FARM FRONT.

This should be a "bumper crop" year, producing food to feed the world. But it will not be unless the government and the farmers get together more effectively than they have done so far. The job cannot be done without good will, high purpose and careful planning for a big surplus.

This is as necessary as the military preparations. And there should be no more squabbling alout it than there is in the army, navy and air forces. Prices are in portant, but not so important as many farm leaders seem to assume. Everybody's first purpose must be to win the war. Farmers must get a fair return for their investment and labor and skill; but this is no time to hold out for high profits. It should much longer. be remembered that the men in the fighting forces are doing harder and more dangerous work for less pay, and not griping about

And there must be more help for home and foreign consumption, is just as important as fighting.

TRAVEL RISK.

The president has returned from his unprecedented African and Brazilian tour with new prestige. It was a daring venture, and man with his physical handicap. He ran risks which it is not pleasant to think of. And while the fruit of his trip may not be so great as the first reports suggested, it seems to have been well

Mr. Roosevelt's energy tinues to be amazing. He looks tired, but less so than would be expected of a man carrying so much of the world's burdens in its greatest crisis.

These extensive travel trips, however, while unquestionably useful, worry many Americans. They seem fraught with more danger as international tension

When Julius Caesar was caught in a violent storm at sea, and the seamen themselves were frightened, he said calmly: "Fear not! You carry Caesar." But something COULD happen to Julius, and did eventually. Wouldn't it accepted a "directive" to stay in Washington?

haustion in which every class would lose.

Any kind of "labor war" this year especially would be a calamity, whether it appeared in the mines or the mills. There have been threats made especially in the coal industry, where many people expect trouble in the spring.

It seems to be the general opinion among well informed people the Earth by Extending Your Corinth, Elbert Galloway; Desdethat the coal miners deserv some wage concessions. These concessions, however, would be more readily approved by the public if there were less dictatorship in the coal industry, and if the miners declared for a new deal with a more representative set-up. Many of the miners themselves seem to realize that the arbitrary methods of John L. Lewis will not work

CLOSED FOR LIFE.

A large automotive service concern in Washington, D. C., lately ran a full-page ad saying

The whole body of employees was going to the Red Cross Blood

This was a really noble idea. Many boys who might have died provided for the crops. Farming, at sea or on some forlorn battle ground in desert or jungle will live to bless these givers of life.

MEAT PROBLEM.

When you think it over calmly, it seems rather surprising that so much fuss is made about the diminishing meat supply in this country. Americans, after all the doubtless a difficult one for a withholding of meat for the armed forces-who need it most-are still eating more meat than any other nation in the world. And in most cases they are probably eating more than they really need > Authorities would agree that, with the variety of foodstuffs still available here and especially with the present knowledge of food essentials, there is little danger of privation or depletion of physical energy i people choose their food sensibly Milk and eggs are excellent substitutes for meat. So is fish. And nearly all of the essential vitamins, which are now well known are found plentifully in many common vegetables and fruits.

The chief deprivation, perhaps when you analyze the problem, the lack of meat to use freely in vegetable dishes of many kinds and for flavoring foods. But that be wise if Franklin, from now on, is probably more a matter of taste than of essential nourishment. People of some races seem to get along as well as American meat-eaters, and do as much work, with no meat at all.

ROCKWELL BROS. & CO.

There's nothing new about rationing to the American mother. She's been rationing cookies and ice cream and pie to her family for years.

She's been rationing the weekly pay check, too. So much for rent. So much for food. So much for clothing. So much put aside for the education of the children and for a rainy day.

She knows how to make money stretch. How to make what she has do for the dozens of items that every mother and housewife must take into consideration. That's why the housewives of America can understand their government's rationing program. Uncle Sam's problem is so much like the problem they face every day in their own households.

By rationing goods that are scarce, Uncle Sam is seeing to it that every member of his big family of Americans is getting a fair share, dependent upon his needs. Yes, and he's making certain that precious stock piles of goods which cannot be replaced, are going to last for the duration.

That's why we are proud of our part in Uncle Sam's rationing program. We know that in helping our customers-in seeing that each gets an equal share-we are helping to win the war against the Axis. And we're helping in the democratic

By sharing the goods at home, we all share in the fight on the front. We all take some of the sacrifices-so that they do not bear too heavily on any one of us. We are proud to do our part.

Sharing is the American way.
