Four Members of Farm Family Are Beaten by Intruder

TWO MAY DIE; FARMER NEAR BY IS SOUGHT

LUFKIN, Jan. 24. — Four members of a farm family near here were beaten brutally at their home today by a crazed neighbor with a hammer.

Two of the victims may die. A large posse sought the attacker, known to the victims as a farmer living near by.

The most seriously injured Mrs. F. L. McCall, about 50, and her daughter, Sally, 13. Both suffered fractured skulls.

Mrs. McCall staggered to the home of a neighbor and told of the attacks before lapsing into unconsciousness.

She said the man appeared at her home and aroused her, first complaining of a toothache and later requested a $2.50 loan. As she opened her purse the man seized a hammer and started beating her. After beating her to the floor the man attacked a bed-ridden invalid and two others.

Gran Chaco Battle Enters Fifth Day

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 24. — One of the bloodiest battles in modern South American history entered its fifth day today in the Gran Chaco where Bolivia and Paraguay have been fighting an "undeclared war" for nearly seven months.

The casualties were more than 4,000 killed or wounded. It dispatches from the battle front could be credited. Reports from the Bolivian capital claimed Paraguay lost 1,500 troops and 2,000 wounded in the first four days of the battle.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE PLAN HELPS JOBLESS

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Co-operative Exchange, unique outgrowth of these years of fiscal stringency, has appeared in many communities, nowhere, probably, as conspicuously as in Los Angeles. This is the first of a series describing the detailed workings of this modern evolution of the trading post.

By VINCENT MAHONEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 24. — A bricklayer trudges the streets, with only the skill in his hands warding off a night in the flophouse. The depression has hit the building trades hard.

He wanders into the headquarters of the Los Angeles Co-operative Exchange, and before he leaves he has made honorable, legitimate arrangements for a furnished cottage, an adequate amount of groceries, clothes for his wife and children, even tobacco.

His case is extreme. Most cannot be cared for so completely. But all can be helped some.

Oldest in West
The Los Angeles Co-operative Exchange is the oldest in the west, having completed its first year and part of its second.

An introduction to Miss Bessie Mays, director:
"Small, gray, humorous blue eyes, occasionally softening her earnest delivery, she literally can talk for hours about her enterprise. She started the co-operative idea here ten years ago, 'learned every mistake', shut up shop for awhile and reopened when the need became too evident to be ignored.

She has seen the small trading post she established in 1921 grow into an enterprise with half an acre of headquarters, four sewing rooms and a downtown store, besides sundry storage places.

How It Works
Here is how the exchange works. Within reason, anyone with a service to render can exchange it for virtually any other service, or commodity, he needs; owners of unneeded merchandise can exchange it for service or other merchandise. The service literally runs through the butcher-baker-candlestick maker gamut and up to and through the professions. A divorcee may be had in exchange for a sewing-machine that has become unhappily superfluous to the divorcee. In a more indirect way, a school teacher conducts classes at the exchange and pays his landlady out of it, using five per cent cash.

A bride-to-be can dispose of the odds and ends of her spinsterhood for a set of good pots and pans.

LOBOES WILL PLAY PIONEER FIVE TONIGHT

The Loboos will pack up their basketballs and journey over to Pickett tonight where they will take on the Rising Star team in the second game of the county cage race, according to Coach Wilson Elkins today.

Little is known about the Rising Star club, Elkins said. He said the Loboos had been looking good this week until J. L. Cearley sprained his bad ankle again yesterday. Cearley may be able to get into the game, however, he said.

Tomorrow night the Loboos play Gorman in Cisco Elkins is looking for a good game, he said, with the improved Cisco basketballers on the court.

The starting lineup for tonight will likely be Cearley and Harrison at forwards, Norvell at center, and Ray and Latch at guards, Elkins indicated. In case Cearley is unable to play, though, Billy Rutledge may get the call to start at forward.

The Loboos ushered in a new style of play when they defeated the Albany Lions here Friday night, Ray coming up from guard to take long shots at the basket and the forwards and center, taking the shots off the backboard. Incidentally Ray dropped seven of these long shots through the ring.

Latch has improved a great deal, coming up the court now for offensive as well as defensive play. Norvell, who made his court debut in the Eastland game, hustles and is able to account for some clever ball handling.

State Hospital to Be Investigated

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 24. — The Philadelphia Real Estate Board has suggested to the General Assembly that the state pay part of the cost of school education in each county to relieve the home owners of mounting real estate taxes.

AIRPLANES ARE EMPLOYED ON SOME RANCHES

VALENTINE, Neb., Jan. 24. — Substitution of airplanes for cow ponies is the newest wrinkle of ranchers with large holdings here.

Four ranchers, whose lands combined include more than 300,000 acres, own planes, which they use to transport supplies, check on their vast cattle herds after severe lightning storms and blizzards, or to rush buyers to and from metropolitan centers when they have been on the hoof ready for the market.

Best known among the "flying ranchmen" is Tom Arnold, proprietor of the XU ranch of 100,000 acres situated partially in Northwestern Nebraska and Southwestern South Dakota.

Fly Supplies
Arnold and his cowboys fly back and forth with supplies from the South Dakota headquarters to his leased holdings comprising some 60,000 acres in Nebraska, in his four-passenger cabin plane. The trip by truck would ordinarily consume four hours, but the plane nips it off in one hour flat.

During an emergency, the plane has more than proved its value. Arnold's small daughter suffered a fractured skull when she fell off a horse last winter. She was rushed to Omaha in the plane, where she was given prompt attention. It probably saved her life, as it would have required some 18 hours to make the 350-mile trip by train.

Further south in the Loup Valley country, Leonard Kyes, a rancher, and his brother put their biplane to a variety of uses about the ranch and at the same time give lessons in dull seasons to flying aspirants among their neighbors.

Kyes also uses the ship for "riding fence," saving much time. He claims as well as keeping check on his herds after storms.

13 New Students Enroll at Randolph

Thirteen new students have enrolled in Randolph college for the second semester, bringing the enrollment to 72, according to an announcement. Some 25 more are expected to enroll today, it was said.

FREE SILVER ISSUE ARGUED IN U. S. SENATE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. — Trebled agricultural prices, mounting stock quotations and better times were offered in the senate today by Sen. Wheeler, Dem., Monaca, in exchange for free coinage of silver.

William Jennings Bryan's plea for the debtor was pounded at the senate over protests of Sen. Glass, Dem., of Virginia, who said Wheeler's proposed 11 to one silver coinage amendment was foreign to the purpose of his bank bill.

Talk of free coinage in Washington sent silver futures on the national metal market at New York up 15 to 175 points today. Trading was on an extremely active scale with 1,175,000 ounces changing hands in the early dealings.

Wheeler told the senate that in one year after enactment of his bill the "price of wheat, cotton and all agricultural products would be trebled."

Technocracy Old Theory, Say Texans

AUSTIN, Jan. 24. — Technocracy, the economic doctrine expounded by Howard Scott at Columbia university, is an old theory, professors at the University of Texas maintain.

Both C. A. Timm, professor of government, and E. T. Miller, professor of economics, describe technocracy as a theory existent for many decades.

"Technocracy is socialism, an old subject, presented in a new way to avoid scaring the people although the inevitable results of both systems are the same," said Timm.

"It is an attempt to study our whole economic structure from the point of view of energy and resources and is calling attention to the fact our means of production have jumped ahead of our means of consumption."

Miller said: "Technocracy is a theory as old as the Marxian doctrines and more recently those of Thorstein Veblen, an economist who wrote about the effects of technological improvements of society."

HEADLESS BODY FOUND; 4 MEN ARE ARRESTED

FAIRFIELD, Texas, Jan. 24. —The body of a middle-aged man, his head cut off by the charge of a shotgun, was found on the highway ten miles north of here today.

Sheriff's officers were hunting occupants of a large automobile seen in the vicinity shortly before the shooting.

Officers seeking the killers of the man early this afternoon arrested four Dallas men whom they found beside an automobile mired in the mud. The place where the men were captured was only a few miles from where the unidentified man's body was found.

Collector Kidnaped, Bound and Robbed

DE QUEEN, Ark., Jan. 24. — W. J. Holland, grocery bill collector, was kidnaped by three men today, taken to a church eight miles from here and bound to one of the pews.

Socialites Wed

One of the high spots of Chicago's winter social season was the wedding of George F. Getz, Jr., son of the wealthy Chicago sportsman, and Miss Olive Cox

FARTHEST NORTH DOCTOR HAS 90,000 MILE BEAT IN ARCTIC

EDMONTON, Alta., Jan. 24. —Up in the farthest north where mail planes roar over slow moving parkland mushers and their husky dogs, a lone doctor is introducing modern medical methods among the Eskimos and Indians with great success.

It was in 1928 when Dr. James Urquhart, a graduate of McGill University, responded to an appeal for some doctor to serve in the Arctic when an influenza epidemic was threatening to wipe out a large proportion of the northern population.

Employed by the Canadian Federal government, Dr. Urquhart's "beat" now covers 90,000 square miles, from Arctic River to Herschel Island and from Aklavik to Cambridge Bay.

According to Dr. Urquhart, the infant mortality rate among Eskimos has been reduced enormously since the introduction of modern medical methods. For a time, the Eskimo mothers regarded the new "white doctor with suspicion," but now they "mush" hundreds of miles with dog teams to have their babies born in one of the two mission hospitals at Aklavik.

Health standards among the northern people are higher than generally believed and the principal complaint is diseases of the stomach, Dr. Urquhart said.

This is largely due to the fact that Eskimos and Indians do not know the meaning of the word "diet."

Three Eskimo witch doctors in Dr. Urquhart's territory made trouble at first. Dr. Urquhart says he dealt with these "firmly" and they haven't

CREW BUILDS ROAD ABOUT LAKE CISCO

A crew of 30 laborers, employed by the Emergency Unemployment Relief committee are at work cutting a road through the rough and "shiny" about a portion of the western and southern sides of Lake Cisco. The road will be 20 feet in width, and will make that portion of the upper lake readily accessible to fishermen and hunters.

The crew has been at work for ten days and the committee estimates that another 30 days will be required for completion.

The city, meanwhile is contemplating construction of another road down the south shore of the big reservoir from the country club, and an entrance on the north side from the highway provided arrangements can be made with landowners through whose property part of these roads would have to pass.

Gangster Shot to Death After Escape

The date was set at a meeting of the state affairs committee. Hearing on the bill to permit wagering at horse races was set for February 6.

Fire Burns Paper From One Room

Fire which was believed to have originated from a gas stove, scoured paper from the walls of one room at the home of Mrs. L. M. Hoover, 507 West Ninth street late yesterday. The flames were quickly extinguished by members of the fire department.

Child Witness in Trial of Father

SWEETWATER, Jan. 24. — How her drowning mother called vainly for help before she sank in Lake Trammel last July was told today by Hattie Joe Parks, 10, a witness in the trial of her father, L. M. Parks, on a charge of murder.

MAJORITY OF COMMITTEE IS CONFIDENT

AUSTIN, Jan. 24. — A heated two hours debate today stalled the senate's proposal to allow Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson to withdraw the Sterling nominations for the state board of education.

Sen. T. J. Holbrook attacked James E. Ferguson as "trying to take over the office of governor." He charged Jim Ferguson with "trying to get control of the board."

"This thing of running by the executive office every time you want to blow your nose is getting on my nerves," Sen. Joe Moore declared.

The senate was to resume the debate this afternoon. A majority of members on the senate's nominating committee still were confident of a Ferguson victory.

Bills offered today in the Texas legislature would make cotton stealing a felony, create a resource commission of three members to supervise oil and gas, and place telephones under railroad commission rate supervision.

Secret Session
The senate argued the controversial question of whether or not Mrs. Ferguson should be permitted to withdraw the Sterling nominations in a three-hour secret session which ended early last night when the body by a vote of 17 to 13 sustained a point of order that the nominations should be acted upon openly.

The vote to sustain the point of order was regarded at least a partial victory for the anti-Ferguson forces. Practically all, if not all, Mrs. Ferguson's opponents on this issue voted to sustain the point of order.

The vote on sustaining was as follows:
For—J. W. E. H. Beck of DeKalb, E. J. Beckert of Victoria, Wilborne B. Collier of Eastland, W. R. Cousins of Beaumont, Arthur P. Duggan of Littlefield, Julian P. Greer of Elkhart, Thomas J. Holbrook of Galveston, Joe M. Moore of Greenville, Cecil Murray of Gainesville, Ben C. Onal of Wichita Falls, W. R. Poage of Waco, George C. Purl of Dallas, Frank H. Rawlins of Fort Worth, K. M. Reagan of Pecos, Clint Small of Amarillo, H. Gray Woodruff of Deatur and Walter Woodul of Houston.

Against—Tom Deberry of Bogata, Ernest Fellbaum of San Antonio, W. K. Hopkins of Gonzales, John W. Hornsby of Austin, Will M. Martin of Hillsboro, Archie Parr of Benavides, Nat Patton of Crockett, John S. Redditt of Lufkin, Gus Russek of Schulenburg, Roy Sanderford of Belton and Albert Stone of Brenham.

GIRL'S DEATH MAY CAUSE VICE PROBE

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 24. — A sweeping investigation into the morals and alleged vice conditions among students of San Antonio schools threatened today in the investigation of the death of pretty Constance King, 18, high school student.

Evidence tending to show the girl was shot in a room of a disorderly house will be laid before a grand jury "primarily to get the facts in the killing of the girl," said District Attorney Walter Tynan.

"It's scope may be enlarged to include an investigation of conditions generally in San Antonio as they may affect school children."

HINT TO LAWMAKERS AND LAYMEN.

In her first message to the lawmakers Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson declared $46,015,741 revenue was needed to pay the debts of the commonwealth and keep up the public school apportionments. She proposed, in the budget bill, a reduction of approximately $15,000,000 in appropriations for the support of governmental departments. This bit of information was passed on to the legislative department: "For more than two years the people of the state of Texas, in line with the people of other states of the nation, have been cast hither and thither upon the angry waves of financial distress and destruction and depression. Upon every hand we hear now the wail of the orphan, the cry of distress, the murmur of discontent and the protest of the unemployed." The chief magistrate appealed to the lawmakers for the adoption of a "pay-as-you-go" plan. Long ago the old alcalde, the lamented O. M. Roberts, made the same plea to a lawmaking body of his period. He was a wise old statesman and noted jurist and a plain thinking leader of the plain people. Yes, cost of government must be cut to the bone in nation and state. It is important that the outgo should not exceed the income. An individual who lives beyond his financial means hits the rocks. A state government is a collection of individuals and where the outgo is greater than the income, the state hits the rocks, and all who contribute to the cost of government feel the hot pinch.

PROUD OHIO TURNS TO SCRIPT AND BARTER.

Ohio is one of the proud and progressive commonwealths of the federation of states. Now a news agency carries the story that Ohio, feeling a need for homemade methods of dealing with unemployment and having a shortage of ready cash, rapidly is turning to script and barter. In concrete form this is the story: At least eight cities, with a combined population of more than two million persons are considering advisability of issuing their own script to meet city pay rolls or to aid them in meeting the problem of unemployment relief. Everything from potatoes to radios has been disposed of in exchange for things their former owners needed more. Southern California, meaning the Los Angeles, Calif., launched the movement away last fall. Now there are thousands of workmen and work-women who were unemployed carrying on along the lines of barter and exchange of products and the movement is said to have been very successful in the lower Pacific coast country. Where do we go from here?

IOWA FARMERS AND THEIR LEADERS.

Gov. Clyde Herring of Iowa is a democrat. He is one of the prominent leaders of the Hawkeye state and has been for many, many years. He issued a proclamation asking holders of real or personal property mortgaged in Iowa "to refrain from foreclosing until legislative bodies have had time to enact legislation meeting the economic emergency." Gov. Herring declared that an emergency exists in which farmers and others are in danger of losing their farms, homes, and livelihood and that "these conditions are becoming more acute and more aggravated." Gov. Herring's proclamation placed Iowa among the Middlewestern states which have taken steps in this connection, one of the first of which was Wisconsin. His proclamation was issued at the suggestion of the emergency legislative committee of the Iowa senate and house, which is preparing to draft relief legislation. It is well for all the people to read danger signs the country over, and to face the real issues everywhere. Sen. Clint Small in one of his campaigns advised the people to declare "a vacation on politics." In other words, for the people to come together and reason together in preparing a program which will give relief to all classes and conditions of the social order.

PASS THIS ON TO COLLEGE STUDENTS.

Washington is one of the very progressive commonwealths to the westward of the Rockies. This is an interesting educational note from that land beyond the mountains: Fewer than 25 per cent of the students in the University of Washington could name the 48 states in 10 minutes and the faculty rated little better. Among states listed by the students were Southern California, New Orleans and District of Columbia. States omitted most frequently were Utah, Arkansas, Nebraska, Mississippi and Iowa. In the good old days Texas cowmen had a pet phrase when astounded or astonished: "My gawd!" If this story from the upper west of the Rockies is true, highbrows will be asking the lowbrows, "Where does education educate?"

TOM CONNALLY FOR REVALUATION OF DOLLAR.

Sen. Tom Connally is not an artful dodger. He is either "for or agin" all proposals of governmental changes. Now he has a proposal for his colleagues to face: Downward revaluation of the gold dollar as a palliative measure for the burden of depression debts. His argument is that revaluation is preferable to currency inflation or deflation. Yes, the Texas senator believes the dollar is too valuable under the present stress with debts contracted when commodities brought higher prices. After inauguration F. D. is going to be a busy man.

RURAL STATES AND THEIR TAX PAYMENTS.

Texas is a rural state. Perhaps the most important of all the rural commonwealths. Now the experts of the house ways and means committee of congress declared the average burden of state and local taxes on every hundred dollars of estimated wealth was five per cent in 1931 in predominantly rural than in more urban states. Experts of the committee furnished the average levy: For every hundred dollars of wealth in states chiefly rural $3.00 as compared to $2.95 for the urban group. This does not include federal taxes, but to get the total tax burden per $100 of taxable wealth $1.01 can be added to the figures above. The Texas figure is placed at $2.70 per $100 valuation. Joseph R. Grundy of Pennsylvania, the kingfish of republican politicians and manufacturers and their allies, named the rural states as "the backward states," and it was the late Sen. George H. Moses of New Hampshire who declared that the congressional spokesmen of many of the rural states were "the offspring of the wild jackass."

SPRING SONG

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

The little dispute over the identity of the pistol with which Sheriff Pat Garrett killed Billy Bonney better known as Billy the Kid, is indicative of the romantic glamor with which peace-loving people enshrine the histories of adventurous bad men. The instinct is not due to any love of bloodletting but to an inherent yen for thrills. It is the same instinct that makes us read fast action stories. After he passed from the reality of a dangerous criminal Billy the Kid became a fictional character, his crimes subordinated to accounts of the singular daring with which he accomplished his evil. No doubt in life the frontier rascal was as little loved as some of our modern desperadoes whose bloody records are too immediate to be seen through rose colored glasses. I had the pleasure a couple of years ago of meeting a brother of Sheriff Pat Garrett. A stocky, gray-headed man, with quiet gray eyes and a taciturn manner, he operated a hardware business at Haynesville, La., the home of my immediate fore-bears. He said little about the episodes in which his brother played so determinative a part, but he loaned me a book which contained what I judged to be an authentic account of them. The judgment was based upon the fact that the author of the account adopted what was clearly an impartial viewpoint, neither eulogizing Billy the Kid nor canonizing the sheriff who terminated his bloody career. Faults and virtues of each were narrated with commendable dispassion. The reader could see that though the sheriff was a virtuous citizen as measured by frontier standards, he was not altogether a heroic figure, and though Billy the Kid was overwhelmingly bad, he possessed some traits that invited admiration.

The fact that a close relative of the sheriff should adopt the narrative was a testimonial to the discrimination of its author.

But in spite of the magnitude that Bill the Kid's exploits have attained by tradition, it occurs to me that the deeds of some modern desperadoes have put them in the shade, so to speak. Even in a period when the natural wildness of the country and the crudeness of the means of transportation and communication gave sanctuary to unsocial characters, the Kid's vicious history was brief. He succumbed to law and order in his early twenties.

In this day and time of paved highways, swift cars, telephones, telegraph and radios which make seconds out of what once were hours there are as desperate characters trailing blood across the fronts of every newspaper and slipping into obscurity with the elusiveness of a ghost. Three such killed a sheriff at Tulia yesterday. A Port Worth deputy sheriff was murdered under the eyes of his comrades at Dallas. Accounts hint that the Tulia killers are those who shot down the Port Worth officer. They also hint that Charles (Pretty Boy) Floyd is the master mind.

No one but Floyd and his confederates know. It is not too much with which to charge the Oklahoma bandit whose spectacular career would make his frontier prototype envious.

Fifty years from now we shall probably be reading of Floyd through a looking glass which will dissolve his wickedness into an aura of romance. That is one of our characteristics which contribute to the presence of such criminals.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By EDSON R. WAITE
Shawnee, Oklahoma.

Albert Aronson, managing editor of the Louisville Times, says:

That two factors make newspaper advertising supreme. By usage and custom newspaper columns are the recognized, centralized guide for shoppers and buyers. The second factor in their value as mediums of buying information is their all-year-around, every day availability.

Advertising, in the accepted sense, would cease to exist without newspapers because all other forms of advertising are supplementary. The newspaper is a vital part of advertising, but newspapers have and would again live without advertising. Just as there is no substitute for newspapers, there is no substitute for newspaper advertising.

The value of newspaper advertising is in direct ratio to the value of newspapers. And who is there who doubts newspapers are a necessity?

Woman Makes City Autopsies

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Jan. 24.—Dr. Louisa H. Bacon, a charming young lady, presides over a smelly laboratory at the San Bernardino County Hospital as perhaps the only woman autopsy surgeon in California.

Since becoming the head pathologist and director of the laboratory in 1930, Dr. Bacon has performed 398 autopsies, unpleasant assignments even for veteran surgeons. She has testified at one inquest an average of every 10 days and has appeared in court in connection with deaths about once a month.

Dr. Bacon, explaining that "women do almost everything now,"

TOOK PILLS FOR 30 YEARS, THEN CEREAL BROUGHT RELIEF

Mr. Forsythe Endorses ALL-BRAN for Constipation

If you suffer from headaches, loss of appetite and energy or any other of the frequent effects of constipation, read this voluntary letter:

"After taking pills and tablets for about thirty years for constipation, I started to take your ALL-BRAN three times a day according to directions. Today I can eat cheese, and that is binding, and certainly feel fine."—Mr. Ed. Forsythe, Box 219, Youngstown, N. Y.

Science says ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regular habits. In addition, ALL-BRAN is rich in blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Isn't this pleasant "cereal way" far more healthful than using patent medicines—so often habit-forming?

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. In serious cases use with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

SKY WONDERS ARE SCHEDULED FOR THIS YEAR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Spectacular sky phenomena featuring six comets and two eclipses are on the program for this year's astronomical entertainment. The comets are scheduled for return engagements, while the eclipses are to be extraordinary attractions.

Brosens's comet, last seen in 1879, will streak across the astronomical stage in November, according to the American Nature Association of Washington. The other comets will appear in May, June and August.

The two eclipses of the sun will be annular. An annular eclipse, the Nature Association points out, is one in which the positions of the sun and moon are such that the moon fails to cover the solar disc completely, leaving a thin annulus or ring of light at the time corresponding to totality in a total eclipse. The partial eclipses, Feb. 24 and Aug. 21, will be visible only in the eastern and southern hemispheres.

Mars especially interesting because of its possibilities as an abode of life and its varied surface markings, which indicate seasonal changes, is due at perihelion, that point in its orbit nearest the sun, on March 1. Astronomers interested in this neighboring world will keep it under close scrutiny some weeks before and after the date of opposition, and new information about the ruddy planet may be forthcoming.

Regulus, first magnitude star of the constellation of Leo, will be eclipsed by the moon on Feb. 10. Although the moon passes between the earth and hundreds of stars every year, an occultation, or eclipse, of a star of the first magnitude is not a frequent occurrence in any one locality. Opportunity to observe this phenomenon should not be missed if the night is clear.

33,000,000 Fish Planted by State

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 24.—Nearly 30,000,000 fish have been planted in the lakes and streams of Wyoming in the last two years. The fish were supplied from the state's eight fish hatcheries.

Carl Lund, chief assistant game and fish commissioner, said in addition to the state's output, the United States hatchery at Saratoga had supplied 3,119,950 fish to aid in maintaining the fishing standards of Wyoming rivers and creeks.

The production of the fish cost $103,783 during 1931-32. The cost in 1932 was $7,000 less than it was the previous year. The expense in 1931 was $55,361 and last year it was $48,422. Salaries and fish egg purchases were the largest item of expense.

Lund said all of the hatcheries need modernization. He recommended the hatcheries in Park and Fremont counties be moved to more desirable locations, where there is a larger supply of water. The department recently purchased a site for a new hatchery in Fremont county, near Dubois, but is unable to start work on the project until funds are provided.

FEW TRAPPERS DARE BARRENS FOR WEALTH

EDMONTON, Alberta, Jan. 24.—Poachers on a vast icy tundra, a handful of white trappers are snatching riches in furs from the Barrens, as desolate, forbidding a region as exists on the globe.

Operating along the shores of Artillery Lake, these trappers dare the "world's worst" weather for white fox pelts and other skins.

For a few months each year they are separated from the outside world. The Barrens are a savage Arctic waste, penetrated by few persons even in the summer, when they are covered by moss and small flowers.

Icy Winds.

But in the winter these winds whistle over icy snow packs with unbelievable violence. The temperature often drops to 99 below zero.

The Barrens begin suddenly at a point north of the timber line which stretches from Great Slave Lake, far north of Edmonton, to the southern portion of Artillery Lake. The timber does not become smaller and smaller toward the Barrens, straggling off to bush and scrub growth. It merely stops, as though sheared by the knife-edge of some great glacier.

Those who trap in this land are "poachers" in the sense that they defy those laws that say white men cannot survive the terrible cold of the Barrens. Even to those accustomed to 50 and 60 below zero temperatures in northern Canada it is incredible that white men should be able to withstand the 90 below of the Barrens.

Original Trappers.

Most of the original Barren lands trapper-adventurers are no more. Jack Hornby, aristocratic, wealthy and eccentric British soldier of fortune, died from starvation with his two young companions, Adlard and Christian. Two partners, Olsen and Bode were murdered in their sleep by an Eskimo who sought their firearms. The famed Blackie Lanner died a suicide.

Ed Clausen, an American born Norwegian, deserted his trappings to become a miner in the Great Bear Lake district. Others have followed suit.

When fur prices were high a few seasons back the Barrens offered a high-priced executive's income to those hardy enough to brave their rigors. Three brothers cleared $60,000 in two years from their traps. A lone trapper made $18,000 in a single winter.

But that was when white fox pelts brought as much as $75. Now such furs sell in the north for $10 to $20. All other furs have dropped in value.

Garner's Portrait Finished by Artist

WASHINGTON, January 24.—Speaker Garner's portrait, which will hang in the house lobby with those of all his predecessors in office, has been completed. It is an imposing work and pictures Garner attired in the stiff formal collar he was accustomed to wear in the early days of his speakership.

Mrs. Garner insisted on the wing collar for the portrait even though Garner long since has forsaken collars of this type for everyday wear. He now wears the ordinary soft collar, usually with a gold pin holding the points in place.

The portrait is in a conspicuous place in Garner's office. A reporter in search of news, which has been scarce recently in the speaker's office, remarked one day that it might be just as advantageous to interview the portrait as the speaker himself.

Boris Gordon, who painted Champ Clark's portrait, did the Garner work. He said speaker was a very good subject after he had told him, at the beginning of the sittings: "You'll have to look pleasant. Forget you're in the house of representatives."

Women Golfers Invade Florida

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 24.—The crusading linkswomen of the north, south and middle-west are ready to open the Florida campaign at the Miami Biltmore course, always a factor in the women's golfing year.

Miss Helen Hicks, Long Island monarch, holder of the national championship in 1931, and during her brief career winner of all the important golf crowns of Canada and the United States, heads the procession, with her metropolitan nemesis, Miss Maureen Orcutt, of white Beeches, N. J., four times metropolitan champion and runner-up for the national honors in 1927, at her shoulder.

From the mid-west comes the challenge of Mrs. Opal S. Hill, of Kansas City, Mo., western champion and internationalist, who has still to make her mark in Florida competition, where Miss Orcutt and Miss Hicks have operated so brilliantly with Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, ex-champion, and Miss Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, the reigning national titleholder.

Mrs. H. D. Sterrett, of Hutchinson, Kan., was the winner of the Miami Biltmore women's invitation last year, defeating Mrs. Art Milles, of Anawalk, N. Y., in the final round, but the course record of 84, almost certain to be smashed to bits when the Misses Hicks and Orcutt and Mrs. Hill go into action, is held by Mrs. Ernest Hogarth, of Lorain, O.

1,500 INSPECTIONS MISSOULA, Mont., Jan. 24.

There were 1,500 construction, maintenance and miscellaneous inspections made during 1932 by engineers of the Federal Bureau of Roads in Montana, bureau reports show. Eighty-eight federal forest highway projects are under federal inspection in the state, with inspections scheduled at least twice a year. Inspections also must be made of 15 forest highway jobs under construction.

$2,387,000 INVESTED HELENA, Mont., Jan. 24.

The Montana State Land Commission invested $2,387,000 during 1932. I. M. Brandford, state land and investment commissioner, has reported. More than $2,600,000 of the total was invested in state general fund warrants.

MOM'N POP.

SPOTLIGHT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SHELLA SHAYNE, 18, whose parents were well known vaudeville entertainers, is a dancer. After weeks out of a job she is hired to substitute for DAISY GLEASON, another dancer, who has sprained her ankle. While rehearsing at JOE PARIS' song shop Sheila meets DICK SPANLEY and TREVOR LANE, both rich. Dick is much attracted by Sheila and urges Lane to include her in the program of entertainment at a party he is giving. Sheila declines to come but later accepts.

At the party she meets GORDON MANDRAKE, well known producer. She sees Dick frequently after that. Daisy returns to the show and Sheila again hunts a job. Then Mandrake offers her a part in a new play. Rehearsals begin at once. Sheila becomes friendly with JIM BLAINE, one of the principals in the play.

They go to Atlantic City for the tryout. There newspapers uncover the fact that Jim is the son of a wealthy family and has gone on the stage in opposition to his father's wishes.

MARION RANDOLPH, the star, becomes jealous of the praise Sheila receives from critics and therefore Sheila is discharged. Dick invites her to tea, telling her Mandrake will be there also.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVI

THE second important happening of the day came only two hours later. When Dick Stanley put down the telephone after talking to Sheila he walked rapidly across the living room, lighted a cigarette, tossed it aside within five minutes. Then he sank impatiently into a chair and called Trevor Lane's number.

"It's a bad break all right," Trevor replied when Dick had told him how Sheila had left the new show. "It doesn't mean that she wasn't a success, though. That little Tillie Lee who has the part now can't compare with Sheila. But Marion Randolph is bound to have her own way! Two pearly tears from those blue eyes and she could practically put Mandrake himself out!"

Dick interrupted to say precisely what he thought of that producer.

"There's no use taking it that way," Trevor assured him. "And if you want to help Sheila you won't even mention this to Mandrake. You say they're both coming to tea? Well, suppose I drift in on the party?"

He did just that.

Nothing was said about Sheila's departure from the cast of "When Lights Are Low." Sheila drank her tea, looking wide-eyed and serious, smiled and answered desultory questions. She even sang a little when Trevor asked her to sing.

While she and Dick at the far end of the room were hunting through sheets of music for the song they wanted Trevor talked to Mandrake.

Sheila was never to learn just what was said in that conversation but next morning she was again in rehearsal. The part was in the road show company of a Broadway hit. This time the contract was signed. Sheila's flat little purse contained the precious document when she met Dick after the rehearsal.

"And that's that!" he said, folding the document after he had read it and handing it back to her. "Let's celebrate!"

There was another rehearsal at 7 which would end an hour later since most of the cast were playing in another show about to close.

UNTIL 7 Dick and Sheila drove. She had a new job. He had been hard at work on his play and only the night before had reached the turning point when every part of his drama seemed to dovetail.

"We're going to have a lot of fun this year, together," he said. His eyes, straight ahead on the pavement, turned for an instant to meet hers.

"But I won't be here! I thought you knew, Dick. It's the road company I'm going in!"

"The road company?" His face was blank. "But, good Lord! Sheila, you can't take that! The road company! Why, that means traveling!"

"Of course it does," Sheila put in. "And I love it."

He turned toward her a face so filled with dismay that her own expression softened. Her hand crept out on the wheel to pat his own.

"But, Sheila, you can't!" he insisted. "Oh, please—I want you here!"

"I've been here all the time, Dick," she replied uncertainly.

It was so exactly like a man to suddenly discover that a girl was indispensable just when she was leaving.

"I know you have, honey. But somehow I didn't know how much you mean to me until now."

They had driven far up the drive and were nearing Inspiration Point. It was barely 6:30. By choosing the least crowded thoroughfares he could have her back at the hall where the rehearsal was to be held in plenty of time.

The sky across the Fallsides was rosy. The silver roughness of the river reflected every shade of the sunset. The park, high on the rocks, twinkled uncertainly with diamond-like lights, growing brighter and brighter as the sky slowly faded.

Sheila straightened. Dick mustn't tell her now that he loved her. It wouldn't do. Both of them had so many other things to think about.

But did he really love her? Did she want him to tell her so even if it were true?

"I think we should turn back, Dick," she told him, withdrawing her hand. "It's getting late."

"Just as you say." He did not raise his eyes.

SWIFTLY the car skimmed down the drive, crossed into the park at 110th street and picked up the winding road through the trees. They reached 45th street at 7 o'clock promptly.

"I'll be waiting when you've finished," Dick said.

Sheila ran up the stairs, her cheeks burning. Was Dick going to ask her to marry him? If she agreed what would they live on? Dick had said that he was the poor member of the family. He meant poor, no doubt, according to Trevor Lane's standards—not her own. Dick could hardly rent that lovely penthouse without a fair income. True enough, his home wasn't anything like the palatial quarters where Trevor Lane lived. Trevor's apartment was a show place—a perfect setting for the sort of parties he gave. Dick's rooms were cozy with deep, comfortable chairs, dark wood, his books, his fireplace, his cluttered tables. Dick was a fine fellow, a real friend—but did she want him to fall in love with her?

As Sheila took her place on the stage she tried to put all this from her mind. The chorus was going through its paces. Weary girls in practice suits, always willing, al-

Frogs and Owls Set For Battle Tonight

FORT WORTH, Jan. 24.—Coach Francis Schmidt's basketball five will be fighting hard for its place in the conference sun when Rice and T. C. U. meet in the Frog fieldhouse tonight. It seems evident, with the race not yet half over, that no team can suffer more than one defeat and retain a chance of beating out the Longhorns for the title. The Frogs have played but two conference games, one of which they lost to S. M. U. by one point and the other of which they won from A. & M. by one point.

The Christians showed real form for the first time this season in winning 36 to 35 from the national professional champions, the Cleveland Celts, last Saturday night. The fans were particularly pleased with the playing of Doc Sumner, veteran forward, who had seemed to find it hard to get going this winter. Doc played with all of his old-time fire, ringing up 11 points for the evening.

No date has yet been announced for the Baylor game, postponed from Jan. 20. T. C. U. final examinations of the fall semester start tomorrow, however, and it is not likely that the game will be scheduled until sometime in February.

"The RUSSO-AMERICAN OAK."
YEARS AGO, AN OAK AT MOUNT VERNON WAS PLANTED IN PETROGRAD, RUSSIA.

IN 1898, AN ACORN FROM THE TREE THAT GREW IN PETROGRAD WAS BROUGHT TO AMERICA AND PLANTED. ON APRIL 6, 1904, THE SAPLING THAT GREW FROM THIS ACORN WAS PLANTED IN THE WHITE HOUSE GROUNDS BY PRESIDENT THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

SEN. CHARLES SUMNER of Massachusetts, was the real "founder" of the Russo-American oak. He sent the first acorn from the Mount Vernon oak to the czar of Russia, who planted it in the grounds of the imperial palace, as a symbol of Russo-American friendship. Acorns from this tree were planted in 1898, by Ethan Allen Hitchcock, American ambassador to St. Petersburg, and one of the resulting saplings was sent to President Roosevelt.

Ozark Poet Back In Home Town

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Jan. 24.—Harry Browning, Inc., has returned to Springfield and the Ozark country.
Browning, a former Drury college student and poet, obtained much publicity when he sold stock in himself to Oxford University to develop his literary talent.

The Ozark poet journeyed as far east as New York, and there his troubles began. It seemed the British did not want him without more cash, and that they were not interested in his future.

Britain seemed more interested in the fact Browning did not possess $1,000 which was needed to develop his talent at Oxford. So Browning remained in New York.

The poet's return here was unimpressive, and devoid of the fanfare that marked his leave taking. So unobtrusive was his reappearance that he had been here some before his presence was known.

He attracted attention here when he published a book of poems, many of them on travel and wanderlust. At Drury he provoked attention and discussion, when he refused to "hamper my style" by conforming to convention in writing.

Scant Funds Halt Navy Expansion

BELGRADE, Jan. 24.—Yugoslavia's "naval expansion" program has been brought to a virtual standstill by lack of funds and failure of the government to obtain credits in Great Britain.

Yugoslavia at present has one cruiser building in Great Britain which is to cost approximately $15,000,000 a schoolship under construction at Hamburg as a part reparations payment; and the Skoda Works are delivering equipment for a new destroyer, the "Dubrovnik", which is to be equipped with 12-inch guns.

Negotiations have been carried on for some time for the ordering of more warships, but have failed to date because the British firms department cash and the finance department for payment by installments. The Yarrow shipyards and the French builders Les Chantiers de la Loire at Nantes, are in agreement to divide all orders from Yugoslavia for warships, as are other French and British builders. Both the above mentioned firms have their branch plants in Yugoslavia, the Chantiers works at Split and the Yarrow works at Kraljevica. Both these firms have been trying for several years to obtain orders for the ships which the Yugoslavian general staff has planned, but so far have received little, due to financial difficulties.

Appeal Assails U. S. Hospitals

LONDON, Jan. 24.—United States residents here have been surprised to find in a New Year appeal for funds by the Charing Cross Hospital a direct attack on the policy of United States hospitals and a veiled comparison of conditions in the United States today with those in Soviet Russia.

The appeal, written by George Verity, Chairman of the hospital and distributed to many United States citizens, contained the following paragraph:

"We never have adopted the doctrine of 'scrap and replace' rife across the Atlantic and elsewhere — our policy is repair and make good, and that is, after all, the basic principle of humanity. Where that has been neglected, look at the results Bolshevism and Communism. I don't exactly know what the latter doctrines mean, beyond seeming to me a 'tabloid' of bitterness and violence, but I defy the most ardent advocate of those nasty qualities to dent them after having been brought back to health in a ward of Charing Cross Hospital, and this is no hearsay—it is actual fact, and thank God for that."

Most of the American recipients of the appeal recalled that in 1929 Philip Inman, house governor of Charing Cross Hospital, went to the United States especially to appeal for funds and in ten days raised $25,000.

Steps to Curb Imports Taken

KOVNO, Jan. 24.—Lithuania, like many other European countries, has now taken steps to curb imports of foreign goods. The government has just issued a decree providing that for the imports of such goods as iron, coal, salt, cotton, cement, and sugar, special import licenses are required. At the same time a separate commission has been formed to supervise Lithuanian foreign trade. The director of the ministry of commerce, Norkaitis, has been named head of this new commission. Originally, the Lithuanian government had intended to counteract heavy imports through increasing customs duties. This plan, as well as the plan to introduce fixed im-

Conoco refining chemists have produced a new, improved motor fuel. No matter how different it is, we must call it g-a-s-o-l-i-n-e; for that is the name the public knows for every motor fuel. But this gasoline deserves a special name; one that suggests how "different" it is. How else may the public know?

Conoco (.....?) Gasoline! If you can give us the name we want, $5,000 in cash is yours. $5,000 more will be divided among those who suggest the best slogans to describe it. What we seek is to make motorists "understand."

To describe the "difference" you must know the difference. To know the difference you must feel it in your motor. The man at the Conoco station will tell you the exciting facts; give you, free, an official contest-information-and-entry blank. Prepare yourself to produce the winning words. Fill your tank with this gas. Within 10 blocks, you'll know why your words may be worth $10,000.00 to us.
