DAILY BIBLE THOUGHT

HOW TO WIN:—Trust in the Lord, and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed.

SAFE FROM ALL EVIL:—The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil; he shall preserve thy soul.—Psalm 121: 7.

CANCELLATION OF WAR DEBTS.

All the European delegates who attended the International Chamber of Commerce convention in the city of New York stressed the importance of early cancellation by the American government of the war loans made to allied nations. In other words, they asked that American taxpayers, who advanced loans totaling billions, shall relieve European nations of debt payment.

Business is business. There is no place in the history of Great Britain where its government relieved the debtor of a loan advanced. It is not recorded in the history of France that its government has cancelled a loan advanced to a sister nation. There is no place in the history of Germany or all down the line. Why should the American people assume the payment of this huge debt for the benefit of foreign nations and individuals? Dismissing the government loans American banks and bankers have invested in the shape of loans 15 billion dollars in foreign nations or individuals since the treaty of peace was signed. Generosity should begin at home. There are six million unemployed men and women in this country who are said to be not only able but willing to work and this vast army is entitled to first consideration on the part of their fellow Americans.

SOUTHERN BAPTISTS RESOLUTE.

Southern Baptists in convention assembled in the city of Birmingham endorsed a world peace program and adopted resolutions commending President Hoover's efforts for law observance and enforcement and reduction of naval and land armaments. Another resolution condemned most scathingly Soviet Russia and the refusal of the Soviet Russian government to acknowledge and then bow to a living God. Regardless of their dictators millions and millions of Russians do acknowledge and bow to a living God. There is the worship of the soul in Russia as elsewhere and soul worship of the creator of the universe and all that the universe contains.

LAWMAKERS ENACT STATE PARK BILL.

Another measure has been enacted that calls for sweeping approval. A bill authorizing incorporated cities, counties and the Texas state park board to acquire lands for and operate public parks mutually is now on Governor Sterling's desk. Provision is made in the bill for the governor and the state prison board to permit the use of convicts for improving and maintaining parks acquired under terms of the measure. Another parks board bill still pending would authorize the acquiring by the state of five major parks. It should be enacted.

State parks, county parks and city parks are needed in a thousand spots under the skies of Texas. Save the trees, preserve the wonders of nature, in a woodland sense, and make Texas as famed for its parks and playgrounds as it is famed for its having had an existence under six separate flags. T. A. Keen, who is an authority, writes that the tourist camp industry has grown to be one of the largest in the state. In other words, the tree camp has gone forever. In its place has risen the cottage camp, modern in every detail. He writes that California began building camps as early as 1923. Today it ranks second in number—Texas leading by several hundred. Texas has 1100 camps, California has 900 with Arizona and Oregon running close behind California.

Of the Texas places approximately 500 are of the better type—real A-1 camps. All newer camps are of the modern kind, many built during the last two or three years being remodeled to the present standard in construction and equipment. Many of the newer camps are like the better class of homes with the exception that they are smaller. His conclusion: "They are efficiency apartments."

CHEAP EDUCATION MURRAY'S DEMAND

"Cheap education" is the slogan of Governor William H. Murray of Oklahoma. His latest is that he will discharge anyone in the state education system refusing to cooperate in his economy program. Governor Bill admits it is not his intention to revise the entire educational system. A very modest man is Governor Bill. However, he says the changes he recommends will come during the next 15 years. Governor Bill is a man who believes in self. He would have made a most admirable king of the South American republic of Bolivia where he "riz and fell" in bygone years.

MAKE WAY FOR THE TRINITY RIVER CANAL.

Governor Sterling signed the bill creating the Trinity river canalization and conservancy district. It will become effective 90 days after final adjournment of the present session of the 42nd legislature. When completion of the long range canal has taken place it will be necessary to name boards of pilots from Fort Worth to the gulf—at all intermediate points. This is a miracle-making age. A combination of brains and coin worketh wonders.

BITTERWEED AS A SHEEP KILLER.

Bitterweed as a destroyer of sheep is an issue uppermost in the minds of the sheepmen of West Texas. They are asking for an emergency appropriation for the eradication of the poisonous weed. Col. Hill of San Angelo is here pushing the cause of the sheepmen. Speaking of losses, he said:

"We must have governmental help. There has never been anything that has happened to the livestock industry in Texas that in any way compares to this and I have been handling livestock 53 years." Speaking of the plan as well as the losses of the sheepmen the colonel continued, "Our two senators and Representatives J. P. Buchanan and Fritz Lanham had a weed expert, A. G. Clawson, sent from Washington. He was assisted by A. B. Connor, director of experiment stations in Texas. They gathered the information that M. D. Stokes lost 700 sheep, M. Kirkland lost a few bucks, Frank Bond lost 1200 sheep, Tom Bond lost 2200. Ranchman Page lost 135. Ranchman Adams lost five per cent of his flocks and Robert Evans lost 116. At a meeting at Sonora one ranchman said he had a $10,000 loss, another $4000 and still another 3500 of his flock. W. H. Hill and H. F. Malloy from December 1929 to May 1, 1931, lost 453 sheep."

Now as to the future, the colonel made this prediction: "The bitterweed is all over West Texas. There will be over 300,000 sheep sold by ranchmen that cannot run them on their ranches any longer during the year 1931. Messrs. Clawson and Connor estimated that they could put in a laboratory that would be of great benefit in working out the situation at a cost of $20,000."

Life appears to be just one blasted thing after another. Bitterweed poisoning of sheep is the latest. Lawmakers are coming down the home stretch. There is going to be a frenzied slaughter of bills on the calendar after the hopper has gone around for the last time and the lucky measures have been put over the top. In early April experts predicted a grasshopper invasion this year. Wouldn't it be heavenly if the grasshoppers could be fed on Texas bitterweed?

OTHER OPINIONS

WATERWAY PROJECTS IN TEXAS

The federal government is spending more money on river and harbor development in Texas than in any other state in the union. As a matter of fact, Texas is getting about twice as much appropriation of this character as any other single state.

With the port development of the state, the people are remarkably well acquainted. Of the construction of inland waterways and the canalization of Texas rivers, there is less general knowledge.

Foremost among these inland waterway projects, of course, is the intracoastal canal linking Brownsville (ultimately) with the Mississippi River and the host of canals tributary to the "Father of Waters." Upon this project work is either completed or contracted as between New Orleans and Beaumont; right of way has been secured and contracts let for the sector lying between Beaumont and Galveston Bay.

Completion of the intracoastal canal will give this great area of Texas direct barge-line connections with the giant steel mills of the Pittsburg district, the manufacturing and ore-producing centers of the Great Lakes, and the agricultural empire which lies about the headwaters of the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers.

Without the intracoastal canal and its connections with the canal systems of the Mississippi River, there was little incentive for the canalization of Texas rivers. With completion of the primary project secured, however, further inland waterway developments immediately were projected. They include the Guadalupe, Trinity and Red River undertakings, all of which have received flattering encouragement from Congress and army engineers.

What all of this development may mean to Texas is a matter for conjecture. For ages, the great cities of the world have been built, either as ports of the sea or upon navigable rivers and inland waterways. American cities have proven no exception to the rule. Today our great cities are scattered along the Atlantic, Gulf or Pacific Coasts, the shores of the Great Lakes, or upon the banks of the Mississippi and connected waterways.

Beaumont, Houston and Corpus Christi owe their growth, if not their existence, to the identical influences which built New York City, Baltimore, New Orleans and San Francisco, Victoria, Cuero, Dallas, Fort Worth and Denton, when their canalization programs are completed, may owe a similar debt to the influences which built the inland waterway cities of Chicago, Milwaukee, Cleveland, Detroit, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and a score of others.

The railroads, unquestionably, made Texas the fifth state in the union. But it will be the railroads and that supplementary system of cheaper transportation, the inland waterways, which, together, will advance the Lone Star state another notch or two up the ladder of growth and progress. We emerge from the era of railroads, to pass into an era of waterway development. Our march of progress continues.—Editorial Digest.

NEW MOORING MAST FIT.

AKRON, O., May 20. — A giant movable mooring mast to drag the mammoth dirigible "Akron" in and out of the Goodyear-Zeppelin corporation airdock has been tested and pronounced fit. Powered with a 240-horsepower gasoline engine, the mast is 76 feet high, weighs 200 tons and attains full speed in locomotion at two miles per hour. Although originally designed by British engineers, the "iron horse" was made mobile by U. S. Naval experts.

Victoria—Bus Station established here for South Texas coaches.

Light Drinker Is Traffic Menace

LOS ANGELES, May 20. — The moderate drinker of intoxicating liquors is a greater menace to automobilists than one who drives a car in traffic while drunk. Professor Albion R. King, of the University of Southern California, reported in his study "Psychology of Drunkenness."

Is Impulsive

The professor declared that a person in the early stages of intoxication may have a better coordination of muscular activities, but is impulsive and reckless.

A mildly intoxicated person is inclined to think he can drive as well as anyone, according to the professor. On the other hand, the study contended few men will attempt to drive when they realize they are drunk.

"It is the man who is just drunk enough to snap his fingers in the fact of caution who is the greatest menace of the highways," Professor King said.

PLOWS UP WATCH.

OAKDALE, Calif., May 20. — In 1888, 43 years ago, Bechard H. von Glahn lost his watch while plowing on the A. C. Fausell ranch near here. This spring Hartwell Summers, while plowing the same field, found the time-piece. He didn't know von Glahn, but met his son, a scout executive, during a scout meeting here, and asked if he knew B. H. von Glahn and the return of the watch was made.

The MELODY GIRL

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Beryl Borden, secretly in love with Tommy Wilson, succeeds in delaying his elopement with her half-sister, Irene Everett, but fails to convince him that it is his duty to his family to finish college.

Later Irene postpones the marriage date believing she is to become a radio singer. Securing an audition, she permits Beryl to go to the studio with her. While waiting in an ante-room Beryl sits down at a piano and croons melodies. One of the directors hears her and gives her a private test. He promises a contract later. Irene fails and is furious when she hears of Beryl's success. Beryl's hopes of a radio career dim as time passes and no word comes from the studio. At last a letter arrives and she slips away for the interview. Beryl is elated when presented with a contract but her victory is bitter-sweet for her family and Tommy believe she robbed Irene of her chance. Beryl's debut is a success, as she returns home laden with floral tributes. Busting with envy Irene decides to marry Tommy immediately.

They plan another elopement but Tommy's aunt dies and again the wedding is postponed. Irene is disappointed because Tommy is not the sole heir, but Mr. Hoffman wants a housekeeper and offers inducements to Irene to marry and take charge of the home.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVIII
Aunt Emma's sister, Ernestine, went home and the Hoffman menage was left without a housekeeper. Mr. Hoffman did not wish to engage a hired one with Irene so soon to be installed in the place. No use spoiling the girl, he reasoned.

The part-time maid came in as usual, but things went a bit to pot. Mrs. Everett came over with Irene a time or two and restored the house temporarily to a semblance of order but to this Irene objected. Her mother agreed with her when she pointed out the folly of letting Mr. Hoffman get any wrong ideas about her devious house.

Beryl stayed away. She couldn't endure being around Tommy and Irene when they were together. The way Tommy's eyes followed Irene in a sort of worshipful daze fairly tortured Beryl. She could understand that there was no reason why Tommy should love her but how on earth had he happened to fall for Irene?

She'd have acted differently, however, if she'd been still in the cashier's cage of her stepfather's store. Then she might have seen for herself how Tommy was faring at home in regard to meals.

He was doing the marketing, and buying canned goods by the handful. That would have been all right but he never bought fresh vegetables and fruit to go with the tinned products.

All that Beryl knew of his hunger for home cooking such as his aunt had provided was evidenced in his appetite when he came to eat at the Everett table.

"Whoever said she thought, 'that people in love have no appetite didn't know so much.' Ordinarily when Tommy came to the house and Beryl was at home she found an excuse for departing as soon as she could. One night when she was particularly miserable over Tommy's blindness she went to her room.

She was unhappy for a particular reason. Beryl had granted a date, and it was an unusual date. It was with a young man who might, very possibly, want to make love to her. She'd had dates before but they were friendship dates. Usually with a boy she'd known all her life and who couldn't be suspected of being in love with her.

When she did think there might be something of the kind in a boy's mind Beryl refused to go out with him alone. She had a feeling that even if she were ridiculous in being true to Tommy she was better for being true to herself.

Tonight as she changed into one of her lovely new party dresses—dresses that wrung Irene's soul with envy—she actually suffered the remorse of unfaithfulness.

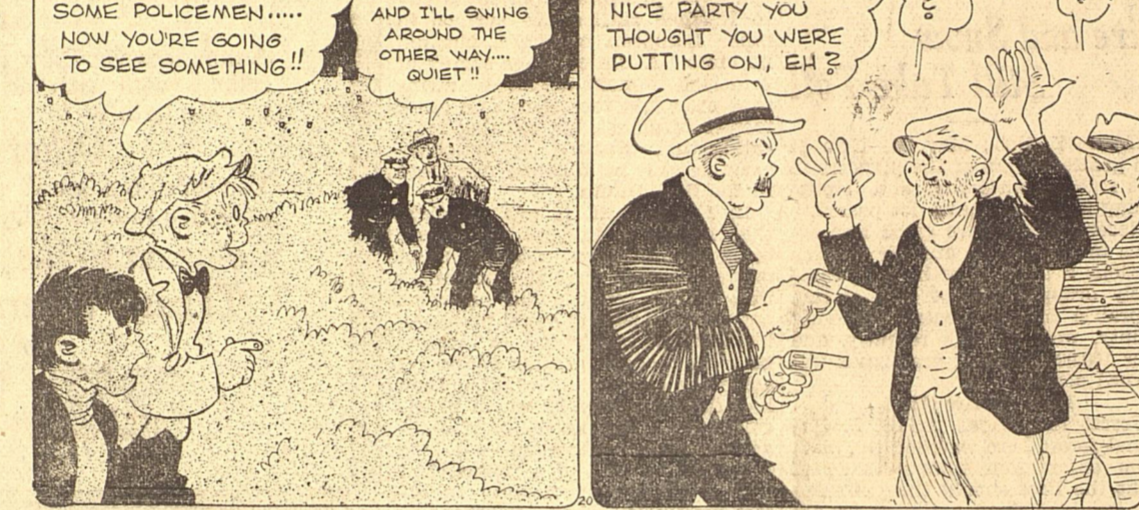

Her love for Tommy was a very real thing. She belonged to him wholly and unalterably. What did it matter if he knew nothing about it? It was her love and it was for her to tend or neglect it. Now she had chosen deliberately to neglect this love.

It was the fair thing to do, she had reasoned, when she made the date. Fair to herself. Certainly she could never kill her love for Tommy if she did not tell him.

STATE NATURAL ENVIRONMENT IS SURVEYED

AUSTIN, May 20.—With the ever-increasing development of old resources and the discovery of new ones in Texas it is indicated that both industrial and research leaders and the general public have grown more and more awake to the necessity for intensive and extensive study of possible means for further utilization of this natural wealth. Impartial research organizations are frequently regarded as the best agencies through which the basic studies of these resources can be made.

Back of Texas' business, crops and native vegetation, soil and mineral resources lies the fundamental make-up of the state's natural environment, the geographic environment of the state, economists maintain. A comprehensive survey of this natural environment is expected to provide an adequate foundation for detailed studies of the resources themselves. Such a survey has been made by Elmer H. Johnson, industrial geographer in the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research, and has just been released in bulletin form entitled "The Natural Regions of Texas." This bulletin, Mr. Johnson pointed out, presents only a comprehensive outline of the natural regions of Texas, and is designated to provide a basis for forthcoming studies on the commercial development of Texas regions as well as for detailed studies of the resources and industries.

Says Phlox Should Be Texas Flower

AUSTIN, May 20.—Phlox should be the official flower of Texas, and not the bluebonnet, according to Dr. B. C. Tharp, associate professor of botany at the University of Texas. Dr. Tharp said that phlox is far more widely distributed over the state than the bluebonnet, and is of more value as a botanical specimen.

Tales of West Still Lure Lads

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., May 20.—The fact that the wild west has grown tame is a source of trouble for the British government. R. L. Noworthy, British consul at Los Angeles, explained here while on a tour of Arizona.

"Stories of adventuresome cowboys, wild Indians and two-gun bandits draw scores of Canadian youths to Arizona and the southwest each year," Consul Noworthy explained. "They soon learn that Arizona is as tame as their home towns and they invariably turn themselves over to U. S. authorities for deportation and cause no end of trouble for us."

Fears Associations

Noworthy explained that his interest in the situation was to prevent these Canadian boys from associating with hardened criminals while being held pending the financing of their deportation by Canada.

He cited a case in Phoenix where the son of a prominent Arizona attorney was held in a cell with twelve other men, several of whom were habitual criminals.

MOVIE WILL SHOW MAKING OF FORD CARS

Residents of this county will have an opportunity to "visit" the great plants of the Ford Motor company through the medium of a sound motion picture to be exhibited in Ranger this week. R. D. Byrom, Cisco Ford dealer, announced today.

The movie will be a part of a Ford show to be held beginning May 22 and continuing through May 23 in a large tent at Ranger. The show will be open to the public free of charge from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. each day.

Those who visit the show will be able to learn not only how Ford cars and trucks are manufactured in quantity production, but to obtain some idea of the vastness of the Ford enterprises. Mr. Byrom, of Bleas Motor Co., pointed out they will see how coal obtained from Ford-owned mines is transported to the plants in Dearborn, Mich., in Ford-owned railroad cars; how iron ore from Ford mines and lumber from Ford forests are carried in Ford lake ships; and how in the manufacture of the car various by-products are utilized for making fertilizer, charcoal briquets, chemicals and other things.

Besides the motion picture, the show will include a number of special exhibits revealing step by step how various parts of the car are made, a cutaway truck chassis, and a Tudor body cut in half to reveal the details of its construction.

A feature of the show will be a display of the full line of Ford passenger and commercial cars. Arrangements for the show were made by the local dealer in cooperation with Ford dealers in nearby towns and the Dallas branch of the Ford Motor company.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Commercial history in the last few years appears to have damaged the theory that Europe was on its last legs.

It makes a lot of difference to this country. No one disputes the growing interdependence of the two continents. Europe provides half our export markets and the percentage of loss in exports to Europe during the period of depression has been less than that in our exports to any other continent.

The United States is more important to Europe as a source of supplies than as an export market, it was pointed out by economists at the International Chamber of Commerce congress here, and Europe is more important to America as an export market than as a source of supplies.

Shows Progress
 Despite foreign protests at our high tariffs and international debt payments, monographs, reports and speeches at the congress were in essential agreement that Europe had begun a period of convalescence from her post-war illness and that European commercial progress would continue despite the world-wide depression. When the depression arrived, her exports to America had been increasing and she was again holding her own in the markets of the world.

European delegates brought statistics to show that from 1926 to 1929, industrial output increased more rapidly in many European countries than in the United States and from 1929 to 1930, the first full calendar year of depression, it decreased more rapidly in the United States than in the leading countries of Europe.

Foreign trade values decreased everywhere in 1930, they said, but the shrinkage was less marked in Europe's leading countries than in the United States.

Although 1929, except for 1920, was America's record year for foreign trade, Europe's share of international trade had risen from 49.6 per cent in 1926 to 52.2 per cent in 1929.

Fire and Snow Still Take Toll

HALESE, Neb., May 20.—Two of the greatest fears of the pioneers in this state—prairie fires and stock-killing blizzards—have not passed.

Recent weeks have given Nebraskans in the central and far western sections a taste of both. A carelessly dropped cigar stub started a prairie fire in central Thomas county, west of here recently, and over 100,000 acres of grasslands was burned across.

Rangers Are Alert
 Forest rangers at the U. S. National forest here watched the blaze from observation towers, ready to fight the fires should they threaten the young jack pine timber on the preserve. The fire burned from the north banks of the Dismal river in the south part of the county to the southern bank of the Middle Loup in the northern part of the county.

Luckily, the prairie fires traversed a thinly populated section of the county, racing across the dry sand-hill pasture lands. Range cattle were able to outflank the blaze and escape.

The late March blizzard which hit western Nebraska took a toll of between 20,000 and 40,000 cattle, grazing on the ranges.

NO UNREST IS PRODUCED BY SPAIN CHANGE

LONDON, May 20.—The wind which swept Spain from monarchy to republic ruffled the surface in other European countries, but did no more. A United Press survey of principal capitals disclosed stringent economic conditions and other factors of unrest, but nothing indicating that Spain's revolutionary example will be followed elsewhere in the near future.

In Spain itself, it was realized that a change in government can bring no millennium. Observers and officials agreed that the implantation of the republic did not wipe out all political and social problems, but brought into power a regime believed to have greater chance of achieving satisfactory solution than had the monarchy. Even in political matters, the possibility of a reaction toward monarchy—taking the political form of a "monarchist right," seeking opportunity to effect restoration of the Bourbons—was envisaged.

Economic Problems Loom
 Exportation of capital was seen in Spain, as in several other countries, as a major menace of the present. Even before the republic was declared many aristocrats and nobles made heavy withdrawals of deposits in Spanish banks and sent their funds across the frontier. The new government found that it had no riots or bloodshed to deal with, but no less a problem in preventing the peseta from depreciating to new low levels. Unemployment was no worse, but more in the limelight because of attempts by the new regime to remedy conditions. The agrarian problem loomed with extensive emigration although socialists contended that prevalence of big hunting preserves and bull-fighting ranches left 48 per cent of the land uncultivated.

London felt the distant tremor of the Spanish revolt, but King George's throne did not move a fraction of an inch. There was, however, increasingly insistent demand that parliament be reformed and made a body of action rather than conservation.

English Market Lesse.
 Authentic causes of unrest in England included the decline of foreign markets under attacks of the United States, Germany and France; the more than 2,000,000 unemployed; and the fact that millions of dollars are needed to rejuvenate antiquated industries. But it is recognized that England must increasingly look to the dominions, and the throne must stand because a republican form of government would remove the most powerful connecting link with far-flung territories.

Unemployment was seen as an unimportant problem in France, with disturbing factors being such as to make more for unity under the existing republican form of government than for any variety of overturn. The Franco-Italian naval negotiations held the center of the stage and attention centered upon building up already extensive armament. It seemed clear that while political events might be attended with plenty of Gallic vocal fireworks, there would be no storming of barricades because of Spain's example.

Extremes in Politics
 In Germany it was recognized that there were more people than anywhere else in Europe sponsoring revolutionary ideas. At the recent elections in September of last year approximately one-third of the total electorate voted either for Adolph Hitler's national-socialists or for the communists, both extremes being admittedly striving to overthrow the present regime, yet the government's position was considered solid with no prospects of revolutionary change. Chancellor Heinrich Brüning's cool-headed and firm post-election policy was given primary credit for the stability of the situation in spite of the precariousness of the economic situation. Business men professed optimism.

Fascism Stays Strong.
 Spain's change was without effect of symptomatic reaction in Italy. The republican party there has been of small account and, like the communist and socialist parties, it has virtually disappeared. Mussolini's dictatorship was believed never to have shown itself so well established, with the result that it was able to show itself less patently dictatorial. The growing strength of Fascism has had the effect of strengthening the position of the reigning family. Business has not been good and there has been some friction with France and Jugoslavia, but on the whole no large clouds were sighted on the Italian horizon.

In Poland the casual observer might have thought political conditions bore resemblance to those prevailing in Spain before the overthrow of Alfonso, but actual conditions differed widely.

Hungary Hard Hit.
 Hungary, one of the countries hardest hit by the economic depression, showed little sign of political change, and armed uprising was felt unlikely. The fall in the price of farm products amounted to national disaster for Hungary and the number of jobless was estimated at 85,000 or twelve per cent of industrial workers.

Austria Stable.
 "Politically stable but economically almost on the point of starvation" was the description recently applied to Austria by a prominent political economist. The people were seen as traditionally opposed to change, but so hard put to it to sustain life that an element of doubt must remain in any forecast. Even the proposed Austro-German customs union lost support after France's objections, and the general attitude was against disturbance either internal or external.

ORPHANS GET GAME
 DYERSBURG, Tenn., May 20.—All game killed out of season in this district is turned over to the orphan's home here and the hunters fined.

NOSE COSTS $3,000
 BRIDGEPORT, Conn., May 20.—A valuation of $3,000 was placed upon an ivory nose during trial of an automobile injury suit here. Mrs. Susie C. Stressman paid that amount to Dr. Harold Liggett of New York, the plastic surgeon who removed Jack Dempsey's nose, the surgeon testified in Mr. Stressman's suit to recover damages from the driver of an automobile which injured her.

SENTENCED IN AMBULANCE.
 SOMERVILLE, Mass., May 20.—An ambulance was transformed into a courtroom here today when the case of Timothy O'Connor, 52, paralysis victim charged with drunkenness, was called. As the defendant lay on a stretcher in the ambulance, Judge M. E. Sturtevant sentenced him to 30 days in jail.
