Cisco Booster

Club To Hold

Meeting Monday

The Cisco Booster Club will have its regular weekly meeting Tuesday, October 28, at 7:00 p.m. at the Cisco High School Cafeteria.

During the next several months the Centennial Committee will have a feature column in The Cisco Press. The Centennial logo, like at the top of this article, will be present for you to spot easily.

In the articles we will be telling you about different events that are planned, what certain groups or clubs are doing, what we need help on and what famous people will be celebrating our centennial with us. Also included will be historical facts on Cisco's first 100 years.

If at any point you or your group has something to contribute to the column or to the Centennial Celebration please feel free to contact any of the Chamber of Commerce's Centennial Committee or myself. The committee members are Joe Wheatley, chairman, Clois Purvis, Barbara Pope, Robert Dudley and Gerald Winnett. My job is to serve as coordinator of the Centennial Celebration and keep events for the Chamber of Commerce, Cisco Junior College, Cisco Civic League and any other relating activities in order. I will be happy to come to any club meeting and talk or help find out what you can do for the centennial.

The Centennial Celebration is for the people of Cisco. We plan on having something for everyone... from our youngest to our senior citizens. The dates for the main events are April 20-26, 1981. Look for the Logo next week to explain what our new Centennial logo represents.

Four Cisco Servicemen Qualify As Technicians

Four Cisco servicemen have qualified as accredited technicians for the West Texas Utilities Company, an authorized Frigidaire Justin & Jeffrey Heysler Elected To Angus Assoc.

Justin Heysler and Jeffrey Heysler of Cisco have been elected to membership in the American Angus Association, reports Dr. C.K. Allen, executive vice-president of the national organization with headquarters in St. Joseph, Missouri.

The American Angus Association, with some 38,000 active life and junior members, is the largest beef cattle registry association in the world. Its computerized records include detailed information on nearly 10 million registered Angus.

The Association records ancestral information and keeps records of production on individual animals for its members. These permanent records help members select and mate the best animals in their herds to produce high quality, efficient breeding cattle which are then recorded with the American Angus Association. Most of these registered Angus are used by the U.S. farmers and ranchers who raise high quality beef for U.S. consumption.

Hung Jury In Swindle Case

A 91st District Court jury failed to reach agreement and reported itself "hopelessly deadlocked" after two hours of deliberation in the trial of Bill Swindle, Cisco, Tuesday on charges of aggravated assault.

Mr. Swindle, long-time Ciscoan, was indicted on the charges following a shooting incident at his home last spring. A grand jury returned a "no bill" after investigating the shooting.

The trial began Monday with the day being devoted to jury selection. The jury got the case at 5 p.m. Tuesday. The jury returned at 7 p.m. with the "no verdict." Judge Jim Wright dismissed the jury.

District Attorney Emory Walton said he would decide soon on future action in the case.

Drive Sensibly And Save Money Is Advice Of Speaker To Lions

Drive carefully and sensibly and save money. That was the advice of Sgt. Jerry Mathews, officer in charge of the Eastland office of the Department of Public Safety, in a talk Wednesday noon at the weekly luncheon of the Cisco Lions Club.

Sgt. Mathews suggested that best economy results will be obtained by warming a cold engine at idling speed for 30 seconds before you drive in the morning. A fouled spark plug costs 7 to 20 percent energy loss, he said.

To save gas, Sgt. Mathews suggested going to cruising speed smoothly but as quickly as possible, checking tire pressure regularly, have your engine tuned at recommended intervals, and driving without the air conditioner when possible.

Don't haul around unnecessary weight, Sgt. Mathews said. You save 20 percent by slowing down from 70 to 55 miles per hour, he added. The average American driver uses 800 gallons of gasoline per year, he said.

Two Post Office Vacancies Filled

Two vacancies caused by retirements have been filled at the Cisco Post Office, according to a report Thursday by Postmaster Louis Gilbert.

Melvin Wende, who had been a substitute city carrier assigned to the city carrier place from which V.B. Ferguson retired last month, has been named acting supervisor to replace Jack Ledbetter who also resigned last month. Mr. Wende has been with the local post office several years.

Named as substitute city carrier was Charles Nix, a native of Hurst, who moved here this past week from Breckenridge. He is a veteran of 21 years in the postal service and had been at Breckenridge only three months. He and his wife were house hunting.

Gridder Doesn't Object To Being Cisco Kid

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is reprinted here from the Dallas Morning News, Sunday, October 12, 1980, edition. The persons quoted in the article were interviewed by the News reporter following Cisco Junior College's game against the Texas Christian University's junior varsity team.)

ball just because the administration believes a college should have football," assistant coach Bob Keyes said. "It keeps spirit on campus up and gives our drill team and our band a chance to perform."

"AND ALL that attracts students. It's not so important here, because we have a larger enrollment (about 1,000). But at Ranger they have 450 students and almost all of the boys are athletes. It helps get some boys into school."

Chatmon didn't need to be helped into school. "If I hadn't been on a football scholarship, I think my mother and father would have put together enough money for me to go somewhere," he said. "But if I'd started out at a major college in a big town, I don't think I'd have stayed on the books."

"Out here, you learn to hit the books. It's a small town, and there's nothing else to do. You think in a big town athletes would be going to the library? Here, you do it to have something to do."

It's not the library is the only building in town: "They have a Sonic and a Dairy Queen," Chatmon said. "That's about it, though. There's no clubs and no movies."

"AT FIRST, when I came out here, I'd lay around at night. I was lonesome and bored. But the people in town are friendlier than anywhere I've ever been. They come out and talk to you, take you to church, want to get acquainted."

"Fort Worth is such a big town you never get to know half the people. Here, you know everybody, and everybody seems interested in you. You might think out here this would be a redneck town. But it's not."

"At a major college, the freshman get lost," Chatmon said. "Here, the coaches work with you more, because you're more important—you have to play. They treat you like a senior."

"I've learned a lot here about techniques of running pass patterns and reading pass coverage, and I'm not sure the coaches at a senior college could have worked with me that closely. It's worked out well."

Marie Boney Misses Homecoming To Study

It is possible that many Ranger High School exes missed this year's homecoming because they were busy with college courses and tests, but probably most of them were recent graduates. One who missed for this reason finished RHS 33 years ago and plans to finish the University of Texas at Arlington next May.

Marie Harper Boney, wife of 1946 RHS graduate Gene Boney, is a senior at UTA where she holds a grade point average of 3.875 out of a possible 4.0. She was an honor graduate in the 1947 RHS class, but that "was easier", she says, adding that "at my age, good grades take a lot more work than they used to." Her degree will be in journalism with a secondary teaching certificate in journalism and English. "Actually, I'm doing everything in reverse order," she says. She was formerly Associate Editor of the Eastland Telegram and, as a freelance writer, has sold fiction, non-fiction and poetry to newspapers and magazines. The story she is currently working on is a "part fact, part fancy" account of buying and selling a house in Eastland, where the Boneys lived for 26 years before moving to Fort Worth in 1977.

The first semester of college for Marie was in 1947 and the next were in 1955-56, when she finished Ranger Junior College. This time, almost the whole family was involved. Gene was also a student at RJC and their daughters, Ann and Carla, were mascots for the college. Son Rex was only a few months old at the time.

Marie was a member of Phi Theta Kappa, national honor society, Journalism Club, Masquers, L'Allegro, and the annual staff. She was elected Freshman Favorite in 1955.

After moving to Fort Worth, Marie decided to get the degree she had always wanted and enrolled at UTA. "Most of the time I'm excited about school," she says but adds that sometimes there are doubts. She believes the majority of the young students are bright, hard-working, interesting people. Marie admits that the openness of discussion in all areas is sometimes a shock, especially when the topic is one which was only whispered in the forties and fifties. "But this is not just on the campus," she says, "this is true in the daily newspapers and on television."

While she was in Eastland, Marie worked first with the newspaper and then as manager of Britain's Discount Center. She was always active in school and civic organizations, serving four years as finance chairman of the PTA and as an officer of the Girl Scout Council. She was president of the Eastland Civic League and Garden Club when she helped organize the Eastland Civic Theatre. She was one of the guests of honor at the Theater's tenth anniversary celebration at Bellhurst Playhouse at the home of Mrs. Virginia Russell, ECT director.

"Yes, I helped start ECT," Marie says, "but its successful continuation is due to Mrs. Russell and her talents and to the cooperation of all the people in Eastland County."

The annual membership preview coffee was also started under Marie's leadership. "I attended this type meeting at the Women's Club in Carlsbad, New Mexico, in late summer that year," she remembers. "I was so anxious to get home and see if the League's executive committee would like to have one. We had to work very quickly, but the coffee was successful and it has been continued."

But more important than civic and school activities have been church activities. "Gene and I were taught, and then taught our children, that working in the name of Christ comes first," Marie said. She was active in the First Baptist Church of Ranger and the Bethel Baptist Church of Eastland. Now she belongs to the Handley

Baptist Church of Fort Worth where she is a teacher in the adult Sunday School and leader for the church's Diet, Discipline and Discipleship groups.

Marie is often invited to speak at various functions and says, "I go if it is at all possible, but I make a special effort to go if a church group invites me."

The Boneys photographed all of the 254 county courthouses in Texas, so she is busy speaking about Texas during March, Texas Independence month.

Las Leales Club was her 'special love' and she served two years as president of the federated club and "oh, several years" on the program committee.

Marie was elected to serve on the committee to rewrite the Eastland city charter and was serving in this position when the Boneys moved from Eastland. She was a Director of Eastland Chamber of Commerce for three years and a member of the Retail Trades Committee for eight years.

Members of the Fort Worth Genealogical Society since 1967, Gene and Marie have twice served as co-leaders for the annual workshop reception. He is a member of the Sons of Confederate Veterans and she has transferred her membership in the United Daughters of the Confederacy from the Tom Green Chapter in Abilene to the Julia Jackson Chapter in Fort Worth, where she has been treasurer for two

Why does Marie do all these things? "Being busy is the only way I know," she says. "There is just so much to do, to learn. Sometimes I'm prone to absorbing enthusiasms and get a little too busy. Right now I'm preparing for mid-terms, finishing a needlepoint dollhouse for a granddaughter, and trying to schedule time to see the Shakespearean exhibits in Dallas."

She says her husband makes it possible for her to be involved in various activities. "Gene has always been very supportive of my activities," she says, "but I have never undertaken any project without his prior approval. I really cannot relate to the 'liberated female' concept or the 'Total

Woman" approach. I guess I fall somewhere in between: my family is - and always has been - more important than any outside activity, but I have never been house bound either. It is a way of life which has worked well for us."

Would she recommend returning to college to women in her age bracket? "Only if they want to go to college," Marie says. "It was a life long dream with me, but other women have other dreams. I would definitely recommend taking steps to fulfill whatever dream a woman has. And I would say that to women of any age."

Gene and Marie both still have ties to Ranger. His mother is Mrs. Jewell Boney and hers is Mrs. Annie

The Boneys have three grandchildren, Monica Weber and Jeffrey and Vanessa Alton.

The Light Touch

By Clint Bray

The biggest drawback to budding love these days is the blooming expense.

Just about the only time overweight makes you feel better is when it belongs to someone nearly married.

Halloween: kook's night out.

Think how smart we'd all be if we retained as much of what we read as we do of what we eat.

The exercise that exhausts most people is running out of cash.

At Bray's in Eastland, Texas phone 629-2321, we never run out of the new styles that flatter you must.

Kidd Elected To Membership American Angus Association

John G. Kidd, Eastland, Texas, has been elected to membership in the American Angus Association, reports Dr. C.K. Allen, executive vice-president of the national organization with headquarters in St. Joseph, Missouri.

The American Angus Association, with some 38,000 active life and junior members, is the largest beef cattle registry association in the world. Its computerized records include detailed information on nearly 10 million registered Angus.

The Association records ancestral information and keeps records of production on individual animals for its members. These permanent records help members select and mate the best animals in their herds to produce high quality, efficient breeding cattle which are then recorded with the American Angus Association. Most of these registered Angus are used by the U.S. farmers and ranchers who raise high quality beef for U.S. consumption.

Lights From The Christian World

By Josephone Cleveland

A young man recounted to some friends that his grandfather had a large herd of cattle. When his first grandchild was born he was very pleased. When he saw the grandson he exclaimed, "I am going to give him a calf but I will keep it in my pasture and care for him and all the new calves born to him will continue to be his." The grandchild received a good inheritance.

The young man continued, "My grandfather had a large family. Each time a new grandchild was born he gave the child a calf. I was the tenth grandchild. When my grandfather saw me he was pleased, but said to my parents, "This time I cannot give any more calves away as I now have none to spare."

I was the first grandchild not to receive an inheritance from him. There were several other grandchildren born into our family but none ever received a calf as an inheritance.

Friend, you can ask any grandparent and you will possibly hear a proud account of how wonderful their grandchildren are.

Beloved, have you ever considered that God has no grandchildren? No one can go to heaven on their parent's or grandparent's salvation. Jesus told us that, "except a man is born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God"—John 3:3. Through Jesus you can become a direct descendant. You inherit the kingdom of God only as you ask forgiveness and through faith in Christ receive His forgiveness. It is a free gift and His supply is never exhausted. "If we walk in the light, as he is in the light we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin."—John 1:7

Commit your life to Him. Follow His precepts. You can be assured of your inheritance. Praise God who makes this possible.

FLEAMK Known From Coast To Coast

When R.W. Reynolds opened a flea market in an old oil tank at Putnam he was not long finding out there was a great deal of importance in a name. His place which he had dubbed, "Putnam Flea Market" soon came to be known as the "FLEAMK" due to a mistake of the amateur sign painters, his son and a friend, who spelled "flea market," fleamk. After the mistake was noticed, Reynolds had planned to erase back to the "flea" add "mkt." but before he got around to it a reporter from the New York Times wrote up a story about the business and put special emphasis on the name "FLEAMK," giving the pronunciation of it as, "flemmick." Anyway, with the exposure given in the New York Times and subsequently, other media, the FLEAMK became known from coast to coast.

Up until last year, merchandise in the FLEAMK was always referred to as antiques or junk and it sold escort; 20 hours per week worked on school zones; 33 calls of various types received by telephone; 122 calls came in from dispatch. The lake patrol reports the lake has caught about one foot of water.

Word Home Extension Club Meets October 23

The Word Home Extension Club met Thursday, October 23, in the home of Mrs. J.E. Stansell at 2 p.m. for regular monthly meeting. The meeting was called to order by Era Hamilton, president. The theme was given by Willie. The devotion was given by Myrtle Van Short. The council report was given by Ruby Dunlap. The program was presented by Lucille Harrelson on "Value of Time," which was real enjoyable and educational.

Preparations were made for Achievement Day November 5th, at the First Baptist Church in Eastland. The bazaar will be also held November 13 and 14 at the Rebekah Hall in Eastland.

The outstanding woman of the year was elected with Era Hamilton as the honoree.

The following members were served delicious refreshments Mrs. Lucille Harrelson, Willie Word, Myrtle Van Short, Ruby Dunlap, Era Hamilton and hostess, Mrs. J.E. Stansell.

well. Reynolds, upon learning that the Smithsonian Institute had started to call items previously referred to as junk, "quaint artifacts" decided that he would do the same thing. (Perhaps, it would give his business a better image.) So, he began to advertise "quaint artifacts." At his new place just east of Abilene the wording on the sign out front says, "Quaint artifacts and antiques." Well it has not worked. People are not attracted by it so he is scrapping this sign and will post one that says, "Antiques and Junk." No more new fangled terms for him, he says.

He also announces that the original FLEAMK at Putnam, the store in an old oil tank, will be open November 15, from 9:00 to 5:00 p.m. and November 16 from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m., after having been closed most of the summer. He further states that all he has for sale is antiques and junk, no fancy named stuff at all.

Aerobic Dancing Offers Conditioning For Everyone

How about aerobics for our community? Aerobic dancing offers complete and effective conditioning. It's fun and challenging. Aerobics is designed for everyone young, old, shapely, shapeless, overweight and underweight. Classes will be offered October 29 and 30 through November 24 and 25 at the American Legion Hall in Cisco. Debbie Norman will be the instructor. For more information call 442-1486 or 442-1544.

If you just right now, you need to keep that shape by toning and firming your muscles. Aerobic dancing goes beyond just physical fitness. Besides combining cardiovascular benefits with movements that will tone and firm muscles. Your heart is double-muscle pump. Aerobics will help your complete cardiovascular which is your heart, lungs and blood vessels. The exercises cause your body to demand more oxygen over an extended period of time. Your cardiovascular system supports your life. Your muscular systems and moves your skeletal system. All of us want a better physical look, but most important is the fitness of our hearts. It works from inside out. It is designed and prepared so that anyone that can walk can do it.

Aerobic dance is designed to be fun! But don't be fooled it has been tested and proven to be effective and valuable to you and your physical fitness education. Aerobics build up your hearts momentum and endurance. So whenever you are resting or working it is easier on your heart. Aerobic dance has many benefits: stronger heart and lungs, toned muscles that are stronger and leaner, a great calorie burner, relaxation and better health, preventive medicine, flexibility, coordination, agility and balance. Our community needs to be in step with aerobics that is currently sweeping the country.

comment to the effect that evolution is not a theory but only a hypothesis. It wouldn't be at all surprising to hear him say next that he is a born again Christian—possibly also lusting in his heart for other women!

And when it comes to China, Ronald Reagan seems to be hung up on Taiwan. The fact that the president broke the treaty with Taiwan and broke his promise to the Senate seems to upset him. But why is that important? The smart money is on Mainland China. It is expected that in 10 years, trade with Red China (population, 900 million) will equal the current trade with Free China (population, 17 million).

Of course, Governor Reagan did balance the budget in California and prevent California from going bankrupt. But what's a 600 billion dollar budget or a 60 billion dollar deficit? We owe it all to ourselves anyway. Probably the better alternative is the man already in the White House. He has pointed out that his opponent will split black and white, Jew and Christian, North and South. He does not make gaffes. He has reduced inflation, taxes, and unemployment. He has improved our defense, enhanced our chances for peace and improved government relations with business

Dear Editor,

Jimmy Carter and the National Democratic Party are equating civil rights with homosexual rights. On page 54 of his position paper to the Democratic Platform Committee Carter said, "We must affirm...the right of each individual to have equal access to and participation in the institutions and services of our society, including actions to protect all groups from discrimination based on race, color, religion, national origin, sex or sexual orientation." (Emphasis mine.) This would give homosexuals the same protected legal status as minorities.

How can we stand by and let the behavior that caused God to destroy Sodom and Gomorrah become a legal and accepted behavior in our nation? The Bible teaches in the Old Testament and New Testament alike that homosexuality is a sin. "Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people." Prov. 14:34.

How can we support Jimmy Carter and the Democratic Party when they support such immorality?

Congressman Receives Award And Endorsement

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB), the largest small business group in the nation, announced today that by voting in support of key small business issues 100 percent of the time during the 96th Congress, U.S. Rep. Charles W. Stenholm of Texas had earned its "Guardian of Small Business Award" and had been endorsed by NFIB's political action committee (NFIB PAC).

In announcing the award, Wilson S. Johnson, president of the 620,000-member group — with 55,145 of those members in Texas — explained that the "Guardian Award gives recognition to legislators who support small business, and at the same time assures our members of how their legislator is representing them in Congress. "Quite often," says Johnson, "some legislators will claim support for small business by voting for such things as a Small Business Administration appropriations bill. We feel, however, that NFIB members should know how their legislator voted on each of those issues which we consider of key importance to small business."

NFIB PAC Chairman Dick Fisher noted that the endorsement of Representative Stenholm comes after close scrutiny of his overall legislative record which clearly shows a concern for the 12 million or so small business operations in the country today. "Congressman Stenholm has served his constituency well on the broad-based spectrum of legislation and has been an effective member of Congress in his work on the House floor and in committee," says Fisher. "He should be returned to Washington so that he can continue to fulfill the specific needs and wants of his congressional district and the nation as a whole."

NFIB, which is nonprofit and nonpartisan, presents its "Guardian Awards" at the

Older Adults Have 'Special Gift' Of History To Give Children

COLLEGE STATION—Older adults possess special "treasures of history" to give children when birthdays or gift days roll around, says a family life education specialist.

These gifts can be "sharing experiences with children or actual items related to the past," explains Diane Welch.

have a "from me to you" quality that cannot be bought.

GIFT IDEAS

In deciding, first consider the child's age, abilities and interests. Then make a list of possibilities from which you can choose.

Here are some suggestions and ideas to start you thinking:

THINGS TO MAKE — this could be a special ornament or decoration that requires a skill no longer prevalent, such as tatting or quilting or whittling.

Or, it could be a food item using a recipe handed from generation to generation. Also, a story about experiences remembered as a child, or a scrapbook of old photographs and other items that would have special meaning for the recipient.

ITEMS TO SHARE — this could be something you had when you were a similar age.

Also, a cutting from a plant that might have been started years ago.

Possible, it could be earlier copies of magazines or newspapers, books or letters that might be found in old trunks or boxes in the attic.

Or they might be parts of a special collection.

EXPERIENCES TO PROVIDE — this might be a trip to an earlier homestead, a visit to a restoration or a museum.

Or, it might be a "task," such as making butter, baking bread, making candies or soap.

Also, gifts can be songs, games or folk dances from the past.

'GOOD AS NEW' Gifts that are old and precious are certainly "as good as new," Mrs. Welch stresses.

"In their haste to offer children what is new and different, adults may overlook what is old and precious. Children would like some of both.

Mothering: Nurturing In The '80's

The message is loud and clear... motherhood isn't what it used to be and American women love it!

With their self-esteem elevated, mothers are nurturing multifaceted lifestyles that include children but are not dominated by them.

Neither selfish or selfless, women have reappraised their role as more inclusive, family-oriented. A "we" attitude prevails over the frustrations inherent with former "me" ideologies.

These are just some of the conclusions reached by Loyola University of Chicago researcher Debra Barnewolt, who recently completed an attitudinal and behavioral analysis of the "mothering role" as a member of the Kentucky Fried Chicken Time Out Institute.

Founded in 1977 by Kentucky Fried Chicken, the Time Out Institute was established to examine the changing role of today's American women and to contribute to the information available about their problems, needs, attitudes and concerns. The company sponsors the Time Out Institute because women are its most important customers. "Today, mothers and their roles are viewed quite differently," Barnewolt says. Key changes in attitudes and behavior include:

- Mothers are people too.
- Mothers will continue to move up in stature.
- Families come in all shapes and sizes, and that's OK.
- Parenting can be shared by people other than mommy and daddy.
- Mom's OK, any way she wants to be.
- Superwoman be damned... motherhood means some things can and must wait.

• Mothering 101 should be a required course.

• Mothering reveals the "real" you.

• From "me" to "we" — no more martyrdom for mothers.

There are increasing numbers of working mothers today. Nearly 59 percent of all mothers now work, according to the U.S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics. Single parenthood is burgeoning. Alternative family structures, which may include a live-in friend or relative, are more common. Fewer children per family and "later" pregnancies (delayed until late 20's or early 30's) are more prevalent.

"These 'decrytallized' family patterns and lifestyle choices have a profound effect upon women's attitudes toward their image and responsibilities as mothers," Barnewolt says. "The role as we once knew it also is being 'decrytallized' from one set of stereotypical attitudes, behaviors and expectations to many acceptable patterns and styles."

TIPS ON WOOD BURNING STOVES

There's been a "back to wood" movement among many homeowners in recent years as soaring costs and shortages of fuel oil and natural gas prompted the comeback of a primary 19th century heating source—the wood burning stove.

As recently as 1974, only about 310,000 wood or coal burning stoves were made in or imported into the United States. By 1978, the figure had climbed to 1.1 million. They are especially popular in the Midwest and the Northeast, where winters are cold and other fuels may be expensive.

But wood burning stoves sometimes carry a different, hidden price tag—the hazard of fire that can produce death and destruction. A 15-state survey by the National Fire Protection Association showed wood and coal burning stoves cause between 8,000 and 9,000 fires and 100 to 130 deaths each year. The Consumer Product Safety Commission says about 5,700 persons were injured through contact with such stoves in 1979.

State Farm says most wood burning stove fires are caused by either faulty installation or improper maintenance. The company offers these safety tips:

- It's best to buy a new stove from an experienced, reliable dealer. If you buy a used one, check it carefully for defects. Get one that's listed by Underwriters Laboratories Inc. or a similar organization.
- Check local fire and building codes. If you're not completely sure of installation requirements or procedures, get a reliable contractor to do the job.

—Because these stoves produce large amounts of radiant heat, there must be adequate clearance (at least 36 inches) between the stove and its piping and combustible materials.

—Place the stove on a fire-resistant base.

—If you use an existing fireplace or chimney, it should be clean. To keep toxic gases from seeping into the room, seal off the fireplace or chimney openings after the stove pipe connector has been installed.

—Stove pipe should run straight and be as short as possible. Avoid 90-degree angles; use gentle 45-degree turns instead.

—Avoid passing stove pipe through a combustible wall or ceiling.

—Stove connector pipes and the chimney should be inspected by a professional at least once a year—and cleaned if necessary to avoid buildup of creosote, dust-like carbon deposits that may catch fire.

—Use dry, well-seasoned hardwood; this also reduces creosote buildup.

—When possible, use short, hot fires rather than long, smoldering ones. Don't leave the stove burning unattended overnight.

Death Valley, in southeast California, is 282 feet below sea level — the lowest point in the nation.

FACTS & FIGURES

One in every 20 preschoolers—nearly half a million throughout the U.S.—has an eye disorder. Many of these defects are most effectively treated in the early years. Some, such as amblyopia (lazy eye), may lead to permanent vision loss if not discovered and treated before the age of six.

An estimated 3.4 million persons are blind in one eye. In about two percent of the cases, the other eye is defective but not blind.

SWEET POTATO BREAD

With such a variety of breads available at today's supermarket, there's no need for monotony at any meal. But if you want to impress the family or guests with something distinctively your own, the accompanying recipe for Sweet Potato Bread is a good candidate. It looks and tastes different, with a hint of sweet potato flavor that goes well with ham, turkey or pork. Toasted sesame seeds add a slight crunchiness and a fragrance that is apparent after toasting. This is a substantial bread, a very economical way to add important nutrients at relatively low cost.

SWEET POTATO BREAD

Makes 2 loaves

- 7-7/2 cups unsifted white flour
- 1-1/2 cups unsifted whole wheat flour
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1-1/2 teaspoons salt
- 2 packages Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
- 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
- 2 cups very warm water (120° F.-130° F.)
- 1-1/2 cups mashed cooked sweet potatoes
- 1/4 cup toasted sesame seed
- 1 egg white
- 1 tablespoon water

Combine 5-1/2 cups white flour and whole wheat flour.

Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 2-1/3 cups flour mixture, sugar, salt and Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast. Add Fleischmann's Margarine. Gradually add very warm water to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add sweet potatoes and 1/2 cup flour mixture; beat at high speed 2 minutes scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in remaining flour mixture and enough additional white flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured surface; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in a greased bowl, turning to grease top. cool.

Mix egg white and 1 tablespoon water and brush over tops of loaves. Sprinkle with remaining toasted sesame seed. Bake at 375° F. for 35 to 40 minutes, or until done. Remove from pans minutes. Place in a greased bowl, turning to grease top. cool.

Blueberry Bakings

Fall is here. Time for things to settle down a bit after a hectic summer. What better way to start a fall morning than over a leisurely breakfast that includes fresh baked blueberry treats.

With Betty Crocker® wild blueberry muffin mix, it's quick and easy to do. Just add milk and an egg to the mix; then stir in the can of blueberries that comes with the mix. You'll spend your time lingering at the table, not in the kitchen.

Here are some ideas for adding that homemade touch.

BLUEBERRY-ORANGE COFFEE CAKE

Heat oven to 400°. Grease square pan, 8x8x2 inches. Prepare 1 package Betty Crocker® wild blueberry muffin mix as directed except—substitute 1/2 cup orange juice for the milk. Pour batter into pan. Bake until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean, 15 to 20 minutes. While warm, drizzle with Orange Glaze (below). Serve warm. 9 servings.

Orange Glaze: Mix 1/2 cup powdered sugar and about 1 tablespoon orange juice until smooth and of desired consistency.

BLUEBERRY PUFFS

1 package Betty Crocker® wild blueberry muffin mix
1/3 cup sugar
1 1/4 teaspoons ground cinnamon
1/2 cup margarine or butter, melted

Bake muffins as directed on package. Mix sugar and cinnamon. Roll hot muffins in margarine then in sugar mixture. 12 muffins.

Mini Blueberry Puffs: Pour batter into 20 to 24 small muffin cups, 1 3/4x1 inch. Bake 12 to 15 minutes. Continue as directed. 20 to 24 muffins.

MOBILE WEIGHT STATION—Colonel Jim Adams, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, announced today that 12 new vans with trailers containing semi-portable scales will be used by State Troopers to weigh trucks and other heavy vehicles. The mobile scales will provide more flexibility in administering the License and Weight Laws and will result in a higher percentage of compliance with the statute while preventing additional damage to the state highways from overweight trucks. State License and Weight Sergeants Wesley Johnson of Pecos, left, Harold Kornegay of Garland, center, and Bill Summerlin of Abilene check out one of the new items of equipment. The new equipment, which was funded through a Federal grant by the Department of Highways and Public Transportation, will make the weight-enforcement program more effective.

Ranger Methodists Promote Chili Supper

The Ranger Methodist Men will sponsor a chili supper at the church on Halloween beginning at 5:00 p.m. and serving until 6:30. Many Eastland residents are expected to use the facility en route to the gridiron encounter between the Bulldogs and the Mavericks. Kickoff for the game is set for 7:30. Chili and beans will be the main dish. The beans will be available for those who like their chili toned down a bit. Coffee and iced tea will be served with the meal. Adult plates are $3.00 with childrens going for $2.00. Jewell Battle has been engaged to cook up the delicacy and many local residents will acclaim her ability as the best chili cook around. The supper will be open to the public with no presale planned. Tables will be set up in the basement of the church located at 417 Elm Street.

IWU Reflections In Perspective
By I. Will Ussery

Los Teques, Venezuela has been described. Twelve kilometers from the city along a paved road leading into the mountains and valleys toward the Caribbean there is a tiny Roman Catholic chapel. There is a water well behind the chapel. Also, a narrow road which could be best described as a trail joins the road at the chapel. This trail ambles along the top of a narrow hog-back ridge which rises abruptly from the Rio Colorado, some 3,000 feet below. The trail extends to a huge mahogany tree just short of the tip of this spur-like ridge almost a mile from the chapel.

Some four hundred yards along the trail, constructed on ledges carved from the shoulder of the ridge there is a cluster of adobe cottages around which grow a variety of citrus trees, and back and below which the coffee trees grow in profusion in the shade of the mahogany. All so quiet and peaceful, and the views are spectacular. There is a pump on the well at the chapel, and a 3/4-inch pipeline carries water along the trail...across from the cottages...to the summer home of a government official. Beautiful, modern house, built just beyond and across the ridge from the adobes. A pipeline, designed by the engineering firm with which I was associated and under construction under our supervision crossed the paved road near the chapel and continued along the back of the ridge-spur to its point, at which it literally dropped to the narrow valley of the Colorado 3,000 feet below. I had gone to a point near the cottages to observe the preparations for construction and along the trail I met a group of women and children, obviously carrying water from the chapel well to the adobes. Reaching a point in front of the settlement, which was the most convenient place at which to turn around, I observed that only a short distance away a bulldozer had broken the water line. There was little more than a trickle of water coming from the broken line, but it was at least water. And only a very short distance from the cottages.

A man squatted, in characteristic Latin American pose, beside the broken pipe, apparently contemplating the stream of water...little else. I called to him, and suggested that he inform the women that they could obtain water there. "Of course, Senor. Immediately". With which he scampered away, the bearer of good tidings, indeed.

He returned in a few minutes, proudly leading a procession of perhaps six or eight women and as many girls ranging from very small to the mid-teens. They began collecting the water in their pots, pans and pails. One of them mustered the courage to thank me for the generous gift of the water.

A little girl somehow attracted my attention. She looked somehow so very typical of all the smallish children in all of Venezuela. Fetching my briefcase from my car, I took out my camera and asked the little girl if her mother would allow me to take her photograph. It would make an outstanding photo, with the vivid green mountain side in the distant background, scattered clouds drifting lazily underneath the bluest sky in the world. Her mother identified herself by instructing the little girl to go immediately to the house and to change into another dress. She had replied to my request.

Simple people all over the world enjoy looking at photographs, especially photographs which they can associate with the person showing them. I passed around snapshots of my wife and two daughters. Also, there was a photo of the Venezuelan girl who had accompanied my family on their return to the States the year before the purpose of attending school with our eldest daughter. I explained that the girl was living with my family. "As a servant, of course". Commented one of the ladies. "Oh, no! She is as a sister to my eldest (la mayoria). she is living with them so that she may attend school". That statement was discussed at length by all the ladies.

The girl returned and I snapped her picture. I learned that her name was Martina. I presented Martina, who was nine years old, with some pencils and a calculation pad from my briefcase, and on the following day I brought a doll which I purchased in town. Her mother approved the gift. Without that prior approval the gift must be proffered, you know.

For more than a week I was out there almost daily. Martina would wave somewhat timidly from behind the yard fence. But her smile told that I had made a little friend. Finally, one day as I sat in my car observing the progress of the work, Martina's mother came from their cottage, leading Martina by the hand. Hesitantly, they approached the car, and apologetically the mother began:

"You have told us of the Venezolana who lives with your family in Norte America. In los Estados Unidos. That is a very generous and kind thing for you to do. The Venezolana should make a very good sister to your "mayoria". I should be grateful to you if you would take Martina to the United States as a sister to your least one (la chiquitita). Martina is nine years old, and there is no school for her. She loves you. She would make a good daughter for you and a good sister for your chiquitita. Martina would work for your wife and your daughters, if they wanted her to work. And Martina could go to school".

With a catch in my throat, I explained to the mother the legal difficulties accompanying such a thing. Somehow I convinced her...and perhaps myself...that it would be next to impossible. She thanked me for having been so kind as to listen, and with a bow which was almost a curtsy she and Martina returned to the cottage. I drove away, tears in my eyes at the thought of the sacrifice the mother was prepared to make for the sake of her daughter.

That occurred in 1959. Martina is almost thirty years old, now. I often wonder what her life is like, compared to what it might have been. And I wonder if what I did was right, for Martina. And for me. I may have passed up the greatest opportunity of a lifetime to perform an act of generosity.

Draw The Line On Crime.
Alarming increases in criminal activity in our state is the biggest single threat to the well-being of Texans. It is time our elected officials start to get concerned about crime. Bob Glasgow has served for seven years as a criminal prosecutor. During that seven years he successfully prosecuted 864 criminal cases—that illustrates how he feels we should deal with law breakers. As state senator Bob Glasgow will fight for laws that protect the law abiding, not the law breaking. Draw the line on crime. Elect Bob Glasgow.

Bible Baptist Women Meet

The Bible Baptist women met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Holder for Bible study, singing and fellowship. First of all the women feasted on all the good food which was thoroughly enjoyed after Mrs. Elizabeth Lee gave thanks. A short business meeting followed conducted by Mrs. Marie Schaefer which opened with prayer led by Mrs. Cheryl Stephens. Mrs. Barbara Mayberry read Psalms 101 and brought out special thoughts about it and what it meant to her. They sang many sacred songs with Lois Holder at the piano which brought joy to their souls.

Mrs. Carrie Collier read a lovely poem about "we are but travelers on earth, we are not here to stay. We are traveling to a land where God is. Then as we enter Heaven's door, we shall be travelers no more. We shall be home at last. The closing prayer was given by Mrs. Faye Owings. Those attending were Mes. Billie McCoy, Willie Langford, Cheryl Stephens, Marie Schaefer, Robbie Allen, Opal Bible, Trudie Andrews, Sopha Eudy, Betty Green, Barbara Mayberry, Carrie Collier, Fay Owings, Elizabeth Lee and the hostess, Lois Holder.

Agape Sunday School Class Has Tacky Party

The Agape Sunday School class of Calvary Baptist Church held their monthly class meeting on Thursday, October 23. A tacky party was held after the meeting. Joyce Lane, president, called the meeting to order with prayer. Connie Clement, secretary-treasurer, gave the financial report and Betty Cook, reporter, brought the class up to date on the needs of a family the class plans to help at Thanksgiving. Gayle Higdon gave a moving testimony about what God had done for her. The class decided to change officers yearly rather than quarterly. It was decided that a class meeting would not be held in November. Instead, the ladies will prepare a Thanksgiving dinner on November 20 for their husbands. This will be held at the church and the Rev. J.D. Holt will be the speaker. On November 4th, a salad luncheon is planned after weekly devotional studies. The meeting was closed and a tacky party was held. Winners of the white elephant prizes were decided by secret ballot. First prize for the tackiest costume went to Betty Cook. Darla Hood and Paula Elliott tied for second prize.

Darla Hood had games for the evening, with white elephant gifts going to the winner of each game. Then the ladies enjoyed refreshments and fellowship. Hostess for the evening was Kathy Harris. Members of the Sunday School class attending were Laura Marshall, Connie Clement, Paula Elliott, Mert Holt, Joyce Lane, Darla Hood, Gayle Higdon, Edna Faye Harris, Arlene Thompson, Kathy Harris and Betty Cook.

THERE'S A new king out at Lake Cisco. He is Mr. Gid Bowers, who lives over on the north shore, and he was crowned last weekend at the 50th anniversary reunion of the class of 1930 at Rising Star High School. He and Mrs. Bowers attended.

The class reunion was a real nice affair with a good turnout, reports Mr. Bowers. The reunion selected Mrs. Lottie Mae Jones Roach as the queen. She still lives in Rising Star. Gid has a real nice home at Lake Cisco. He started building it when the lots were first sold back in 1962, and he still has work to do. Gid was born and raised at Rising Star and played tackle on the good football teams of the days 50 years back.

Gid spent a number of years with the Halliburton company here before being transferred. Later, he joined the post office staff in Abilene and retired after 20 years. He has two sons, Tim of Lubbock and Mark of Albuquerque, and three grandchildren. The Bowers enjoy life at Lake Cisco.

IF YOU SEE a stranger following a city mail carrier when he comes to your house during the week of October 27th, don't get excited and think the carrier is being "stalked." It's annual route inspection time and they bring in outsiders to do the inspecting. A Mineral Wells postal worker will do the inspecting here.

Postmaster Louie Gilbert spent three days at a conference of postal workers in Fort Worth October 20-23. Much of the program was devoted to the upcoming nine-digit zip code thing, he reports, and to studying problems with mail handling.

CISCO'S UNDEFEATED Wranglers are doing well but haven't been noticed by the national ranking folks yet. One small rating group in California has the CJC team of Coach Bill Anderson at 18th nationally. Right now, Kilgore is No. 1 and Northeast Oklahoma is No. 2. And CJC plays NEO here on Nov. 8th. If Cisco could win that one, a national rating would result.

Coach Anderson takes his Wranglers to Roswell, N.M., this Saturday (Oct. 25) to play NMMI. And NMMI is a real strong team. The NEO team, by the way, beat Ranger 47-25 recently.

MISS JEAN Gray, who is the city accountant, has been appointed clerk of the City Corporation Court to record results of its occasional meetings. When CofC Manager Gene Abbott was in Mineral Wells one day last week for a regional meeting, he went to the golf course there after the business was finished. And a man came to say: "I'd have known your bald head anywhere." The man was Bill Bennie, Jr., formerly of Cisco, who is one of the editors of the Mineral Wells Reporter, a weekly newspaper there. Gene, by the way, was invited out to Cisco High School Thursday morning to talk about the history of Cisco at a history class meeting.

YOU'LL WANT to call the CofC (442-2537) and make arrangements to attend the quarterly breakfast at 7 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 29. Door prize of $50 (limited to members) is being provided by the First National Bank and Kimbrough Funeral Home. The breakfast is open to non-members and there will be a door prize of lesser value for them to register for.

Membership in the CofC is open to anyone and, by joining, you can contribute to the general welfare of the community.

One of the growing problems in America seems to be the increasing degree of loneliness experienced by nearly all adults in the our society. For the elderly, the problem of increasing loneliness is especially serious. Many factors com-

MR. BILL HUFFMAN of Houston was due in town Thursday to take his mother, Mrs. H.T. Huffman, to Houston for medical treatment. She has been ill for some time. Eastland's football team now is ranked No. 10 in Texas Class AA circles. See by the Baptist Standard, weekly publication of the state organization, that Lynn Low of Mexia has accepted a position as minister of music at the First Baptist Church at Bellmead, near Waco. Mr. Low is a former CHS band director and has been band director at Mexia for several years.

MET UP WITH Mr. Joel Reed in town the other day. He is now studying for the ministry in Austin and his wife, a former faculty member at CJC, works for the telephone company there.

Joel's parents and Dr. and Mrs. Bevington Reed of Austin. They have a cabin at Lake Cisco and were here last weekend. Dr. Reed, former head of Texas education in Austin, is now retired. He has a place in the Big Bend country where they enjoy occasional sojourns.

MRS. GENE (Butch) Zellman of our town went to work the other day as director of the band and school music at Rising Star High School. Mrs. Bob (Judy Kay) Thornton and two children, Jennifer 5 and Matt 2, spent last week here with her mother, Mrs. R.L. Slaughter. They live over in Big D. The Eris Ritchies were entertaining his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eris Ritchie, Sr., of Troup and other relatives here this week. A highlight of their weekend program was attending annual homecoming activities at Abilene Christian University.

CISCOAN Bill Lane scored up in Colorado last weekend. He brought home a handsome five-point bull elk that he shot some 25 miles north of Durango. He met his father-in-law and others from Virginia for the delightful hunt. Bill operates B. Lane, Inc., an oil field drilling and gas logging service here. Glad to hear that Mr. Henry Schaefer of the television store is doing nicely following surgery Wednesday morning at Hendrick Hospital in Abilene. He was expected to return home bine to increase the probability of isolation for the older American, such as, the tendency of children to relocate when they marry; transportation problems, and for some health problems become severe enough to bring about total isolation from the community.

These problems are being recognized to a large degree in Cisco, Eastland, Rising Star, Ranger and Gorman. Centers have been established or are being established, where the elderly may come together and share their problems. Each person over 60 years of age is encouraged to contact their local centers, make reservations for the luncheons, talk to the directors and find out what type of programs are available to assist them. Often times the director can make referral to an agency that can assist.

Eastland and Cisco should call 442-2263 and talk with the director, Ruth Cartee, for guidance.

During the week several musicians shared their talents with the Cisco Senior Center: Viola Payne with her violin, while Leah Brown accompanied her; Billie Wood playing for the choir; Mildred Johnson playing for the dinner music; and Roland Smith presenting his version of country and western music. We are very fortunate to have so many talents at the Senior Center.

MR. CHARLIE Moad, a registered Angus rancher here for a good many years, reports that he's having an auction sale at 12 noon Saturday, Nov. 8, at his place to sell off approximately 100 head of cattle, including his prize herd bull, five young bulls and 60 females, many with calves.

MR. ANDY Shawver of Jacksboro visited his in-laws, the Wm. E. (Bill) Austins, here last Thursday. Guess you'll not forget to set your alarm for 2 a.m. Sunday so you can get up and turn your clocks back one hour as daylight savings time expires for another year.

Senior Citizen's Nutrition Menu

The menus for the week are:

Monday--chicken fried steak, cream gravy, corn o'brien, chopped spinach, pear halves, bread, butter and drink.

Wednesday--chili with beans and crackers, okra and tomatoes, carrot and raisin salad, cheese sticks, spiced peaches, orange juice, bread, butter and drink.
