BIGGEST FFA ENCAMPMENT FORESEEN

REGISTRATION GROWING SAYS CAMP LEADER

The greatest encampment in the seven year history of the Future Farmer's annual encampment here was predicted Saturday by J. M. Bird, Cisco vocational teacher, in charge of arrangements for the encampment.

Bird said that if the present rate of registration is maintained, there will be nearly 1,000 boys and their leaders here by the time the encampment starts Thursday of this week. Around 500 had been expected originally.

For the first eight schools registering there were 138 boys listed. Bird said Saturday that 11 schools had sent in reservations but that not all of them had specified the number of boys who would be present.

Those already registered included Rochelle, Brownwood, Millsap, Colorado, Cross Plains, Sylvester, Breckenridge, Roby, Albany, Richland Springs, and Graham.

Dean to Attend
Bird said that Dean J. Thomas Davis of John Tarleton Agricultural college had accepted the invitation of the Future Farmers to attend the encampment and that he would be here Thursday.

A. J. Spangler of the same school will have charge of the program at the Thursday session, it was announced.

The F. F. A. boys will be quartered in the dam at Lake Cisco, where the water on the lake side will keep their big "bedrooms" at a cool, even temperature and the dam and reinforcements will furnish protection from the wind and possible rain.

Three sections have been floored and will be used as a kitchen and mess hall, Bird said.

The program for the three days will include much swimming in the big pool at the lake, as well as games and contests for the boys.

"We want to make recreation an important part of the encampment," Bird said.

OFFICERS ARE BAFLED OVER MYSTERY SHOT

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 3 — The mysterious slaying of Auditor McDermott, made more difficult of solution by the fact that a shooting was not suspected until hours after he died, sent police on a search today for the killer and the gun he used.

McDermott, 32, of exemplary habits and without a known enemy, was shot in the head as he worked at a cotton shredding machine in the basement of a mattress factory. Near him were two workers, close friends of the slain man. Three other men were working on a gallery nearby. Noise of the machinery was so great that no report of a shot could be heard.

No one saw McDermott fall. One of the workers stumbled over him and it was thought that a bolt from the machine had hit his head.

That was Tuesday noon. Yesterday McDermott died without regaining consciousness and it was presumed by hospital attendants that he was suffering from a blow from a bolt or had fractured his skull in falling.

A coroner's assistant, probing the wound on his head, discovered the bullet. Police thought an old cartridge, left in the mattress, might have been exploded, but ballistic tests showed that the bullet had been fired from a pistol. It had made a direct hit and not ricocheted.

Work Relief Ended By Jobs on Farms

ALICE, Aug. 3 — Cases of work relief in Jim Wells county have been entirely eliminated by work available in cotton and broom corn fields, Relief Administrator George Adams said today.

Remaining clients on the rolls are on direct relief. These, consisting of about 90 families have been classified as non-employables.

Ethiopia Accepts League's Peace Offer

DUCE ALREADY IN AGREEMENT ON NEW PLAN

By United Press
GENEVA, Aug. 3 — The League of Nations council announced today that Ethiopia had accepted the peace proposal to end the Italian-Ethiopian dispute.

Acceptance by Ethiopia of the League's latest proposal insures the approval of the league council, which means that diplomatic efforts to bring a solution have proved successful to date.

The council's plan, already accepted by Italy by Mussolini, only needed Ethiopian agreement to remove to a great degree the menace of war which has threatened between Italy and the ancient African kingdom.

The council's plan listed three main provisions:
1—A resolution by the council favoring resumption of negotiations between Italy and Ethiopia regarding responsibility for frontier clashes.

2—A resolution by the council agreeing to meet and consider the whole Italian-Ethiopian situation if the negotiations have not reached a decision by Sept. 4.

3—A joint Anglo-French-Italian declaration to the council that the three powers will start negotiations among themselves in an effort to clear up the situation.

Ethiopia's acceptance means an agreement to the position of Italy, which had wanted to resume arbitration, although restricting it merely to a discussion to responsibility for border clashes.

Ethiopian envoys had desired an immediate consideration and a ruling by the League of Nations council.

Educated Cow Won't Eat Tabloid Papers

KERRVILLE, Aug. 3 — Educated fleas, jumping frogs, and trained flies have had their day.

Now comes the literary cow! This "Bossie," which lives next door to a newspaper plant here, has exacting tastes of discrimination and refuses to find an interest in sensational tabloid newspapers, current issues "satisfactory" papers.

Passing up a tabloid the other day she readily devoured a copy of the "Christian Science Monitor."

Spencer Recovering After Auto Crash

J. E. Spencer, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who was injured in an automobile accident Thursday evening, was still confined to his home Saturday but was said to be recovering from his injuries. Three ribs were broken.

The crash occurred at the corner of H avenue and West Eleventh street when his car and that driven by Miss Journe Armstrong collided.

13 WPA Projects Sought at Amarillo

AMARILLO, Aug. 3 — A total of 13 WPA projects totaling $172,900 have been applied for in the district office here, Director A. A. Meredith said today.

The projects include a high school stadium, county hospitals, city auditoriums and highways. Other projects being planned in the Panhandle will bring the total to about $750,000, it was estimated today.

WOMAN CHARGED IN SLAYING OF 'WITCH' SAYS SHE'S NOT SORRY

CLEVELAND, Aug. 3 — Mrs. Matilda Waleman, whose halcyon days of "witchery" and "fireballs" led her to kill her one-time friend, calmly told police today that she was far from sorry she had slain Mrs. Ida Rose Cooper.

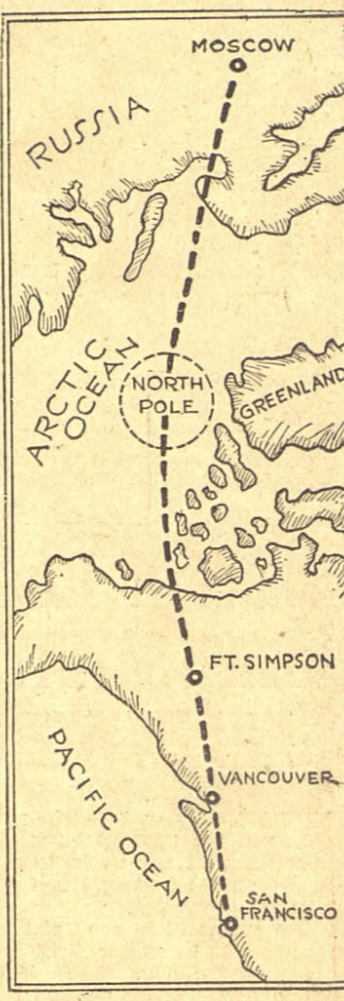

"She was a witch. I shot her. I'm not sorry," she said, austere matron said when arraigned on a charge of first degree murder.

Judge J. D. Barker Denies He Is Dead

SPECIAL TO DAILY NEWS
SWEETWATER, Aug. 3. — Judge J. D. Barker was "very much alive" tonight, he said, despite rumors of the death in Cisco.

Rumors of the former Cisco attorney's death were attributed to the fact that his father, J. H. Barker, 80, was buried in Fisher county Wednesday.

TROUBLE SEEN OVER ELECTION IN KENTUCKY

By United Press
HARLAN, Ky., Aug. 3 — Trouble appeared eminent in "bloody" Harlan county today when 20 precinct voting stations failed to open in the primary election for governor.

Precinct leaders refused to open the voting places because of the presence of 700 national guardsmen stationed throughout the county after their arrival from Frankfort and Lexington.

There has been constant friction between mining workers and sheriff deputies in Harlan county.

Recently the sheriff sought an injunction to prevent Governor Ruby Laffoon from sending state police into the coal fields. Union mine workers complained that deputies were preventing them from carrying on their operations.

The miners asked protection of state troops. During the past two weeks, however, the situation had quieted considerably.

Slayer of Officer Is Lynched by Mob

YREKA, Cal., Aug. 3 — Cheating the law in a return to frontier justice, a mob of about 75 men today seized C. L. Johnson, suspect in the slaying of a police officer, and hanged him to a pine tree near here.

Johnson was taken from the county jail, where he had been held since his capture Monday after the slaying of Chief of Police F. R. Daw of Dunsour, a small mountain town, 50 miles south of here.

Within an hour Johnson's shoeless body, clad in a white shirt and black trousers, was swinging from a pine tree on the edge of town.

The mob scattered before authorities could mobilize to save the youth who had confessed that he and Robert Miller, a fugitive shot Daw when he sought to question them about a holdup.

The lynchers struck so suddenly that there was only one man on duty at the jail.

Hankins College Reunion Planned

Program for the Hankins College reunion in Gorman was announced Saturday.

Plans call for a basket dinner instead of a barbecue originally scheduled. The program for the day:

9:00 a. m. — Registration; 10 a. m., assembly; song; invocation, Rev. Phil Gates; welcome on behalf of the city, J. W. Cockrill; welcome on behalf of the ex-students, Earl Bender; response, Millie Blackburn; quartette, arranged; address, Claude Sprating; duet, Hermon Wood and Mrs. Cassandra Wood; Fish; noon, basket lunch; 2 p. m., address by Rev. Lester Richardson of Houston; reading, Mrs. Eppie Jean Whitesides; talks by former teachers; reminiscences; business session.

ARRESTED FOR FORGERY

EASTLAND, Aug. 3 — Wanted in connection with a forgery charge, Jack Milwee of Rising Star was arrested by Los Woods and then turned over to Fort Worth officers, the deputy sheriff said Saturday.

Stricter Absentee Voting To Mark This Year's Election, Says Collie

Stricter absentee voting procedure was explained Saturday by County Clerk, T. M. Collie.

This year, Collie said, prospective absentee voter must make application at his office, showing a poll tax receipt, exemption certificate, or an affidavit that they have been lost or mislaid.

After making the application, the voter must mark the ballot in the presence of the clerk in such a manner that it is not known how he is voting.

After marking the ballot and sealing it in an envelope, he gives it to the clerk. The absentee voter must pay 24 cents to the clerk for cost of the ballot and mailing to the election judge. The county clerk will mail the ballot to the election judge in the voter's precinct.

Voters out of the county will make application to an authorized officer at their temporary address, from where it is sent to county clerk Collie. Collie will mail the ballot to the officer to whom the voter has made application.

The voter will mark the ballot in the presence of the officer to whom he has made application. The out of county officer then will send it to Clerk Collie, who will forward it to the election judge in the voter's precinct.

Personal absentee voting will open Aug. 5 and mail balloting on August 9.

The affidavit, printed on the back of the ballot envelope, requires the voter to swear to his occupation necessitating absence from the poll on the above election date. He must swear that the ballot was marked in secret.

Invalid Vet Spends Time Carving Wood

KERRVILLE, Aug. 3. — Edwin W. Farr, a bedridden patient at the U. S. Veterans' hospital here finds diversion and satisfaction in wood carving.

He received recently orders from the Will Rogers hotel in Claremore, Okla., for four wood carvings of Texas life.

NRS TO PLAY BIG PART IN JOB PROGRAM

The National Reemployment Service will be the clearance agency for labor in the works progress and public works administrations programs here, Crigler Paschall assistant district manager, was told in a meeting at Abilene Friday.

The service will be directly responsible for the qualification in connection with all workers on WPA and PWA projects.

Paschall said Saturday that workers of every classification are shown on registration rolls of the NRS in this county. For any project approval in the government agencies, the office will be able to supply workers needed.

His office is assuming a more important role than before, Paschall said, under the U. S. department of labor, the office until recently only placed workers in private channels and government building. Now with its part in the WPA and PWA programs, it is assuming an important function, Paschall indicated.

Thundering Herd Challenges Team

Every time a business men's team loses its undefeated standing another raises its head to take its place.

Trust, LaRoque's Ranting Reporters, who stopped the Millers in a tight 22 to 21 game Friday night, have been challenged by Jack Anderson and his Thundering Herd. The two teams will play Friday night of next week. The LaRoque club came from behind a 17 to 0 lead in the third inning to take the tilt.

Monday night the Community and Nance clubs of the city softball leagues will meet in the battle for the top position. Nance has lost once to Community, while the gasmen are undefeated.

Tuesday night Garner's and the Lobos will cross bat at Humble park.

About Our Friends

Pullman City was arranged for the greatest convenience of the guests... Dining rooms, showers for both men and women, beauty parlors, barber shops, shine parlors bank for money exchange, information bureaus, night club for those inclined, taxi station, curio shop, etc... everything that might be needed... we failed to mention the laundry and cleaning services...

Tours were planned to encompass the principal cities and ancient buildings that abound everywhere... The pyramids with the ceremonial feast and sacrifice to the sun and moon, participated in by more than 2,500 natives was the first of its kind to be staged in thirty years... just for the visiting Lions... participants dressed in the ancient garbs... fierce warriors in their head dress, club and shield... painted hideous faces... the writer donned the garb of a monster warrior, while he wore our hat with its band, inscribed, "Cisco, Texas," while the press of Mexico and private cameramen shot the pictures... the warrior grinned and enjoyed the maneuvers as greatly as we... Mr. and Mrs. Smith also joined us in the publicity movements and were snapped with the king of the proceedings.

These pyramids were covered by volcanic upheaval before the Christian era and they were lost to knowledge until they were accidentally discovered a few years ago during some road construction... Many of the pyramids are still covered by the volcanic ash and stand as mere mountains yet... in places they have been uncovered just enough to see that they are masonry instead of mountains of upheaved earth and rocks... It is believed that a lost part of a continent joining Asia with Mexico has sunk in the Pacific ocean and that these pyramid builders are related to those of ancient Egypt... resemble the Chinese and Japanese in many respects... The museum nearby has interesting and valuable collection of relics of that age... Complete history of many of their early activities and customs is portrayed in some of their stone carvings.

100 AT PICNIC OF METHODIST CHURCH HERE

One hundred church members and 20 pastoral charges of the Cisco District of the Methodist church assembled at the Lion Rotary park Friday from 4 to 6:30 o'clock in recreation and fellowship, for the District picnic and rally.

After a picnic lunch was spread and enjoyed reports were given from each pastoral charge. In the speeches it was said that splendid progress was being made in all lines of work. The district will surpass the splendid record set last year.

Rev. J. B. Curry, presiding Elder, announced the fourth quarterly conference for the district as well as the plans for a conference this year. Rev. Mr. Curry also announced plans for a month's vacation to be spent with his wife and children in California. He appointed Rev. Frank L. Turner as acting presiding elder in his absence.

The report on the First Church, Cisco, was outstanding in that it showed 56 additions to the church during the conference year, and finances in full to date.

Randolph's New President

Randolph college has decided to grow. Workers for the school have been busy for some time to bring more students here for the 1935-36 session and are reporting brighter prospects.

Some time ago Dr. J. T. McKissick, former president of the school when it was at Midland and later a professor in it here, was named as its new head. He immediately plunged into the work of building up Randolph and has already made his influence strongly felt.

Randolph has chosen wisely in selecting Dr. McKissick, he stands for what the college stands for, Christian character and education. The holder of degrees from several colleges and universities, including Texas Christian and Harvard, Dr. McKissick believes in a thorough background educationally. He has held important posts in Texas and Tennessee both in education and in church work. He has ideals for Randolph and the energy to carry them out. Too often the characterization is misapplied, but Dr. McKissick is one leader who deserves to be called a gentleman and a scholar.

Until his election as president of Randolph, he was pastor of the First Christian church of Marfa. The kind of impression he has made upon the people of that city is best revealed in the following editorial in last week's issue of the Big Bend Sentinel:

Within the next week Marfa is losing a family which has made itself felt for the better in the community for the past several years. Dr. J. T. McKissick has been made president of Randolph college in Cisco and he takes with him his family to their new home and his new position.

While the people of Marfa are glad of this honor bestowed on one of its worthy citizens and rejoice in the fact of his being singled out from the many, there is probably not one citizen who does not regret to see the passing of the McKissick family from Marfa. They have made themselves an integral part of the community in the many groups that the several members naturally fell into. They have been good friends and neighbors. The loss will not soon be filled. The parsonage will be lonely for this happy family that has made its walls resound with the joy of living.

When a man and his family can make that kind of impression upon the people of their own community, they can go to another and look forward to success there. Cisco welcomes the new Randolph president and his family.

Employment Prospects Brighter

The outlook for employment here apparently improved somewhat this week as an early start upon two government projects appeared likely to begin soon and a pipeline construction job loomed as possible work for unemployed.

The relocation of Federal highway 80 through Cisco has been approved and will afford work for a great number of local men, although it will be some time before actual construction begins. The project, which will cost $130,000, will call for the building and paving of a road to connect the city with the old Bankhead highway, the paving of Eighth street,

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON—One man drove senators into fits of hysterical laughter and another man, at another Senate hearing, made men weep.

Both incidents happened within a week and each was unique. First I will tell you about William B. Shearer, famous as the "big bass drum" since he came to be credited with breaking up the 1927 Geneva naval arms conference on behalf of American battleship builders—a professional big navy super-patriot with a reputation for delivering the goods.

Shearer looks like a Prussian colonel of the big bad wolf type. He made you think of a pre-depression super-type of a high-pressure, rapid-fire, sweep-you-off-your-feet blue sky salesman such as never really existed except in one of your bad dreams.

Breezily, explosively, insistently, and with the self-assurance of a rhinoceros cavorting through a daisy field, he virtually became master of ceremonies and seldom allowed a senator to interrupt.

HE boasted he knew "practically every captain and admiral in the U. S. navy and every Democrat in Washington." Often he was funny, as when solemnly explaining that in speaking to ex-secretaries of the navy, "We never say, 'How do you do, Mr. Ex-Secretary'; we always say 'How do you do, Mr. Secretary!'"

Shearer seemed preposterous, but the influence he had wielded—and perhaps still wields—in Washington seemed even more preposterous.

SIDNEY HILLMAN, member of the NRA board and president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, was before the Senate Finance Committee investigating NRA. Dark, curly-haired, brilliant, speaking with an accent, he is the ablest American labor leader.

Aided by Hastings of Delaware, King dwelt sarcastically on Hillman's birth in Russia (whence he came in 1906 after imprisonment by the czar). Examination was so unusually nasty, you could hear spectators curse softly.

Finally Hillman rebelled and launched a hot plea for the unemployed millions, warning of chaos if NRA with its wage-hour protection were not re-nacted.

HE spoke fiercely and passionately, answering Clarence Darrow en route:

"Instead of permitting me to give what I believe is my honest opinion of the policies of NRA, the question is 'Was I born in Russia or here?' As if I had anything to do with where I was born. At least I can say, Senator, that this country is not with me merely a matter of accident, but it is the country of my choice.

"Talk about freedom for industry? What freedom has a girl compelled to work for a dollar a week? What freedom has the worker out of work and hopeless of finding a job? . . . We are finding fault, indulging in philosophical interpretations of what is the solution 200 years from now. Mr. Darrow can afford to wait 200 years, but the men and women out of work cannot afford to."

Dramatic silence followed Hillman's finish. Then you turned to notice that men in the audience including NRA officials, had been stirred to tears.

The Haunted House

and the construction of a concrete and steel overpass in the place of the old wooden viaduct over the M.-K.-T. railroad.

WPA headquarters have already received for consideration the project calling for work on cleaning out the creek below the Cisco swimming pool. The project is to cost $4,828.13. Being a WPA job, it will use local labor.

Construction of a pipe line by a gas company likely will give work to some Ciscoans of pipe line experience, it was announced from the company's office here Saturday.

OMENS OF ILL TEACH SAFETY IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 — The metropolis will use 2,000,000 black cats during the next few weeks to caution pedestrians that only bad luck awaits the jaywalker.

These omens of ill are pictured on stickers to be widely distributed throughout the city. The labels portray black cats perched on back fences, silhouetted by a rising moon and voicing this warning: "Watch your step as I watch mine — you have one life, I have nine."

Toll Reduced Slightly
Statistics for the first half of 1935 show that 15,000 persons have been killed and 300,000 injured in motor car accidents. This figure is 2 per cent less than in the same period last year. The decrease in fatalities in New York City is attributed to an intensive safety campaign of the police department, aided by civic organizations.

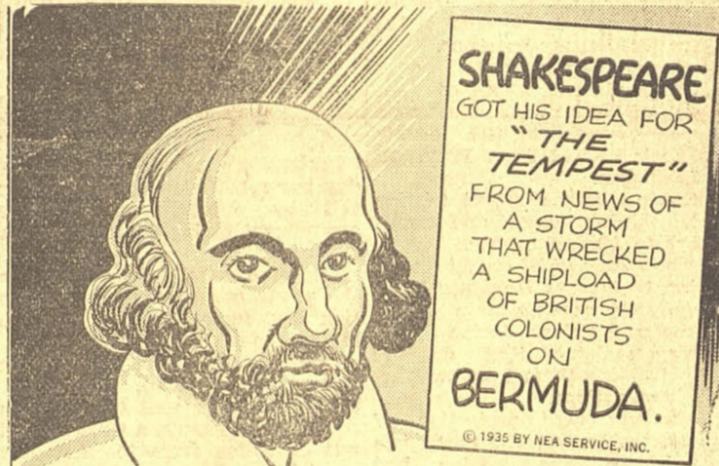

The "black cat" labels will be supplemented by 2,000,000 books of safety matches. Even if the superstitious avoid having a million or two black cats figuratively cross their paths, it is argued that at least one is certain to appear when a cigarette is lighted.

Antidotes May Be Needed
A run is expected on Harlem's supply of "left rabbit's feet," cured during the perigee moon, to serve as antidotes for the black cats during the campaign.

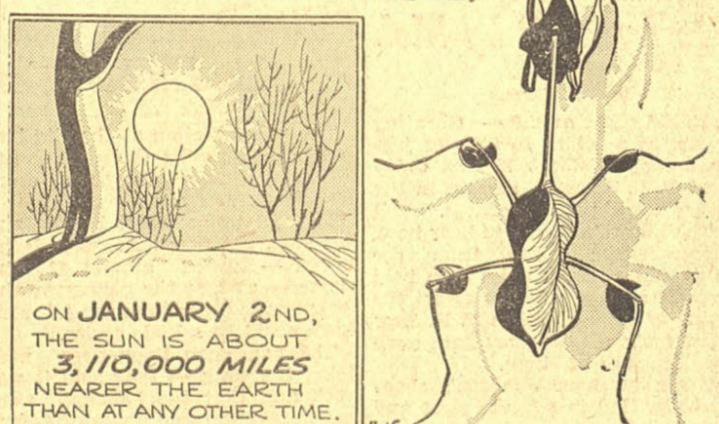

The warning stickers will be distributed by the city motor vehicle bureau, the police department and owners of large fleets of trucks and taxicabs. Caution notices signed by Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine, have been displayed prominently recently throughout the city's vast transportation system.

One of the appeals is directed to persons past 40, warning them to be more cautious because their reactions are not as swift as those of younger persons. These public notices aroused some mildly sarcastic

'Will, I Swan! It's Quintuplets'

Naturally, Mr. and Mrs. Swan expect a flock of youngsters every year, but you can imagine their surprise, after all the fuss about those five Dionne sisters up Canada way, when their brood turned out to be exactly five, too! Seeing how swimmingly the youngsters are getting along, it isn't likely their parents will have to paddle them to make them stay where it's safe. The graceful family makes its home on the basin at Grangemouth, England.

Every once in a while you read in the newspapers how a fortune has been squandered; how some young man has inherited a fortune from his father, a father who had spent a lifetime in amassing his wealth.

The young man let his imagination run away with him. He did not see any limit to the money he was free to spend, so the fortune faded away until he was finally broke.

To him it came easy and he realized to late how easy it went. He did not stop to think.

Eight "Don'ts" Listed
The police department has issued eight "Don'ts" or motor vehicle drivers. The campaign thus includes the man in the street as well as the man on wheels. They are:

1. Drive carefully for your safety and the lives and safety of others.
2. Slow down at street crossings.
3. Obey traffic signal lights.
4. Give the vehicle on your right the right of way.
5. Give pedestrians the right to cross.
6. Immediately pull car to right curb at sound of siren or bell, to give the right of way to ambulances, police cars and fire apparatus.
7. Saving lives and protecting your property is their job. Help them to help you.
8. If you see a crime committed or need assistance, telephone Police headquarters at once.

Special emphasis is placed on the safety of children in the campaign.

SUN-TAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JO DARIEN, finishing her first year in college, learns her father is out of work. Jo turns a job and secures part time work in a marine supply store. There she meets wealthy handsome DOUGLAS MARSH who offers her the job of hostess at his inn at Crest Lake. Jo accepts. This comes a quarrel with BRET PAUL to whom she is engaged. Jo breaks the engagement.

She goes to Crest Lake. Her duties are pleasant, but Marsh's eccentric mother takes a dislike to the girl. BABS MONTGOMERY, a school acquaintance who is jealous of Jo's popularity, comes to the inn. PETER FRAGONET, film actor, and his wife are also guests.

Fragonet and Jo marked attentions, tells her he loves her and begs her to marry him as soon as he can secure divorcement. He goes to Hollywood, promising to return soon.

Bret Paul comes to Crest Lake as the life guard. Marsh takes Jo to dinner at a nearby tavern. Jo and Paul consent to return soon and that part of a motion picture is to be filmed at Crest Lake.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIV
SILAS DRANN's company from the Atlas Pictures Corporation, one of the "big six" organizations of Hollywood, arrived at Crest Lake just two weeks after Jo and Marsh had discussed the coming of the actors and actresses over Mrs. Bowen's delectable fried chicken.

Fragonet was not with the first contingent. He had private business to attend to in Hollywood. Silas Drann explained, and there was no reason for him to appear until all the necessary preparations were made. Jo Darien could not help but wonder if Fragonet's "private business" had to do with his separation from his wife, but she was secretly glad that her meeting with the movie star was to be postponed for a while.

However, Fragonet had obviously told Drann about her, for when Douglas Marsh introduced them the huge, beetle-browed director was interested at once. "Oh, yes . . ." he said, in the faintest of foreign accents, "Jo Darien, I know." "I know," just what he knew he did not say, but Jo had the uncomfortable feeling that his deep-set eyes could look quite through her.

With Drann were other principals—Lolita Montez, the leading lady, a tall bruet who was as slender as any woman Jo had ever seen. Jo had watched her on the screen and had not realized that the heartless motion picture camera adds at least 15 or 20 pounds to the performer's weight. No wonder actresses had to watch their diets! Then there was Jarvis Maurice, a new English actor who had just signed a contract with Atlas after successful stage work in London. The third of the principals was Johnny Barley, the comedian who had saved many a bad picture from utter failure. Barley was a short, sad-faced little man who, off the screen, was anything but comical.

Most of Drann's company was composed of cameramen, sound technicians, script clerks—and even carpenters. For several sets had to be built before the actual "shooting" began. The principals stayed at the Inn, and the others Marsh assigned to the cottages.

SHED stared a good deal during the dinner, when finally, with alarming suddenness, Drann turned to her. "I have noticed you, Miss Davis, more than once. And I want to pay you a compliment."

"I-yes!" stammered Tubby. "Yes," repeated Drann with force. "I want to congratulate you for allowing yourself to grow as a woman should. In the motion pictures all I see are skinny women. Bah!" He flung his hand upward. "I get sick of skinny women! After all, I am a European, and I like a woman one can see and get hold of!" He looked at Tubby fiercely. "Do you understand?"

Tubby nodded nervously. "Yes, Mr. Drann . . ."

When the dinner was over, and Drann, after a cigarette, had excused himself and stomped up to his room, Tubby heaved a great sigh at sight of Tubby's relief, and remembering her wide-eyed fearful astonishment at Drann's speech. Jo was beside herself with amusement.

"Oh, Tubby—if only you could have seen yourself!" Jo cried. "Imagine his nerve. He likes a woman he can see and get hold of! I'd like to have him try to get hold of me!" Tubby told Jo impetuously. "Would you, really? Maybe he will," laughed Jo. Tubby glared at her. "Do you suppose he's really like that all the time, or is he just posing? They say you have to act crazy to hold a job in Hollywood. He ought to hold his a long time!"

They left the dining room and strolled out on the veranda. "There's something I've been dying to ask you," Tubby said at last. "Remember the time we were going to have a game of tennis, and Douglas Marsh called you for a conference after he got back from that hunting trip?"

"Yes, Tubby." "Well, that was a mighty long conference. If you'll pardon my being excessively snooty, you got back that night about 11. Of course that's all right—but you've been mighty quiet about it ever since."

Jo laughed. "Well, there wasn't much to report, except that I didn't lose my job." "I noticed that," said Tubby meaningly. "And I've also noticed that Marsh hasn't been nearly so attentive to Babs Montgomery since that time."

"You ought to be a detective, Tubby. I'm afraid that Mr. Marsh's attitude toward Babs, if it's really changed at all, hasn't been affected by the night you mention."

TUBBY nodded. "All right. But I'm not blind. He's been as cool as a cucumber about Babs, and she hasn't liked it. She's been giving Bret Paul a rush, apparently just to see if she can stir Marsh a little, but he won't stir."

"I think you've got things wrong, Tubby. Babs always liked Bret. You know that."

"Sure. But don't ever dream shed pass up a chance to join the Montgomery money with the Marsh money. That would make quite a pile of dough, you know."

"I suppose it would," Jo said, wishing Tubby would stop her persistent probing. "What do you say we take one of the motorboats out? There's a moon, and it should be nice on the lake tonight?"

"Not me. It's too darned chilly, even if it is almost August. I'm going to curl up in the lobby with a book—and maybe I'll get a glimpse of Lolita."

"Well, I think I'll walk down by the lake anyway, Tubby."

"Jo . . . you're not angry because I'm such a snooty cuss?"

Jo laughed. "Of course not, Tubby. Only, you're really wrong about Douglas Marsh."

"That's what you say. 'Eye.' Tubby turned into the Inn for her possible—but not probable—glimpse of the glamorous Lolita Montez.

Alone, Jo walked slowly down the lake path. Contrary to Tubby's remark, the night was not at all chilly. Amusedly Jo told herself that Tubby probably wanted her to be alone, believing she was half-planning to encounter Douglas Marsh. Tubby was the grandest person in the world when you were in trouble; but at other times she was likely to be just the least bit difficult. Of course she was wrong about Marsh—and yet, what she had said about him and Babs Montgomery was true.

"Hello . . . Jo!"

Startled, she turned on the path to see a figure in the shadows behind her. She did not recognize the voice at once, and she wondered for a moment who the man could be.

HALF HOLDUPS ARE REPORTED FABRICATIONS

DALLAS, Aug. 3 — More than half the robberies regularly reported to Dallas police turn out to be "fabrications" according to Capt. J. W. Fritz of the detective department.

Frequently, Capt. Fritz said, people pretend they have been robbed to conceal from other persons the loss of money which has occurred in some irregular manner.

Several times, for instance, police have found that women who pretend to be robbery victims, really were covering up losses at horse races.

Men frequently say they have been robbed to prevent their wives from learning that they have been shooting craps, playing cards or spending money on hilarious parties.

Sometimes police find that men are attempting to cover up thefts from their employers by pretending that they have been robbed.

To a trained ear of a detective, such false reports of robberies are almost always full of discords.

"Invariably," Capt. Fritz said, "persons with stories of false hold-ups give themselves away some where along the line when they attempt to give police necessary information."

"They are deeply chagrined when they are found out. Most of the time police consider that this feeling of shame is sufficient punishment."

Phone Company Is In Alienation Suit

BOSTON, Aug. 3 — The American Telephone and Telegraph company was charged with alienation of affections in a $250,000 suit filed by Mrs. Hildegarde Fuller.

She said that her husband suffered a fractured skull while working for the company in 1926. As a result of alleged negligence on the part of the company's physicians, her husband lost his mind and she lost his affections.

CITY FATHERS REBUKED

FINDLAY, O. — The City Council is stunned over what happened to a routine order issued to Mrs. Amanda O'Hara to cut "noxious weeds" on her property. Clerk Charles Hollinger received a snappy response from Mrs. O'Hara that the "noxious" vegetation was sweet clover. There's no ordinance against sweet clover.

100 KINDS OF LILAC GROWN MOSCOW — A rich collection of a hundred varieties of lilac has been gathered by a foreman at an automobile repair-shop, in his garden near Moscow. He succeeded in obtaining 17 new varieties of different coloring, with both single and double petals of different sizes.

In building and art... date, 1531... took more than a hundred years to complete... ceiling lined with pure gold... vast chandeliers... words fail you in descriptions... some old convents and monasteries modernized into tourist hotels... quiet and restful... wooded retreats in rear gardens... Beautiful flowers everywhere... you never lose the beauty in any place... flowers always... playing fountains, from the abundant springs.

A beautiful place is the floating islands... can't spell the name off-hand but sounds like, "Such a Milk Cow"... ancient lake bottom soil... rich and producing the loveliest flowers continuously... the boat decorated with garlands saying, "Welcome Lions," carries you through the intricate canals among the islands, while other boats carrying women with flowers to sell you, and still other boats containing serenaders who play soft, sweet strains of music until you have tired of giving them money... they then attach themselves to other boat loads of visitors... men and women all the while planting more flowers on the blackest of soil on the islands which have been built from the silt dredged from the bottom of the lake... You have a taste of Venice in Italy, where the gondolas ply on the beautiful bay of Naples and other waters.

Where Relief Building Collapsed

Here is one relief problem that presents a colossal job of "digging out from under," in the collapse of a seven-story Chicago warehouse where the government had stored hundreds of tons of food for the needy. The structure was packed to capacity, as the shelves along the wall still standing show. When one wall crumbled, thousands of barrels and sacks of foodstuff and boxes of canned goods were buried in the debris. A fire several years ago is believed to have weakened the walls and vibration of switch engines nearby to have caused the collapse.

Prince May Lead Italian Division

A major role in Italy's seemingly inevitable war with Abyssinia may be assigned to the heir to the Italian throne, handsome 30-year-old Crown Prince Umberto, shown here, strikingly uniformed. Humbert, Rome reports say, may take the active command of his army division, if hostilities break out.

Gun Runners Seek To Exchange War Munitions For Ethiopia Gold Dust

By RICHARD D. McMILLAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Aug. 3 — Europe's gangsters and international adventurers who have found time on their hands since bootlegging booze into America became a dead industry have discovered a new racket in gun-running into Ethiopia.

While the chancelleries are busy trying to find a solution to the quarrel between Benito Mussolini and the Emperor of Ethiopia, Haile Selassie I, gun-running racketeers are busy rushing into East Africa the munitions which will blaze when talking ceases.

With some 500,000 men to resist the might of Italy, and the need for airplanes, tanks, and motorized artillery, the Negus of Ethiopia has sent emissaries to munition plants of Europe to try to obtain the equipment necessary to carry on war against the white invader of the kingdom founded by Solomon and the Queen of Sheba.

Secret Orders Placed

Owing to the ban on the export of arms, the Ethiopians have not been able to buy enough war stocks, although the emissaries have offered gold from the fabled mines. Some secret orders have been passed and ships, under sealed instructions, have sailed mysteriously from several ports in Europe down through the Suez Canal and the Red Sea.

Nominally they carry trinkets and western goods for the Emperor's people, but in reality they have been loaded to the plimsoll line with powder and arms.

The gun-running racketeers are supplementing this traffic. Mostly Greeks, Germans, Armenians and other individuals of no defined nationality, they have spread their activity from the capitals of Europe to the shores of the Red Sea and the inland frontiers of the Emperor's kingdom.

Their agents throughout the western capitals are charged with the mission of buying all available rifles, shot-guns and revolvers and, if possible, machine-guns. These are then shipped to the nearest port where bartering goes on with the captains of vessels bound east of Suez.

Racketeers Charter Ships

The smugglers' agents offer big rewards to sea captains who are willing to use up available space in loading guns for the East African war. As, however, the number of vessels available on the regular trade routes is limited, the racketeers have been chartering vessels of their own, idle tramp steamers, yachts and sailing craft.

Grammed full to the decks with grenades and rifles and machine-guns they steer for the Red Sea, unload their cargoes and rush them over the caravan routes, by camel and mule-back, to the frontiers of the Negus' kingdom.

Here the Ethiopians, hungry for the guns which they need to defend their soil, are ready with precious gold-dust tied in cloth, which they pay to the gun-traders.

Tribemen Lend Aid

Throughout the vast desert wastes of Arabia and the Yemen where Lawrence roused the tribes against the Turks in the World War, the gun-traders today are searching the land for guns which they can ship across the stretch of water which separates the Arabian state from Africa.

Arabian tribes, eager to help their Ethiopian neighbors against the vading white man, gladly contribute their sharp-shooting rifles to the cause especially when they get well paid for their benevolence.

Down the valley of the Nile and over the borders of the Sudan the traders likewise are plying their wares, with all the war material directed to the capital of the black kingdom, Addis Ababa.

The Ethiopians declare they need rifles chiefly, as the majority of the Negus' troops are unable to handle machine-guns. There are about 300 machine-guns in the hands of the regular army, which his estimated to total 50,000 men.

Italians To Be Outnumbered

With irregular tribesmen the fighting force of the nation will exceed 500,000. It will be pitted against an estimated strength of the 400,000 men, including one-third native Somaliland and Eritrean troops.

The Italians, even the natives, are versed in the use of machine-guns, bomb throwing mortars, grenades and other war weapons.

In normal times, the main occupation of the border tribes in Ethiopia was slave-raiding, as they stole across frontiers of British, Italian, French and Egyptian possessions and seized women and children to take them into bondage.

But slave-raiding has taken a second place to gun-running as the racketeers have organized business in readiness for the big blaze which will light up East Africa and the Red Sea shores.

There's lots of room in the FORD V-8

EVERY ONE who steps into the Ford V-8 for the first time is surprised at its roominess. There's exceptional seat room, leg room and head room in all body types—the whole car gives you a feeling of substantial size.

The Ford gives you extra body room because of the compact design of the V-8 engine—an exclusive Ford feature at a low price. This V-8 engine takes up less space in the hood and permits more of the car's length to be used for passenger comfort.

Many a car selling at a higher price does not give you as much interior room as the Ford V-8. Rear seats are wide and restful... three people can ride comfortably in the front seat of the Fordor Sedan, Fordor Touring Sedan, Convertible Sedan and Phaeton, and in the Coupes and Roadster. The seat of the Ford V-8 Roadster is 52 inches wide.

A ride in the Ford V-8 will show that it combines unusual body room with fine-car performance, safety, beauty and riding comfort.

Governor's Cousin Dies in Collision

By United Press
ALTURAS, Cal., Aug. 3 — A coroner's jury was summoned today to determine responsibility for a truck collision in which five workmen, one said to be related to the governor of Texas, were killed and seven others injured.

The accident occurred last night when two trucks sideswiped each other.

Included in the dead is Manley Allred, 37, Alturas, supposedly a second cousin of Governor James Allred of Texas.

Visions of the Future!

To your boy belongs the future . . . the thrill of accomplishment . . . new worlds to conquer. You want to do all you can to help him succeed. Much of his ability depends on eyesight . . . quick perception as he studies . . . accurate vision in sports and games. What about the lighting conditions in which he reads or studies? Improper lighting causes eyestrain, nervousness, headaches. Why not check the lighting in your home for his sake? At your request a lighting expert will survey your home and tell you just how much light you should have. Sometimes a bulb of higher wattage is needed; in other cases a new type of lamp shade will give better light. There is no charge whatever for this service.

SOCIETY POOLS DATA TO RAISE POLAR CURTAIN

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 — The American Polar Society, recently organized as a clearing house for Arctic and Antarctic information, has drawn its members from 18 states, England, France, Norway, Germany, Turkey and China. It proposes to band together all persons interested in Polar history and exploration.

Among the society's members are explorers who served with Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, Sir Ernest Shackleton, Lincoln Ellsworth and the French explorer, Dr. Jean B. Charcot.

Broad Work Outlined
The compilation of data, the chief work of the society includes:
Geography — Oceanography, Polar Art.
History — Cosmic Ray Research, Motion Pictures.
Biology — Geological studies, Cattle used in Polar Regions.
Geophysics — Aurora Observations.
Ice Studies — Gravity determinations, Claims of nations, Ships used and routes.
Radio — Magnetic Soundings, Personnel Data.
Seismology — Meteorological Studies, Collection of Maps, Polar Phenomena.
Aviation — Terrestrial Magnetism, Fuel Consumption.
Health Ultra Violet Studies, Base Construction.

Ellsworth, a trustee of the American Museum of Natural History, who will leave his chalet in Switzerland August 24, for a flight to South America where he will rejoin his ship, the Wyatt Earp at Montevideo, for his third attempt to span the Antarctic Continent by air, has agreed to serve the society as a member of its executive board.

Publication Is Issued
August Horowitz, Long Beach, N. Y., is acting as secretary of the society until its first election of officers in September. He also is editor of "The Polar Times," semiannual publication. Associated with him as art editor is Herbert H. Loges, New York City. Horowitz and Loges have had experience in collecting and publishing polar news. For 18 months during the recent Byrd and Ellsworth Antarctic Expeditions they published a monthly newspaper, the "Little America Times," for 250 friends and relatives of explorers with the Byrd and Ellsworth parties.

The society is collecting books, reports, maps and photographs relating to the Polar regions. It keeps in close touch with the Scott Polar Research Institute of Cambridge, England; the New Zealand Antarctic Society; the Arctic Institute at Leningrad, U. S. S. R., and other groups throughout the world that are interested in Polar affairs.

Former Pastor Will Preach At Evening Service Today at First Baptist Church

Rev. A. C. Miller, formerly pastor here and now pastor at Belton, will deliver the sermon at the First Baptist church this evening, it has been announced. Rev. Mr. Miller also will teach the lesson at the Men's Victory class this morning.

Rev. E. S. James, pastor of the church, has returned from Oklahoma at the bedside of his sister, and will preach at the morning hour. Frank Walker, Victory Class teacher, and Asa Skiles, general superintendent, have urged a large attendance at the Sunday school this morning to greet the former pastor.

Rev. Mr. Miller is well known in Cisco. It was during his pastorate here that the present church on the corner of West Ninth street and E avenue was built. He resigned here to accept the position as pastor of the First Baptist church in Belton.

Pipe Line To Aid Local Unemployed

In an effort to aid unemployed men of Cisco who have had experience in pipe line construction a list of qualified men who are in need of employment was forwarded Saturday to contractors who will lay the new 100 mile Lone Star Gas company pipe line from Dallas to Anderson county, by H. L. Dyer.

The company awarded contracts to two pipe line contractors who will begin work soon, and while news dispatches carried the report that these contractors would draw their labor from towns along the route of the line, Dyer hopes to be able to secure employment for at least a few local men.

Special Session Of Legislature Seen

By United Press
AUSTIN, Aug. 3 — Possibility of a special session of the state legislature next September "if some of the amendments carry" was admitted today by Governor Allred.

Allred declined to specify what amendments might necessitate calling legislators into extraordinary session, but if state prohibition is repealed, the legislature must make laws for regulation of liquor sales and to define an "open saloon" outlawed under the amendment. Old age pensions is understood to be another amendment which, if adopted, might call for early action by the legislature.

Oath of Allegiance to Flag To Be Required of Texas School Teachers

AUSTIN, Aug. 3. — Because state legislators believed "Americanism" should overshadow "liberalism" on Texas public school faculties, those who teach Texas youngsters will take an oath of allegiance to the flag this fall.

That is one of several new laws affecting education which will become effective Aug. 10. The same act provides that school teachers must be at least 18 years old.

Rural students will benefit by getting free tuition through the eleventh grade at the nearest high school when their community is unable to offer complete high school instruction. Another broadening of public school facilities is expected to result from a bill to provide free texts to Czechs and German language students.

School administration received an aid also. Two or more independent school districts were authorized to consolidate their tax collecting and legal agencies into a single office if desired.

Retirement funds for teachers may be established by local boards of trustees under another bill.

A new kind of "adult education" was provided in two new agricultural experiment stations. A tract of 200 or more acres in Southwest Texas' Pineywoods section will be secured for a livestock and poultry experiment station. Texas A. and M. college directors will be allowed to establish a farm in the Cross Timber section of West Texas to study soil and wind erosion—particularly to prevent disastrous dust storms such as swept the plains country this spring.

Reporter Defends Woman, Wins Case

DALHART, Aug. 3 — Newspaper reporters often turn detectives but it is unusual for them to invade the field of law as Albert H. Law, reporter for the Dalhart Texan did the other day.

Mrs. Marie Harrison Gibney, society editor of the paper was arrested for double parking. There being no restrictions on practice in a corporation court Law decided to defend.

Secretly he visited a lawyer friend, borrowed three law books, looked up files of his paper to find that the ordinance as published set the maximum fine at $200.

He showed Judge A. M. Reeseth the state law setting the maximum fine permissible under a city ordinance at $100.

Because the ordinance exceeded state law Judge Reeseth declared it invalid, dismissed Mrs. Gibney's case and gave traffic officers something to think about.

Now Dalhart has no double-parking law.
