders will be playing the SMU Mustangs that Saturday.

Daughter Sheri Heyser Ayer lives in Houston and she and family have just moved into a new home . . . Son Al Heyser and his wife and children live in Cisco and won't have to go far to attend the Thanksgiving reunion.

MR. DOUG FRY was part of the CBS election team last Tuesday. He called CBS New York to report on Cisco as a key precinct . . . President Dick Woolley of the First National Bank is vacationing for a couple of weeks. With youngsters in school, they're staying home and he is catching up on the farm chores . . . The Cisco Post Office has a sign up that they'll be closed on Nov. 11th - Veterans Day. Postmaster Louie Gilbert got initiated as a West Texan who lives on the farm the other night. His dog was raising a big fuss, so Mr. LG went out to see what was the matter. And it was a big rattlesnake which Louie got after with his shotgun . . . Pastor David Adkins of the golfers, chipped in from off greens a couple of times the other day for birdies at the Cisco Country Club . . . Flo Robinson, another of CCC's lady regulars, played 27-holes last Tuesday - a new record for her . . . The greens at the golf course are getting a little better every day. They were recently planted with rye for winter.

Country club members time the following subjects will hold their annual will be discussed, to wit: Item I: Approval of minutes of last meeting, Ocstockholders meeting on Nov. 20th and there will be a chili supper (Louie Gilbert, tober 28, 1980. Item II: Audit Report. Item III: Presentation of chef) at 7 p.m. to open the program.

WHILE YOU WRITE CHECKS, WE PAY YOU 51/4% INTEREST, AND WE COMPOUND THE INTEREST DAILY.

Until now, the only place you could get a checking account was at a bank.

Now you can also get a checking account at United Savings — but with one big difference.

At most banks, you pay for a checking account.

At United Savings, we pay you.

We've combined the advantages of a checking account and a savings account. As a result, you can write checks while we pay you 51/4% annual interest (compounded daily) on your account balance.*

That's 100% more than most banks pay. So why pay a bank for a checking account when we'll pay you?
