DEPUTY SLAIN, ANOTHER NEAR DEATH

Roosevelt Greeted by Great Reception at Indianapolis

THOUSANDS IN PARADE ROUTE 2 MILES LONG

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 20.—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt was given one of the largest receptions of his present campaign on his arrival here today. Thousands packed the route of a parade at last two miles long through the city as hundreds escorted the democratic nominee.

BONUS ISSUE ELIMINATED. ABOARD THE ROOSEVELT SPECIAL, Oct. 20.—The soldiers' bonus apparently has been eliminated as a campaign issue by the address of Franklin D. Roosevelt who moved today into Ohio and Indiana to continue his assault on republican policies.

The governor last night re-affirmed his belief that there should be no bonus payment until there is a surplus in the treasury.

The governor urged "beer for revenue." He ridiculed statements by Henry Ford and others that re-election of Herbert Hoover is necessary to insure good prospects for business.

Roosevelt pledged himself to a 25 per cent reduction in government expenditures and opposition to any increased expenditures except to relieve human suffering.

"Before any man enters my cabinet he must give me a pledge of first, absolute loyalty to the democratic platform, and, second, complete cooperation with me looking to economy and reorganization."

REPUBLICAN STRATEGY.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Republican strategy, it was indicated today, will be to hammer away at "economic issues" until November 8, despite the fact Gov. Roosevelt has raised the "beer for revenue" issue.

Sec'y of Treasury Ogden Mills, the president's chief political advisor, was asked "How about the prohibition question?"

"Prohibition? Why, I haven't anything to say on prohibition," he replied.

Sen. Bingham, leader of the "beer for revenue" forces in the senate, declared "I shall introduce a four per cent bill as soon as congress meets."

"The revenue will help us meet the deficit and rid us of some of the nuisance taxes," he said. "I am not determined in my own mind what taxes should be supplanted by the $375,000,000 annually which beer will raise."

SIMMONS SAYS SHOOTING WAS UNAVOIDABLE

HOUSTON, Oct. 20.—Lee Simmons, general manager of the Texas prison system, today completed investigation of the fatal shooting of Childs Wilson, convicted murderer, in a mutiny at a state penitentiary farm last Saturday.

"It was an unfortunate occurrence, but one that could not be helped," Simmons said in his report to the Texas Prison board. The board indicated this version of the shooting would be accepted.

Blanton Confident Of Demo Landslide

Cong. Thomas H. Blanton, of Abilene, representing the 17th Texas district in the house of representatives, paused in Cisco for lunch today to make the prediction that the democratic national ticket will "sweep the country" in the November election.

The congressman said he would go to Washington shortly to begin work upon some appropriation bills.

State May Request Libby's Acquittal

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Oct. 20.—Libby Holman Reynolds' demand for "complete vindication" on the charge of murdering her husband, Smith Reynolds, opened the possibility today that the state may pre-empt a skeleton case against her and ask a directed verdict of not guilty.

"FRANKIE AND JOHNNY"

DECISION ON CISCO APPEAL DUE MONDAY

Whether Cisco is to take part in the Oil Belt football race this year will not be known before next week. The 11th court of civil appeals, at Eastland yesterday directed Cisco to file a brief with the court and furnish copies to the attorneys for the district committee by Friday noon.

The committee was allowed until Monday morning to file its answer. This will mean that the case cannot be decided earlier than Monday.

In the argument yesterday, F. D. Wright and Earl Conner, attorneys for the Cisco Independent school district, asked a mandamus forcing the district committee to include Cisco in the Oil Belt football schedule on the grounds that, under the ruling of the district court, Cisco is still in the league.

The Cisco attorneys tried to show that the super-dead bond posted by the district committee was improperly set after the end of the court term, and therefore could not be construed to be a super-dead bond. They also pointed out that the state committee, under the Interscholastic League rules, is the only power which may suspend or reinstate a team, and that it had not posted a super-dead bond, but only an appeal cost bond.

Attorneys for the district committee held that it was not necessary for the bond to be fixed while the court was in session and that the ruling of the trial court was therefore superseded.

Counsel for both recognized that the question would be moot at the ruling of a later court, but the attorneys for the district committee held it was moot at the beginning of the trial in the lower court.

In case the injunction is granted Cisco will be included in the football schedule for this season. Otherwise it will be necessary to await a hearing in the appellate court, in which event the season will be practically over before the case is decided.

Knife Blade Taken From Man's Head

ABILENE, Oct. 20.—After unknowingly carrying a four-inch knife blade buried in his head for six days, S. R. Tucker, 37-year-old farmer, was pronounced recovering here today where the blade was removed.

The rusted knife blade was thrust into his face in an altercation with a neighbor farmer. The blade, three-fourths of an inch wide, was removed in two pieces. Tucker will recover, physicians said.

1931 MORTALITY RATE IN U. S. LOWEST EVER

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 20.—The lowest mortality rate ever recorded in the United States was established in 1931 in which El Paso led the principal cities of Texas in showing the greatest decrease, the bureau of census of the department of commerce announced.

The mortality rate for the entire nation, exclusive of Utah which did not report, was 11.1 per 1000 estimated population. The total number of deaths for the nation was 1,318,111. This rate is the lowest since the bureau began gathering this data in 1900.

Although El Paso showed the greatest decrease, 17.7 per 1,000 inhabitants in 1930 from 20.6 in 1928, it was tied with Galveston for the highest death rate of the principal cities included in the report. Each had a rate of 14.8. Galveston's rate for 1930 was 14.1.

Beaumont had the lowest rate with 10 per 1000 population as compared with 11.2 in 1931. Fort Worth was next in line with 10.5 as compared with 11.0. Other cities were: Houston, 10.9 and 12.2; Dallas, 11.1 and 11.5; Waco, 13.1 and 14.0; San Antonio, 14.6 and 16.0.

In the nation at large, the urban death rate was higher than the rural but the decrease in the urban rate from 1930 was 4 as compared with 2 for rural sectors and from 1928 was 1.4 against a decrease of .8 for rural regions.

The urban death rate in 1931 was 11.9, in 1930, 12.3 and in 1928 13.3 while the rural rate for these years, respectively was 10.2, 10.4 and 11.0. The total number of urban deaths for 1931 was 703,691 to 614,429 for the urban population. Part of the greater death rate in cities may be attributed to the fact many persons from rural areas die in city hospitals, the report pointed out, and no attempt is made by the bureau to allocate the certificates to the residences of the dead person.

Glassford Quits as Capital Police Head

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Pelham D. Glassford, former army general whose policy toward the bonus expedition force brought him into conflict with the administration, resigned today as Washington's chief of police.

INSPECTOR TO AID EXTENSION OF CROP LOANS

Ed F. Jay, field inspector for the crop production loan office of the federal government will be in Eastland county on Tuesday of each week to make inspections on applications of farmers who have past due crop loans with the government and who wish to extend their loans by taking advantage of the government's plans to collateralize them with 9 cent cotton. Mr. Jay was in Cisco Tuesday and made the following explanation of the plan.

"It is going to be natural for some borrowers to want to collateralize their loans to the secretary of agriculture. All loans must be paid by November 30th next or fully collateralized. The government has ruled to allow farmers who have borrowed crop production loans to put up enough cotton at 9 cents clear of all claim and labor expense to cover their loans to the government.

Often Misunderstood. "This plan of collateralization is often misunderstood to be full payment of obligation. This is not the truth. To collateralize cotton means to put up enough cotton up to stipulated price as security or to stand good for the obligation. The secretary of agriculture is permitting crop loan borrowers to put up enough cotton at 9 cents clear of all expense, etc., to cover the loan. This cotton must go through the Cotton Cooperative of Texas, or be stored in a federal bonded warehouse, insured and stored six months in advance. Then the warehouse must send receipts to the Crop production loan office, 500 Dallas Power & Light building, Dallas, Texas. The borrower must also pay the fee for the warehouse receipt.

SUSPECT HELD IN BOMBING OF THEATERS

DALLAS, Oct. 20.—A man arrested at Amarillo, Texas and brought here for questioning in the bombing of a theater owner's home has been identified as a former prisoner at Missouri state penitentiary, police revealed today. The suspect is being held in solitary confinement pending complete investigation of the bombing of theaters here, at Amarillo, Waco and elsewhere. The suspect was arrested in Amarillo following the explosion of a sulphur acid bomb in a hotel there.

COMMISSION STUDIES DEBT SETTLEMENT

Further steps along a route toward solution of Cisco's bonded debt problem are being taken today with the city commission due tonight to hear a report of a committee which, in cooperation with an engineer, has endeavored to fix a basis upon which a definite plan can be established.

The committee was named at a meeting of the commission several weeks ago to work out a schedule of city utility rates commensurate with average rates in cities situated similar to Cisco and to make recommendations for further budget economies.

The report of the committee, if accepted, will set up the sum that will be available each year for debt servicing, and with this sum as the predicate, a detailed plan for refunding the city debt will be presented for the consideration of the commission. The principal of the debt will be scaled down to conform to the revenues available for its amortization over a period of years.

Engineer With Committee. Working with the committee has been Mr. Waggener, a member of the engineering firm of Wood, Powell and Waggener, of Dallas, nationally known experts, particularly in municipal affairs. Comm'r J. T. Elliott is chairman of the commission's committee. Serving with him are J. R. Burnett and Joe Clements.

The commission met last night with representatives of the bond firm of Dunne, Davidson, Ranson, of Wichita, Kansas, to resume negotiations which were begun at a meeting several weeks ago. This company, which participated in the Hidalgo county debt solution, is assisting the commission in its problem. Present as the company representatives were D. E. Dunne, Sr., G. M. Dunne and John D. McCall, the latter a Dallas bond lawyer. These three remain here today for a meeting with the city commission when the report of the committee will be heard.

At the meeting last night Comm'r Elliott reported that the committee had been studying data on utility rates gathered by Mr. Waggener, but had not completed its report. Mayor Berry suggested that the committee meet with Mr. Waggener and complete its work. It retired, with City Attorney R. E. Grantham participating in the conference at the request of Mr. Waggener and members of the committee.

Rate Agreement. After two hours of the report reported to the commission that it had tentatively agreed upon a proposed schedule of water and sewer charges but had not completed its work upon suggested budgetary economies. A second meeting was held this morning with a meeting of the commission called for 7:30 this evening to hear the report.

The water and sewer rates which the committee will recommend that the city fix if a settlement is finally reached in this matter, were announced as follows: The minimum will remain at $1.25 with the allowable cut from 5,000 gallons to 2,500 gallons per month. Up to 5,000 gallons, 50 cents per M. 5,000 to 25,000, 37 1/2 per M. 25,000 to 50,000, 25 per M. Above 50,000, 20 per M. Commercial rates would remain the same.

Sewer Rates. Sewer rates to be recommended as a part of the debt settlement basis were announced as: $1 per month plus 25 cents for each fixture above four, for residences. $7.50 per month service charge plus 10 cents for each 1,000 gallons of water used for the Laguna hotel. $3.50 per month service charge plus 10 cents per 1,000 gallons of water used for other hotels. $1.00 per month plus 10 cents for each 1,000 gallons of water for each business house. These rates, Commissioner Elliott said in making the announcement last night, are still considerably below the average charged in cities around Cisco. In its meeting this morning the committee was occupied largely with a determination of the revenue available for debt servicing that could be safely anticipated from such a set-up in conjunction with ad valorem tax revenues and budgetary economies.

TEXAS' PLAN FOR SHORT BALLOT IN GENERAL ELECTION SPOILED

AUSTIN, Oct. 20.—Texas plans for a short ballot in the general election Nov. 8 have been defeated. The state legislature declared it a nuisance to print the names of 23 presidential electors for each party and ordered the names of the party candidates for president and vice president put on the ballot instead.

Despite the statute, the names of electors are going on the ticket. The Attorney General has held them necessary. The Texas ballot will contain Democratic, Republican, Socialist, Communist, Jacksonian and Liberty Party tickets. There will also be a blank column for independents.

Thought Speaker John Nance Garner is a candidate both for vice president and for re-election to congress, his name will be on the ballot but once. Neither U. S. Senator's term expires this year, so that office is blank on the ballot. Three congressmen-at-large will be named to provide for the extra congressmen allowed under the last census, the legislature having failed to re-district the state.

State offices to be filed by election include: Governor, Lieut. Governor; one member of the State Supreme Court; one member of the Court of Criminal Appeals, Attorney General, State Comptroller, State Treasurer, State School Superintendent, State Land Commissioner, State Commissioner of Agriculture and two State Railroad Commissioners. One of the Rail Commissioners will serve for six years, the other for four.

ELKINS TO PUT STRONG LINE ON FIELD IN FRIDAY'S GAME

By FRANK LANGSTON. When the Cisco Lobos trot out on the field to meet the cadets from Terrell Prep tomorrow afternoon, they will take with them a solid wall as far as the line is concerned. The Cisco forwards held the Daniel Baker Hillbille freshmen last week so that the fish were unable to gain at all by the overland route and had to back to the air to score in the last two minutes of play. All their scrimmage plays netted them a total yardage of 31, in the red, that isn't a bad record for anybody's defensive line against any team.

Offense Too. And not only did the Big Dam wall hold the mountain goats on the defensive, but it opened up noses for four golden kid backs to spin through. Coaches Elkins and Houghton have reason to be proud of that low charging line of theirs.

Back of the line the coaches have their choice of four men out of a lot of good material. At quarter Elkins has used Ray, Barker, St. John, and McCall a little. Ray is the first choice, the others being primarily backups. Besides the three above mentioned, the other backs available are Steffy, Caffrey, and Bill McMahon.

Touchdowns Scored. In the last two games the Lobos have had two touchdowns scored against them on forward passes, each for a long gain. Each time the pass was completed over a youngster sent in the backfield, St. John in the Ranger game and Bill McMahon last Saturday against Daniel Baker. Those two plays will probably mean more to those boys than any other two of the season.

Whether the man catching the pass was the defensive back was supposed to cover or not, he was the one nearest the play and after the ball was thrown, would naturally be the one to take it. No matter how much a play is drilled into a young team, it takes stark reality in a game, before a crowd that is quick to praise and equally quick to blame to drive the point home.

Showing Promise. Those same two boys, by the way, have shown more promise for being real backs of the future. Both are young and both are eager to play. They are learning fast and will be hard to stop before they get out of high school, and then should make good college players. McMahon has a way of shivering at the hips just as he crosses the line of scrimmage, that jars tacklers loose. St. John, lighter, is fast and is being used on the fast spin plays and passes.

Ray, regular quarter of last season, has a high stepping gate, change of pace, weaving movement, and whirl that combine to make him one of the shiftest players in these parts. He is gaining weight, which will be of great value in hard games. Barker, also somewhat light, is a fast man used a great deal at tackle thrusts and on lateral passes. His punt returns were a delight to Cisco fans Saturday night.

McCall is a triple threat man of ability. Elkins has been relaying a great deal on him for the kicking, though Caffrey has also had a share in this department. McCall's passes had that precision that means the difference between a failure and a ground gaining play last week. Caffrey is a good defensive back with a lot of power on line plays, besides being a punter. Steffy is steady on both offense and defense. Former Lobo Captain. The Terrell team will be led by Captain Orville Black, former Lobo

LIQUOR TRUCK OWNER HELD IN SHOOTING

TEXARKANA, Ark., Oct. 20.—Deputy Sheriff Melvi Brackman, 43, was instantly killed and Deputy Sheriff J. C. Crain, 48, critically wounded in a gun battle with liquor truck operators south of here early today.

Officers had partly blocked the road with Brackman's car. As the liquor truck swung into the ditch a man at the rear of the truck suddenly opened fire, killing Brackman and probably mortally wounding Crain.

Pearce Hooper, 40 years old, was arrested at his home at Tass, Texas as the owner of the liquor car. Sheriff Turquette charged the shooting was a deliberate plot to put his deputies "on the spot" for their liquor activities.

WITNESSES SAY PASTOR WASN'T "INDIFFERENT"

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Oct. 20.—Attorneys for the Rev. S. A. Berrie, on trial for the alleged poison death of his first wife, today battered away at evidence that Mrs. Fannie Berrie died of strychnine poison.

They called an attending physician who declared he believed she died of uremic poisoning or nephritis. Countering state testimony showing the minister was indifferent at his first wife's death, defense witnesses said the Rev. Berrie was "grief stricken" and that his wife had the "finest kind of a funeral."

The suggestion that Rev. Berrie killed his wife so he could marry a 19-year-old Sunday school teacher, was assailed. The minister's daughter-in-law denied the Rev. Berrie took off Mrs. Berrie's wedding ring, given her 28 years ago on her death bed and soon afterward gave it to the girl with whom he later eloped.

Rotary Club Hears Bond Discussion

A skit by a chorus of young women appearing in the West Ward P. T. A. play, "Ghost House" tonight and tomorrow; a talk by Miss Bounds, home economics teacher at the high school, and a discussion of a possible solution to Cisco's bonded debt question, comprised the program at the Rotary club today noon.

John D. McCall, Dallas bond lawyer who is working the Dunne, Davidson, Ranson Co., of Wichita, Kansas, and the city commission in evolving a plan for refunding the city debt on a practical basis, spoke to the club on the debt question. F. D. Wright, Cisco attorney who is representing the city in bond litigation, also spoke to the club.

Miss Bounds outlined the extensive ground covered by home economics, or "home-making" courses as they are now known, in an interesting 15-minute talk.

West Texas Pioneer Buried at Wayland

G. N. Price, 86, West Texas pioneer, was buried at his old home at Wayland in Stephens county yesterday. He died unexpectedly at the old soldiers' home in Austin, where he had been for a little more than a week.

Mr. Price had been ill for some time, but had improved to such an extent that the trip to Austin did not seem to leave any bad effects. Before going to the home, he had been in Cisco for a short time, although he had long been a citizen of Eastland and Stephens counties.

Civic Club Women Hold Flower Show

The Civic League of Eastland is sponsoring a flower show Oct. 28 and 29 in Eastland, according to an announcement here today by Mrs. J. C. Patterson. The show will open at 10 a. m. and will run through the day and evening.

Light Frost Falls About Amarillo

DALLAS, Oct. 20.—A light frost covered the ground in the vicinity of Amarillo this morning, the federal weather bureau here reported. Extent of the damage had not been determined.

Colder weather was predicted for the panhandle tonight. Snow was falling in northern New Mexico, the bureau said.

Ex-Official of Armour Suicides

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—George M. Willetts, 55, recently resigned as a vice-president of Armour and Co., leaped to death today from a window of his home on the eleventh floor of an apartment building.

His wife said Willetts was despondent over injuries incurred in an automobile accident more than a year ago.

Sterling May Speak For Bullington

DALLAS, Oct. 20.—Democrats supporting Orville Bullington, republican gubernatorial nominee, today expected Gov. R. S. Sterling to align with them shortly.

Sterling, who has said he cannot and will not support Mrs. Ferguson, was expected to make a statement before the end of the week. It was understood he may make speeches for Bullington.

WEATHER

West Texas—Partly cloudy to cloudy. Probably local rains tonight and Friday. Colder in north portion.

East Texas—Partly cloudy. Probably rain on east coast. Colder tonight. Friday partly cloudy with probable rain. Colder on west coast.

THE OIL INDUSTRY'S PROMISE.

Achievement of a balance between supply and demand in the oil industry is claimed to be proven by the fact that current production, under new allowances, is considerably below the consumption of refineries at this time. This balance is attributable largely to the restriction of production in the east Texas and gulf coast fields where new proration orders went into effect last Saturday.

This week President Hoover studied a report from the federal oil conservation board which said that the oil industry "gives indications of being the first basis industry to emerge from the depression." The east Texas field, that report indicated, is the crux of the situation—a great asset as well as a great liability. The Texas railroad commission and the oil industry of the state claim the largest share of responsibility for the promising condition in which the national industry now finds itself.

Now that such a situation has been achieved in the oil industry through the restriction of production to a point where physical wastage is prevented—which in final analysis is analogous to restriction to the market demand—the men who produce the oil are entitled to a profitable return upon their product. The increased prices posted by 16 large purchasers are not to be regarded as a reward for adherence to a proration program but as price increases justified by the healthy state of the industry. If, as is claimed, the production of petroleum is below the demand, then a normal condition has been attained and the industry should be capable of paying a profit. It goes without saying that the maintenance of the restrictions which have brought about this normal condition will depend upon what benefits the producers receive; for they have no cause to endeavor to cooperate in any proration program which does not hold out the prospect of actual profit.

No proration program, no effort to control the production of oil and balance the supply with demand is going to prove a success until it returns the producers a margin above costs commensurate with the investment and time they devote to it. If the present program does not justify a profitable price then there is something wrong with the program and it ought to be worked over.

CAL AND AL DECLARE FOR ECONOMY.

An open letter bearing the joint signatures of Calvin Coolidge and Alfred E. Smith, linked to the names of Newton D. Baker, Elihu Root, Gen. John J. Pershing, and Adm. William S. Sims, is to be given a wide circulation. These important personages are members of the advisory council of the national economy league. This is the foreword:

"In two decades we have seen the cost of government rise from about $3,000,000,000 to about $14,000,000,000. . . . We believe that these public expenditures should be reduced all along the line; that every unnecessary act of the government should be abolished; that the people should be permitted to spend more of their earnings on themselves and require less to be spent on the tax collector. . . . all the costs of local, state and national government must be reduced without fear and without favor."

This league was organized to give battle to the champions of "immediate payment of the veterans bonus." This is the attitude of Cal and Al on and their comrades; "We must discharge our obligations to the veterans and their dependents. But we should waste no money and tolerate no extravagance under the claim of performing any of these necessary functions." Very doleful and very pessimistic is the appeal of these eminent Americans. It will be recalled that during the six and one-half years he held the reins of

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—Although these presidential straw votes or polls will be badly discriminated if Mr. Hoover happens to win the election, they stand to become an extremely important factor in our political system if their accuracy is once more attested at the ballot box.

Those who want to get facetious about it will be asking again: Why go to all the expense of a presidential election when the Literary Digest is willing to conduct one free of charge?

More seriously, there is little doubt that politicians and campaign contributors will be less disposed to go to a lot of useless expense and effort if they are completely convinced weeks before election that they have a hopeless cause.

Straw votes never before attracted anywhere near as much attention. There are so many important ones that you can often check any given poll with several others, which makes the poll method of prediction much harder to shoot at than it would be with only one poll in progress. Politicians wait for the published returns from week to week and then whoop or turn pale. A learned book has been written about the polls, indicating the increasing seriousness with which they have been taken.

ver defeating Smith by a large margin. Republican Chairman Sanders gives the party's official reply when he says the poll votes were all taken before Hoover's Des Moines speech, that Hoover makes "millions of votes" every time he speaks and that polls have been wrong by as many as five million votes.

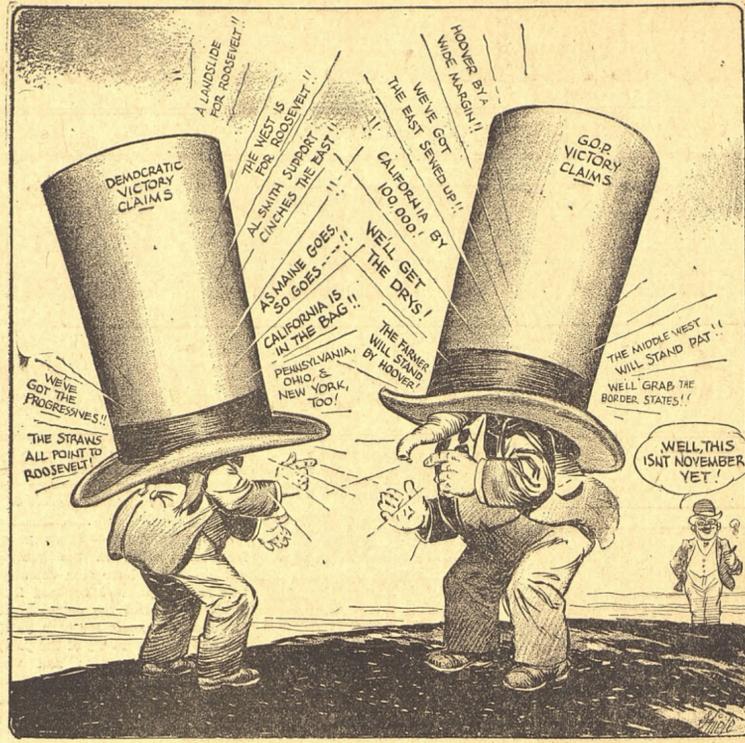

Perhaps last minute switches of sentiment do present a menace to the accuracy of the polls. If Sanders is right the poll business will surely go into a marked decline. But the polls have picked the winner in the last few elections and usually the so-called switches of sentiment in the last month or two of a campaign have been figments of the imagination. Nor do many cold-blooded observers believe that there is now in progress any substantial swing to Hoover.

And one is forced to speculate rather furiously as to what presidential politics will be like in the future if everyone is going to know in September what is going to happen in November.

Among the voters the result may be to produce a situation such as exists in those southern states where the voters, having done their duty at the primary, stay away from the elections in large numbers because they know the Democratic ticket is going to win anyway.

And the gent who planned to toss $50,000 or so into a campaign pot with the idea of collecting a diplomatic post from the administration is likely to hold his hand if he thinks his party hasn't an outside chance.

Talking Through Their Hats

government, Calvin Coolidge at intervals solemnly assured the American people that it was idiotic to sell America short that prosperity was here to remain forever, that the secret of the abolition of poverty had been invented by republican statesmen and economists and Coolidge never changed his talking program until the 1929 crash hit the American world a terrific jolt "and then the land we love turned upside down."

Regardless of this public expenditures should be reduced all along the line. Every unnecessary action of government should be abolished. High salaries should be reduced. As for the closing paragraph of the Cal and Al appeal "the people should be permitted to spend more of their earnings on themselves and required to spend less on the tax collectors," is a glittering generality that has been passed on to the people a billion times in three years. A vast number of the people need employment in order that "they may be able to spend more of their earnings on themselves." In addition to all this, foreign markets must be found for the staples of the farm and the ranch in order to bring about a restoration of the purchasing power of that 57 per cent of the population who are said to inhabit the rural towns and hamlets and the farms and ranches of America.

commissioners committee are not designed to go into effect until the bond settlement plan is ultimately adopted by the citizens. The work of the committee is simply to lay a basis of what the city can do so that a definite plan of settlement can be worked out. At a previous meeting the commission adopted a resolution in which it agreed that the city should do what it could to help bring about a solution and that means that the city is willing to charge rates commensurate with those charged by other cities of the same size and in similar situations.

By doing so the city will discharge its responsibility in the evolution of a plan of settlement.

The committee, consequently, is working to establish rates that are

Through the Editor's Spectacles

By GEORGE

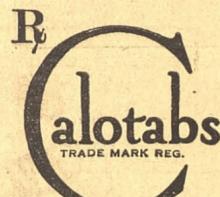

Cisco's rapidly becoming celebrated football case spiraled back into court yesterday. It is due to spiral out again next Monday. Whether or not it will have the done side up depends upon how three distinguished justices of the eleventh court of civil appeals interpret the authorities argued to them by the lawyers on each side of the case. The solicitors spent the better part of a balmy afternoon yesterday marshalling their logic before the court. The court heard the logic, set Monday as the day for beginning action on the case. Cisco was given until today noon to file a brief and the opposing counsel allowed until Monday a. m. to file an answer. The court needs only 24 hours to determine the issue, but established routine and certain other contingencies cannot be crushed down for this one matter. Consequently we must wait until Monday to find out what we are so eager to find out.

Cisco, you recollect, is attacking the validity of the supersedeas bond filed by the defending district state committee to nullify a 91st district court order restoring Cisco Lobos to the district schedule during appeal of that order. Cisco argues that by virtue of certain limitations the defendants sacrificed their privileges to more than a routine appeal and that all the righteous effort expended in securing a bond "worth a million dollars" was so much effort wasted. Therefore the court of civil appeals has been asked to require the district committee to put the orders of the district court into effect regardless of the supersedeas bond. This does not mean, of course, that the court is asked to deny the defendants' appeal of the case, but simply that the Lobos be permitted to play during appeal. The case would continue on routine legs.

The city commission last night got down to some serious wool-gathering on the city's bonded debt question. Representatives of Dunn Davidson and Ranson, Kansas City bond house of national reputation, are here trying to help the city work out a solution to its problem of staggering debt. A plan something like that recently invoked to lift Hidalgo county out of a morass of financial difficulties, is being considered for Cisco. The first requisite is to find out what Cisco can comfortably pay. The tax rate is already established. Consideration now is occupied with equitable city utility rates and budget costs. With Engineer Waggener, of the Dallas engineering firm of Wood, Powell and Waggener, experts of wide repute particularly in municipal matters, a committee of the commission is working on this question. The committee is studying utility rates charged in numerous other Texas cities similarly situated with a view to striking averages. When rates which satisfy the commission as equitable are fixed and budget costs established at what are considered reasonable figures, then the amount of what Cisco can pay will be figured out and a plan presented to the commission for rejection or acceptance. The commission, if it approves the plan, will present it to the citizens for a public expression. If this expression is favorable then it will be put into effect and the bond situation that has literally choked this city for two years will have been taken care of and that worry put behind.

The rates now being fixed by the

Incidentally the commission is taking plenty of time. "It's a big problem," Mayor Berry pointed out, "and it is going to take a lot of careful study."

Representatives of the bond company have interviewed bondholders and bondholder representatives holding about 75 per cent of the city's obligations and these have agreed to meet Cisco in the proposed settlement, they reported.

REPORTS SHOW IMPROVEMENT IN BANKING

AUSTIN, Oct. 20. — Statistics on bank operations reveal a continuing improvement in the banking situation during the month of September. Dr. J. C. Dolley, financial editor of the Texas Business Review, published by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research, pointed out in his monthly survey of the financial situation.

"Bank suspensions were relatively fewer and reopenings proportionately greater, the American Banker reporting 30 closings during the last week of September and the first week of October, with 5 re-openings of previously closed banks," Dr. Dolley said. "A continuation of the gold inflow resulted in a net increase of $105,454,000 in the country's monetary gold stock for the five weeks ending October 5. The gold imports, however, tapered off noticeably during the first two weeks of October as a result of a speculative flurry in the foreign exchange market which carried the dollar sharply downward. There is every prospect that this artificially manipulated decline will be corrected shortly, as the dollar premium during the autumn months. Feelings persist that a substantial return flow of gold from Paris to New York is imminent. There is also some opinion to the effect that England's recent manipulation of the sterling exchange rate presages an early return of that country to the gold standard, with the pound revalued at about $3.40.

Volume Declines — The volume of currency in circulation continued to decline throughout September, the net decrease (adjusted for seasonal variations amounting to $149,000,000 from September 3 to October 1. That this decrease really represents some return of hoarded currency is becoming increasingly apparent. The Wall Street Journal of October 11 reports that New York department stores have been receiving substantial amounts of gold coin from their customers in the past several weeks. On October 7, a shipment of $70,000 in American gold coin was received in New York from Paris. This shipment was unique partly in that it was the first import of gold from Paris since May, 1931, but chiefly in that it represented a further return of frightened American capital funds. Other substantial shipments in substantial amounts have been received from Holland and Switzerland.

"The result of the twin factors of renewed gold imports and redemptions of hoarded currency has been a marked reduction in member bank indebtedness to the Federal Reserve System and a material increase in free reserve balances available for lending. Of especial significance is the fact that a large part of the increased free reserve balances belong to rural banks. The increasing supply of bank credit has brought about exceedingly low interest rates in the New York money market. On October 5, call loans were quoted at 2 per cent, 60-90 day brokers' loans at 1 per cent, prime commercial paper at 2 1/4 per cent, and bankers' acceptances at 3-4 per cent.

Drop in Loans — "Other encouraging developments of the month are the sharp drop in commercial loans extended by the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and a material decline in policy holder borrowing from life insurance companies. Commercial loans extended by the Reconstruction Finance corporation in September constituted the smallest monthly total since the corporation was organized, aggregating $61,909,000 as compared with $142,244,000 in August, and $170,150,000 in July. Leading life insurance companies report that their policy loans declined during September to approximately 66 per cent of the June peak.

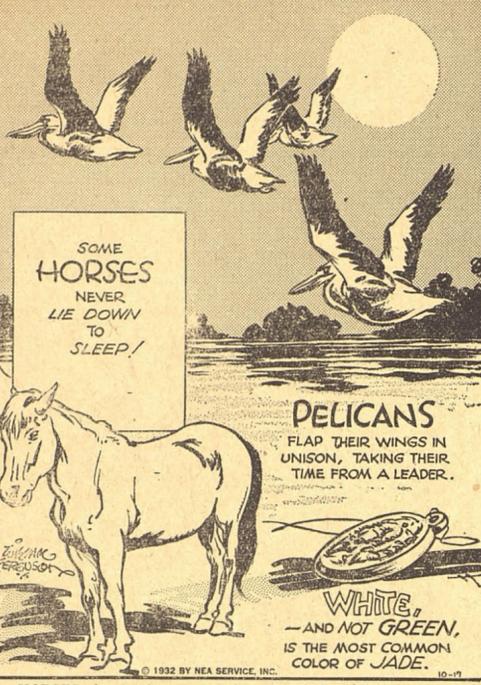

"Despite their improving cash position, commercial banks continue to be chary of new lending. Total loans and discounts of the reporting members banks declined by $90,000,000 from August 31 to September 28. On the other hand, the United States bond holdings of these banks increased by $425,000,000 during the same period, and, of greater significance perhaps, their holdings of "other securities" increased by $33,000,000. Both banks and insurance companies can be expected to increase their holdings of high grade bonds during the autumn.

Average Debts Higher — "The position of the reporting banks in the Eleventh district improved somewhat during the month. Average debts to individual accounts were distinctly higher than in August, reflecting an increased volume of purchasing. Total deposits declined fractionally, but total loans and discounts increased slightly. A greater increase in loans extended might have been expected, however, in view of the normal seasonal increase in business activity. Of more importance is the fact that an indebtedness of $3,000,000 to the Reserve banks was liquidated, and, further, that holdings of government bonds increased materially from $83,000,000 to $93,000,000."

HORSES, due to the construction of their lower legs, can stand and sleep for hours at a time without tiring. The suspensory ligament of the fetlock forms a sort of sling that supports the weight of the upper leg and the body above it, and ligamentous tissue is not elastic like muscle tissue and therefore does not stretch and tire. Horses have a great fear of mice, and some authorities believe this is one reason why many horses will not lie down in the stable.

Six hundred club boys from all over Texas attended this three days camp as guests of the State Fair. Transportation was provided by the Texas and Pacific Railroad Company.)

You would be surprised at what you see at the State Fair. It shows what a great state Texas is. To go down through the Hall of Champions makes one feel proud that one is a Texan. In this Hall of Champions were placed the ribbon winning livestock. I saw the largest bulls, cows, horses, hogs and mules that I have ever seen. I really didn't believe there were hogs as large as I saw.

PARIS STYLES

By MARY KNIGHT
United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS, Oct. 20. — Your fall coat is a great little idea giver to your friends of what your sartorial winter is going to be like. In other words, choose well, this item in your wardrobe for upon its smartness may depend many important matters in your social life.

In the first place, be very careful to choose a color that you, as well as everybody else, won't be tired to death of after the first few weeks. Nobody ever went wrong on black, either in fur or fabric, but black isn't by any means the only smart selection. For the elder women of fashion we would suggest black first, then dark gray, dull green and deep wines. Fur collars that are removable and enhance the gown beneath are as desirable as they are original and many accessories of varying degrees of tone and design are permissible with these particular colors.

For the "sweet young things," with pep, poise, personality, beauty, brains and "it," we nominate the more bubbly burgundies, greens like expensive emeralds—even a royal purple for the girl with striking features.

BACKWALKING DERBIEST NEAR END OF ROUTE

ABILENE, Oct. 20.— Back in Texas after 18 months of walking backward about the world, covering a distance equal to that around the earth, Plennie L. Wingo has set out across Texas for Fort Worth to complete his unique circle.

The 37-year-old former Abilene restaurant owner expects to arrive in Fort Worth in two weeks where he started his task of walking backwards around the world and which carried him twice across the United States and across Europe.

On April 15, 1931, equipped with a pair of reverse vision spectacles Wingo started backing for Boston. He had prepared for the feat by walking backwards daily for six months—despite the jests of his acquaintances.

Undaunted by a mishap at Robersonville, Ohio, where he lay in a hospital a month from a broken ankle received in a fall on the highway, he continued to New York, Providence and Boston. From Boston he worked his passage to Hamburg where he resumed his backward walking through Europe, passing through Berlin, Prague, Vienna, Budapest, Bucharest, Sofia and to Istanbul.

Backed Into Snag
At Istanbul he backed into a "snag" when the Turkish government refused to accept his visa and he was placed under arrest. He soon obtained his release but was barred from the country and his way blocked across Asia.

Turning backward toward America, he gave up the around-the-world project. A friendly Italian bought him first-class passage on a ship to Marseilles from where he returned to New York. Wingo caught an automobile ride across the United States to Los Angeles. After watching the Olympic games, he set out backing across the desert expanses between Los Angeles and El Paso.

Wingo arrived here weighing 135 pounds, 31 pounds less than when he set out, and wearing the 13th pair of shoes since he started the jaunt. All of them were half-soled several times.

7,000 Miles
"I covered a distance almost equal to that around the world and walked about 7,000 miles backwards," Wingo said. "I never went hungry at any time and I was treated with hospitality in Europe and never once failed to sleep inside. Part of the time in his journey across Europe he acted as a sandwich man, carrying advertisements for European concerns. A rubber company, whose shoes he wore, aided him in getting work to cross the Atlantic.

"What do I expect to get out of it?"
"Well," he said, "I did something everybody said I couldn't — or at least I showed that it could be done. I expect to write a book about my experiences."

According to his calculations, he averaged about three miles an hour and his best day's jaunt was a distance of 45 miles in twelve and one half hours from Providence, R. I., to Boston. His usual daily average was about 20 miles, he said.

Wingo is a native of Taylor, county, Texas and has lived most of his life in this vicinity. For two years he operated a coffee shop here and for several years a cafe. He doesn't know where he got the idea for walking backward around the world except that no one had ever done it.

PASSED HERE YESTERDAY.
Wingo passed through Cisco yesterday morning headed eastward toward Fort Worth. Equipped with his rear-vision spectacles he negotiated the streets and curbs with as much ease as the ordinary person walking as nature intended man to walk. The spectacles, incidentally, seemed to attract the most interest.

TEXAS TOPICS

By RAYMOND BROOKS
AUSTIN, Oct. 20. — Before a new group of legislators get into the heat of a strenuous and probably troubled session, Texans are beginning to ask whether the extensive results of the election, in the changeout of members will have any effect upon the outdoor and unworthy policy of the Texas senate bearing the smirking title of "senatorial courtesy."

That policy as will be recalled in the ouster of Fred Horton of Greenville from the prison board, after a year of splendid service thereon, because of his political differences with the senator from the district is one that sets up another standard than merit in public service to guide the senate in confirming or rejecting state appointees.

Result of the unfair and unjust deal given Mr. Horton by a former senate, after his appointment by Gov. Dan Moody and his conscientious service in the Moody administration was to place Horton this year in the front ranks of the Ferguson workers of his county. There he rubbed it in upon the senator who rubbed him out of public office.

Senatorial courtesy consists of letting the senator of a particular district having the absolute say as to rejecting the governor's appointees who happen to come from his district. There have been numerous instances of its operation, all bad.

It is to be hoped that the incoming senators will bring with them a better sense of responsibility to the welfare of Texas and a less blind obedience to the worn-out and discredited theory of "senatorial courtesy."

The educational leaders who sponsored the new nine-member state board of education, as a substitute for a three-member exofficio political board, and gave the members six year terms; provided that appointments should be made on Jan. 1 of each odd year.

That means an incoming governor does not appoint his three members at the beginning of his term. His appointments are a few days before his term closes. That was designed to keep the state board out of politics and to avoid the possibility that even in a four-year governor's administration the governor would have named a majority of the board.

Within the present board there has been some inquiry whether any political effort will be made within the senate to reject the three board members whom Gov. Sterling will appoint Jan. 1, a few days before the end of his term. If they were denied confirmation, the effect and only visible purpose would be to hold open the door for the incoming governor to place three members on the board of education.

TEXAN OWNS RARE REPLICA OF OLD SEAL

MALLEN, Oct. 20.—W. L. McCarty, citrus orchard owner here, has one of the few replicas of the lost seal of the Confederate States of America. Only a few replicas ever were cast and the others have disappeared.

The bronze piece McCarty treasures is some six inches in diameter. In the center is the raised figure of George Washington on horseback, surrounded by a wreath of southern agricultural products.

On the outer edge of the seal are the words "The Confederate States of America: 22 February 1862" and "Deo Vindice." The original, designed by Thomas J. Semmes, Clements C. Gray, Jr. and Alexander R. Bol-lester, Confederate congressmen, was cut from a block of silver by a London goldsmith.

McCarty's family obtained the replica at Jefferson City, Mo., from an officer of Shelby's regiment of the Confederate army, long after the Civil War ended. The officer declined to say how the replica came into his possession.

The original Confederate never was affixed to a document because the iron press and other material necessary for its operation disappeared on the roundabout sea-shipment from London via the Bermuda Islands.

The seal itself is known to have been in the capitol at Richmond, April 2, 1865, the day the city was evacuated by the Confederate government, but it disappeared as completely as if it never existed.

X-Ray Is Aid In Eye Treatment

DETROIT, Oct. 20.—If you want to see with your eyes closed or read through the back of your head, you can visit an X-ray specialist and do it.

The stunt is not so crazy as it sounds, for it was demonstrated at the American Roentgen Ray Society's convention here recently by Dr. A. H. Pirie, of Montreal.

Dr. Pirie uses lead letters and pictures in his experiments. These block the light from the X-ray machine and the shadows of these blocks fall upon the retina of the eye, even with your eyes closed, making the impression.

"The value of this," Dr. Pirie explained, "is that it enables a physician to tell whether or not a cataract operation will be successful. If the retina of the eye is unharmed, the cataract sufferer will be able to see the letters by means of the penetration of the X-ray machine."

LONDON STYLE HOUSES START WINTER FADS

LONDON, Oct. 20.—London fashion houses are busy revealing to eager British women what they are going to wear this winter.

The leading designers are, as usual, in feverish competition with Paris, and with one another. But, unanimously dutiful to the Prince of Wales's slogan, they are "Buying British" as never before: tweeds from Scotland, linens from Nottingham, satins from Bradford, velvets from Manchester, and only under direct need will so much as a button come from beyond the borders.

And now for the headline stuff! First and foremost it's to be a feather, fur, and velvet winter. The test of fabrics is to be their "surface interest," that is, whether they look something like "crinkled Christmas paper," "twisted blisters and blotches," "ribs and rolls," "hammered and notched," or anything equally maltreated but appealing.

A synthesis of impressions from recent showings would run something like this:

Hats: to be smaller and quainter in shape, with an undying affinity for the back of the head; velvet is displacing felt, and many an evening bonnet will be of the "bandage beret" style, formed of strips of velvet with hair peeping through the interstices.

Evening gowns: to be trimmed with fur or feathers; a cape or coat (which must have a diagonal line somewhere) is indispensable; long princess lines with flared skirts hanging almost straight when there is no movement.

Suits and coats: tweeds, of course and fine woolsens; bright scarves lending color to otherwise rather dark and mysterious shades, among which brown is ever-popular with a few remnants from green.

EGYPT MAKES PLANS FOR BIG DAM ON NILE

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The Egyptian minister of public works, Ibrahim Fahmy, arrived recently in London to complete details for the building of a huge dam across the White Nile at Jebel Aulia, about 50 miles south of Khartoum.

The Egyptian Parliament some months ago approved the project, and bids for the construction work are expected to be completed by November 15 and opened on February 15.

Survey and exploration preliminaries on the great project have already taken years. Actually construction will probably occupy another 20 years. The estimated cost is between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000.

Despite this tremendous cost in time and money, the dam is expected to justify itself. For one thing, it will so regulate the flow of the Nile that irrigation along its banks may be maintained even in dry months. Two crops a year may be counted upon in some sections where only one grew before. It will also eliminate the wastage of water into that vast swamp known as the Sudd District, over whose hundreds of millions of acres Nile water today spreads in shallow pools to be lost by seepage and evaporation.

Another "barrier" is also to be built near the upper reaches of the Nile, to the north of Lake Albert. This companion-dam to the one at Jebel Aulia will enable the Egyptians to raise the level of Lake Albert about 10 feet and regulate as they choose the resultant almost inexhaustible water supply. Prisoned between the Jebel Aulia and Lake Albert dams, the Nile will have to do what it has never done before; behave itself and work for the good of mankind.

In the Political Arena

By HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD

Calvin Coolidge, drafted to save President Herbert Hoover from a defeat everlasting as well as humiliating, delivered himself of a second address for the edification or the information or the mortification of the American people. It tracked the text of the first address carried by the Saturday Evening Post in early September. There was one new feature added. This distinguished son of New England is mightily disturbed by the alleged silence of Franklin D. Roosevelt on the question of bonus payments. He introduced a New England nightmare specter of the vintage of 1896, by warning his republican audience that if the democrats win the presidency, "there will be wholesale raids on the federal treasury." As a humorist the distinguished son of Vermont and Massachusetts is not a success. It is impossible for the politicians of any political party to make extensive raids on an empty treasury. Beginning with Harding and all down the line republican administrations have reduced the fat treasury to a dollarless treasury and the hungrier of democratic leaders would be unable to loot it of a single dime if they broke into the so-called strongbox.

Taking his cue from the president's Des Moines speech, the former president said, "things could be a great deal worse than they are and would have been much worse had it not been for the vision, the courage, and the leadership of Pres. Hoover." He closed by sweeping endorsement as well as high praise of republican policies "past and present." An adroit maker of weak words as well as a campaign orator is the last best bet of the Hoover administration in the closing hours of the campaign. He is a very busy man. He is the director of a great life insurance company. He is chairman of the Hoover commission appointed to rehabilitate American railroads.

Alfred E. Smith is a director of the same insurance company. He is a member of the Coolidge commission to draft plans and devise ways and means for the restoration of rail securities as well as the "rehabilitation of American railroads." Big life insurance companies are interested in rehabilitation of securities. There must be a plan evolved for the rehabilitation of the rails. It will be impossible for the Reconstruction Finance corporation to carry the rails in future years if the cream of the business is to be taken over year in and year out by very aggressive competitors.

Republican campaigners and republican publicity agents drawing down fat salaries in the Northeast and East are not shooting, or rather pin-shooting, the Hon. John Nance Garner. They say that he has been bottled up by National Chairman James A. Farley and the democratic committee. There never lived a man or a committee who could do the bottling act for Garner. That astute and very able mastermind of the administration, Andrew W. Mellon was unable to bottle up the Texan. Oden Mills attempted it and made a miserable failure. Pres. Hoover shivered his lance and Garner retaliated in kind. This campaign is more than a "noble experiment." Announcement of the fourth poll of the 20,000,000 ballots garnered by Literary Digest shows Roosevelt maintaining a strong lead over Hoover, but democrats are reminded that it never pays to count political chickens before they are hatched. Only the verdict, the official verdict of the November nationwide balloting will tell the true story of the election figures of 1932. Texans are expected to do their part in campaign contribution and in getting all the democratic voters to the polls in November.

Texas Ranger Force Born of Circumstance During Bloody Days of Early Texas Life

(Editors Note: This is the second of a series of articles telling the history of the Texas Rangers. Today: Facing Death for $1.25. Next: Repelling the Indian.)

By WINSTON COPELAND
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUSTIN, Oct. 20.—The Texas Rangers were born of circumstance in the blood-smeared wild-west days of the Texas Republic.

When Texas gained its independence from Mexico, the territory was a wild, sparsely settled region, terrorized by scalping Indians fighting for their existence, Mexican border bandits, plundering and pillaging then fleeing to refuges in the treacherous canyons of the Rio Grande, and a few white renegades to become so numerous later.

Forced to meet the situation, the provisional government, which preceded the Texas declaration of independence, in November, 1835, established the Ranger force, serving it from the militia but making many of its functions military. It was to be a force of 150, all volunteers.

For this service of ever-threatening death, the Rangers received $1.25 a day—"when on duty." Each man was required to equip himself with 100 rounds of powder and ball and a horse. In 1839 the Ranger still received only $25 a month and in 1923 his salary is far below the danger he faces, a captain receiving monthly $150, a sergeant $100 and a private $90, the maximum increase never to exceed 20 per cent of the original salary.

Occasional "Greenhorn." This fact has accounted largely for the caliber of men entering the service. The ranger force attracted men who sought adventure rather than remuneration, men of strong character. In the present force there are several members who are financially independent, men who are in it for the thrills it offers.

Occasionally a "greenhorn" gained admittance to the force, since each captain in the earlier days was allowed to select his own men. He couldn't stay green long, however, the risks were too great.

When Will Tullis joined the Ranger force, he couldn't even load a gun. Major A. B. Coffee, one of the old regime, relates. The company was out in the Rio regions facing the ambushes and scalping of the plains Indians. Coffee taught the youngster to load and how to aim. Within six months, Tullis was an expert. Such was the fascination Ranger tradition held over its members.

The same quest for adventure led Capt. R. W. Aldrich to give up a post in his father's bank in a South-west Missouri town to become eventually a Texas Ranger. Through the Oklahoma land run in 1889, the Spanish-American War and the Boer War, Aldrich became an expert marksman with a motto—"talk first, then shoot if necessary."

Aldrich is a modern Ranger, en-

EMPLOYMENT IN 930 FIRMS GAINS NICELY

AUSTIN, Oct. 20.—A 4.9 per cent increase in number of persons employed in 930 Texas firms during the period from August 15 to Sept. 15 is one of the largest in recent years according to the University of Texas business research bureau.

During this period the 930 firms reporting showed an increase of 3,083 workers over the preceding month, or a total of 66,172 workers on Sept. 15 as compared with 63,089 on August 15.

Last year, for the corresponding period there was a drop of 0.5 per cent, and in 1930 a 5 per cent drop. In the boom year of 1929 the increase was only 1.31 per cent.

The encouraging factor, the report pointed out, is that an increase was shown for the preceding month.

"These successive monthly gains in employes which are due, apparently, to other than seasonal factors, have out down the decline in the number of workers as compared with a year ago. As compared with September, 1932, the number of workers on payrolls for the month just passed was only 12.7 per cent behind. The decline has been as much as 19.9 per cent, which occurred in May 1932.

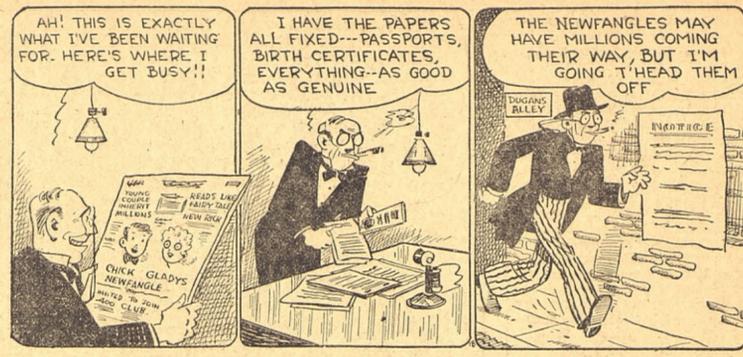

"Purely seasonal influences brought about substantial increases in the number of worker at bakeries confectioneries, cotton oil mills, cotton compresses, men's and women's clothing manufacturers, but a large number of other classifications also showed gains, notable among which were lumber and saw mills, cement mills, and retail and wholesale stores."

Amarillo and Fort Worth had more workers on payrolls on Sept. 15 than on the corresponding date a year ago, the report revealed, while Austin, Beaumont, Dallas, Galveston, Houston, San Antonio, Waco and Wichita Falls all showed more workers than on August 15.

STAN BALL accuses ASPER DELO, timber king, of crooked practice and of ordering men shot who try to check up on his activities. Ball says he is making a check and Delo tells him he will personally prevent it. Upon leaving Delo's office Ball saves DONA, Delo's daughter, from kidnappers. He slips away when he finds who she is, telling her he is STANLEY BLACK.

BUDDLEY WINTERS, in love with DONA, goes with her to Three Rivers to get Delo to give up his land and fight with Ball. They find Ball accused of killing a ranger. Dudley has secured a license and has had a marriage certificate filled out to marry DONA. He uses the certificate after Delo is ambushed and wounded to keep him from taking any more part in the hunt. Ball is caught by SWERGIN, Delo's timber boss, while listening to DONA tell of her marriage. He escapes but believes her married. DONA writes out to find Stanley Black, who she believes is in the country. She meets Ball and thinks him Stanley Black. He promises to rid the range of Ball. Valuable records are stolen from the office and Swergin's man insists Ball wounded him and took them. A posse surrounds Ball. DONA goes out and sees Ball escaping. She shoots him and takes a wound, capturing her and taking her to a cave.

Asper learns of her capture and heads a posse but fails to find her. Ball makes DONA promise not to leave and goes for water and food. Swergin finds the cave and DONA. He waits for Ball. Ball is captured and taken to a cabin. DONA is left with him while Swergin goes for men. Swergin returns with men and sends DONA on ahead. His crew are a tough looking bunch and Stan Ball knows they intend to lynch him.

NO GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXI

"So you was warnin' that gal agin me?" Swergin thrust his face close to Stan's.

"And if my hands were untied I'd smash your dirty face." Stan Ball's eyes were hard as steel.

"No use being a hog! You won't get to camp out with her any more." Swergin leered and his lips parted.

"You dirty rat! You may string me up but I'll still be on your trail!" Stan hissed.

Swergin stepped back. He was alone with his prisoner and so sure of him that he was willing to take his time.

"So I'm a dirty rat, eh?"

"Get it over with," Stan snapped.

"There ain't no hurry. They don't even know down at camp that you are caught." Swergin smiled broadly.

"You feel pretty safe with your Pass Creek gang at your back," Stan sneered.

"Pass Creek is a nice place and has a nice location," Swergin chuckled as though enjoying a big joke.

"Hey, boys!" he called. "Come and get him!"

A half dozen rough timber men crowded into the room. They jerked Stan from the wall and pushed him toward the door. He went with his head up. His hat was brushed off but he did not ask for its return.

The men led him outside and mounted their horses. Ball was ordered to walk ahead of the leading rider. There were 20 men in the gang from Pass Creek and the file of riders, with Stan ahead, moved slowly toward Three Rivers by the Pass Creek trail. It was no part of Swergin's plan to have the lynching done near the cabin in the timber.

Stan plodded along over the rough ground. His hands had ceased long ago to have any feeling beyond a stinging numbness and he had given himself over grimly to his fate. There was little chance that anything would happen to save him. The only friends he had were far beyond the rim of Polly Mountain and he had made them promise that, whatever happened, they would not ride into the timber country.

His chief thoughts were for the slender girl who had faced him in the cabin and whom he had come to care for so devotedly. He was not sure that he had been able to convince her that he was wholly bad and had an aching fear that she was not safe with Swergin about. The big timber boss might have a plan which involved the girl.

THE cavalcade wound down the low divide separating the Pass Creek trail from the Three Rivers slope. Swergin had now forged out ahead with another rider. "Looking for a suitable tree," Stan thought grimly.

Of one thing he was sure and that was that he would rob the big boss of any satisfaction he might expect from weakness or breaking on his prisoner's part. Stan intended to give them a display of nerve that they would remember.

Swergin halted in a clump of aspens and motioned for the men to head off the trail. Stan was driven to the spot and pulled to a halt. Like a hand of Cossacks, the men closed in about him and silently slid from their horses. It was plain they knew exactly what to do. They crowded around their prisoner and the man who had been riding with Swergin unstrapped a larlat from his saddle and began uncoiling it. The big fellow who had driven Stan ahead of his horse shouldered to the cowboy's side.

"Yer goin' where there won't be much chance to snoop," he grinned.

"Got anything to say?" He bent toward his prisoner.

Stan smiled and met the man's gaze with steady eyes. "Only that I hope you enjoy the party."

The man grunted and backed away. "Get on the end of that rope!" he ordered, as he tossed the rope over a limb above Stan's head.

Swergin crowded through the throng for a final thrust at his hated enemy. He glared at Ball as though disappointed at finding him so self-possessed.

"You turned out to be pretty good," he grinned.

Stan refused to reply.

STILL Stan refused to speak. He had decided hours before not to tell anything he had discovered in his checking of the activities at Three Rivers. He was aware that this was a picked group of men who were in with Swergin and that if he did speak, no word of what he said would get to Asper Delo or anyone else. But he was struck suddenly by a desire to stave off the tightening of the rope that the big lumberjack was slipping over his head.

"You can't get away much longer, Swergin." He gave the timber boss a level look and laughed in his face. "Who's going to stop me?" Swergin gritted.

"I sent in a report to the state and to the federal government. I even told them to expect just what you are doing right now, and I've named half of your men." There was a glint of triumph in Stan's eyes. He was lying but he was scoring.

A mutter rose from the men and even Swergin was taken back.

"We ain't responsible for nothin'." Swergin was working for the timber company, the big fellow who had adjusted the rope muttered.

"You are guilty of theft and murder," Stan shot at him. He was gaining a little time and throwing a scare into the dull-witted fellows who had him in their power.

"I thought you had this all fixed?" The big fellow turned to Swergin.

"Yeah," a voice from the crowd put in. There was an ominous rumble from the circle of men and dark faces thrust toward the timber boss.

"You dumb fools!" Swergin belted. "You goin' to let this slicker talk you out of this job? He is just jobbin' you. Old Asper Delo takes the rap for all we been doin'. We been stealing the timber for him, ain't we?"

FREE FROM PAIN THANKS TO CRAZY CRYSTALS

For years I suffered agony with pains in my stomach, and with heart burn, caused from gall bladder trouble. It had been over fifteen years since I had been able to see the shape of my ankles they had been so badly swollen.

About four weeks ago I started using CRAZY CRYSTALS, and now I am perfectly easy, and free from pain. The swelling in my feet and ankles has almost entirely disappeared. I would like suffering people everywhere to know about CRAZY CRYSTALS.

85 PER CENT INCREASE IN HOME CANNING

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 20.—Home canning in Texas has nearly doubled in volume this year over last, according to figures from eight scattered counties representative of the whole, says Miss Lola Blair, nutritionist in the Texas A. and M. college Extension Service. An August checkup in these counties compared to a similar count made a year ago showed 3,279,244 tin cans and glass jars used thus far in 1932, to 1,770,850 used for the same period in 1931. This is an increase of 85 per cent. The figures are based on dealers' reports of cans and jars sold.

The counties from which these records were gathered by home demonstration agents are Cameron, Mitchell, Washington, San Saba, Denton, Tom Green, Brown and Victoria. The canning for this season averaged 409,905 containers per county.

Canning for 1931 in about 120 counties where home demonstration agents were employed totaled a little more than 32,000,000 containers, which led to an unofficial estimate of 50,000,000 containers canned in the state as a whole. If the final reports made by home demonstration agents at the end of this year bear out the preliminary check mentioned, canning in home demonstration agent counties will run more than 50,000,000 containers this season, and the total for the state may be expected to nearly reach or perhaps pass the hundred million mark.

The significance of canning in home demonstration counties, Miss Blair points out, is that it is based on budgets carefully planned to give the family a balanced or adequate diet for the six unproductive months. "Unless people can by budget they may easily fall into the trap of having more starchy and protein foods than they can healthfully consume and be short of leafy vegetables or fruit," she says. "Families of five whose pantries contain less than 120 cans of leafy or green vegetables, 121 cans of tomatoes and 150 cans of fruit should be cultivating fall gardens and planning very early spring gardens."

Crop Loans---

rower who collateralizes his cotton has to March 1st, 1933, to sell cotton or order sale at any time the market seems most favorable. After the above date, the secretary of agriculture shall take charge of cotton and sell.

Collateralization does not mean payment but rather an extension. If cotton any time sells for less than 9 cents at which it was collateralized, the borrower has to pay the difference up to the amount of loan. If cotton brings over 9 cents when sold, the government will refund to the borrower the amount over the loan. Upon full satisfaction of the amount of collateralized cotton, the rest of the crop will be released in due course of time to the farmer to use as he needs or sees best.

It is suggested if one does collateralize cotton that sufficient margin over amount be put up that more funds will not have to be secured if cotton does not bring 9 cents and furthermore, any over-payment will go to the borrower. It is better to have a paid note often and full released than speculation because market conditions can go down as easily as up. However, the government has made collateralization possible and government borrowers who insist upon same, may do so by complying with above information released to the press.

etary economies. Decisions had been reached upon practically all factors contributing to the expected revenues, but the committee was still doubtful of stability of city income even upon the present depressed basis. It was pointed out by the bond company representatives, however, that experience in every other city and county where debt settlements have been effected, has revealed a quickening of community life and an improvement in business conditions.

As Much Interested.
"We are just as much interested in this settlement going through as you are," D. E. Dunne, head of the firm pointed out, indicating that the integrity of his company is involved as much as the integrity of the city. He declared that a settlement cannot be approached except upon a basis that improvement will take place.

"If it is approached in any other frame of mind, we had just as well drop the negotiations, and vote for Hoover," said Mr. McCall.

"Yes," said Mr. Dunne, "just turn the whole business over to Hoover and let him have it." There was laughter.

and let him have it." There was laughter.

Less Total Charge.

Recommendations of Mr. Waggener for realignment of the city revenue sources looking toward a practical plan for settlement of the city debt were placed on the concept that the total in public charges paid by each citizen would be actually reduced. Under his recommendations less of the amount would be paid in bulk, in the form of ad valorem taxes, and more scattered out over the year in utility charges. Thus, he said, the payment of the total would be made easier and the collections of the city proportionately greater.

Any plan that is finally agreed upon by the commission will be placed before the citizens for their approval or rejection, it was announced. Until that time the rates now in effect will be continued.
